Hi,

I see Australia's transition to renewable energy fundamental in community engagement. We are unable to feel like a connected, meaningful community in the current system that profits only big business.

Particularly up here in Darwin we are already feeling the impacts of climate change and how it's devastating communities that are experiencing more frequent extreme weather events and rising sea levels. We need to start using our abundance of solar and wind energy to lead this transition.

Thanks for considering this as a community engagement issue.

Yours sincerely,
