MATCH PREVIEW

LAST TIME OUT - TENNESSEE

Then-No. 9 South Carolina women's soccer (6-2-0, 6-2-0 SEC) fell to Tennessee (4-3-1, 4-3-1 SEC) 1-0 on the road on Friday night. The Volunteers scored early in the second half to defeat the Gamecocks in Knoxville for the first time since 2007.

"We had plenty of opportunities tonight, and we put ourselves in position, we just missed by some small margins," South Carolina head coach Shelley Smith said. "Unfortunately one didn't go our way tonight, and sometimes that is just the game of soccer sometimes. Our team did a great job to compete and get opportunities in front of the goal and settle the game. Ultimately, it just didn't go our way."

Tennessee scored the match's lone goal in the 50th minute when senior Wrenne French headed the ball past sophomore goalkeeper Heather Hinz. Despite giving up the goal, the Gamecocks have only given up multiple goals two times in the last 43 matches dating back to 2018.

The loss for Carolina snaps a six-match winning streak dating back to the season opening loss to Georgia, which was also a 1-0 defeat on the road. With the win, Tennessee was able to claim the SEC East Division title, and the No. 2 seed in the 2020 SEC Tournament.

QUICK NOTES: SC AT THE SEC TOURNAMENT

- South Carolina has at least one match in each of the last two SEC Tournaments, highlighted by their SEC Tournament Title in 2019
- The Gamecocks have had five different starting lineups this season with most changes in the lineup coming at goalkeeper or defender
- The 2020 season for the Gamecocks is the 25th season in program history with head coach Shelley Smith entering her 20th season as the leader of the Garnet and Black
- The Gamecocks have not lost by multiple goals at the SEC Tournament since 2007 (Georgia, 2-0) with every other match either coming down to penalty kicks or a one-goal loss
- Ole Miss and Mississippi State are the only two conference opponents the Gamecocks haven't met at the conference tournament (since 1998)

CAROLINA AT THE SEC TOURNAMENT

The Gamecocks hold an 11-15-5 mark all-time at the SEC Tournament. The Gamecocks won the 2019 SEC Tournament by not allowing a goal while scoring four of their own in three victories in Orange Beach. The Gamecocks also won the 2009 SEC Tournament, winning on penalty kicks in the final against LSU. The Gamecocks have reached the semifinals nine times in program history and have reached the final three times.

SCOUTING MISSOURI

Missouri (4-2-2, 4-2-2 SEC), the No. 5 seed, is coming off a 2-1 victory in the second round of the SEC Tournament over Florida. After having their final regular season match cancelled, the Tigers are on a three-match winning streak, with two of those over Florida. A trio of midfielders have led the Tigers' attack this season with Bella Alessi, Cassidy Nurnberger and Macy Trujillo having a combined 10 of Missouri's 15 goals this season. Carolina will be familiar with Missouri's keeper Isabella Alessio. The keeper was the starter in the Gamecocks' 4-1 win back on Sept. 27. Julissa Cisneros was the Tigers' lone All-SEC selection, the junior forward was named to the Second Team and led Missouri to an SEC-leading 16.71 shots per match during the regular season.

SEC ANNOUNCES ALL-SEC TEAMS, CONFERENCE AWARDS

The Southeastern Conference announced the 2020 All-SEC teams along with the conference awards on Thursday with four Gamecocks being named. Anna Patten and Jylissa Harris were both named to the All-SEC First Team for the first time in their careers while Lauren Chang was named to the Second Team.

Catherine Barry was named to the All-Freshman team after her impressive rookie campaign. Chang also was named the Co-Scholar Athlete of the Year, just the second time a Gamecock has earned the honor in program history. The last being Blakely Mattern in 2009. The Gamecocks have now had at least four named on All-SEC teams for five straight seasons.

SEC TOURNAMENT OUTLOOK

This year's SEC Tournament is unique with all 14 SEC teams competing for the right to represent the SEC in the NCAA Tournament as the conference's automatic qualified team. Arkansas is the No. 1 seed after winning the SEC West Division while Tennessee is the No. 2 seed and Texas A&M, the Co-SEC Regular Season Champions, are the No. 3 seed and have all earned double byes alongside the Gamecocks.

Every match will be seen on SEC Network, with matches beginning on Nov. 13 and concluding on Nov. 22 in Orange Beach, Ala., at the Orange Beach Sportsplex.

YOUNG AND DANGEROUS

The Gamecocks have had an influx of young talent this season with seven of the 15 goals scored this season coming from true freshmen. Three Carolina freshmen have scored multiple goals in 2020 with Catherine Barry leading the way with three while Rylee Forster and Corinna Zullo each having two this season. Of the Gamecocks 44 points this season, 43.2 percent of that have come from freshmen, the second highest percent in the SEC behind just Texas A&M.

A NEW WAVE

Five 2021 recruits officially signed their National Letter of Intent on Nov. 11. The Gamecocks signed two four-star recruits in forward Payton Patrick and midfielder Lily Render along with a pair of three-star recruits in midfielders Brigitte Bussiere and Megan Spiehs. Emma Bucci rounded out the Gamecocks 2021 recruiting class, an in-state defender with international experience with Ireland.

RANKED IN THE TOP 10

After starting the season outside of the altered United Soccer Coaches rankings, the Gamecocks entered the top 15 on Oct. 13 and haven't looked back. Carolina reached as high as No. 9 and enter the postseason as the No. 10 ranked team in the country.

Four other SEC teams are inside the top 15 with Arkansas sitting at No. 7 followed by Texas A&M at No. 8 and then Carolina at No. 10. Both Tennessee and Ole Miss entered the top 15 in the latest poll, with Tennessee sitting at No. 13 and Ole Miss at No. 14.

'MATTER' IS THE MINIMUM PATCH

As of July 30, 2020, the NCAA Playing Rules Oversight Panel approved rules to allow student-athletes in all sports to wear patches on their uniforms for commemorative and memorial purposes, as well as to support social justice issues. Student-athletes of the South Carolina women's soccer program chose to wear patches that read "Matter is the Minimum" on their right sleeve.

The Gamecocks chose to wear these patches because they want to use their platform as student-athletes to take a stand against systemic racism and social injustice. The team does not tolerate any form of racism and injustice and wants to do its part to make a change. Although these patches are small, they stand for a movement that is bigger than any game.

UP NEXT

The SEC Tournament is the conclusion of the Gamecocks, and the SEC, fall season. South Carolina, along with the rest of the conference's teams, will return in the spring of 2021 to conclude the season that will culminate with an NCAA Tournament that will begin on April 30 and conclude on May 17.

'MATTER' IS THE MINIMUM PATCH

The Gamecocks chose to wear these patches because they want to use their platform as student-athletes to take a stand against systemic racism and social injustice. The team does not tolerate any form of racism and injustice and wants to do its part to make a change. Although these patches are small, they stand for a movement that is bigger than any game.

FEATURED GAMECOCKS

ZULLO SISTERS UNITE IN COLUMBIA

Luciana and Corinna Zullo didn't initially plan to compete on the same collegiate soccer team, but sometimes things just work out. The senior and freshman sisters on South Carolina's women's soccer team may be competing at the same position, but don't call it a sibling rivalry.

"It's really fun being on the same team again," said freshman Corinna Zullo. "It was fun being on the same team in high school. We play the same position, so it's good to look up to her, see how she's doing and try to improve myself."

"We have not raced in a while, which is something I think she wants to do," said senior Luciana Zullo. "We've always been very competitive, but we've always been very supportive of each other. We played a year together of high school soccer in New Jersey, and that was so much fun being on the field at the same time. Here, it might be a little bit different. It's interesting competing with your sister for playing time."

The year-long family reunion fits in well with the family atmosphere within the program, but each was recruited to play for the Gamecocks based on her own individual merits.

"Recruiting wise, I might have been in her ear a little bit," Luciana said. "I've had such a great experience here, and I knew that she would be able to thrive and grow here, not only as a player, but as a person. When she was being recruited, (associate head coach) Jamie (Smith) didn't know that she was my sister. He was actually at her game watching another player, and he looked at the roster and was like, 'you're kidding me?' It's good to know that she was looked at as her own person and not just as my little sister when she was being recruited."

SMITHS IN 20TH YEAR AT SOUTH CAROLINA

Now in their 20th year leading the South Carolina women's soccer program, head coach Shelley Smith and husband and associate head coach Jamie Smith have seen it all. After building a championship program, the Smiths are ready to see a lot more.

"We're enjoying it, and we're still young enough to do this and to want to do this," Shelley Smith said. "We have good relationships with players, and we enjoy the grind and the work that we do. We'll keep going as long as they'll have us."

The package turned out to be gift that keeps on giving. The program is now a perennial SEC championship contender and has been to the NCAA Tournament in 12 of the last 13 years, including three NCAA quarterfinals and the 2017 national semifinals at the College Cup. The Smiths have led the Gamecocks to three SEC Regular SEC Championships and a pair of SEC Tournament titles as well. It wasn't easy to bring the program up to that level.

"It was at the bottom of the SEC when we took over," Shelley Smith said. "They were 4-16 (1-8 in the SEC) the year before. I came from Rhode Island, and I thought the team here should be a lot stronger than what I had there, and it really wasn't the jump I was hoping for. There was some very good talent, but overall, it wasn't a collective group yet. They had to learn how to get along. They had to learn how to work for each other and push each other because there were definitely some talented kids, they just needed to come together as a team."

BY THE NUMBERS

4

For No. 4 Anna Patten, the SEC Tournament will likely serve as her final matches as a Gamecock. Patten is set to graduate in the fall of 2020 and will pursue a professional soccer career.

2016

The Gamecocks are aiming to become the first team to win back-to-back SEC Tournament titles since 2016 when Florida won it's second in a row. The Gamecocks have never won back-to-back tournament titles.

8

Head Coach Shelley Smith reached 300 wins two weeks ago making her the eighth woman in at the NCAA Division I level to win 300 matches in a career.

46

Despite nine seniors on the roster the offensive production has come from Carolina's freshmen. Of the team's 15 goals, 46 percent of it has come from true freshmen with three newcomers having multiple goals so far in 2020.

7

The Gamecocks have defeated seven of the other 13 teams in the SEC at the SEC Tournament since 1998. The Gamecocks also have advanced against two additional teams after penalty kicks.

5

The Gamecocks have had five different starting lineups this season in seven total matches. Most of the changes have come on the defensive side this season with changes at goalkeeper and defender.

HINZ FAMILY TRADITION

In competing to be the one to fill the void left by the graduation of an All-American goalkeeper, Heather Hinz has big shoes to fill. The South Carolina sophomore is no stranger in trying to follow in the footsteps of an accomplished net-minder, as her older sister, Megan, played for four years at Michigan (2014-2017) and is now playing professionally for the NWSL's Sky Blue FC.

"When I was younger, I looked up to all of my sisters in different aspects," said Heather Hinz, who is the youngest of four sisters. "With sports, Megan seemed to be very serious about it, and I always admired how every time she puts her mind to something, she goes 100 percent."

"Seeing her go through the recruiting process, going through college, and even her pro experience has helped me a ton. It has brought us a lot closer because we can talk about a lot of these things that other people wouldn't understand. The fact that I have that kind of mentor is really lucky."

"Heather and I have always been super close," said Morgan Hinz, who is 24. "Our relationship has also changed a lot. I remember when Heather was a baby. I remember when she was first training in goal, I would coach her. I went off to college and then played overseas, and I come back, and she has figured out who she is. I always looked at her as my baby sister, but now we're really good friends. I talk to her every single day. Now we can lean on each other, like peers."

Heather Hinz is battling with freshman Taylor Fox for the starting job as South Carolina's goalkeeper after four-year-starter Mikayla Krzczowski graduated last year. Fox started the first two games for the Gamecocks this year, but Hinz earned her first career start last Sunday against Kentucky and posted a clean sheet in South Carolina's 1-0 victory.

DEFENSIVE TRADITION

As the saying goes, defense wins championships. South Carolina women's soccer is known for playing great defense, and senior captains Anna Patten and Sarah Eskew are vying to add their names to the long list of outstanding defenders for Carolina.

"I think because we have been around and have been a part of that strong defensive unit, we know what to expect," said Patten. "With new players having to step up into their roles, it's important for us to be teachers and leaders to help them and help us be just as strong defensively this year. The coaches emphasize the minute details."

"Since we have been a part of backlines that have been really strong, we have an idea of what a good back line looks like and what we should be doing," said Eskew. "It gives us some knowledge to help teach the freshmen or the girls who are now starting or getting more minutes."

"(Associate Head Coach) Jamie (Smith) really puts an emphasis on defense. Defense is really the foundation of our team. It's not just the backline. It's the whole team."

The Gamecocks won the SEC Tournament last year for the second time in program history after winning back-to-back regular season titles in 2016 and 2017. Defense has been a big part of that as a South Carolina player has earned SEC Defensive Player of the Year honors six times in the last 12 years, including three years in a row. Kaleigh Kurtz took the honors in 2017 and Grace Fisk won it in each of the last two years.
