

This World in 2023.

Live Export of Animals is cruel, unnecessary and it creates a living Hell for animals.

Animals which are exported this way end up being slaughtered in a horrific way by people of other religions if they make it there alive – How they could treat animals in this way is beyond my comprehension.

How would these people like to be slaughtered by another animal? I don't think these people would like this at all.

I respect animals and don't eat meat or use Dairy.

It's about time we (Everyone in this world) Woke up to the horrors we are inflicting on other animals on a daily basis.

Just because it's always happened doesn't make this right.

Live export is one of them.

It is cruel, stressful and dangerous to transport animals in this way.

Animals deserve much better than what we all give them on this earth.

Giving up meat and dairy is the way forward and treating animals in a compassionate and kind way.

This is the only way forward if humans are to progress as a group of people and this starts with Government Policy.

Why is this Confined to Sheep only? Pigs and Cows also feel pain and have feelings.

This ban needs to be put in place for all animals.

This is not about money or economies.

This is about treating animals fairly in a way that we can look back on in 50 years time and say we tried to change and tried to improve how we treat animals.

Once Exported you cannot also guarantee that animal welfare standards will be met for slaughter.

If this is the case do not export them if standards can't be guaranteed.

Change has never been easy.

Thanks for listening to me and I wish you all good luck in changing this world to a kinder and more compassionate place to live in for us all and animals.

Cruelty can never be accepted for any reason including financial and that's what's Governed this world for countless decades.

It's the time for change.

Protection, change, compassion and kindness for animals in action, policies and rules to benefit fellow animals.
