SOUTHEASTERN CONFERENCE WOMEN'S SOCCER

The 2008 women's soccer season reaffirmed the SEC's prominence in the country. For the second consecutive year, six teams from the SEC were invited to the NCAA Tournament. Auburn, Florida, Georgia, LSU, South Carolina and Tennessee all made the 64-team field. The six teams combined for a record of 3-5 with both the Gators advancing to the third round. The SEC now has a 44-52-8 (.462) NCAA Tournament record in 56 appearances.

SEC women's soccer began its 16th season in the year of 2008 deeply rooted in the national scene of collegiate soccer. Since the SEC initiated women's soccer as a varsity sport in 1993, the sport's popularity has grown through the country and especially in the Southeast. A defining point in the SEC's women's soccer success came in 1995 when FOX Sports South broadcasted the SEC Tournament Championship match between Alabama and Kentucky on a tape-delayed basis, signifying the first appearance of an SEC women's soccer match on television.

Southeastern Conference women's soccer continued to grow over the next couple of years as the conference made a name for itself nationally. In 1998, the SEC had its breakout season with Florida winning the conference's first NCAA title in women's soccer in just the program's fourth year of existence. The league led the nation with six NCAA Tournament teams that year, an accomplishment that firmly inserted the SEC as one of the major conferences in women's soccer.

The SEC also made bigger strides in its television coverage with three regular season matches and the SEC Tournament championship match shown live on the SEC-TV package. In 2003, the SEC Soccer Tournament moved to a neutral site in Orange Beach, Alabama, signifying the growth of the sports' popularity. In 2006, SEC-TV's women's soccer coverage was increased to four regular-season matches, in addition to the SEC Tournament championship match. In the 2008-09 year, the SEC announced a deal with ESPN that will broadcast a weekly regular season match nationwide. South Carolina's match at LSU on October 25 will be broadcast on ESPNU at 3 p.m ET. That incremental growth, combined with increasing exposure on the national and regional scene, has SEC women's soccer looking to blossom to new heights in the year 2009 and beyond.

SOUTHEASTERN CONFERENCE NOTES

- The Southeastern Conference has had at least two teams advance to postseason play for 13 of the last 14 years. Ten of the league's teams (Alabama, Auburn, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, LSU, Ole Miss, South Carolina, Tennessee and Vanderbilt have made at least one NCAA Tournament appearance since 1994. Six teams (Auburn, Florida, Georgia, LSU, South Carolina and Tennessee) advanced to the 2008 NCAA Tournament.
- The SEC placed 14 players on NSCAA All-Region squads. The SEC placed two athletes on first teams, four on second teams and eight on a third team. LSU's Malorie Rutledge was named to the Central Region first team. Florida's Ameera Abdullah was named to the Southeast Region's first team. South Carolina's Blakely Mattern was named to the Southeast Region team for the second consecutive year, garnering third team honors.
- Florida's Ameera Abdullah was named Second Team All-America by the NSCAA in 2008, and LSU's Malorie Rutledge was selected as a Third Team NSCAA All-American. The SEC placed two athletes on the Soccer Buzz All-America teams. Florida's Megan Kerns and LSU's Malorie Rutledge were both selected third team All-Americans.
- The SEC placed four players on the Soccer Buzz Freshman All-America team. Auburn's Katy Frierson was a first team pick. Florida's Tahnai Annis was a second team pick. Teammate Jazmyne Avant and LSU's Mo Isom were both third team members.
- The SEC also had two CoSIDA/ESPN the Magazine Academic All-Americans. South Carolina's Blakely Mattern earned first team honors. Auburn's Jenn Johnson was a second team selection.
