MATCH PREVIEW

LAST TIME OUT - MISSISSIPPI STATE

No. 9 South Carolina women's soccer (6-1-0, 6-1-0 SEC) took down Mississippi State (2-2-3, 2-2-3 SEC) 2-0 on Oct. 30, at Stone Stadium on Senior Night. The win kept the Gamecocks on top of the SEC standings with one match to go in the regular season.

Carolina's goals came from a pair of freshmen with Corinna Zullo notching the game-winning goal in the second half. Fellow freshman Ranya Senhaji struck the back of the net for the first time for Carolina's insurance goal in the 81st minute.

"Obviously very happy for our seniors, being at home for the last time this fall and getting the win," South Carolina head coach Shelley Smith said. "I think it was a tremendous team effort. We told the team how a lot of people played their roles tonight and that's what helped to get through the 90 minutes tonight."

The Gamecocks pushed their winning streak to six, the longest winning streak in the SEC, with the win over the Bulldogs. The win is the fourth win over 2019 NCAA Tournament opponents and marked a perfect 5-0-0 record in the month of October.

QUICK NOTES: SC VS. TENN.

'Matter' is the Minimum Patch

The Gamecocks chose to wear these patches because they want to use their platform as student-athletes to take a stand against systemic racism and social injustice. The team does not tolerate any form of racism and injustice and wants to do its part to make a change. Although these patches are small, they stand for a movement that is bigger than any game.

HINZ NAMED SEC DEFENSIVE PLAYER OF THE WEEK

South Carolina women's soccer sophomore Heather Hinz was named the SEC Defensive Player of the Week, the first of the sophomore's career, the SEC announced on Nov. 2. The honor is the fifth straight week the Gamecocks have earned a weekly honor from the SEC.

"Heather has been playing very well and happy for her to be honored this week," Shelley Smith said. "She's been growing as a player every game as she gains more experience through this conference season. The players in front of her have done a great job to limit out opponent's scoring chances, but she has come up with some great saves when called upon. The penalty save was a great example of that this past weekend."

The sophomore from Laytonsville, Md., recorded a four-save shutout in the 2-0 win over Mississippi State, the second shutout of her career. She made clutch saves for the Gamecocks in the 71st minute, stopping a penalty kick and then made a second save in the sequence when a shot came off the rebound to keep the Gamecocks on top 1-0. The penalty kick save came off the foot of Mississippi State's Niah Johnson, who had previously been a perfect 5-for-5 in her career, a Mississippi State record.

SCOUTING TENNESSEE

The Volunteers (3-3-1, 3-3-1 SEC) have been an up and down team during the 2020 season. Tennessee has not posted consecutive wins this season, but has winning results against No. 10 Vanderbilt on Sept. 27 and a 2-1 win in Gainesville on Oct. 30. Redshirt-freshman Jaida Thomas has been the leader offensively, scoring three goals, including all of Tennessee's gamewinners, in her first season on the pitch. Redshirt senior Erin Gilroy is the only other Volunteer to have multiple goals this season, scoring in losses against the Alabama and Texas A&M. Tennessee has had Lindsey Romig for the majority of the season in goal but added redshirt junior Jenna Rolfe midweek and made the start on short notice. Rolfe went on to make one save while facing 10 shots in the 2-1 win over Florida. Tennessee is winless against the Gamecocks since 2012, being outscored 11-1 since 2013 but earned a 1-1 draw in the last meeting in 2019 at Stone Stadium when the Volunteers scored with just 20 seconds remaining to stun the Gamecocks at home. Despite the win against the Gamecocks in 2012, the Volunteers haven't beaten the Gamecocks in Knoxville since 2007.

ZULLO NAMED TO NATIONAL TEAM OF THE WEEK

South Carolina women's soccer freshman forward Corinna Zullo was named to the TopDrawerSoccer.com Team of the Week for her performance in the Gamecocks' 2-0 win over Mississippi State.

The Gamecocks have been honored by the publication for six-straight weeks, including a National Player of the Week honor three weeks ago.

Zullo scored the game-winning goal for Carolina off the bench in their final home match of the 2020 season. The goal came in the 69th minute and is the second of Zullo's career and the first gamewinner of her career.

SEC TOURNAMENT SEEDING OUTLOOK

The Gamecocks currently sit at the top of the SEC standings with 18 points and a 6-1-0 record. The Gamecocks have wrapped up a top four seed, or a double bye, at the 2020 SEC Tournament, allowing the team to rest until Nov. 17 when the quarterfinals will be played in Orange Beach, Ala. With 12 East Division points, or a 4-1-0 record within the division, the Gamecocks are also in need of a win over Tennessee to secure a top two seed at the SEC Tournament with Tennessee entering Friday's match with 10 East Division points, or a 3-1-1 record against division opponents. In the West Division, the Arkansas Razorbacks have secured the division title and a top two seed.

YOUNG AND DANGEROUS

The Gamecocks have had an influx of young talent this season with seven of the 15 goals scored this season coming from true freshmen. Three Carolina freshmen have scored multiple goals in 2020 with Catherine Barry leading the way with three while Rylee Forster and Corinna Zullo each having two this season. Of the Gamecocks 44 points this season, 43.2 percent of that have come from freshmen, the second highest percent in the SEC behind just Texas A&M (53.8 percent).

RIGHTFULLY RANKED

For the second-straight week the Gamecocks came in at No. 9 in the United Soccer Coaches top 15 poll. The ranking is the highest this season for South Carolina, who are winners of six-straight. Despite the Gamecocks being on top of the SEC regular season standings through seven of the eight 2020 regular season matches Carolina still sits behind No. 7 Arkansas and No. 8 Texas A&M in the rankings. For the 2020 season the United Soccer Coaches poll has been reduced to just 15 teams, with no additional 'teams receiving votes'.

'MATTER' IS THE MINIMUM PATCH

As of July 30, 2020, the NCAA Playing Rules Oversight Panel approved rules to allow student-athletes in all sports to wear patches on their uniforms for commemorative and memorial purposes, as well as to support social justice issues. Student-athletes of the South Carolina women's soccer program chose to wear patches that read "Matter is the Minimum" on their right sleeve.

The Gamecocks chose to wear these patches because they want to use their platform as student-athletes to take a stand against systemic racism and social injustice. The team does not tolerate any form of racism and injustice and wants to do its part to make a change. Although these patches are small, they stand for a movement that is bigger than any game.

UP NEXT

The Gamecocks will have a full week off before the start of the SEC Tournament on Nov. 13. South Carolina has earned a double bye in the tournament and will not compete until Nov. 17 with their opponent to be decided in the first and second rounds. All matches at the SEC Tournament will be televised on SEC Network.

ZULLO SISTERS UNITE IN COLUMBIA

Luciana and Corinna Zullo didn't initially plan to compete on the same collegiate soccer team, but sometimes things just work out. The senior and freshman sisters on South Carolina's women's soccer team may be competing at the same position, but don't call it a sibling rivalry.

"It's really fun being on the same team again," said freshman Corinna Zullo. "It was fun being on the same team in high school. We play the same position, so it's good to look up to her, see how she's doing and try to improve myself."

"We have not raced in a while, which is something I think she wants to do," said senior Luciana Zullo. "We've always been very competitive, but we've always been very supportive of each other. We played a year together of high school soccer in New Jersey, and that was so much fun being on the field at the same time. Here, it might be a little bit different. It's interesting competing with your sister for playing time."

The year-long family reunion fits in well with the family atmosphere within the program, but each was recruited to play for the Gamecocks based on her own individual merits.

"Recruiting wise, I might have been in her ear a little bit," Luciana said. "I've had such a great experience here, and I knew that she would be able to thrive and grow here, not only as a player, but as a person. When she was being recruited, (associate head coach) Jamie (Smith) didn't know that she was my sister. He was actually at her game watching another player, and he looked at the roster and was like, 'you're kidding me?' It's good to know that she was looked at as her own person and not just as my little sister when she was being recruited."

SMITHS IN 20TH YEAR AT SOUTH CAROLINA

Now in their 20th year leading the South Carolina women's soccer program, head coach Shelley Smith and husband and associate head coach Jamie Smith have seen it all. After building a championship program, the Smiths are ready to see a lot more.

"We're enjoying it, and we're still young enough to do this and to want to do this," Shelley Smith said. "We have good relationships with players, and we enjoy the grind and the work that we do. We'll keep going as long as they'll have us."

The package turned out to be gift that keeps on giving. The program is now a perennial SEC championship contender and has been to the NCAA Tournament in 12 of the last 13 years, including three NCAA quarterfinals and the 2017 national semifinals at the College Cup. The Smiths have led the Gamecocks to three SEC Regular SEC Championships and a pair of SEC Tournament titles as well. It wasn't easy to bring the program up to that level.

"It was at the bottom of the SEC when we took over," Shelley Smith said. "They were 4-16 (1-8 in the SEC) the year before. I came from Rhode Island, and I thought the team here should be a lot stronger than what I had there, and it really wasn't the jump I was hoping for. There was some very good talent, but overall, it wasn't a collective group yet. They had to learn how to get along. They had to learn how to work for each other and push each other because there were definitely some talented kids, they just needed to come together as a team."

2020 Returning Starters in BOLD

Primary Formation: 4-3-3

BY THE NUMBERS

44 South Carolina leads the SEC this season with 44 points, two ahead of Arkansas. The Gamecocks are also tied at the top of the SEC with 15 goals this season and lead in assists with 14 as a team.

0.78 Since taking over as the starting goalkeeper, sophomore Heather Hinz has posted a 0.78 goals against average, the second best mark in the SEC this season (min. 5 matches). Hinz has also posted two shutouts in those five matches where she and the Gamecocks are undefeated at 5-0-0.

8 Head Coach Shelley Smith reached 300 wins last week making her the eighth woman in at the NCAA Division I level to win 300 matches in a career.

46 Despite nine seniors on the roster the offensive production has come from Carolina's freshmen. Of the team's 15 goals, 46 percent of it has come from true freshmen with three newcomers having multiple goals so far in 2020.

6 The Gamecocks currently hold the longest winning streak in the SEC at six. The six-match SEC winning streak is the longest since the team won eight in a row in 2017.

5 The Gamecocks have had five different starting lineups this season in seven total matches. Most of the changes have come on the defensive side this season with changes at goalkeeper and defender.

FEATURED GAMECOCKS

HINZ FAMILY TRADITION

In competing to be the one to fill the void left by the graduation of an All-American goalkeeper, Heather Hinz has big shoes to fill. The South Carolina sophomore is no stranger in trying to follow in the footsteps of an accomplished net-minder, as her older sister, Megan, played for four years at Michigan (2014-2017) and is now playing professionally for the NWSL's Sky Blue FC.

"When I was younger, I looked up to all of my sisters in different aspects," said Heather Hinz, who is the youngest of four sisters. "With sports, Megan seemed to be very serious about it, and I always admired how every time she puts her mind to something, she goes 100 percent."

"Seeing her go through the recruiting process, going through college, and even her pro experience has helped me a ton. It has brought us a lot closer because we can talk about a lot of these things that other people wouldn't understand. The fact that I have that kind of mentor is really lucky."

"Heather and I have always been super close," said Morgan Hinz, who is 24. "Our relationship has also changed a lot. I remember when Heather was a baby. I remember when she was first training in goal, I would coach her. I went off to college and then played overseas, and I come back, and she has figured out who she is. I always looked at her as my baby sister, but now we're really good friends. I talk to her every single day. Now we can lean on each other, like peers."

Heather Hinz is battling with freshman Taylor Fox for the starting job as South Carolina's goalkeeper after four-year-starter Mikayla Krzczowski graduated last year. Fox started the first two games for the Gamecocks this year, but Hinz earned her first career start last Sunday against Kentucky and posted a clean sheet in South Carolina's 1-0 victory.

DEFENSIVE TRADITION

As the saying goes, defense wins championships. South Carolina women's soccer is known for playing great defense, and senior captains Anna Patten and Sarah Eskew are vying to add their names to the long list of outstanding defenders for Carolina.

"I think because we have been around and have been a part of that strong defensive unit, we know what to expect," said Patten. "With new players having to step up into their roles, it's important for us to be teachers and leaders to help them and help us be just as strong defensively this year. The coaches emphasize the minute details."

"Since we have been a part of backlines that have been really strong, we have an idea of what a good back line looks like and what we should be doing," said Eskew. "It gives us some knowledge to help teach the freshmen or the girls who are now starting or getting more minutes."

"(Associate Head Coach) Jamie (Smith) really puts an emphasis on defense. Defense is really the foundation of our team. It's not just the backline. It's the whole team."

The Gamecocks won the SEC Tournament last year for the second time in program history after winning back-to-back regular season titles in 2016 and 2017. Defense has been a big part of that as a South Carolina player has earned SEC Defensive Player of the Year honors six times in the last 12 years, including three years in a row. Kaleigh Kurtz took the honors in 2017 and Grace Fisk won it in each of the last two years.
