

Parents Helping Parents

Serving Families of Children with Special Needs

"I envision a world where any question of school inclusion is answered with a resounding 'of course!'. And the details of that inclusion are joyfully, creatively and skillfully planned and carried out in direct collaboration with the person receiving support" ~Dr. Julie Causton, Founder, Inclusive Schooling

What does inclusion look like?

Learn WHAT inclusion looks like at ALL stages of life.

Learn WHY Inclusive Education is critical for independence.

Learn HOW to achieve true inclusion in K-12 education and beyond by filling your toolbox understanding of federal law, best practice, and research.

Date:

Wednesday
September 22
5:30-7 pm

Location:

Zoom

RSVP:

805-543-3277 or
php@ucp-slo.org

Sara Jo Soldovieri, M.Ed. is a doctoral student researcher studying Inclusive Special Education at Syracuse University. She is the former Manager of Inclusive Education Programming for the National Down Syndrome Society (NDSS) where she has worked for more than three years to drive systems and society toward the full inclusion of children with Down syndrome and other disabilities in education. A former inclusive special education teacher, Sara Jo directly supports students, families, school districts and policy makers by providing advice, professional development training and consultation. When not working with families or school districts she has advised presidential and congressional campaigns.

