

Wendy Nathan-Kookaburra Veterinary Service

I would like to make the following comments on the report:

- I do not consider it acceptable that cattle demonstrate heat stress on around a quarter of voyages. This means that heat factors are not adequately mitigated
- I note that analysis was “hindered by the quality, quantity, reliability and inconsistencies of available data in these reports” – what a waste of time and money
- Where are the Independent Observer Reports?
- Why is there no recommendation to have an independent veterinarian on every ship?
- Please work toward implementing a total ban on live export for slaughter
