Fritz Fryer adds a brand new Grafton Light to their collection. It is called The Grafton Globe, and it is a globe light designed with watch designs and astrology in mind. The globe pendant light is a fully customisable design which enables you to find your perfect combination.

This globe wall light is Fritz Fryer's newest design to their collection. According to the light designers, it is a beautiful piece that grabs the attention of interior designers and homeowners who are searching for a unique light for their home or studio. Fritz Fryer also mention, that the glass globe pendant light has a versatile part that you will notice is the interchangeable glass used for the shade, so each different type adds unique character to your lighting.

Fritz Fryer gives you a list of options on where to place your Grafton Light should you choose to purchase this new design. You could hang the pendant light over your kitchen island, or maybe you would pendant lights for your bathroom as you are currently renovating it and you would like a stylish and modern look, and the Grafton Light would be perfect.

With the Grafton Light, you can choose the smoked light which is a beautiful part of the light itself as it will bring out the frosted lens within the lighting. The clear glass will then allow you to see all the features of the Grafton Globe, even the filament inside. So, if you're looking for a distinct light, you have two fantastic options to choose from.

Fritz Fryer recommends pairing the unique pendant lights from the Grafton Globe with white glass shades which create an Art Deco feel, perfect for an interior designer. It is beautiful to see the combination of two turning 'the hex bar into subtle cast shadow which then gives the lens a light aqua glow.'

As mentioned, the Grafton Globe would be the perfect choice if you're renovating your bathroom and you're going for a modern look. They are the closest lights you will get to a designer bathroom light. It will give your bathroom a sophisticated look that not many bathrooms get, as the lights are not just fancy and have a designer look, they are utterly stunning when placed in the right space.

There are many other spaces that the Grafton Light is suitable for, such as spaces where the lighting scheme could give you a headache, and this can depend on many factors like tricky beams in small cottages or bathroom lighting regulations.

Fritz Fryer explains the inspiration behind the Grafton Globe. The designers Simon and Andrew were inspired by the mechanisms of antique industrial clocks and the complexity involved with them by having engineers keep time in smooth motions, doing so very carefully.

The collection itself is based on the Orrery, which is the first mechanical model of the solar system built-in 1704. It is an accurate model of the solar system as you can see the planets moving around the sun
