MATCH PREVIEW

LAST TIME OUT - TEXAS A&M

No. 14 South Carolina (12-4-1, 6-3-1 SEC) ended the regular season with 1-0 overtime loss to Texas A&M (15-3-1, 6-3-1, SEC). The Gamecocks won six conference matches for the fourth-straight season and have won at least 12 matches in each of the last six seasons.

Mikayla Krzczowski registered a pair of saves in the loss while Grace Fisk helped make a team save late in the match.

"I think we put ourselves in good situations, and we were all over this team and they just didn't fall for us," head coach Shelley Smith said. "If you let a team hang around, they can eventually get one."

"Every match now is win or go home," Fisk said after the match. "We have to go in [to the SEC Tournament] with everything we have. It means more because if we lose, we are out, and that's it. We don't get a second chance. We will regroup and have a good few days of practice going into the first match of the SEC Tournament."

The Gamecocks ended the regular season in a four-way tie for third place in the SEC. Per the tiebreaker rules, the Gamecocks are the No. 6 seed heading into the SEC Tournament in Orange Beach, Ala.

SOUTH CAROLINA IN THE SEC TOURNAMENT

South Carolina made its SEC Tournament debut on Nov. 5, 1998, against Florida. This season marks the 17th time the Gamecocks have appeared in the SEC Tournament, holding a record of 7-14-5 and a record of 2-8-2 against ranked opponents. South Carolina has won the SEC Tournament once in its history back in 2009 when it defeated LSU on penalty kicks, 8-7.

South Carolina has gone to penalty kicks a total of five times in the SEC Tournament and has advanced in four of those five matches. The last time the Gamecocks went to penalty kicks in the SEC Tournament was on Nov. 5, 2015, against No. 19 Auburn, which they lost 5-3.

SCOUTING TEXAS A&M

Texas A&M (15-3-1, 6-3-1 SEC) enters the SEC Tournament as the No. 3 seed. The Aggies are 13-3 (.813) all-time at the SEC Tournament. Texas A&M has advanced to the championship match in four of the six seasons they have been in the league.

South Carolina has won three of the last four matches against the Aggies. The Gamecocks trail in the all-time series with a 3-6-1 record since the two teams played for the first time in 2003.

Junior Ally Watt leads the potent Aggie offense with a total of 13 goals this season, tied for the most in the SEC this season. Asdis Halldorsdottir has been dangerous offensively with four goals and five assists this season and a total of 63 shots, with 18 on goal. Texas A&M runs an aggressive offensive attack; the Aggies have been called offside 51 times this season, which leads the SEC.

In goal, Cosette Morche has started all 19 matches this season for the Aggies. She owns a 0.78 goals against average, good enough for fourth in the SEC this season. The Aggies have surrendered a good amount of shots this season as Morche has made 60 saves, the seventh most in the SEC this year.

Texas A&M was selected to finish second in the SEC in the preseason coaches' poll.

TOUGH COMPETITION

This season, South Carolina has kept its schedule as tough as they come in the country. Against seven 2017 NCAA Tournament participants, the Gamecocks own a 5-2-1 record. The Gamecocks also earned a draw with South Florida in exhibition play, another participant in the 2017 NCAA Tournament.

THE ANCHOR

The SEC handed out postseason awards on Sunday with junior defender Grace Fisk being named SEC Defensive Player of the Year for the second-straight season.

Fisk, a MAC Hermann Trophy semifinalist in 2017, has served as the catalyst for the Gamecock defense this season. She aided in nine shutouts since returning to the South Carolina lineup after her time at the U20 Women's World Cup earning a bronze medal with her native country of England. Fisk scored a gamewinner against Kentucky and added an assist in the 3-0 victory. She anchored a Gamecock back line that was clinical throughout league action. The Gamecocks did not allow more than five shots on goal in each of the last nine matches.

HONORING THE BEST

The SEC also named All-SEC First and Second teams along with the All-Freshman Team. South Carolina had a total of five combined between those teams, including Fisk and Krzczowski on the All-SEC First Team. For Krzczowski, the All-SEC First Team honor is the second of her career, and the third time she has been honored by the conference (All-SEC Second Team in 2017).

Krczczowski, now a two-time first-team honoree, has remained among the elite in net in her junior campaign. She posted shutouts in seven of Carolina's 10 league matches. The nine shutouts this season for the Douglasville, Ga., native are the most in the SEC. Her 0.49 goals against average is the second best in the SEC.

Lauren Chang earned her first career All-SEC honor as she was selected to the second team. The sophomore was a force in the attacking third for the Gamecocks after netting a team-high six goals this season, including three in league play. The sophomore midfielder registered gamewinners against Clemson (Aug. 23) and Tennessee (Sept. 16) and added an assist on the game-winning goal against Missouri (Oct. 18). Her 14 points and 29 shots are the second most on the team this season.

Jylissa Harris along with Selma Sol Magnúsdóttir were both selected to the SEC All-Freshman team for their outstanding play this season. Magnúsdóttir led the Gamecocks with a total of 15 points and three game-winning goals. Harris appeared in all 17 matches, starting 15, and played every minute of 10 different matches this season. She was named SEC Freshman of the Week on Sept. 10 after netting a goal and an assist against both Purdue and Wake Forest.

FIRST HALF BLOCKADE

South Carolina completed its impressive run of not allowing a goal in the first half during the regular season by blanking the Aggies through the first 45 minutes. The Gamecocks are the only team in the SEC to hold all of their opponents scoreless in any one half this season. During the 2018 regular season, South Carolina outscored its opponents 12-0 while outshooting them 108-52.

WE DO IT FOR THE FANS

South Carolina averaged 2,509 fans this season, the second most in the NCAA this season. The Gamecocks are one of just three teams to average over 2,000 fans in each of the past five seasons. The match earlier this season against Clemson (Aug. 23) held a total of 6,354 fans at Stone Stadium; that is the most of any one soccer match during the 2018 season (second is San Jose State at Portland with 4,409 on Aug. 24).

UP NEXT

If South Carolina should advance in the SEC Tournament, it will play the winner between No. 2 seed Tennessee and No. 7 seed LSU that will be played prior to the Gamecocks match in Orange Beach, Ala. Following the SEC Tournament, South Carolina will then wait for the NCAA Selection Committee on Mon., Nov. 5, for any potential NCAA Tournament matches. The start time for the Selection Show is still to be determined.
