

PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT

Earn 1.5 hours of Professional Development

New participants will receive a copy of the book How to Tell Stories to Children

WHO SHOULD ATTEND

All professionals serving children ages birth to 5 years old, including TK, Preschool and Toddler Teachers, Family Childcare Providers, and Early Intervention Providers

EVENT DETAILS

When: Tuesday, November 9, 2021

Time: 5:30 to 7:00 PM

Where: Virtual Meeting on Zoom
A link will be provided to all registered participants

Last Day to Register:
Saturday, November 6, 2021

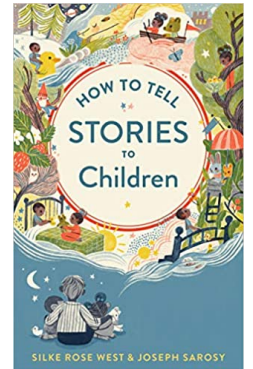

Registration Link:
<https://slococoe.k12oms.org/964-211775>

"WHEN WE HEAR THE WORD STORYTELLING, MOST PEOPLE THINK OF THE STORY OR NARRATIVE. WE BEGIN BY REFOCUSING ON THE RELATIONSHIP THAT ARISES BETWEEN YOU AND YOUR STUDENTS AS A STORY IS TOLD."
JOSEPH AND SILKE

HOW TO TELL STORIES TO CHILDREN

USING STORYTELLING AS AN EDUCATIONAL TOOL

SLOCOE is excited to host this virtual professional development event!

Silke Rose West and Joseph Sarosy, educators of young children, and authors of the book How to Tell Stories to Children return to our supportive platform, to offer practical advice, helpful prompts, and a touch of science to explain how stories can be used as an educational tool.

The presenters will share day-to-day stories teachers can use in the classroom and early care settings, supporting emotions and connections, while also supporting many diverse needs of young children in our care.

Attendees will learn and practice simple storytelling methods, which will ultimately support the emotional and educational success of children.

FOR MORE INFORMATION ABOUT CONTENT, CONTACT:

Shannon Pimentel | Coordinator, Early Learning & Educational Support
(805) 782-7318 | spimentel@slococoe.org

FOR MORE INFORMATION ABOUT REGISTRATION, CONTACT:

Megan O'Dwyer | Administrative Assistant II
(805) 782-7298 | modwyer@slococoe.org

