MATCH PREVIEW

LAST TIME OUT - MISSOURI

South Carolina women's soccer (7-2-0, 6-2-0 SEC) held on to take out Missouri (4-3-2, 4-2-2 SEC) 3-2 in the SEC Tournament quarterfinals. Lauren Chang, Sutton Jones and Catherine Barry all scored goals in the win with Barry's counting as the gamewinner.

"It's a difficult road, but we know what it takes to win matches here," South Carolina head coach Shelley Smith said. "It's not always pretty, tonight was a good example of that. I think even last year one of our more difficult games was our first one. We got through that and settled down and played really well after that. I thought we had a great first half tonight, I thought the second half then became a little hectic. We're better than what we showed, so we'll take this and be better the next time out."

"We talked in our scouting session that it was imperative that we get corners tonight and it is a really big part of our game," Chang said. "I'm just glad I was able to see the rebound and get the ball in the back of the net early to give us some great momentum."

The three goals for the Gamecocks marked just the third time in program history that the team scored three goals in an SEC Tournament match. The three goals scored was the most at the tournament since the Gamecocks won 4-0 against Georgia in 2013.

QUICK NOTES: SC vs. ARK

- The Gamecocks defeated the Razorbacks in the 2019 SEC Tournament final, with Ryan Gareis scoring the game-winning goal in the 1-0 win
- South Carolina defeated Arkansas 2-1 earlier this season, in Fayetteville, with Samantha Chang scoring the game-winning goal and Corinna Zullo scoring the other goal
- Since Colby Hale has taken over Arkansas the Gamecocks are 8-1-2 against the Razorbacks with their lone win coming at the 2017 SEC Tournament
- The Gamecocks have not lost by multiple goals at the SEC Tournament since 2007 (Georgia, 2-0) with every other match either coming down to penalty kicks or a one-goal loss

CAROLINA AT THE SEC TOURNAMENT

The Gamecocks hold an 12-15-5 mark all-time at the SEC Tournament. The Gamecocks won the 2019 SEC Tournament by not allowing a goal while scoring four of their own in three victories in Orange Beach. The Gamecocks also won the 2009 SEC Tournament, winning on penalty kicks in the final against LSU. The Gamecocks have reached the semifinals 10 times in program history and have reached the final three times.

SCOUTING ARKANSAS

Arkansas (8-1-0, 7-1-0 SEC) is coming off a thrilling 4-3 win over Auburn in the SEC Tournament quarterfinals. Arkansas, the No. 1 seed, scored four goals in the first half but Auburn fought back in the second half to make it interesting, but were unable to complete the comeback. Arkansas had seven honored by the SEC, including head coach Colby Hale who was named the SEC Co-Coach of the Year while Anna Podojil was named the Offensive Player of the Year. Parker Goins and Haley VanFossen joined Podojil on the First Team while the Razorbacks also had one student-athlete on the second team and two on the All-Freshman team. Kayla McKeon is the leading scoring this season with five goals, including a brace in the quarterfinals. The Razorbacks have primarily started Taylor Beitz in the back this season, playing in 585 minutes and allowing nine goals for a goals against average of 1.36. Although the Razorbacks have seen recent overall success, the Gamecocks have owned the series historically with a 156-4-3 record in 23 total meetings.

SEC ANNOUNCES ALL-SEC TEAMS, CONFERENCE AWARDS

The Southeastern Conference announced the 2020 All-SEC teams along with the conference awards on Thursday with four Gamecocks being named. Anna Patten and Jylissa Harris were both named to the All-SEC First Team for the first time in their careers while Lauren Chang was named to the Second Team.

Catherine Barry was named to the All-Freshman team after her impressive rookie campaign. Chang also was named the Co-Scholar Athlete of the Year, just the second time a Gamecock has earned the honor in program history. The last being Blakely Mattern in 2009. The Gamecocks have now had at least four named on All-SEC teams for five straight seasons.

SEC TOURNAMENT UPDATE

Through three rounds of the 2020 SEC Tournament, upsets have been aplenty. No. 14 seed LSU made a run to the SEC Quarterfinals, falling to No. 3 Texas A&M. Vanderbilt, the No. 7 seed, has reached the semifinals after taking out the No. 10 seed Mississippi State and the No. 2 seed, Tennessee.

The semifinal matchups include the South Carolina-Arkansas matchup at 7 p.m. along with Texas A&M and Vanderbilt at 9:30 p.m. Both matches can be seen on SEC Network.

YOUNG GUNS

The Gamecocks have had an influx of young talent this season with eight of the 18 goals scored this season coming from true freshmen. Three Carolina freshmen have scored multiple goals in 2020 with Catherine Barry leading the way with four while Rylee Forster and Corinna Zullo each having two this season. Of the Gamecocks 51 points this season, 43.1 percent of that have come from freshmen, the second highest percent in the SEC behind just Texas A&M.

DANGEROUS DEFENDERS

Sutton Jones' goal gave her three goals this season, the second most on the team. Jones, along with Anna Patten have proved to be threats on the offensive end this season. Patten has scored once and added a pair of assists on top of freshman center back Hallie Meadows who has an assist of her own this season.

RANKED IN THE TOP 10

After starting the season outside of the altered United Soccer Coaches rankings, the Gamecocks entered the top 15 on Oct. 13 and haven't looked back. Carolina reached as high as No. 9 and enter the postseason as the No. 10 ranked team in the country.

Four other SEC teams are inside the top 15 with Arkansas sitting at No. 7 followed by Texas A&M at No. 8 and then Carolina at No. 10. Both Tennessee and Ole Miss entered the top 15 in the latest poll, with Tennessee sitting at No. 13 and Ole Miss at No. 14.

'MATTER' IS THE MINIMUM PATCH

As of July 30, 2020, the NCAA Playing Rules Oversight Panel approved rules to allow student-athletes in all sports to wear patches on their uniforms for commemorative and memorial purposes, as well as to support social justice issues. Student-athletes of the South Carolina women's soccer program chose to wear patches that read "Matter is the Minimum" on their right sleeve.

The Gamecocks chose to wear these patches because they want to use their platform as student-athletes to take a stand against systemic racism and social injustice. The team does not tolerate any form of racism and injustice and wants to do its part to make a change. Although these patches are small, they stand for a movement that is bigger than any game.

UP NEXT

The SEC Tournament is the conclusion of the Gamecocks, and the SEC, fall season. South Carolina, along with the rest of the conference's teams, will return in the spring of 2021 to conclude the season that will culminate with an NCAA Tournament that will begin on April 30 and conclude on May 17.

'MATTER' IS THE MINIMUM PATCH

The Gamecocks chose to wear these patches because they want to use their platform as student-athletes to take a stand against systemic racism and social injustice. The team does not tolerate any form of racism and injustice and wants to do its part to make a change. Although these patches are small, they stand for a movement that is bigger than any game.

FEATURED GAMECOCKS

ZULLO SISTERS UNITE IN COLUMBIA

Luciana and Corinna Zullo didn't initially plan to compete on the same collegiate soccer team, but sometimes things just work out. The senior and freshman sisters on South Carolina's women's soccer team may be competing at the same position, but don't call it a sibling rivalry.

"It's really fun being on the same team again," said freshman Corinna Zullo. "It was fun being on the same team in high school. We play the same position, so it's good to look up to her, see how she's doing and try to improve myself."

"We have not raced in a while, which is something I think she wants to do," said senior Luciana Zullo. "We've always been very competitive, but we've always been very supportive of each other. We played a year together of high school soccer in New Jersey, and that was so much fun being on the field at the same time. Here, it might be a little bit different. It's interesting competing with your sister for playing time."

The year-long family reunion fits in well with the family atmosphere within the program, but each was recruited to play for the Gamecocks based on her own individual merits.

"Recruiting wise, I might have been in her ear a little bit," Luciana said. "I've had such a great experience here, and I knew that she would be able to thrive and grow here, not only as a player, but as a person. When she was being recruited, (associate head coach) Jamie (Smith) didn't know that she was my sister. He was actually at her game watching another player, and he looked at the roster and was like, 'you're kidding me?' It's good to know that she was looked at as her own person and not just as my little sister when she was being recruited."

SMITHS IN 20TH YEAR AT SOUTH CAROLINA

Now in their 20th year leading the South Carolina women's soccer program, head coach Shelley Smith and husband and associate head coach Jamie Smith have seen it all. After building a championship program, the Smiths are ready to see a lot more.

"We're enjoying it, and we're still young enough to do this and to want to do this," Shelley Smith said. "We have good relationships with players, and we enjoy the grind and the work that we do. We'll keep going as long as they'll have us."

The package turned out to be gift that keeps on giving. The program is now a perennial SEC championship contender and has been to the NCAA Tournament in 12 of the last 13 years, including three NCAA quarterfinals and the 2017 national semifinals at the College Cup. The Smiths have led the Gamecocks to three SEC Regular SEC Championships and a pair of SEC Tournament titles as well. It wasn't easy to bring the program up to that level.

"It was at the bottom of the SEC when we took over," Shelley Smith said. "They were 4-16 (1-8 in the SEC) the year before. I came from Rhode Island, and I thought the team here should be a lot stronger than what I had there, and it really wasn't the jump I was hoping for. There was some very good talent, but overall, it wasn't a collective group yet. They had to learn how to get along. They had to learn how to work for each other and push each other because there were definitely some talented kids, they just needed to come together as a team."

BY THE NUMBERS

4

For No. 4 Anna Patten, the SEC Tournament will likely serve as her final matches as a Gamecock. Patten is set to graduate in the fall of 2020 and will pursue a professional soccer career.

2016

The Gamecocks are aiming to become the first team to win back-to-back SEC Tournament titles since 2016 when Florida won it's second in a row. The Gamecocks have never won back-to-back tournament titles.

8

Head Coach Shelley Smith reached 300 wins two weeks ago making her the eighth woman in at the NCAA Division I level to win 300 matches in a career.

50

Despite nine seniors on the roster the offensive production has come from Carolina's freshmen. Of the team's 18 goals, 50 percent of it has come from true freshmen with three newcomers having multiple goals so far in 2020.

11

This season the Gamecocks have made incredible adjustments in the second half. Eleven of the Gamecocks 18 goals this season have come in the second half or overtime.

5

The Gamecocks have had five different starting lineups this season in seven total matches. Most of the changes have come on the defensive side this season with changes at goalkeeper and defender.

HINZ FAMILY TRADITION

In competing to be the one to fill the void left by the graduation of an All-American goalkeeper, Heather Hinz has big shoes to fill. The South Carolina sophomore is no stranger in trying to follow in the footsteps of an accomplished net-minder, as her older sister, Megan, played for four years at Michigan (2014-2017) and is now playing professionally for the NWSL's Sky Blue FC.

"When I was younger, I looked up to all of my sisters in different aspects," said Heather Hinz, who is the youngest of four sisters. "With sports, Megan seemed to be very serious about it, and I always admired how every time she puts her mind to something, she goes 100 percent."

"Seeing her go through the recruiting process, going through college, and even her pro experience has helped me a ton. It has brought us a lot closer because we can talk about a lot of these things that other people wouldn't understand. The fact that I have that kind of mentor is really lucky."

"Heather and I have always been super close," said Morgan Hinz, who is 24. "Our relationship has also changed a lot. I remember when Heather was a baby. I remember when she was first training in goal, I would coach her. I went off to college and then played overseas, and I come back, and she has figured out who she is. I always looked at her as my baby sister, but now we're really good friends. I talk to her every single day. Now we can lean on each other, like peers."

Heather Hinz is battling with freshman Taylor Fox for the starting job as South Carolina's goalkeeper after four-year-starter Mikayla Krzeczowski graduated last year. Fox started the first two games for the Gamecocks this year, but Hinz earned her first career start last Sunday against Kentucky and posted a clean sheet in South Carolina's 1-0 victory.

DEFENSIVE TRADITION

As the saying goes, defense wins championships. South Carolina women's soccer is known for playing great defense, and senior captains Anna Patten and Sarah Eskew are vying to add their names to the long list of outstanding defenders for Carolina.

"I think because we have been around and have been a part of that strong defensive unit, we know what to expect," said Patten. "With new players having to step up into their roles, it's important for us to be teachers and leaders to help them and help us be just as strong defensively this year. The coaches emphasize the minute details."

"Since we have been a part of backlines that have been really strong, we have an idea of what a good back line looks like and what we should be doing," said Eskew. "It gives us some knowledge to help teach the freshmen or the girls who are now starting or getting more minutes."

"(Associate Head Coach) Jamie (Smith) really puts an emphasis on defense. Defense is really the foundation of our team. It's not just the backline. It's the whole team."

The Gamecocks won the SEC Tournament last year for the second time in program history after winning back-to-back regular season titles in 2016 and 2017. Defense has been a big part of that as a South Carolina player has earned SEC Defensive Player of the Year honors six times in the last 12 years, including three years in a row. Kaleigh Kurtz took the honors in 2017 and Grace Fisk won it in each of the last two years.
