Q2. Email address	not answered
Q3. Mailing address	not answered
Q4. Phone	not answered
Q5. Organisation name (if applicable)	not answered
Q6. Entity type	Individual
Q7. Please select which EU wine geographical indication (GI) your submission is against	Prosecco
Q8. Grounds of objectionA submission against one or more of the wine GIs must be based on at least one of the four grounds of objection.	The EU GI name is used in Australia as the name of a grape variety, plant variety, or an animal breed.
Q9. Please provide further details, based on the grounds of objection for each GI. (If submission based on existing trade mark please provide trade mark number. If submission based on unregistered trade mark please provide evidence of use on Australia).	The proposal to use Prosecco as a GI in Australia would restrict the use of this name to only wines produced in certain regions of Italy, effectively preventing Australian producers from using the name to market their own sparkling wines made from the same grape variety. Prosecco is a grape variety that was historically grown in the Veneto region of Italy, where it has been used to produce sparkling wine under the Prosecco name. In the late 1990's, this Prosecco grapevine material was first sold to Australian wine producers, with prosecco wine being made from these grapes for over two decades. This would be a significant blow to Australian wine producers who have been growing and investing in Prosecco grapes and making sparkling wines from them for many years. It wouldalso be confusing for consumers, who understand the Prosecco grape variety and the quality it produces in Australia. Restricting the use of Prosecco as a GI would potentially stifle innovation and creativity in the Australian wine industry putting many jobs at risk.
