We must realise that Fracking is not the solution for the Oil age slowing down, since Fracking Oil is just very short term to Peak. Fossil fuels we know are not what we need to keep society running. Solar alone barely helps, due to the amount of energy and resources that goes into making panels. Followed by the energy and resources in making batteries. Followed by Climate change. where is everything heading?
So I would be thinking Geothermal, Wind, and Ocean, is much more what we're needing. Or else Human society is going backwards.

Yours sincerely,
