MATCH PREVIEW

LAST TIME OUT - COLLEGE OF CHARLESTON

South Carolina women's soccer (8-3-0, 6-2-0 SEC) dominated College of Charleston (0-4-0, 0-1-0 CAA) 3-0 on March 7, in the spring season opener at Stone Stadium. Freshman forward Corinna Zullo provided the game-winning goal for the Gamecocks late in the first half and Lauren Chang and Jyllissa Harris added insurance in the second half.

"I thought our team did a great job at responding and coming out in the second half and playing match better and getting some goals because of it," South Carolina Shelley Smith said. "We really dominated play in that second half. We were proud of them for growing and learning in just these 90 minutes today."

Freshman goalkeeper Taylor Fox celebrated her birthday with her first career solo shutout with the Gamecocks. The rookie was only forced to make one save while facing two shots against the Cougars. Individually Catherine Barry and Ryan Gareis both finished with a team-high five shots on the day while Ranya Senhaji fired off four in her first career start. Sophomore Riane Coman made her second career start on Sunday, but her first as an outside back for the Gamecocks, playing a total of 55 minutes.

As a team the Gamecocks held a shot advantage of 26-2 with 11 of the shots on frame. More impressively is 21 of those 26 shots for the Gamecocks came in the second half. The squad also finished with 12 corner kicks and limited the Cougars to none.

SCOUTING COASTAL CAROLINA

Coastal Carolina (7-7-0, 6-4-0 Sun Belt) completed its fall season with a record of 6-5-0 and has played a total of three matches this spring with a 1-2-0 record with its latest result coming against Duke, a 6-0 defeat on the road. The Chants are led by Loranna Austin, a junior forward from Blythewood, S.C., that has scored five goals this season and has a pair of gamewinners. In goal it has been sophomore Ky Hudson who has made all 14 starts for Coastal Carolina. She holds a 1.75 goals against average and has made 77 saves which is the second most in the country this season. Another individual to watch is Sunneva Sigurvinsdottir, a senior forward who was named to the Sun Belt All-Conference First Team in 2019 after scoring six goals for Coastal.

HARRIS NAMED TO TOPDRAWERSOCCER TEAM OF THE WEEK

South Carolina women's soccer junior midfielder turned defender Jyllyssa Harris was named to TopDrawerSoccer.com's Team of the Week after her performance against College of Charleston.

The step-in center back scored an insurance goal in the Gamecocks' 3-0 win over the Cougars on Sunday while also making her first career start as a center back position at the collegiate level. The goal for Harris is the second of the 2020-21 season with the Hazlet, N.J., native scoring the goal off a free kick in the second half. Harris' performance was not limited to her offensive output on Sunday as the junior help lead the Gamecocks to a dominant defensive performance, allowing just two shots in the shutout victory. Harris and the Carolina back line allowed just one shot on goal and did not allow a single shot in the second half despite only defender Camryn Dixon returning to start in the same position as in the fall portion of the season.

THE SPRING GAMECOCKS

On top of Anna Patten leaving the Gamecocks for the professional ranks the Gamecocks will look different for multiple other reasons. Defenders Sarah Eskew and Caitlyn Leffler both will not be available in the spring due to injury while four additional Gamecocks have moved on from collegiate soccer to pursue internships, graduate or other professional development opportunities. In total Carolina begins the spring season with 20 healthy student-athletes.

YOUNG AND TALENTED

The Gamecocks have had an influx of young talent this season with nine of the 19 goals scored this season coming from true freshmen. Four Carolina freshmen have scored multiple goals this season with Catherine Barry leading the way with four while Corinna Zullo has scored three of her own. Of the Gamecocks 60 points this season, 45 percent of that have come from freshmen, the second highest percent in the SEC behind just Texas A&M.

NO HELP NEEDED, THIS TIME

In Carolina's spring season opener, the team used three unassisted goals to defeat College of Charleston at Stone Stadium. Corinna Zullo, Jylissa Harris and Lauren Chang all scored goals without direct passes, including Chang's penalty kick goal in the second half.

For Chang, the penalty kick goal was the first of that kind this season and moves her career mark at the spot to 4-for-5.

BACK IN THE TOP 10

The latest United Soccer Coaches top-25 rankings brought the Gamecocks up to No. 10 in the country. It's the 56th time in program history the team has sat in the top 10 of the nationally recognized poll. The first time in recorded history the Gamecocks were in the top 10 of this was in 2007 and the highest ranking the program has seen since is No. 2 in 2016.

Three other SEC teams are inside the top 25 with Vanderbilt sitting at No. 6 followed by Texas A&M at No. 12 and then Arkansas at No. 18.

ANNA PATTEN GOES PRO

Shortly after graduating from the University of South Carolina, senior defender Anna Patten struck a professional deal with her young program, Arsenal, of the Women's Super League in England. Patten joins former Gamecock Grace Fisk (West Ham United) in the ranks of English professionals. Patten left Carolina with one SEC Championship and multiple All-SEC honors, including a First Team nod in the fall of 2020.

SAM CHANG MAKES CANADIAN DEBUT

Redshirt sophomore Samantha Chang made her Senior National Team debut with Canada at the 2021 She Believes Cup on Feb. 21, against Argentina. After earning the roster spot in camp, the Mississauga, Ontario, native helped the Canadians win their match over Argentina. Chang entered the match in the second half with the score locked at 0-0 and helped keep Argentina out of goal and eventually Canada found the back of the net in extra time.

'MATTER' IS THE MINIMUM PATCH

As of July 30, 2020, the NCAA Playing Rules Oversight Panel approved rules to allow student-athletes in all sports to wear patches on their uniforms for commemorative and memorial purposes, as well as to support social justice issues. Student-athletes of the South Carolina women's soccer program chose to wear patches that read "Matter is the Minimum" on their right sleeve.

The Gamecocks chose to wear these patches because they want to use their platform as student-athletes to take a stand against systemic racism and social injustice. The team does not tolerate any form of racism and injustice and wants to do its part to make a change. Although these patches are small, they stand for a movement that is bigger than any game.

UP NEXT

South Carolina will host Appalachian State in the third match of its four-match home stand on March 27. The match is set for a 2 p.m. kickoff with all home matches this spring season being streamed on SEC Network + via a one-camera stream.

'MATTER' IS THE MINIMUM PATCH

The Gamecocks chose to wear these patches because they want to use their platform as student-athletes to take a stand against systemic racism and social injustice. The team does not tolerate any form of racism and injustice and wants to do its part to make a change. Although these patches are small, they stand for a movement that is bigger than any game.

FEATURED GAMECOCKS

ZULLO SISTERS UNITE IN COLUMBIA

Luciana and Corinna Zullo didn't initially plan to compete on the same collegiate soccer team, but sometimes things just work out. The senior and freshman sisters on South Carolina's women's soccer team may be competing at the same position, but don't call it a sibling rivalry.

"It's really fun being on the same team again," said freshman Corinna Zullo. "It was fun being on the same team in high school. We play the same position, so it's good to look up to her, see how she's doing and try to improve myself."

"We have not raced in a while, which is something I think she wants to do," said senior Luciana Zullo. "We've always been very competitive, but we've always been very supportive of each other. We played a year together of high school soccer in New Jersey, and that was so much fun being on the field at the same time. Here, it might be a little bit different. It's interesting competing with your sister for playing time."

The year-long family reunion fits in well with the family atmosphere within the program, but each was recruited to play for the Gamecocks based on her own individual merits.

"Recruiting wise, I might have been in her ear a little bit," Luciana said. "I've had such a great experience here, and I knew that she would be able to thrive and grow here, not only as a player, but as a person. When she was being recruited, (associate head coach) Jamie (Smith) didn't know that she was my sister. He was actually at her game watching another player, and he looked at the roster and was like, 'you're kidding me?' It's good to know that she was looked at as her own person and not just as my little sister when she was being recruited."

SMITHS IN 20TH YEAR AT SOUTH CAROLINA

Now in their 20th year leading the South Carolina women's soccer program, head coach Shelley Smith and husband and associate head coach Jamie Smith have seen it all. After building a championship program, the Smiths are ready to see a lot more.

"We're enjoying it, and we're still young enough to do this and to want to do this," Shelley Smith said. "We have good relationships with players, and we enjoy the grind and the work that we do. We'll keep going as long as they'll have us."

The package turned out to be gift that keeps on giving. The program is now a perennial SEC championship contender and has been to the NCAA Tournament in 12 of the last 13 years, including three NCAA quarterfinals and the 2017 national semifinals at the College Cup. The Smiths have led the Gamecocks to three SEC Regular SEC Championships and a pair of SEC Tournament titles as well. It wasn't easy to bring the program up to that level.

"It was at the bottom of the SEC when we took over," Shelley Smith said. "They were 4-16 (1-8 in the SEC) the year before. I came from Rhode Island, and I thought the team here should be a lot stronger than what I had there, and it really wasn't the jump I was hoping for. There was some very good talent, but overall, it wasn't a collective group yet. They had to learn how to get along. They had to learn how to work for each other and push each other because there were definitely some talented kids, they just needed to come together as a team."

FEATURED GAMECOCKS

HINZ FAMILY TRADITION

In competing to be the one to fill the void left by the graduation of an All-American goalkeeper, Heather Hinz has big shoes to fill. The South Carolina sophomore is no stranger in trying to follow in the footsteps of an accomplished net-minder, as her older sister, Megan, played for four years at Michigan (2014-2017) and is now playing professionally for the NWSL's Sky Blue FC.

"When I was younger, I looked up to all of my sisters in different aspects," said Heather Hinz, who is the youngest of four sisters. "With sports, Megan seemed to be very serious about it, and I always admired how every time she puts her mind to something, she goes 100 percent."

"Seeing her go through the recruiting process, going through college, and even her pro experience has helped me a ton. It has brought us a lot closer because we can talk about a lot of these things that other people wouldn't understand. The fact that I have that kind of mentor is really lucky."

"Heather and I have always been super close," said Morgan Hinz, who is 24. "Our relationship has also changed a lot. I remember when she was first training in goal, I would coach her. I went off to college and then played overseas, and I come back, and she has figured out who she is. I always looked at her as my baby sister, but now we're really good friends. I talk to her every single day. Now we can lean on each other, like peers."

Heather Hinz is battling with freshman Taylor Fox for the starting job as South Carolina's goalkeeper after four-year-starter Mikayla Krzeczowski graduated last year. Fox started the first two games for the Gamecocks this year, but Hinz earned her first career start last Sunday against Kentucky and posted a clean sheet in South Carolina's 1-0 victory.

CHANG FULFILLS DREAM WITH CANADA

South Carolina midfielder Samantha Chang is living the dream, but the ability to do that has come through hard work, while overcoming some adversity along the way. The redshirt sophomore midfielder from Mississauga, Ontario, was called up to the Canadian National Team for the SheBelieves Cup in Orlando, Fla., last month and earned her first international cap, playing alongside some of her childhood heroes. After overcoming a torn ACL at the outset of her collegiate career, she serves as an inspiration to other young players.

"It really meant everything to me," Chang said of representing her country. "I've been dreaming about playing for the national team ever since I was a little kid. To get that call that I was coming to camp was pretty unexpected. I was super excited to get in there and train with some of my heroes growing up."

Chang previously played in the Canadian youth programs before she came to South Carolina. She represented Canada at the U20 level and participated in the U17 FIFA World Cup in Jordan in 2016 and won medals at the 2016 Concacaf U-17 championship and the 2014 Concacaf U-15 Championship. Having the opportunity to come to camp with the senior national team meant she would be along side some of the players she looked up to.

"Inspiring the next generation is something that I'm really passionate about. A huge thing for me is that I'm half white, half Asian, and my last name is Chang, so growing up, I never had an Asian role model on the women's national team. Asian people can make it at this level!"
