

To The Independent Panel.

I Traudy Glasencnik would like to make a submission in support of a phase out to live exports.

The majority of the Australian public have been in support of this for years.

My vote went to Labour due to the promise that the live sheep export industry would be phased out.

How And when?

As soon as possible, any delay leaves insufferable consequences for these animals.

Tighter regulations on exporters have made little if no difference to the suffering endured by these animals, sadly exporters are in this industry to make money not to consider the welfare of the animals.

Those workers directly impacted by the phase out need to be supported and helped by government to find alternative positions, thus for their lively hoods to be least impacted.

We need to create the phase out now. The industry of live export has no future in a progressive society which recognises the sentience of other living beings.

Thank you for your time.

Traudy Glasencnik
