Daniel Brosseau

Daniel is a partner at McKinsey & Company and a leader of McKinsey Digital in Montréal. He advises clients across industry on digital transformations, including the redesign of the operating model for the technology organization and the adoption of agile at scale. He focuses on helping his clients reinvent the business through digital and technology enablement as well as increase efficiency and effectiveness, reduce time to market, and improve overall quality of technology solutions.

Before joining McKinsey in 2010, Daniel worked as a technology change agent in the global transportation and logistics industry. In this role, he advised senior executives on strategy development, process optimizations, and technology solution optimization.

Daniel sits on the board of FitSpirit, a Quebec-based charitable organization whose mission is to get teenage girls active for life, and has led strategy-development efforts for multiple non-profit organizations in Montréal.