

Dear sir/madam,

I support the ending of sheep live export, by sea (I am against all live export of animals, but that is a different matter).

I would like to see the current export trade by sea end as soon as possible, and I applaud New Zealand's stand on this issue.

Government support for farmers would be beneficial for the transition; however I believe that agriculture must be open to moving with the times, and find new and perhaps innovative ways to proceed.

I have voted Labor in the past primarily on the issue of live export.

Kind regards,
