MATCH PREVIEW

LAST TIME OUT - ARKANSAS

Then-No. 15 South Carolina women's soccer (4-1-0, 4-1-0 SEC) defeated then-No. 3 Arkansas (4-1-0, 4-1-0 SEC) 2-1 on the road Fri., Oct. 16, for the second-highest ranked win in program history. Sophomore midfielder Samantha Chang scored the game-winning goal in the second half to give the program its sixth win over a top-five opponent.

"We expected a battle and we got that tonight," South Carolina head coach Shelley Smith said. "We talked before the game about how great of an opportunity this was and we went into this game trying to prove ourselves and do something that not a lot of people thought we could do on the road against Arkansas. We believed in what we could do and the team stuck together tonight."

Corinna Zullo scored Carolina's opening goal in the first half, the first of her career. Arkansas was able to equalize the match, but Chang's goal in the 71st minute was enough for the Gamecocks to take the win and claim the top spot in the SEC standings through five weeks of SEC action. Goalkeeper Heather Hinz made a career-high six saves in the win.

"Heather was fantastic in goal tonight," Smith said. "She was facing a lot of threats and Arkansas does a great job at striking from long range and putting service in the box and I thought our defense was strong all night and was able to clear the ball most of the time and when they didn't, Heather was there to clean it up. Huge credit to Heather for stepping up knowing she was going to face a lot of dangerous balls in the box."

'Matter' is the Minimum Patch

The Gamecocks chose to wear these patches because they want to use their platform as student-athletes to take a stand against systemic racism and social injustice. The team does not tolerate any form of racism and injustice and wants to do its part to make a change. Although these patches are small, they stand for a movement that is bigger than any game.

CHANG NAMED SEC OFFENSIVE PLAYER OF THE WEEK

South Carolina women's soccer sophomore Samantha Chang was honored as the SEC Offensive Player of the Week, the conference office announced on Monday. The honor is the third straight week the Gamecocks have earned a weekly honor from the SEC.

"Sam's goal was not only an important gamewinner on the day, but a great effort and excellent execution by her and her teammates," South Carolina head coach Shelley Smith said. "Sam had recovered to be in a good position defensively, and stole the ball on a tackle to start the play. Her ability to link a pass and get out began our transition into the attack where she sprinted to join in which ultimately ended with Sam being the goal scorer. It was a really nice play from Sam and we are happy that she is being recognized this week for those efforts."

Chang netted the gamewinner for the No. 15 Gamecocks against No. 3 Arkansas, helping Carolina earn its second highest ranked win in program history (No. 1 North Carolina in 2007). The Mississauga, Ontario, native, scored the game-winning goal in the 71st minute for the Gamecocks in the 2-1 win, playing 66 minutes.

SCOUTING FLORIDA

Halfway through their 2020 campaign the Florida Gators sit at 1-2-1 in the SEC and are coming off back-to-back SEC losses for the first time since 2018. All but one of Florida's opponents this season have been ranked when they have played, with Vanderbilt being the only team that wasn't ranked at the time of their match. The 2020 Gators return nine starters from their 2019 lineup that advanced to the NCAA Tournament with 66 percent of their goals in 2019 returning. So far this season Florida has five different goal scorers, but no players have scored multiple times. Maddy Rhodes has been the most dangerous offensive player this season with five of her six shots on target while scoring one goal and having one assist this season. Susi Espinoza has been the starting goalkeeper all four matches for the Gators this season. She's made eight saves in 47 shots faced while allowing six goals for a 1.38 goals against average this season. As a team the Gators average 11.8 shots per match and have allowed 12 per match. They have been attacked via the corner kick this season, allowing 25 corner kicks while only having 10 of their own this season.

CHANG NAMED NATIONAL PLAYER OF THE WEEK, TWICE

South Carolina women's soccer sophomore midfielder Samantha Chang was named the United Soccer Coaches and TopDrawerSoccer.com National Player of the Week for her performance in the Gamecocks' 2-1 win against No. 3 Arkansas.

The Canadian international played 66 minutes in Carolina's upset win over the Razorbacks and scored the game-winning goal in the 71st minute. Chang was also honored by College Soccer News on their national Team of the Week. The four awards for Chang are the first weekly honors she has earned in her career.

The national honor from the United Soccer Coaches is the first time a Gamecock has won it since Mikayla Krzeczowski in 2018 while it is the first TopDrawerSoccer.com National Player of the Week honor since 2019 when Grace Fisk was honored.

SMITH APPROACHING 300 WINS

South Carolina head coach Shelley Smith is just one win away from 300 career wins, with 258 of those coming at South Carolina. Smith is in her 20th year as a head coach at South Carolina and has won five SEC Championships, coached 14 All-Americans, has reached four NCAA Tournament Quarterfinals and one College Cup (2017). Smith is fourth all-time in SEC women's soccer history with 299 wins and will attempt to become the 27th women's soccer NCAA Division I coach to win 300 matches in a career.

CHAMPIONSHIP PEDIGREE

Between the Gamecocks and the Gators, since 2006, the teams have won at least one of the championships in 12 of the 14 seasons. The Gamecocks have won a combined five in that span while the Gators have claimed 13.

The Gamecocks have been the more dominant recently, claiming three in the past four seasons while Florida has not claimed an SEC title since the 2016 SEC Tournament.

RIGHTFULLY RANKED

For the second consecutive week the Gamecocks were ranked inside the United Soccer Coaches top 15 poll. Carolina moved up from No. 15 to No. 11 after taking down then-No. 3 Arkansas on the road, 2-1. Despite the Gamecocks being on top of the SEC regular season standings over halfway through the 2020 regular season the Gamecocks still sit behind No. 7 Arkansas and No. 9 Texas A&M in the rankings. For the 2020 season the United Soccer Coaches poll has been reduced to just 15 teams, with no additional 'teams receiving votes'.

'MATTER' IS THE MINIMUM PATCH

As of July 30, 2020, the NCAA Playing Rules Oversight Panel approved rules to allow student-athletes in all sports to wear patches on their uniforms for commemorative and memorial purposes, as well as to support social justice issues. Student-athletes of the South Carolina women's soccer program chose to wear patches that read "Matter is the Minimum" on their right sleeve.

The Gamecocks chose to wear these patches because they want to use their platform as student-athletes to take a stand against systemic racism and social injustice. The team does not tolerate any form of racism and injustice and wants to do its part to make a change. Although these patches are small, they stand for a movement that is bigger than any game.

UP NEXT

Carolina will have a short week when Mississippi State comes to Columbia for the Gamecocks annual Senior Night. The match with the Bulldogs is set for Fri., Oct. 30, at 7 p.m. at Stone Stadium. The match can be seen on SEC Network +. The Gamecocks did not face Mississippi State in 2019 and lost to the Bulldogs in 2018 on the road, 2-1 in overtime.

FEATURED GAMECOCKS

ZULLO SISTERS UNITE IN COLUMBIA

Luciana and Corinna Zullo didn't initially plan to compete on the same collegiate soccer team, but sometimes things just work out. The senior and freshman sisters on South Carolina's women's soccer team may be competing at the same position, but don't call it a sibling rivalry.

"It's really fun being on the same team again," said freshman Corinna Zullo. "It was fun being on the same team in high school. We play the same position, so it's good to look up to her, see how she's doing and try to improve myself."

"We have not raced in a while, which is something I think she wants to do," said senior Luciana Zullo. "We've always been very competitive, but we've always been very supportive of each other. We played a year together of high school soccer in New Jersey, and that was so much fun being on the field at the same time. Here, it might be a little bit different. It's interesting competing with your sister for playing time."

The year-long family reunion fits in well with the family atmosphere within the program, but each was recruited to play for the Gamecocks based on her own individual merits.

"Recruiting wise, I might have been in her ear a little bit," Luciana said. "I've had such a great experience here, and I knew that she would be able to thrive and grow here, not only as a player, but as a person. When she was being recruited, (associate head coach) Jamie (Smith) didn't know that she was my sister. He was actually at her game watching another player, and he looked at the roster and was like, 'you're kidding me?' It's good to know that she was looked at as her own person and not just as my little sister when she was being recruited."

SMITHS ENTERING 20TH YEAR AT SC

Now in their 20th year leading the South Carolina women's soccer program, head coach Shelley Smith and husband and associate head coach Jamie Smith have seen it all. After building a championship program, the Smiths are ready to see a lot more.

"We're enjoying it, and we're still young enough to do this and to want to do this," Shelley Smith said. "We have good relationships with players, and we enjoy the grind and the work that we do. We'll keep going as long as they'll have us."

The package turned out to be gift that keeps on giving. The program is now a perennial SEC championship contender and has been to the NCAA Tournament in 12 of the last 13 years, including three NCAA quarterfinals and the 2017 national semifinals at the College Cup. The Smiths have led the Gamecocks to three SEC Regular SEC Championships and a pair of SEC Tournament titles as well. It wasn't easy to bring the program up to that level.

"It was at the bottom of the SEC when we took over," Shelley Smith said. "They were 4-16 (1-8 in the SEC) the year before. I came from Rhode Island, and I thought the team here should be a lot stronger than what I had there, and it really wasn't the jump I was hoping for. There was some very good talent, but overall, it wasn't a collective group yet. They had to learn how to get along. They had to learn how to work for each other and push each other because there were definitely some talented kids, they just needed to come together as a team."

BY THE NUMBERS

7

The Gamecocks have scored seven of their nine goals this season in the second half or overtime. Six of them have come in the second half with one coming in double overtime (at Vanderbilt).

2011

Since 2011 the Gamecocks are the only SEC program to have a winning record against the Gators. Carolina holds a 7-3-1 record in that span while winning each of the past four meetings at Stone Stadium.

8

While Head Coach Shelley Smith is approaching 300 wins, her current 299 wins is 8th in career wins among female coaches at the NCAA Division I level.

463

South Carolina senior captain Anna Patten has played all 463 minutes for the Gamecocks this season. Patten is the only Gamecock to have played every minute this season with the second most minutes coming from Jylissa Harris (441).

4

The Gamecocks currently hold the longest winning streak in the SEC at four. The Gamecocks have posted a four-match SEC winning streak in each of the past six seasons.

1

Riley Tanner is the only Gamecock on the 2020 roster to have scored against Florida. Tanner scored the equalizer against the Gators in 2019 in a 1-1 draw in Gainesville.

FEATURED GAMECOCKS

HINZ FAMILY TRADITION

In competing to be the one to fill the void left by the graduation of an All-American goalkeeper, Heather Hinz has big shoes to fill. The South Carolina sophomore is no stranger in trying to follow in the footsteps of an accomplished net-minder, as her older sister, Megan, played for four years at Michigan (2014-2017) and is now playing professionally for the NWSL's Sky Blue FC.

"When I was younger, I looked up to all of my sisters in different aspects," said Heather Hinz, who is the youngest of four sisters. "With sports, Megan seemed to be very serious about it, and I always admired how every time she puts her mind to something, she goes 100 percent."

"Seeing her go through the recruiting process, going through college, and even her pro experience has helped me a ton. It has brought us a lot closer because we can talk about a lot of these things that other people wouldn't understand. The fact that I have that kind of mentor is really lucky."

"Heather and I have always been super close," said Morgan Hinz, who is 24. "Our relationship has also changed a lot. I remember when Heather was a baby. I remember when she was first training in goal, I would coach her. I went off to college and then played overseas, and I come back, and she has figured out who she is. I always looked at her as my baby sister, but now we're really good friends. I talk to her every single day. Now we can lean on each other, like peers."

Heather Hinz is battling with freshman Taylor Fox for the starting job as South Carolina's goalkeeper after four-year-starter Mikayla Krzczowski graduated last year. Fox started the first two games for the Gamecocks this year, but Hinz earned her first career start last Sunday against Kentucky and posted a clean sheet in South Carolina's 1-0 victory.

DEFENSIVE TRADITION

As the saying goes, defense wins championships. South Carolina women's soccer is known for playing great defense, and senior captains Anna Patten and Sarah Eskew are vying to add their names to the long list of outstanding defenders for Carolina.

"I think because we have been around and have been a part of that strong defensive unit, we know what to expect," said Patten. "With new players having to step up into their roles, it's important for us to be teachers and leaders to help them and help us be just as strong defensively this year. The coaches emphasize the minute details."

"Since we have been a part of backlines that have been really strong, we have an idea of what a good back line looks like and what we should be doing," said Eskew. "It gives us some knowledge to help teach the freshmen or the girls who are now starting or getting more minutes."

"(Associate Head Coach) Jamie (Smith) really puts an emphasis on defense. Defense is really the foundation of our team. It's not just the backline. It's the whole team."

The Gamecocks won the SEC Tournament last year for the second time in program history after winning back-to-back regular season titles in 2016 and 2017. Defense has been a big part of that as a South Carolina player has earned SEC Defensive Player of the Year honors six times in the last 12 years, including three years in a row. Kaleigh Kurtz took the honors in 2017 and Grace Fisk won it in each of the last two years.
