The Australian Government,
Dear Members,

The world is in a mess. Humans and especially defenseless animals are dying and suffering due to extreme weather events and their outcomes - such as bushfires.

The science has been evident for decades. We, as a world community, have acted far too slowly, to the detriment of us all.

Currently, the science states no new thermal coal and gas or climate catastrophe will commence. So we have a desperate need to finally follow the science. This necessitates building renewable energy infrastructure urgently. Governments and proponent companies must do their part.

Please act urgently on this matter of life or death.

Thank you for taking this into consideration.

Yours sincerely,
