I see this time as our last chance to stop dangerous climate change. If we don't act in a targeted and major way in the next few years to stop burning fossil fuels it will be too late.
We need to ensure renewable energy infrastructure is efficient and provides everyone with the same cheap, clean power.
Governments and private companies need to act together to fund projects that will not harm the environment and run productively so everyone benefits.
The risk of inaction is too great, we must act now to transition to renewable energy.

Yours sincerely,
Ifeanna Tooth
