Subject: Submission to the Community Engagement Review

I want to see our government get behind a general message to all communities behind the priority of government to implement renewable energy infrastructure, with community consultation, and project transparency via a website.

Proponent companies that are responsible for projects, must broadly broadcast their intentions and project highlights, to affected communities, for the purpose of general awareness.

Along with the direction that further specific information regarding the project can be found at the .gov.au website.

The more transparent the project details are, the less likely-hood of corruption. And even if a project does get bogged down in local community negotiations, it's important the larger community knows this, and can perhaps add sway in unlocking a dead-lock.

I believe it's up to government to create the rules in which we all live by, not to be responsible for building, making business deals, or solving problems.

We must act now.

Yours sincerely,
