Dear Sir ,

My family and I strongly support the long overdue phase-out of Live Export. This horrible barbaric transport is nothing short of torture for the animals. Society has no right to inflict this on These poor creatures that cannot stand up for themselves.

I believe all Australians want to see the end to this. The phase out should be legislated and commence within this term of Parliament and that this phase -out begins and ends as soon as possible to prevent further torture.

We fully support the farmers and Government should support them to help with the transition. This act will cement Australia's reputation as a fair and compassionate nation, just like New Zealand who have already abolished live export. The longer you leave this barbaric trade to continue will just undermine public trust, especially in the agricultural sector. We, our family of 10 voters are proud Aussies and we all voted for labour specifically to get live export abolished , so come on lets get it done !!!

We cannot begin to realise the pain and torture of these poor animals at the hands of the purchasers overseas, so lets just stop it where we can.

I wait to hear the good news.

Kind Regards Sandy Anderson (The mouth piece of us 10 )
