FLOWER POWER

We really love fresh juice. (We love it so much that we can even make a case for coffee being a magic bean juice, but we’ll save that for another time). Each glass that comes from our Juice Bar is full of fresh, juicy goodness and a story – that includes our new, seasonal Tangerine Dream, our signature Kale Tonic and Morning Meditation and, of course, the metamorphic, ultra-refreshing Purple Haze. If this is your first introduction to the unique drink, allow us to spill the tea. Butterfly Pea Flower, the star ingredient, has long been prominent in Southeast Asia, where it’s known for its vibrant, color-changing ability as well as its numerous nutritional benefits (it’s very pro antioxidant). And yes, we said color-changing! When Butterfly Pea Flowers are dried and brewed like tea, the result is a brilliant blue shade that would be stunning all on its own. But, when that deep blue liquid comes into contact with something acidic (like lemon), the color morphs into a rich purple right before your eyes. Don’t believe it? Sip into our Purple Haze and everything will become clear...or purple. You get the point!
