Submission to Phase Out Live Export

I am one of the more than 50% of Australians who already voted to end Live Export.

Australia has much to gain in reputation as another nation that says no to a brutal and cruel industry that treats sentient mammals to unacceptable stress and death. Only to be slaughtered without prior stunning, to be handled with zero compassion.

We can adopt strategies to support our farmers during the transition.

Labour got my vote by promising this, I continue in faith that humanity chooses compassion.
