

WHEN IS IT TIME FOR ASSISTED LIVING?

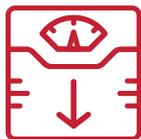

There is no specific milestone to watch for when it comes to considering assisted living for a loved one. It's more commonly a series of changes that becomes increasingly evident over a period of time.

We're here to help ensure your loved one receives the right assistance to remain as independent as possible, for as long as they are able. No more sleepless nights and tough decisions for you. Together, we've got this!

Here are some signs that may indicate it's time to consider assisted living or memory care:

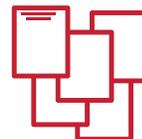

Withdrawal from lifelong activities

Changes in weight or eating habits

Uncertainty over medications

Unusual clutter in the home

Unpaid bills or unopened mail

Increasing confusion or repetitiveness

Lapses in personal hygiene

Putting items in odd places

Lapses in exterior home maintenance

Comments from friends or neighbors

If you are noticing any of these signs, don't wait for the need to become greater. Call us or visit our website today to schedule your private tour and consultation.

It's Never Too Early to Seek Answers.

The time to begin thinking about assisted living is long before developments force the issue. It's an important decision, and one that should be made outside of the pressures driven by immediate need. If you or a loved one are coping with some of these issues, we'll be happy to discuss them with you and provide guidance with compassion, sensitivity and understanding.

Together, We've Got This!

Whether you are currently caring for a loved one or preparing for the future, Friendship Village understands the process you are going through, and has more than 40 years' experience serving seniors and their families.

Needs will inevitably increase over time. Our process makes it easy to start taking action now, so your loved one can stay well and as independent as possible, longer.
