Dear Committee,

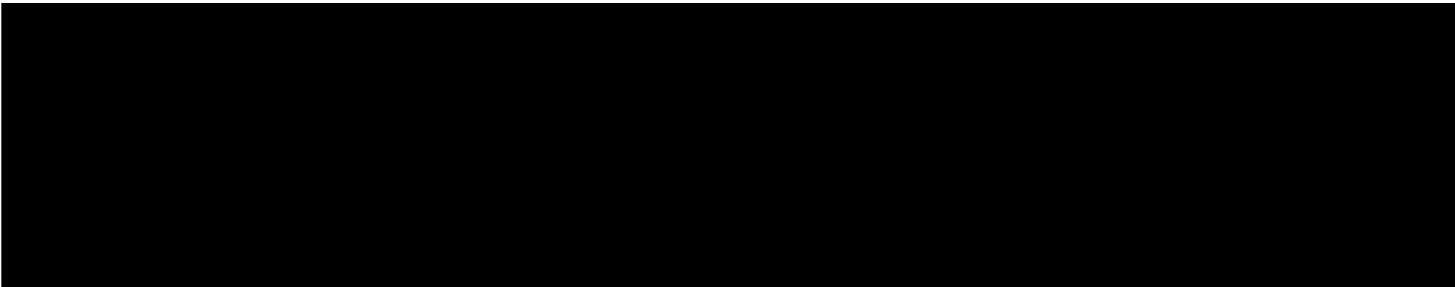

There can be no climate action without building renewable energy infrastructure.

As we plummet towards climate chaos, we cannot run the risk of increased emissions. We need to be doing everything possible to reduce them now. My hope for the future of this planet and fight to protect the innocent (children and flora and fauna) is diminishing with every season. We are heading into a potentially disastrous summer that is scaring the positivity out of me.

I want to see a fair transition that means First Nations communities always have free and informed prior consent for projects on their Country and can participate in and share the benefits of the energy transition.

Communities need to be treated as real stakeholders in Australia's energy transition so that we see fairer outcomes and huge benefits. Our government should plan for long-term investment in communities, sustainable jobs, lower power prices, co-benefits for farmers, and cleaner air for all.

Yours sincerely,
