

END LIVE SHEEP EXPORT

The phase-out of live sheep export must begin and end as soon as possible. Delaying this will mean that more sheep continue to be exposed to inhumane suffering from the stress of the sea journey and the slaughtering practices of the importing countries.

I supported Labor at the last election and strongly support their stand on ending live sheep export. I urge you to end this trade and enact legislation to facilitate this in the current term of government. I have little sympathy for an agricultural sector which treats animals with such cruelty and am ashamed of Australia's stance on this issue.
