

Stuart Hawkins

*ICT and Digital leader,
Arup Middle East*

*Ex-Director of Strategic Projects,
Dubai Airport*

Stuart is currently ICT and Digital leader for Arup Middle East. He has 20 years project and programme management experience working on major infrastructure projects in Europe and the Middle East.

Stuart has a particular interest in the development of technology and its seamless integration into everyday life.

His core technical competence is in complex programme management and systems integration. He has a clear understanding of need for active management of interfaces and solving the challenges at Director level.

The world of big data and artificial intelligence is bringing profound changes to our world. Stuart is part of the vanguard for Arup's work in the area of ethics in AI and human-centred assisted learning.