

I am writing regarding the live export situation in Australia. I am absolutely appalled that this industry continues. I understand that currently the ban to stop sheep being transported in the summer months is under consideration. I ask you please to continue with this. Even though this is only a small step forward, it is one that suggests politicians are listening to Australians who are appalled by this industry and want it banned. This issue is very close to my heart & was a very important reason regarding how I voted in the last Federal election. I urge you please to ensure this election promise is kept. Surely how one treats their animals is an indication of the morals of the country. Please let's follow other countries who are stopping this cruel industry all together (e.g., New Zealand). It is unnecessary & we must start protecting all Australian animals immediately.

Thank you for taking the time to read this letter & I trust you will make positive decisions for our animals moving forward and this ban is executed for Australian sheep, at the very least, but also for all other animals who undergo horrendous conditions for this trade.

Kind regards,
