* Started the NCAA Tournament Game

Nov. 11, 1998 - South Carolina vs. Charlotte (NCAA First Round)
Charlotte, N.C. - Attendance: 461

South Carolina women's soccer coach Sue Kelly is ecstatic about her program's future, though Wednesday night the present was somewhat disappointing.

Carolina, playing in its first NCAA tournament in the program's fourth season, lost 2-0 to Conference USA power Charlotte at the 49ers' Transamerica Field in the tournament's first round. South Carolina ends its season 11-7-1, but with a roster full of freshmen and sophomores, the Gamecocks' future looks bright.

"(UNCC) had a lot of momentum toward the end of the season," Kelly said. "It was a great performance by them. We have a very young team. We were beaten 6-0 in our last game, and I made some changes in our lineup for this game. We certainly want to do this again. We will continue to strengthen our schedule. We won't slow down. We'll continue to move on the foundation our seniors have built."

UNCC's offense was on the attack all night, peppering South Carolina goalkeeper Emily Crain with 18 shots. The 49ers scored on their eighth shot at the 58:15 mark as Meredith Mayo took a pass from Jill Currie and fired in a shot past Crain. Carrie Hughes knocked in a shot with her right knee on a crisp pass from Christina Papp at 75:05 to complete the 49ers' scoring.

South Carolina got nine shots off on goal, with five saved by UNCC keeper Jessica Brooks.

* Started the NCAA Tournament Game

Nov. 16, 2007 - South Carolina vs. Duke (NCAA First Round)
 Athens, Ga. - Attendance: 903

Officially the game goes down as a tie but for South Carolina's women's soccer team, the season is over.

After a 1-1 standstill through 110 minutes, the Gamecocks fell 4-1 in penalty kicks in the first round of the 64-team NCAA soccer tournament.

"It's an awful way to lose but that is the game of soccer," Shelley Smith said. "Unfortunately we didn't get the job done in PKs."

In penalty kicks, Duke hit its first three to give the Blue Devils a 3-0 lead after USC was unable to get it past GK Alison Lipsher. USC's Kim Miller then put one on the board for the Gamecocks, but the outcome had already been determined.

Officially for the Gamecocks this contest goes down as a tie, but semantics don't change the reality.

"It definitely feels like a loss," Smith said. "In this type of environment it is a loss because you're not able to play again."

The first half was scoreless after each team only mustered one shot on goal. In the second half, Duke's Lorraine Quinn broke the tie with a shot from 20 yards to give Duke the 1-0 lead at the 63:10 mark.

USC answered back two minutes later. Using her speed, USC's Darcel Mollon drew a foul to set up a Brittiny Rhoades free kick. From the right corner, Rhoades sent the ball into the goalie's box where SEC Defensive Player of the Year Blakely Mattern was standing to put the ball in the bottom right corner of the net to tie it at 65:29.

Nov. 13, 2009 - South Carolina vs. Davidson (NCAA First Round)
 Columbia, S.C. - Attendance: 3,813

South Carolina scored three goals within four minutes in the early part of the second half and a stingy defense allowed just three shots on the evening as the Gamecocks defeated Davidson 4-0 on Friday night in NCAA Women's Soccer First Round action at Stone Stadium.

The win is Carolina's first postseason victory in women's soccer history and advances the team to a Second Round matchup vs. Rutgers on Sunday, Nov. 15 with the tilt set to begin at 1 p.m. South Carolina is now 18-3-2 on the year while Davidson ends the season with a 12-10-1 record. The match was played in front of 3,813 fans, the largest attended women's soccer match in South Carolina history.

Kayla Grimsley tied a career-high with two goals, both coming in the second half, and Brooke Jacobs and Samantha Diaz-Matosas each recorded a goal and an assist to lead the Gamecocks on offense. Carolina was dominant on the offensive side with a 16-3 advantage in shots for the contest.

South Carolina recorded the team's 14th shutout of the season. Junior goalkeeper Mollie Patton played all 90 minutes to record a shutout in goal. Despite the loss, Baxa was stellar in goal for the Wildcats as she finished with seven saves.

Nov. 15, 2009 - South Carolina vs.
Rutgers (NCAA Second Round)
Columbia, S.C. - Attendance: 2,724

South Carolina junior forward Brooke Jacobs scored her sixth goal of the year in the 36th minute of play and junior goalkeeper Mollie Patton came up with a diving save near the end of regulation in the 90th minute as the Gamecocks defeated Rutgers 1-0 on Sunday afternoon in front of 2,724 fans at Stone Stadium. The Gamecocks improve to 19-3-2 and advance to the Round of 16 while Rutgers ends its season with a 14-4-4 record.

Sunday afternoon's win also marked head coach Shelley Smith's 100th victory as head coach of South Carolina.

The match was played even between South Carolina and Rutgers until 35:36 when Carolina grabbed the one-goal advantage with Jacobs finding the back of the net. On the score, Gamecock midfielder Christine Watts controlled a ball played into the box. Despite a Rutgers defender, Watts created an opportunity and connected with Jacobs, who on the touch, got a good look from six yards out to drill a shot past Rutgers keeper Erin Guthrie and off the inside of the left post into the net putting the Gamecocks ahead by a goal.

Jacobs has now scored in three consecutive NCAA matches. Jacobs had a goal vs. William & Mary in 2008 and scored last Friday evening in the victory over Davidson. Assists on the score were awarded to Watts and Maria Petroni.

Rutgers fought to the end though and came as close as possible in the 90th minute off a corner kick. Up from her goalkeeper position, Guthrie floated a ball into the penalty area that saw Scarlet Knights forward Rheanne Sleiman head on directly and toward the goal, only to have Patton come up with diving save to end the match and preserve a Gamecock victory.

South Carolina finished with an 11-9 advantage in shots over Rutgers including an 8-6 edge in the second half. Guthrie finished with five saves while Patton made three for the Gamecocks. The shutout for Patton was her 15th of the season and 22nd of her career.

Diaz-Matosas had a team-high six shots for Carolina including four on goal. Schacher and Sleiman each finished with three for Rutgers.

Nov. 20, 2009 - South Carolina vs.
Wake Forest (NCAA Round of 16)
Columbia, S.C. - Attendance: 4,347

A header by Wake Forest midfielder Bess Harrington in the final second of regulation found the back of the net for a goal as the Demon Deacons defeated South Carolina 1-0 as time expired in the NCAA Third Round at Stone Stadium on the campus of the University of South Carolina. South Carolina's record-breaking season ends at 19-4-2 on the year. Friday night's game was played in front of a crowd of 4,347 fans, the largest attended women's soccer match in Stone Stadium history.

Friday night's game appeared to be extending into overtime but Harrington was able to find the game-winning goal just as the clock struck zero in the 90th minute of play. The Deacons were able to gain control and possession off a throw-in and created a corner kick opportunity. With the clock ticking down under 10 seconds, Wake Forest forward Jill Hutchinson soared a perfect ball into the box that found the head of Harrington, who connected with a direct header that went past the Gamecock defense and goalkeeper Mollie Patton and into the net just before the buzzer to end regulation. For Harrington, the goal was her second of the season.

The goal capped off an exciting second half that saw both teams playing dead even as each tallied seven shots for the half. After Wake Forest controlled the first 45 minutes, the advantage shifted to the home team in the second half as Carolina opened the stanza with some pressure and scoring opportunities. Carolina forward Brooke Jacobs drove down the right side of the field in the 46th minute and hit a long shot that drifted deep into the box that was saved on line by Wake Forest keeper Amanda Barasha. Lindsay Small had a header in the 51st minute off a free kick that would also be saved by Barasha. Senior forward Samantha Diaz-Matosas would come close to a goal as Jacobs sailed in a ball that went to the far post and just a couple feet away from the foot of Diaz-Matosas. Wake Forest's Bess Harrington would have Wake's first strong goal opportunity in the 57th minute from 10 yards out only to see her shot saved by Gamecock keeper Mollie Patton.

Carolina looked to almost have a goal in the 60th and 61st st minute that saw a crazy flurry inside the six-yard box. Kortney Rhodes would get a shot off that was blocked by a Wake defender. On the play however, the ball would spin towards Gamecock forward Brooke Jacobs who took a direct shot in on Barasha. The Wake keeper would make a save but could not control the ball, allowing Jacobs an opportunity to get another shot off that went off one of the goal posts.

Nov. 12, 2010 - South Carolina vs. UNC Greensboro (NCAA First Round) Charlottesville, Va. - Attendance: 138

No. 20 South Carolina advances to the NCAA Second Round for the second consecutive year after defeating No. 10 UNC Greensboro 2-1 Friday night at Klockner Stadium on the campus of the University of Virginia. The Gamecocks (15-5-4) went ahead just 2:15 into the match by an own goal, and freshman Danielle Au hit the game-winner just 58 seconds into the second half.

The Spartans (19-2-1) entered the match riding a 16-match winning streak and a No. 10 ranking in the nation. With the victory, South Carolina improves to 3-1 in the all-time series and knock off their first top ten team since defeating then No. 8 Florida by a 1-0 score in last year's SEC Tournament semifinal.

Opposite last week's SEC title match that saw Carolina lose on an own goal, the Gamecocks went ahead just 2:15 into the match courtesy of a Spartan own goal. Playing wide on the wing, Kira Campbell dumped it to Christine Watts who sent a cross square in front of the keeper and going just over Maria Petroni's head. Before a Gamecock could follow-up, a Spartan defender knocked the ball backwards and it rolled into the net for the early Gamecock score.

Danielle Au made the lead 2-0 just 58 seconds into the second half with a rifled shot from 18 yards that curled into the upper corner of the net. The Spartans were able to get on the board at 74:43 with a rebounded shot off a failed clearance.

Nov. 14, 2010 - South Carolina vs.
Virginia (NCAA Second Round)
Charlottesville, Va. - Attendance: 645

No. 8 Virginia scored two goals in the run of play and a penalty kick with nine minutes remaining to knock No. 20 South Carolina out of the postseason with a 3-0 win in NCAA Second Round action at Klockner Stadium. The Cavaliers (15-4-2) advance to the Round of 16 while the Gamecocks end their fourth consecutive NCAA Tournament appearance with a 15-6-4 record.

Virginia got on the board in the 21st minute with a rare assist by the goalkeeper. Chantel Jones sent her goal kick to midfield where it found the back of Meghan Lenczyk's head and flicked behind the Gamecock backline to give Sinead Farrelly a breakaway opportunity that she converted to make the score 1-0.

The Cavaliers added the second goal at 60:13 with a volley by Lindsey Miller. The senior one-touched the volley from the top of the '18 after a Gamecock header off a Virginia cross landed right at her foot. The final score was off a penalty kick by Julia Roberts in the 81st minute.

The match against Virginia marks the second consecutive year that the Gamecocks have played in the NCAA Second Round despite losing eight seniors and six starters from last year's SEC Championship team.

"I knew it would be a battle today," South Carolina head coach Shelley Smith said. "They are a very good program. Steve Swanson does a wonderful job with them. We knew it would take our best game, but unfortunately I don't think we played as well as we can. I'm really proud of the girls and their effort. They left it on the field. Despite a couple of miscommunication errors that led to some goals, that's not like us defensively. Virginia gave us everything we could handle today. They deserved to win and move on, and I wish them the best of luck."

Playing in front of a home crowd of 645 fans, the Cavaliers put constant, heavy pressure on the Gamecocks throughout the first half. Virginia had six shots and a corner kick in the opening 20 minutes before scoring the goal at 20:15. In contrast, Carolina's first shot came at 21:12 on a header by Danielle Au off a Kira Campbell free kick.

South Carolina used their first shot - which was on frame and saved by Jones - to begin pulling together some momentum on the offensive end. Less than a minute later, Ellen Fahey took a free kick shy of midfield that found its way to the goal for another Virginia save. However, Carolina would only get one more shot in the half, a bullet by Gabrielle Gilbert that went wide, as the team kept putting long touches on their passes that went out of reach of the attackers.

Virginia tallied the second goal almost out of nowhere after a series of throw-ins had the Gamecocks driving down the field and into the attacking third. Danielle Au's shot in the 58th minute went high but seemed to forecast a mounting Gamecock pressure before Miller sent home the volley off the mis-clearance in the Gamecock defensive end.

A Gamecock foul in the penalty area led to a penalty kick for Virginia's Julia Roberts, who made the score 3-0 at 81:07 with her PK slotted into the lower left corner.
