Hello,

I am writing to you as a mother of a young child who is terrified about what sort of a future we will leave behind if we don't start taking care of our environment and transitioning to cleaner forms of energy.

This transition doesn't have to be all doom and gloom about coal/ fossil fuels being phased out, job loss, ect but instead with the provision of training and up skilling has the potential of not only providing all the workers with new jobs in exciting new areas, but also creating more jobs to be filled.

For this reason I think it is a great idea to start introducing infrastructure for clean energy extraction located as close to existing coal/ fossil fuel sites for a seamless transition.

I look forward to seeing positive change so that my son has a beautiful future.

Yours sincerely,
