

Florence Fontani is the Executive Vice President Strategy, Communications and Environmental & Social Responsibility for ENGIE in the Middle East, South & Central Asia & Turkey (MESCAT).

With a Master's Degrees in Finance from Paris IX Dauphine, Florence started her career in the financial sector before moving to the energy sector in 1998, when she joined SUEZ to take the lead of internal communications.

As a brand and marketing expert with an Advanced Studies degree in Communication & Marketing from CELSA, and another from HEC Paris, she very quickly moved to external communications to take the lead of the ENGIE Group Business & Marketing Communications & Group Audiovisual Communications.

In 2016, she took up her present role at ENGIE's regional HQ in Dubai.

She pushes forward new strategic approach centered on the idea that the future of energy will be more decarbonized, digitalized and decentralized but always with the focus on security of supply.

Florence is a passionate advocate for women and sustainability issues in the global energy sector. Since 2016, she is a member of the Board of MENA's Clean Energy Business Council.
