FOUNDERS' UPDATE

The year started with a subdued energy, as Web3 gaming faced FUD from the markets. Studios have been finding it difficult to raise money, with others making moves to ensure their runway remains. But the situation is not unfamiliar to us. We have weathered storms before, and we have strong conviction for those who continue to build.

We saw firsthand the strength of our industry during the Game Developer Conference (GDC), when we co-hosted the Web3 @ GDC side event with thirdweb. Gabby discussed the issues in Web3 gaming with Gabe Leydon, co-founder of Limit Break, including unrestricted composability and how CEXs are reintroducing the same power structures Web3 set out to dismantle. We also announced our first game at the WolvesDEN Alpha Night. LOL Land, a casual board game, is a degen experience made by degens for degens that focuses on the fun and rewards that we know the YGG community loves to see in Web3 games. It's a product of all our insights and experience over the past four years, playing, building, and learning with our community.

This quarter also saw the release of the Perspectives in Play report, the first of its kind in Web3 gaming. It provides a deeper look into two of the most pressing topics in Web3 gaming today: key opinion leaders (KOLs) and user acquisition (UA). It sourced information from the Leaders Roundtables initiative held at the YGG Play Summit, which drew attendees from around the world, including Hilmar Veigar Pétursson, Sebastien Borget, Ann Chien, and Mench Dizon. Companies and brands represented during the discussions included Animoca Brands, Cointelegraph, Sky Mavis, and Aptos. We're grateful for the opportunity to gather industry leaders, have them speak their minds, and allow us to capture the kind of perspectives that you can't get from onchain data.

Of course, a big recurring theme for us was AI. Apart from signing more and more Future of Work partnerships and an increase in GAP activity, the team was invited to take part in Bill Tai's ACTAI APAC. They joined artists, scientists, innovators, and entrepreneurs to connect and collaborate on the latest innovative ideas and projects. ACTAI hosted a movie night as part of the program, featuring a special screening of the Metaverse Filipino Worker (MFW) short film, which was also launched in Q1 and garnered over a million views in under two weeks. Attendees gathered on bean bags to watch together. Many were inspired by the stories of YGG community members who found fulfillment and success in Web3. Some of us also split from GDC to attend the NVIDIA GTC event, one of the world's largest AI conferences, to learn and expand our network.

Talking esports, we're incredibly proud of the YGG esports team's performance at the Parallel Prime World Championship in Las Vegas, the season's culminating tournament, which gathered the best Parallel players from around the world. Zeliasser, who won the YGG Play Summit tournament, reached the finals after climbing his way through the lower bracket and gave eventual world champion JarlaHS a worthy fight. The tournament was held at the historic HyperX Arena, which is home to some of the greatest esports moments, from the League of Legends All-Star Event (ASE) to the Capcom Cup. Parallel, holding its world championship at HyperX, is a stepping stone to Web3 gaming and its growing esports scene.

It's true that some people are dismissing Web3 gaming. But as Gabby told CoinDesk in March, those who FUD Web3 gaming today don't understand it. They missed CryptoKitties in 2018 and Axie in 2020, and they'll miss the next wave too because they're measuring the wrong metrics. This is the time to double down and stay the path.

PERSPECTIVES IN PLAY

PRACTICAL INSIGHTS FROM 60+ INDUSTRY LEADERS

Perspectives in Play is a first-of-its-kind report that examines two critical levers for scaling Web3 games: key opinion leaders (KOLs) and user acquisition (UA). It distills actionable insights shared by Web3 gaming industry leaders during a series of raw and sometimes confrontational discussions that took place at the Leaders Roundtables held November 21-22, 2024, during the YGG Play Summit in Manila, Philippines.

The Leaders Roundtables brought together a diverse cohort representing organizations such as Animoca Brands, The Sandbox, CCP Games, Infinity Ventures Crypto (IVC), Sky Mavis, HyperPlay, Aptos, Taiko Labs, Moku, Sovrun, the Blockchain Game Alliance (BGA), Cointelegraph, YGG and YGG Pilipinas, and many more. Participants included founders, developers, KOLs, investors, guild leaders, journalists, esports professionals, and other experts.

The Leaders Roundtables were facilitated by communications agency Emfarsis, which also produced the Perspectives in Play report. The discussions were designed to foster candid reflections and provocative debates to uncover practical recommendations to common controversial issues. The following is a very brief summary of the key takeaways (read the report for more detailed insights):

YGG Play Summit: Perspectives in Play
Now Available for Download

KOLs: From Paid Hype to Trusted Leaders

- Web3 gaming should move beyond follower counts and evaluate KOLs holistically, considering authenticity, reputation, and past collaborations.
- Onchain data is not sufficient information to understand a KOL's financial motivations. KOLs should disclose whether their positions are personal investments, paid promotions, or other.
- Short-term KOL campaigns can drive big spikes in engagement, but sustainable partnerships must align with true community-building efforts.
- Some of the most impactful influencers may not see themselves as KOLs. They may be community members who have built trust and credibility through their genuine love for the game. Supporting them could lead to stronger long-term outcomes.

User Acquisition (UA): Fun Comes First

- Strong gameplay remains the most critical factor to UA. Games must be able to stand independently or risk losing players when market sentiment shifts. Web3-native features like tokens and NFTs can attract attention, but do not substitute for a compelling core gameplay loop.
- UA must be about meeting players where they are, not forcing them to adopt unfamiliar tools. There should be frictionless onboarding through Web2-native features like email logins, walletless signups, and fiat payment options.
- Tokens can be a tool for UA and retention. They can bootstrap early interest but a game needs deeper engagement systems to nurture loyal communities rather than extractive users.
- Guilds can be an effective onboarding channel at scale. They are a bridge between grassroots advocacy and structured UA, especially in emerging markets with millions of players, such as Southeast Asia, India, and Latin America.

PRODUCT UPDATE

Onchain Guilds

Over Q1, YGG made several key updates to the Onchain Guilds platform to improve the user experience, starting with its user interface (UI). With the platform's updated UI, prospective members now have an easier time browsing existing guilds to find their match. They will be able to see information on guild achievements, members, and even links to profiles of guild leaders. Guild leaders also now have access to new member management tools, from managing tasks to assigning governance, giving them more granular control over their Onchain Guild's membership.

The conclusion of GAP Season 8 also marked the end of the pilot run of Onchain Guilds, which saw the first wave of Onchain Guilds onboard into its ecosystem. Over the season's nearly eight-week run, 75 communities signed up to become Onchain Guilds, with 49 enrolling in and completing at least one guild quest.

At season's end, NFT X-Street emerged as the very first frontrunner of the Onchain Guild leaderboards. With their combined effort, the guild secured the most guild quest completions out of all participating guilds, earning a handsome token reward and a spot in Web3 gaming's history books.

Guild Advancement Program (GAP)

GAP Season 8 began on November 15, 2024, and wrapped on January 8, 2025. Questers were treated to a diverse selection of games spanning multiple genres, including Anichess, Arena of Faith, Blast Royale, Champions Tactics, GensoKishi Online, Immortal Rising 2, MapleStory Universe, Parallel, Pixels, RavenQuest, Space Nation, and The Mystery Society.

Community reception to the Season 8 roster was strong, which reflected in the season's activity metrics: 21,452 questers in total signed up to take on the latest set of GAP quests, with 95% of all questers completing and submitting at least one quest.

Future of Work (FoW) also remained popular this season, leading all bounties with over 8,600 sign-ups. This was largely thanks to the promise of getting access to platforms that merge Web3, AI, and DeFi. This was followed by YGG Pilipinas' Online Events questline, which drew 3,300 signups, and Basement.fun's run of quests, which attracted 3,100 participants.

Rewards Center

In GAP Season 8, progress on the last season's rewards map carried over for all returning questers. This gave more casual players another shot at clearing their Rewards Map and claiming everything YGG and its partners had up for grabs. This included YGG tokens, RON tokens, PIXEL tokens, and in-game items for Axie Infinity and Ragnarok: Monster World.

The Stake House also remained popular into the new GAP Season, with nearly 1,500 questers coming together to stake over 765,000 YGG tokens for a chance to earn even greater rewards throughout the season. GAP Season 9, which launched in February, marked the continued evolution of the Rewards Center, with a new Rewards Map and an airdrop coinciding with participation during GAP Season 8. Staking also increased this season, with the maximum multiplier rising to 5x, up from the previous high of 3.5x.

Building on the continued success of the Stake House, YGG also recently unveiled its debut game, LOL Land, to introduce even more fun into earning YGG tokens. As of the end of April 2025, more than 50,000 gamers have pre-registered to play the browser-based casual board game created in partnership with the iconic Web3 IP, Pudgy Penguins.

YGG COMMUNITY

Global Highlights

The YGG network continues to expand thanks to the global efforts of YGG's regional guild partners in onboarding, educating, and providing opportunities for gamers.

OLA GG, KGeN, and AMG DAO led the charge this quarter, achieving milestones that showcase their continued momentum.

OLA GG took the first step toward becoming a Bitcoin company in Q1. They announced an acquisition of 5 BTC as part of their treasury, part of an initiative to bring BTC closer to the gaming world. For community growth, OLA GG surpassed 500,000 followers on TikTok, delivering Web3 gaming content all across LATAM. Additionally, OLA GG announced a partnership with Avalanche, OpenSea, Parallel, and LOL Land for the upcoming Gamescom LATAM in Brazil.

KGeN announced their mintable Proof of Gamer (POG) avatars and a new staking program centered on rKGEN, its rewards token hosted on Aptos. Through staking their earned rKGEN, community members gained access to select airdrops from KGeN's partners, helped power the network's Oracle Operators, which validate the integrity of user data in the network, and had first picks to exclusive rewards and ecosystem benefits within KGeN.

In Q1, AMG DAO's partnered game development studio AEY Studios unveiled Animayhem, a platform featuring AI agents based on some of the most iconic characters in anime, designed to give members of the AMG DAO community a more fun way to interact with Web3 games and beyond.

Metaverse Filipino Worker

Early in Q1, YGG Pilipinas launched the Metaverse Filipino Worker (MFW) short film on YouTube, which showcased real-life stories from members of the YGG Pilipinas community – a community manager, an esports captain, a mommy influencer, a guild leader, and more – who uncovered learning and earning opportunities in the Metaverse and went on to build digital careers in Web3. The video, available at MFW.Life, hit over a million views in the first two weeks of its release.

The title plays on the term “Overseas Filipino Worker (OFW),” denoting the millions of Filipinos who have had to leave their country and family, often for years at a time, to earn a living abroad. It’s a hard reality driven by economic survival, with parents missing out on their children’s childhoods and families enduring painful, prolonged separations. By contrast, MFWs earn globally competitive incomes working flexibly from home.

Later in the quarter, YGG Pilipinas announced the MFW Caravan, a rebrand of the well-received traveling roadshow YGG Roadtrip, which began onboarding thousands of Filipinos across the country into Web3 in 2022. MFW Caravan was announced in Q1 and will run from April through to Q3, with its final leg scheduled for August 2025. The MFW Caravan will visit multiple locations across the Philippines, including Davao, Bicol, and Palawan. In partnership with the YGG Pilipinas Metaversity program, the Caravan will conduct workshops to introduce more Filipinos to Web3, AI, and DePIN, as well as lessons in resume building, optimizing work through AI, and using dapps to lay the groundwork for accessing earning opportunities in the rapidly growing digital economy. Career orientation and job boards will also be available in each leg.

MFW Caravan attendees can expect game demos, showmatches, and tournaments featuring popular Web3 gaming titles including Parallel, Fableborne, and Anichess. The Philippines’ Department of Information and Communications Technology (DICT) is supporting the event, and partners include Ayala Malls, Coins.ph, GIG, and Converge.

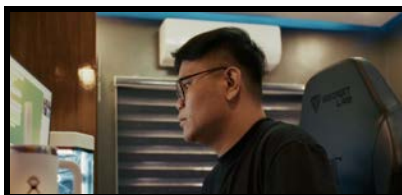

“The MFW Caravan reflects a crucial shift in how Filipinos approach work – one that prioritizes digital skills, borderless opportunities, and economic empowerment without the need to go overseas to get it.”

Emmy Lou Delfin,
Regional Director, MIMAROPA
Department of Information and Communications Technology
(DICT)

Media Highlights

The MFW campaign has received extensive coverage in the Philippines and globally, with over 370 articles published by various media outlets since the short film’s red carpet premiere at the YGG Play Summit.

WEB3 @ GDC

Jam-packed Web3 @ GDC side event.
(Post by Kate Irwin)

On Monday, 17 March 2025, YGG and thirdweb co-hosted the Web3 @ GDC event at the sidelines of the Game Developers Conference (GDC) in San Francisco. The event was a fitting prelude to GDC week, with notable guests including W3GG co-founder and CEO Chin Yu, Blockworks Content Lead Kate Irwin, OLA GG CMO Juan Allen, WolvesDAO co-founder Sam Steffanina, and HyperPlay Head of Ecosystem Minchi Park.

Headlining the event was a fireside chat between YGG co-founder Gabby Dizon and Limit Break co-founder Gabe Leydon.

During their conversation, Gabe and Gabby addressed fundamental issues in Web3 gaming, with Gabe arguing that it has grown into a Web2-dominated ecosystem, where centralized exchanges control the majority of tokens in circulation.

Gabe advocated for "restricted composability," such as through the use of apptokens in games, which would give developers the tools to keep the revenue generation of their in-game economies sustainable and player-friendly.

Gabby described apptokens and other innovations in monetization and player ownership as the primary drivers of Web3 gaming's disruptive potential. However, he also said that this potential can only be realized when a project truly innovates the way games are able to create value for developers and players. Once Web3 gaming finds its footing, it could redefine economies across the entire games industry, including Web2.

Other sessions hosted at Web3 @ GDC featured many of the industry's top game publishers, VCs, and game developers in Web3 gaming. Each panel explored the different ways Web3 gaming is transitioning away from its more speculative origins to a future driven by the desire to create and provide value to everyone in the ecosystem.

"GDC has always been about celebrating the biggest innovations in the gaming industry. Despite the recent FUD around Web3 gaming floating around online, I strongly believe the best of this new way to play is yet to come."

FUTURE OF WORK

Following its spotlight during the YGG Play Summit in November 2024, Future of Work (FoW) carried momentum into YGG's strategic priorities in Q1 2025. Co-founder Beryl Li and Future of Work and Operations Head Trish Rosal represented YGG at major AI events, advancing YGG's vision for a future workforce thriving in an AI-powered world.

Beryl and Trish attended the ACTAI Asia Pacific summit on Pangulasian Island, Philippines. It was a key opportunity for YGG to contribute to the broader conversation on how Web3 and AI can drive positive societal impact. An intimate screening of the Metaverse Filipino Worker short film was held at the event, setting the stage for ACTAI APAC's broader theme – AI's role in creating meaningful change for humanity.

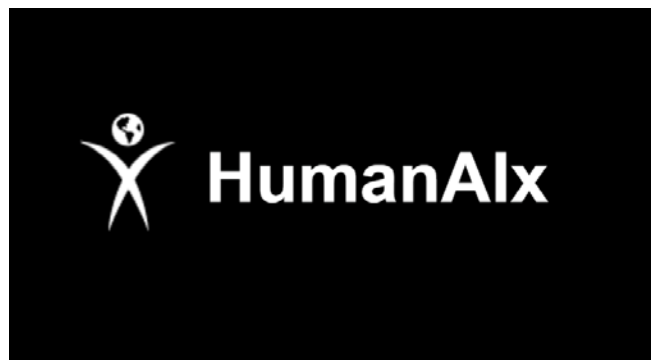

Over the week, Beryl and Trish participated in sessions with renowned leaders in VC, tech, and culture such as ACTAI Global co-founder Bill Tai and Animoca Brands COO Arnaldo Concepcion.

Later in February and March, Beryl and Trish traveled to the US to attend ETH Denver, ETH SF and the Stanford Blockchain AI Summit. They were also joined by YGG Head of Corporate Development Andy Chou, Head of Data John Min, Head of Engineering Ve Sharma, and other YGG core team members to attend NVIDIA GTC, the world's premier AI event, for the first time. Their representation at GTC reinforced YGG's continued focus on uncovering new AI-powered paths to upskilling and economic growth.

FoW expanded its roster of partners with OORT and Ta-da, whose platforms were showcased to the YGG community in Season 9 of the Guild Advancement Program (GAP).

YGG also joined the HumanAIx Alliance, launched by OORT, as a founding member. HumanAIx is a global alliance for decentralized protocols to join hands and build a better AI infrastructure.

FINANCIAL UPDATE

Treasury Overview

As of March 2025, the Yield Guild treasury maintained a stable financial position, with total assets valued at US$41.0 million. Maintaining a strong liquid treasury for business operations is a key focus for Yield Guild, which has 20 months of runway available, extending into 2027.

The treasury includes stablecoins (and stablecoin equivalents), large-cap tokens and vested partner tokens, and NFTs which account for US$14.2 million.

In addition, the treasury holds US$27.0 million in unvested partner game and guild tokens, unvested NFTs, and SAFEs.

Vested Stablecoins and Large-Cap Tokens

Yield Guild holds over US$7.6 million in large-cap crypto assets, with 59.4% of that balance in stablecoins (USDT and USDC) and stablecoin equivalents such as Hashnote (USYC) and short-term US Treasury Bills (TBILL). The remaining 31.6% of the large-cap crypto assets are strategically distributed across Solana, Bitcoin, Ethereum, and Sui. Yield Guild added Bitcoin and conducted a rebalance of large-cap holdings to further diversify and maintain strength in the Treasury for a variety of market conditions.

Yield Guild continues to apply the best practices in treasury management, especially across its stablecoin and large-cap tokens. This healthy portfolio of stablecoins primarily supports the operational needs of the entity; additionally, these large-cap tokens, along with the YGG native token, may be utilized for asset acquisitions and token swaps.

Vested Gaming, Guild, and Infrastructure Tokens

In addition to the vested gaming, guild, and infrastructure tokens, the Yield Guild treasury also benefits from staking rewards and validator programs within select partners. At the end of Q1 2025, Yield Guild holds over US$4.3 million in vested utility and governance tokens from Web3 projects that are developing projects suited for the YGG community.
