FRANK MARTIN

HEAD COACH | SECOND SEASON | 131-72 (.645 WINNING PERCENTAGE)

Frank Martin was named the head men's basketball coach at the University of South Carolina on March 27, 2012, becoming the 32nd head coach in the history of the South Carolina program, which enters its 106th season as a varsity sport in 2013-14. Martin owns a 131-72 (.645) overall record as a head coach, entering his seventh season overall, and second season at South Carolina.

Since his appointment as head coach in Columbia, Martin, 47, has become a fixture in the community. He has spoken at numerous events, including Gamecock Club Fan Fests, numerous community council and rotary club events, coaching clinics, and the Fathers and Families Decades of Dads event, among others. He was also selected as a Court Coach for USA Basketball in June 2012, assisting Florida head coach Billy Donovan with the Men's U18 National Team training camp in Colorado Springs, Colo., at the U.S. Olympic Training Center. The camp was used to determine the 12-member roster that represented the USA at the 2012 FIBA Americas U18 Championship in late June.

Martin was honored again during the summer of 2013, serving as an assistant coach for the United States on head coach Bob McKillop's staff alongside Michigan head coach John Beilein for the U.S. Men's World University Games team. The squad spent time in Colorado Springs at training camp, before embarking on a two-week journey to Kazan, Russia, in early July, for the event.

During his first season (2012-13) in Columbia, Martin led his squad to a 14-18 record, which included a 4-14 mark in SEC contests. The Garnet and Black captured the Hoops For Hope Classic tournament crown after posting a 4-0 record competing in the event with home victories over Milwaukee and Rider, before defeating Missouri State in overtime, and UALR in Puerto Vallarta, Mexico, over the Thanksgiving holiday. Freshman forward Michael Carrera was honored after the conclusion of the regular season with selection to the 2013 SEC All-Freshman Team, as voted on by the league's head coaches. During the spring of 2013, the Gamecock coaching staff signed seven freshmen, while welcoming Villanova transfer Ty Johnson to the team, a recruiting class which ranked No. 23 in the nation according to ESPN.com.

Martin spent the previous five seasons as the head coach at Kansas State University, leading the Wildcats to the NCAA Tournament four times, including a trip to the "Elite 8," during the 2009-10 campaign when the squad won a school record 29 contests. Martin's Wildcats won at least 21 games in each of his five seasons at the helm, as the program compiled a record of 117-54 (.684) under Martin's direction. During that time, Kansas State posted a 50-32 (.609) record in Big 12 Conference games, finishing fifth or higher in each season, with three season finishes of third or better.

During his first season as a college head coach during the 2007-08 campaign, Martin's squad posted a 21-12 overall record and finished third in the Big 12 with a mark of 10-6 in league contests. The third-place finish by the Wildcats marked the program's best finish since the inception of the league. The squad advanced to the NCAA Tournament and Martin led his team to the program's first NCAA Tournament victory since the 1988 campaign with an 80-67 win over Southern California in the event's opening round.

During that season, Martin tutored rising star Michael Beasley, then just a freshman, to one of the best seasons by a rookie in NCAA history, as the standout posted 26.2 points and 12.4 rebounds per contest to earn National Player of the Year accolades from CBS Sports.com and Rivals.com. Beasley was also named a consensus first team All-American and was named the Big 12 Player and Freshman of the year by the league's coaches that season. Freshman Bill Walker, also a standout for the Wildcats in 2007-08, earned third team All-American honors following the campaign. Beasley (No. 2 pick) and Walker (No. 47 pick) were both selected in the 2008 NBA Draft.

Success continued for the Wildcats during the 2008-09 season. The squad compiled an overall record of 22-12 and finished tied for fourth in the Big 12 with a 9-7 mark, propelling Kansas State to an at-large bid to the Postseason NIT. Under Martin's leadership, the Wildcats continued to shine, as junior Denis Clemente earned the Big 12 Newcomer of the Year award and was named to the all-conference squad, joining honorable mention honoree, sophomore guard Jacob Pullen.

Martin's 2009-10 team posted a school-record 29-8 overall mark and finished tied for second in the Big 12 with a record of 11-5 en route to the school's first NCAA Tournament "Elite 8" appearance in over two decades. During the regular season, KSU earned its first win over a No. 1 ranked opponent since the 1994 campaign with a

Martin was the runner-up in the Associated Press' National Coach of the Year award in 2010, while he was a finalist for the Naismith Men's College Basketball Coach of the Year and the CollegeInsider.com's Jim Phelan National Coach of the Year awards. He earned Big 12 Coach of the Year honors that season from the league's coaches, the AP and Sporting News among others. Pullen earned All-Big 12 First Team honors, while Clemente was named to the second team and rising star, sophomore Jamar Samuels was selected as the Big 12 Sixth Man Award winner. Pullen and Clemente both earned All-America honors following the historic season.

The 2010-11 team posted the fourth 20-win season under Martin, as the squad collected an overall record of 23-11, including a 10-6 mark in league play (tied for third). The team also advanced to the NCAA Tournament's third round, the squad's third appearance in the Tournament under the fourth-year head coach. The team struggled through the early portion of the Big 12 campaign, dropping five of its first seven league contests. The team rallied to close the season, however, posting wins in nine of its last 11 regular-season contests.

The Wildcats earned several marquee wins during the 2010-11 campaign, including a victory over No. 1 Kansas, marking the second-straight season the Wildcats earned a win over a top-ranked team. Pullen concluded his career as the school's all-time leading scorer with 2,132 points and earned All-American honors at the conclusion of the season. The team finished the season ranked among the nation's Top 25 in both major polls.

Martin's 2011-12 squad posted an overall mark of 22-11 and once again advanced to the NCAA Tournament Third Round. The NCAA selection marked KSU's school-record sixth-straight season with a berth in the postseason, and fifth under the direction of Martin. The Wildcats posted a 10-8 mark in Big 12 play to finish fifth, which saw Kansas State join cross-state rival Kansas as the only Big 12 schools to receive a bye into the quarterfinals of the Phillips 66 Big 12 Championship in each of the last six seasons (five under Martin). Junior Rodney McGruder was selected to the All-Big 12 squad, while he and junior Jordan Henriquez, who ranked among the nation's top 40 in blocked shots per game, were named to the All-Defensive team. Samuels also earned All-Big 12 honorable mention honors.

Before his appointment as head coach at Kansas State, Martin served one season as the top assistant and recruiting coordinator at the school for then-head coach Bob Huggins during the 2006-07 campaign. He helped coach two all-conference players that season and helped KSU post one of the nation's top recruiting classes in 2006, as the group was ranked No. 1 by Scout.com and Rivals.com. The class included the No. 1 recruit in Michael Beasley and No. 6 Bill Walker.

Martin first joined the Kansas State staff after spending two seasons as an assistant coach at Cincinnati. He first served as an assistant for Bob Huggins during the 2004-05 campaign, and then for Andy Kennedy in 2005-06. The Bearcats advanced to the postseason in both of those seasons, including a trip to the NCAA Tournament in 2005. Martin's first college coaching position came as an assistant at Northeastern (2000-2004), where he helped coach eight all-conference players.

Prior to his time on the sidelines in the college ranks, Martin spent 15 years in high school coaching in Miami, Fla., including the last seven as a head coach. He was part of five state championships as an assistant at Miami Senior High School (1985-93), before earning two titles as the program's head coach (1995-99). Highlighting Martin's stint as the head coach of the program were consecutive 30-win seasons and consecutive Florida 6A State Championships in 1996 and 1997, with his 1997 squad earning a 36-1 overall record and ranking No. 4 in the USA Today Top 25 Poll. He helped develop 14 players that went on to play NCAA Division I basketball, while all 21 of his players graduated with 19 of those attending college.

He also served as the head coach at North Miami Senior High School (1993-95) and one season at Booker T. Washington High School (1999-2000).

A native of Miami, Fla., Martin earned his bachelor's degree in physical education from Florida International in 1993. He and his wife, Anya, have three children, Brandon, Amalia and Christian.

"I've known Frank since his early days as a high school coach in Miami. I hired Frank because I was impressed with the way he conducted practices, his enthusiasm for the game and his ability to make adjustments during games. I tease Frank all the time that I had to hire him for him to recruit a player for us because we never got a player from his high school teams that he coached. When he was a high school coach, I knew he had the ability to be a superior coach at the collegiate level -- Frank has proven me correct."

-- West Virginia Head Coach Bob Huggins

"Frank Martin is among the best young head coaches in the college game. Even though Frank has worlds of experience at almost every level, he's still a young head coach that has accomplished a tremendous amount in a short time. Frank is tough and uncompromising on his standards, but his players respond and trust him. He may seem gruff when coaching, but he's a really nice guy. He's a terrific coach, and an even better person."

-- Jay Bilas, ESPN

"Frank Martin is a great coach. He brings a lot of energy and knowledge to the game. I think he is a great hire, and is one of the premier coaches in college basketball. I think the fans should expect big things out of him for years to come."

-- Gamecock great, Devan Downey

"I'm delighted that Frank Martin is our basketball coach. He has already embraced our community, our city, the University and Gamecock Country. There is no doubt that there will be an emphasis on academic success, and in the development of basketball players with the highest level of character on and off the court. Coach Martin's passion from tip to buzzer precedes him. Our fans can look forward to exciting basketball at South Carolina for years to come."

-- South Carolina Athletic Director, Ray Tanner

MATT FIGGER

ASSOCIATE HEAD COACH, RECRUITING COORDINATOR | SECOND SEASON

Matt Figger enters his second season at South Carolina and his first as the associate head coach, after most recently serving last season as an assistant coach for the Gamecocks, and previously in the same capacity at Kansas State for Frank Martin for five seasons.

Figger, who coordinates all team practices, served as the recruiting coordinator for the Gamecocks during his first season in Columbia, and helped the staff sign the No. 23 ranked class in the nation during the spring of 2013 according to ESPN.com.

"Upon losing Brad Underwood [to the head coaching position at Stephen F. Austin in April] the decision to promote Matt Figger to associate head coach was an easy one," Martin said about Figger's promotion. "Matt has been with me from day one at Kansas State, and he is as ready as anyone can be to take on head coaching duties. I'm excited for what he brings to our program every single day, and he'll remain responsible for the same things that he has done up to this point. I just want everyone to understand and know - players, and everyone who is around us - that Matt is ready to take on the challenge of being a head coach."

Figger, who was promoted to KSU's recruiting coordinator in June 2011, played a key role in the development of the Kansas State program, as the team posted 20-win seasons and advanced to the postseason, with four trips to the NCAA Tournament, in each of his five seasons at KSU. Figger brings over 20 years of coaching experience in various levels of the college ranks to the South Carolina sidelines.

Figger joined the staff at Kansas State in 2007 as an assistant coach, where he helped coach two All-Americans and numerous all-conference selections. Figger was a member of Martin's staff during all five years of Martin's time as the head coach at Kansas State. The program amassed an impressive 117 victories during that time and the squad won at least 21 games each season, while finishing fifth or higher in the Big 12 each year.

During his first season on staff at KSU, Figger helped the Wildcats post their first NCAA Tournament victory since 1988 after posting a 21-12 overall record, including a third-place finish in the Big 12 with a 10-6 mark. The finish in league play was the highest for the Wildcats since the inception of the league.

The 2008-09 squad posted 22 wins and earned an at-large bid to the Postseason NIT, which set the stage for a record-setting season in 2009-10, when the team posted a school-record 29 wins, en route to the program's first NCAA Tournament Elite Eight appearance in over two decades. The Wildcats defeated six ranked opponents that season, and concluded the year ranked in the Top 10 in both the ESPN/USA Today Coaches Top 25 Poll (No. 7) and the Associated Press Top 25 Poll (No. 7).

Kansas State advanced to the third round in the NCAA Tournament during the 2010-11 season, as the squad posted a 23-11 record, including a 10-6 mark in league play to finish third in the Big 12. Among the team's 23 wins were six over ranked teams, including the nation's top-ranked squad (No. 1 Kansas) and its first over a Top 10 team (No. 7 Texas) on the road since 1994. The team finished in the Top 25 of both polls in 2011, including No. 24 in the ESPN/USA Today Coaches' poll.

The 2011-12 season saw Kansas State once again advance to the NCAA Tournament third round, concluding the season with a 22-11 overall record. The Wildcats posted a 10-8 mark in Big 12 play to finish fifth, which made Kansas State and cross-state rival Kansas as the only Big 12 schools to receive a bye into the quarterfinals of the Phillips 66 Big 12 Championship in each of the last six seasons, with Figger on staff for the last five campaigns.

Prior to his time at Kansas State, Figger served a brief stint as the director of operations at Arkansas (April-June 2007), which followed five seasons as an assistant coach at South Alabama for John Pelphrey (2003-07). South Alabama enjoyed some of its greatest success during Figger's time on staff, especially the final two seasons when the team reached the NCAA Tournament and NIT, respectively. Prior to his time with the Jaguars, Figger spent 10 years as an assistant coach in the junior college ranks, including stints at Wabash Valley (Ill.) (1993-94), Vincennes (1994-99) and Odessa (Texas) College (2000-02). At the junior college level, his teams won 20 or more games eight times, captured six region and four district titles and advanced to the National Junior College Athletic Association (NJCAA) national tournament four times.

Figger, a native of Jenkins, Ky., earned his bachelor's degree in physical education from Eastern Kentucky in 1995. He played baseball at Pikeville College in Pikeville, Ky. (1990-91), before completing his education at Eastern Kentucky. Figger and his wife, Katrina, have a son, Vincent.

PERRY CLARK

ASSISTANT COACH | FIRST SEASON

Perry Clark begins his first season as an assistant coach at South Carolina have his hiring in June 2013. Clark is a former head coach at Tulane, Miami (Fla.) and most recently at Texas A&M-Corpus Christi.

"We are extremely excited about adding Coach Clark to our staff with the experience and the unbelievable story of success that continues to follow him," Martin said at the time of Clark's hiring. "He is someone who understands the land of recruiting as well as anyone in the country. His experience with preparing teams that have been ranked in the top 10 in the country and to play in the ACC and the Metro Conference is something that will serve our players and coaches in tremendous ways."

Clark has over 30 years of collegiate coaching experience, including 15 years combined as head coach at both Tulane University and the University of Miami (Fla.). As a head coach, Clark owned a 304-270 (.529) record, including seven 20-win seasons and nine postseason appearances.

In 11 seasons at Tulane, Clark compiled a 185-145 (.561) record, had six 20-win seasons, seven postseason appearances (3 NCAA, 4 NIT) and won the Metro Conference championship in 1992. The 1992 National Coach of the Year, he was a two-time Metro Conference Coach of the Year (1991, 1992).

He took over the program at Miami in 2000 and spent four seasons with the Hurricanes, where he led them to a 65-54 (.546) record. In his first three seasons with the program, he accumulated 51 wins, the most ever by a Hurricane coach, and became the only Miami coach to take the Hurricanes to the postseason in each of his first two seasons.

Clark's 2001-02 Hurricane squad finished 24-8 and received the school's fourth NCAA Tournament berth and set a school record for wins in a season. Included in the 24 wins were a school-record 14 consecutive victories to open the season. His Hurricanes were not ranked in the preseason, but were ranked for the final 13 weeks of the campaign, ending the year No. 21 according to the Associated Press.

In four seasons at Texas A&M-Corpus Christi, Clark led the Islanders to a 54-71 (.432) overall record. His 2008-09 squad doubled its win total from the previous season and Kevin Palmer earned Southland Newcomer of the Year honors after posting 18.2 points per game in leading a team in which no player had more than a season of NCAA Division I experience.

Success has followed Clark's players, particularly in the early stages of their careers. In his stints at Georgia Tech and Tulane, Clark went a phenomenal eight for nine, from 1983 to 1992, in helping produce the conference's top rookie, including a Metro record three in a row at Tulane.

As the recruiting coordinator at Georgia Tech, five players earned honors as the top freshman – Mark Price (1983), Bruce Dalrymple (1984), Duane Ferrell (1985), Tom Hammonds (1986) and Dennis Scott (1988). At Tulane, Anthony Reed (1990), Kim Lewis (1991) and Pointer Williams (1992) claimed consecutive Metro Conference Freshman of the Year honors.

Clark has coached 17 players who were drafted or have gone on to play in the NBA. Twelve of those draftees have gone in the first or second rounds, including 2002 selection John Salmons, who was taken with the 26th pick of the first round by the San Antonio Spurs, and James Jones, who was a second-round selection by the Indiana Pacers in the 2003 NBA Draft.

Other NBA draftees include Anthony Reed and Jerald Honeycutt at Tulane, Frank Brickowski from Penn State, and Bruce Dalrymple, Duane Ferrell, Tom Hammonds, Yvon Joseph, Craig Neal, Brian Oliver, Mark Price, John Salley, and Dennis Scott from Tech.

Before he became a head coach, Clark was the associate head coach at Georgia Tech from 1986-88 and an assistant for the Yellow Jackets from 1982-86 under Bobby Cremins. He also served as assistant coach at Penn State from 1978-1982 and started his coaching career at famed DeMatha Catholic High School in Maryland as an assistant coach under legendary prep coach Morgan Wootten. Clark was inducted into the Tulane Hall of Fame in 2009 after being inducted into the Louisiana Hall of Fame during the 2008 season.

LAMONT EVANS

ASSISTANT COACH | SECOND SEASON

Lamont Evans enters his second season at South Carolina after previously serving as an assistant coach at Kansas State for Frank Martin during the 2011-12 season. Evans also served as a student assistant (2008-09) and a graduate manager (2009-11) for Martin's Wildcats.

"Though young in actual experience, Lamont was preparing to coach even during his playing days," Martin said. "He is very well connected in the world of grassroots basketball and has great knowledge of the game."

During his four seasons associated with the program, Kansas State compiled 96 victories, an average of 24 wins per season, and advanced to the postseason each year, with three trips to the NCAA Tournament. The school also received a bye in the Phillips 66 Big 12 Championship in each of his four seasons with the program.

Evans assisted with the development of several players during his time at Kansas State, including All-Americans Denis Clemente and Jacob Pullen.

The 2008-09 squad posted 22 wins and earned an at-large bid to the Post-season NIT, which set the stage for a record-setting season in 2009-10, when the team posted a school-record 29 wins, en route to the program's first NCAA Tournament Elite Eight appearance in over two decades.

The 2010-11 squad also advanced to the third round of the NCAA Tournament after finishing third in the Big 12. During his first season as an assistant at K-State, Evans helped guide the Wildcats to a 22-11 overall record, including a fifth-place finish in the Big 12 with a mark of 10-8, en route to the NCAA Tournament for the third-consecutive season.

Evans, a native of Eleuthera, Bahamas, first came to the United States at the age of five, eventually settling in Deerfield Beach, Fla. He was a standout point guard at Hallandale High School in Hallandale, Fla., where he earned second team Florida Class 5A All-State honors as a junior, before collecting first-team accolades during his senior season in 1995-96.

Evans played his first two years of college basketball at Seminole (Fla.) Junior College in Sanford, Fla., and St. Catharine College in St. Catharine, Ky., before enrolling at Drake in 1999. After a solid season at Seminole during the 1996-97 campaign, when he averaged 19.0 points and 7.1 assists per game, his outstanding play at St. Catharine's during his sophomore season saw him draw Division I scholarship offers. Averaging 16.2 points and an impressive 10.1 assists per game at St. Catharine's, Evans was named the most valuable player of Region VII.

Evans played two seasons at Drake where he earned All-MVC and All-Newcomer Team accolades. He followed his time with the Bulldogs playing seven years professionally around the world. His stops included the U.S. Basketball League (USBL), playing for the Lakeland (Fla.) Blue Ducks, and internationally with teams in Slovenia, Germany, Finland, Belgium and Venezuela. He led teams in Slovenia and Belgium to championships, while he was named one of the top international point guards during his time in Germany.

Evans earned his bachelor's degree in social science from Kansas State in the spring of 2009. He and his wife, Ebony have a son, Lamont, Jr.

ANDY ASSALEY

DIRECTOR OF BASKETBALL OPERATIONS | SECOND SEASON

Andy Assaley enters his second season at South Carolina as the director of basketball operations. Assaley previously served in the same capacity at Kansas State under Frank Martin for the past five seasons.

"Andy brings an incredible combination of coaching and administrative background to our staff," Martin said. "He is very helpful in film breakdown and also in creating a great organization of our office's day-to-day business."

Assaley is involved with nearly all facets of the South Carolina program, including team travel, scheduling, on campus recruiting visits, oversight of manager staff, equipment, as well as assisting with the annual Legends Weekend and Tip-Off Club. Assaley also assists with film breakdown and scouting, and is a member of the Championship Culture Committee for the Gamecock Athletics Department.

Assaley played a key support role in helping to build the Kansas State program during his six seasons on staff with the Wildcats. The program posted at least 20 wins each season and advanced to the postseason every year, including four trips to the NCAA Tournament.

The Wildcats advanced to the Postseason NIT in 2007, Assaley's first season on staff where he served as video coordinator, posting an overall record of 23-12, the first of six consecutive 20-win campaigns by K-State. Assaley was named the director of operations shortly following the conclusion of the season.

Assaley played a role in the Wildcats posting their first NCAA Tournament victory since 1988 after posting a 21-12 overall record, including a third-place finish in the Big 12 with a 10-6 mark during the 2007-08 season. The finish in league play was the highest for the Wildcats since the inception of the league.

The 2008-09 squad posted 22 wins and earned an at-large bid to the Postseason NIT, which set the stage for a record-setting season in 2009-10, when the team posted a school-record 29 wins, en route to the program's first NCAA Tournament Elite Eight appearance in over two decades. The Wildcats defeated six ranked opponents that season, and concluded the year ranked in the Top 10 in both the ESPN/USA Today Coaches Top 25 Poll (No. 7) and the Associated Press Top 25 Poll (No. 7).

Kansas State followed with two more 20-win seasons, compiling a 23-11 mark in 2010-11 and a 22-11 record during the 2011-12 season. The squad advanced to the NCAA Tournament third round both years, and finished third and fifth, respectively in the Big 12 during those seasons.

Assaley joined the K-State staff as video coordinator on April 26, 2006, for then-head coach Bob Huggins. Assaley spent the previous five years at Cincinnati in a number of capacities for both Huggins and Andy Kennedy, first serving as a volunteer, before being promoted to video coordinator and assistant to the head coach. During his tenure, the Bearcats posted 119 victories and advanced to the NCAA Tournament four times.

Assaley received both his bachelor's and master's degrees from Cincinnati, earning his undergraduate degree in economics in 1996 and his master's in labor and employee relations in 1998. Assaley and his wife, Sarah, are the parents of three daughters, Cali, Isabella and Payton, and a son, Will.

SCOTT GREENAWALT

STRENGTH AND CONDITIONING COACH | SECOND SEASON

Scott Greenawalt enters his second season as the strength and conditioning coach for the Gamecock men's basketball team, and holds the title of assistant strength coach at South Carolina. He previously served as an assistant strength and conditioning coach, working with the men's and women's basketball programs at Kansas State since 2006.

"Scott is as good as it gets in the world of strength and conditioning," Martin said. "He brings a commitment to the whole athlete. Strength, conditioning, flexibility and nutrition are just some of the things that he helps our student-athletes excel with every day."

Greenawalt played a major role in helping revitalize the Wildcat program under Bob Huggins (2006-07) and Frank Martin (2007-12), which has posted six consecutive 20-win seasons and has advanced to the postseason in each of the past six seasons, including four trips to the NCAA Tournament.

The Wildcats advanced to the Postseason NIT in 2007, Greenawalt's first season on staff, posting an overall record of 23-12. Greenawalt played a role in the Wildcats posting their first NCAA Tournament victory since 1988 after posting a 21-12 overall record, including a third-place finish in the Big 12 with a 10-6 mark during the 2007-08 season. The finish in league play was the highest for the Wildcats since the inception of the league.

Kansas State followed with two more 20-win seasons, compiling a 23-11 mark in 2010-11 and a 22-11 record during the 2011-12 season. The squad advanced to the NCAA Tournament third round both years, and finished third and fifth, respectively in the Big 12 during those seasons.

Greenawalt has helped coach more than 10 all-conference players, including unanimous first team selection as well as the 2008 Big 12 Player and Freshman of the Year Michael Beasley, as well as two-time First Team All-Big 12 pick Jacob Pullen.

Greenawalt also trained the women's basketball team at Kansas State, which captured the Big 12 regular-season championship in 2008 and advanced to the NCAA Tournament four times in the last five seasons, including the 2011-12 campaign.

DOUG EDWARDS

GRADUATE STUDENT MANAGER /
STUDENT-ATHLETE DEVELOPMENT | SECOND SEASON

Doug Edwards begins his second season on staff at South Carolina as a graduate student manager and student-athlete development. Edwards previously served on Frank Martin's staff at Kansas State as the director of student-athlete development for the Wildcats.

Edwards' responsibilities at South Carolina will include a wide variety of areas, including basketball-related matters, handling special projects, and assisting with student-athlete development. Edwards may also work on other special projects for the program and he serves as the staff liaison between academics and the student-athletes.

Edwards was a standout player in men's basketball at Florida State, helping to lead the Seminoles to 68 victories during his career and three-straight NCAA Tournament appearances (1990-93). In three seasons with FSU, Edwards scored 1,604 points, an average of 17.2 points per game, which ranks him sixth all-time in total points in the Florida State career record book. He is the only player in FSU history to score 500 or more points in three consecutive seasons. He also ranks among the school's top-10 in four career categories, including fifth in field goals (621), sixth in rebounding (788; 8.5 rpg.) third in double-doubles (36) and 10th in career starts.

Edwards averaged 18.3 points and 9.4 rebounds as a senior and was selected to the All-ACC second team. He helped lead the Seminoles to a 25-10 record that season and the squad came within one game of the Final Four. He was named to the FSU Sports Hall of Fame on Sept. 6, 2008.

Edwards was the 15th overall pick in the 1993 NBA Draft by the Atlanta Hawks. He played with the Hawks for three seasons (1993-95) where he averaged 2.4 points and 1.8 rebounds per contest, before finishing his injury-shortened career with the Vancouver Grizzlies (1995-96).

One of the most heralded recruits in Florida State history, Edwards was coached by Martin at Miami Senior High School from 1986-90. During his three-year career with the Stingarees, he helped the team to 104 victories against just six losses, and two Class 4A State Championships. As a senior, he led the squad to a 35-1 record, the Class 4A state title and a No. 2 final ranking in USA Today Super 25. He was the runner-up to Kenny Anderson for USA Today's National High School Player of the Year as well as a McDonald's All-American and Florida Mr. Basketball.

Edwards earned a bachelor's degree in social science from Florida State in 2007. He is working towards a graduate degree at South Carolina. He has three children: Brittney, Ameer and Brielle.

DYLAN LOCKWOOD

VIDEO COORDINATOR | SECOND SEASON

Dylan Lockwood enters his second season on staff with South Carolina men's basketball as the video coordinator after having served the previous six seasons on staff at Kansas State, including the last four seasons as the video coordinator for the Wildcats.

Lockwood was named the video coordinator at KSU prior to the 2008 season after serving the previous two campaigns as a graduate student manager. Like his duties at K-State, Lockwood coordinates and implements video technology for practices, games and for opponent scouting and game preparation at Carolina. Lockwood also manages mailing databases and serves as the marketing and basketball experience liaison for the men's basketball staff.

Prior to joining the K-State staff, Lockwood served as a student assistant under then-Cincinnati head coach Bob Huggins from 2004-05 and Andy Kennedy from 2005-06. He served as a student manager for the Bearcats from 1999 to 2001 and head manager from 2003-04.

Lockwood earned a bachelor's degree in business specializing in sport management from Cazenovia College in 2005. He played both soccer and basketball while attending Cazenovia. Lockwood was inducted into the Cazenovia Athletics Hall of Fame in Sept. 2013, as part of the 2001-2002 men's basketball team, the first men's hoops squad in Wildcat history to advance to the NCAA Tournament.
