^ Started the NCAA Tournament Game

Nov. 11, 1998, NCAA First Round

at Charlotte

Charlotte, N.C., Attendance: 461

South Carolina women's soccer coach Sue Kelly is ecstatic about her program's future, though Wednesday night the present was somewhat disappointing.

Carolina, playing in its first NCAA tournament in the program's fourth season, lost 2-0 to Conference USA power Charlotte at the 49ers' Transamerica Field in the tournament's first round. South Carolina ends its season 11-7-1, but with a roster full of freshmen and sophomores, the Gamecocks' future looks bright.

"(UNCC) had a lot of momentum toward the end of the season," Kelly said. "It was a great performance by them. We have a very young team. We were beaten 6-0 in our last game, and I made some changes in our lineup for this game. We certainly want to do this again. We will continue to strengthen our schedule. We won't slow down. We'll continue to move on the foundation our seniors have built."

UNCC's offense was on the attack all night, peppering South Carolina goalkeeper Emily Crain with 18 shots. The 49ers scored on their eighth shot at the 58:15 mark as Meredith Mayo took a pass from Jill Currie and fired in a shot past Crain. Carrie Hughes knocked in a shot with her right knee on a crisp pass from Christina Papp at 75:05 to complete the 49ers' scoring.

South Carolina got nine shots off on goal, with five saved by UNCC keeper Jessica Brooks.

^ Started the NCAA Tournament Game

Nov. 16, 2007, NCAA First Round vs. Duke Athens, Ga., Attendance: 903

Officially the game goes down as a tie but for South Carolina's women's soccer team, the season is over.

After a 1-1 standstill through 110 minutes, the Gamecocks fell 4-1 in penalty kicks in the first round of the 64-team NCAA soccer tournament.

"It's an awful way to lose but that is the game of soccer," Shelley Smith said. "Unfortunately we didn't get the job done in PKs."

In penalty kicks, Duke hit its first three to give the Blue Devils a 3-0 lead after USC was unable to get it past GK Alison Lipsher. USC's Kim Miller then put one on the board for the Gamecocks, but the outcome had already been determined.

Officially for the Gamecocks this contest goes down as a tie, but semantics don't change the reality.

"It definitely feels like a loss," Smith said. "In this type of environment it is a loss because you're not able to play again."

The first half was scoreless after each team only mustered one shot on goal. In the second half, Duke's Lorraine Quinn broke the tie with a shot from 20 yards to give Duke the 1-0 lead at the 63:10 mark.

USC answered back two minutes later. Using her speed, USC's Darcel Mollon drew a foul to set up a Brittney Rhoades free kick. From the right corner, Rhoades sent the ball into the goalie's box where SEC Defensive Player of the Year Blakely Mattern was standing to put the ball in the bottom right corner of the net to tie it at 65:29.

Nov. 14, 2008, NCAA First Round vs. William & Mary Durham, N.C., Attendance: 273

South Carolina dropped a 3-2 overtime decision to William & Mary in NCAA First Round action at Koskinen Stadium in Durham, N.C. The loss ends Carolina's season at 11-7-4 and wraps up the team's second consecutive NCAA bid.

The match marks the second consecutive opening round overtime match for the Gamecocks, who tied Duke 1-1 last season before falling in penalty kicks. William & Mary's Claire Zimmeck scored the golden goal at 92:03 to end Carolina's NCAA run.

"I think we played very well tonight," South Carolina head coach Shelley Smith said. "We played our hearts out. Our kids left everything on the field. I was so proud of their performance."

Brooke Jacobs and Dani Monteiro scored goals for South Carolina. Jacobs scored in the 35th minute courtesy of an assist from Kim Miller to tie the match 1-1. Monteiro, the lone senior on the South Carolina team, scored in the 60th courtesy of assists from Jacobs and Kayla Grimsley to give Carolina a 2-1 lead.

Zimmeck scored her first goal in the 79th to tie the game and send it to overtime before hitting the golden goal to end the game.

vs. Davidson

Columbia, S.C., Attendance: 3,813

South Carolina scored three goals within four minutes in the early part of the second half and a stingy defense allowed just three shots on the evening as the Gamecocks defeated Davidson 4-0 on Friday night in NCAA Women's Soccer First Round action at Stone Stadium.

The win is Carolina's first postseason victory in women's soccer history and advances the team to a Second Round matchup vs. Rutgers on Sunday, Nov. 15 with the tilt set to begin at 1 p.m. South Carolina is now 18-3-2 on the year while Davidson ends the season with a 12-10-1 record. The match was played in front of 3,813 fans, the largest attended women's soccer match in South Carolina history.

Kayla Grimsley tied a career-high with two goals, both coming in the second half, and Brooke Jacobs and Samantha Diaz-Matosas each recorded a goal and an assist to lead the Gamecocks on offense. Carolina was dominant on the offensive side with a 16-3 advantage in shots for the contest.

South Carolina recorded the team's 14th shutout of the season. Junior goalkeeper Mollie Patton played all 90 minutes to record a shutout in goal. Despite the loss, Baxa was stellar in goal for the Wildcats as she finished with seven saves.

Nov. 15, 2009, NCAA Second Round
vs. Rutgers
Columbia, S.C., Attendance: 2,724

South Carolina junior forward Brooke Jacobs scored her sixth goal of the year in the 36th minute of play and junior goalkeeper Mollie Patton came up with a diving save near the end of regulation in the 90th minute as the Gamecocks defeated Rutgers 1-0 on Sunday afternoon in front of 2,724 fans at Stone Stadium. The Gamecocks improve to 19-3-2 and advance to the Round of 16 while Rutgers ends its season with a 14-4-4 record. Sunday afternoon's win also marked head coach Shelley Smith's 100th victory as head coach of South Carolina.

The match was played even between South Carolina and Rutgers until 35:36 when Carolina grabbed the one-goal advantage with Jacobs finding the back of the net. On the score, Gamecock midfielder Christine Watts controlled a ball played into the box. Despite a Rutgers defender, Watts created an opportunity and connected with Jacobs, who on the touch, got a good look from six yards out to drill a shot past Rutgers keeper Erin Guthrie and off the inside of the left post into the net putting the Gamecocks ahead by a goal.

Jacobs has now scored in three consecutive NCAA matches. Jacobs had a goal vs. William & Mary in 2008 and scored last Friday evening in the victory over Davidson. Assists on the score were awarded to Watts and Maria Petroni.

Rutgers fought to the end though and came as close as possible in the 90th minute off a corner kick. Up from her goalkeeper position, Guthrie floated a ball into the penalty area that saw Scarlet Knights forward Rheanne Sleiman head on directly and toward the goal, only to have Patton come up with diving save to end the match and preserve a Gamecock victory.

South Carolina finished with an 11-9 advantage in shots over Rutgers including an 8-6 edge in the second half. Guthrie finished with five saves while Patton made three for the Gamecocks. The shutout for Patton was her 15th of the season and 22nd of her career.

Diaz-Matosas had a team-high six shots for Carolina including four on goal. Schacher and Sleiman each finished with three for Rutgers.

Nov. 20, 2009, NCAA Round of 16
vs. Wake Forest
Columbia, S.C., Attendance: 4,347

A header by Wake Forest midfielder Bess Harrington in the final second of regulation found the back of the net for a goal as the Demon Deacons defeated South Carolina 1-0 as time expired in the NCAA Third Round at Stone Stadium on the campus of the University of South Carolina. South Carolina's record-breaking season ends at 19-4-2 on the year. Friday night's game was played in front of a crowd of 4,347 fans, the largest attended women's soccer match in Stone Stadium history.

Friday night's game appeared to be extending into overtime but Harrington was able to find the game-winning goal just as the clock struck zero in the 90th minute of play. The Deacons were able to gain control and possession off a throw-in and created a corner kick opportunity. With the clock ticking down under 10 seconds, Wake Forest forward Jill Hutchinson soared a perfect ball into the box that found the head of Harrington, who connected with a direct header that went past the Gamecock defense and goalkeeper Mollie Patton and into the net just before the buzzer to end regulation. For Harrington, the goal was her second of the season.

The goal capped off an exciting second half that saw both teams playing dead even as each tallied seven shots for the half. After Wake Forest controlled the first 45 minutes, the advantage shifted to the home team in the second half as Carolina opened the stanza with some pressure and scoring opportunities. Carolina forward Brooke Jacobs drove down the right side of the field in the 46th minute and hit a long shot that drifted deep into the box that was saved on line by Wake Forest keeper Amanda Barasha. Lindsay Small had a header in the 51st minute off a free kick that would also be saved by Barasha. Senior forward Samantha Diaz-Matosas would come close to a goal as Jacobs sailed in a ball that went to the far post and just a couple feet away from the foot of Diaz-Matosas. Wake Forest's Bess Harrington would have Wake's first strong goal opportunity in the 57th minute from 10 yards out only to see her shot saved by Gamecock keeper Mollie Patton.

Carolina looked to almost have a goal in the 60th and 61st minute that saw a crazy flurry inside the six-yard box. Kortney Rhodes would get a shot off that was blocked by a Wake defender. On the play however, the ball would spin towards Gamecock forward Brooke Jacobs who took a direct shot in on Barasha. The Wake keeper would make a save but could not control the ball, allowing Jacobs an opportunity to get another shot off that went off one of the goal posts.

vs. UNC Greensboro

Charlottesville, Va., Attendance: 138

No. 20 South Carolina advances to the NCAA Second Round for the second consecutive year after defeating No. 10 UNC Greensboro 2-1 Friday night at Klockner Stadium on the campus of the University of Virginia. The Gamecocks (15-5-4) went ahead just 2:15 into the match by an own goal, and freshman Danielle Au hit the game-winner just 58 seconds into the second half.

The Spartans (19-2-1) entered the match riding a 16-match winning streak and a No. 10 ranking in the nation. With the victory, South Carolina improves to 3-1 in the all-time series and knock off their first top ten team since defeating then No. 8 Florida by a 1-0 score in last year's SEC Tournament semifinal.

Opposite last week's SEC title match that saw Carolina lose on an own goal, the Gamecocks went ahead just 2:15 into the match courtesy of a Spartan own goal. Playing wide on the wing, Kira Campbell dumped it to Christine Watts who sent a cross square in front of the keeper and going just over Maria Petroni's head. Before a Gamecock could follow-up, a Spartan defender knocked the ball backwards and it rolled into the net for the early Gamecock score.

Danielle Au made the lead 2-0 just 58 seconds into the second half with a rifled shot from 18 yards that curled into the upper corner of the net. The Spartans were able to get on the board at 74:43 with a rebounded shot off a failed clearance.

No. 8 Virginia scored two goals in the run of play and a penalty kick with nine minutes remaining to knock No. 20 South Carolina out of the postseason with a 3-0 win in NCAA Second Round action at Klockner Stadium. The Cavaliers (15-4-2) advance to the Round of 16 while the Gamecocks end their fourth consecutive NCAA Tournament appearance with a 15-6-4 record.

Virginia got on the board in the 21st minute with a rare assist by the goalkeeper. Chantel Jones sent her goal kick to midfield where it found the back of Meghan Lencyzk's head and flicked behind the Gamecock backline to give Sinead Farrelly a breakaway opportunity that she converted to make the score 1-0.

The Cavaliers added the second goal at 60:13 with a volley by Lindsey Miller. The senior one-touched the volley from the top of the '18 after a Gamecock header off a Virginia cross landed right at her foot. The final score was off a penalty kick by Julia Roberts in the 81st minute.

The match against Virginia marks the second consecutive year that the Gamecocks have played in the NCAA Second Round despite losing eight seniors and six starters from last year's SEC Championship team.

"I knew it would be a battle today," South Carolina head coach Shelley Smith said. "They are a very good program. Steve Swanson does a wonderful job with them. We knew it would take our best game, but unfortunately I don't think we played as well as we can. I'm really proud of the girls and their effort. They left it on the field. Despite a couple of miscommunication errors that led to some goals, that's not like us defensively. Virginia gave us everything we could handle today. They deserved to win and move on, and I wish them the best of luck."

Playing in front of a home crowd of 645 fans, the Cavaliers put constant, heavy pressure on the Gamecocks throughout the first half. Virginia had six shots and a corner kick in the opening 20 minutes before scoring the goal at 20:15. In contrast, Carolina's first shot came at 21:12 on a header by Danielle Au off a Kira Campbell free kick.

South Carolina used their first shot, which was on frame and saved by Jones, to begin pulling together some momentum on the offensive end. Less than a minute later, Ellen Fahey took a free kick shy of midfield that found its way to the goal for another Virginia save. However, Carolina would only get one more shot in the half, a bullet by Gabrielle Gilbert that went wide, as the team kept putting long touches on their passes that went out of reach of the attackers.

Virginia tallied the second goal almost out of nowhere after a series of throw-ins had the Gamecocks driving down the field and into the attacking third. Danielle Au's shot in the 58th minute went high but seemed to forecast a mounting Gamecock pressure before Miller sent home the volley off the mis-clearance in the Gamecock defensive end.

A Gamecock foul in the penalty area led to a penalty kick for Virginia's Julia Roberts, who made the score 3-0 at 81:07 with her PK slotted into the lower left corner.

Nov. 11, 2011, NCAA First Round

vs. Texas

Columbia, S.C., Attendance: 1,031

Senior Lolly Holland scored in the seventh minute to send No. 22 South Carolina to the NCAA Second Round for the third consecutive season with a 1-0 victory over Texas Friday night at Stone Stadium.

Holland's goal at 6:25 was assisted by a pair of classmates in seniors Kayla Grimsley and Maria Petroni. The assist was the 10th of the season for Grimsley, and gives the SEC Offensive Player of the Year back-to-back seasons with at least 10 goals and 10 assists for 30 points. Freshman Sabrina D'Angelo recorded her fourth shutout in goal with four saves.

"We're thrilled with the win," South Carolina head coach Shelley Smith said. "We were glad to get a home bid and took full advantage of that. The crowd was great tonight, and our players were ready to play from the start. That's what we needed to do against a good Texas team."

The Gamecocks had a first half for the ages with Holland's goal in the seventh minute coupled with two goals that were nullified to prevent a potential 3-0 advantage at the break. Kicking off at a brisk 47 degrees at Stone Stadium in the first meeting between the two teams, the Gamecocks looked like a team ready to prove a point and controlled nearly every second of possession in the opening 20 minutes. After three close scoring opportunities in the first five minutes, Holland scored her first game-winner of the season off a cross by Petroni. The senior was able to get a poke on the service and watched it slow roll into the net after All-Big 12 selection Alexa Gaul was caught out of position.

at Stanford
Stanford, Calif., Attendance: 2,032

Top-ranked and unbeaten Stanford proved too much for the SEC Champion South Carolina Gamecocks in a 2-0 victory Friday night in NCAA Second Round action at Cagan Stadium.

"Obviously we knew Stanford was a very good team," South Carolina head coach Shelley Smith said. "They showed that and proved that tonight. I'd think it would be hard for anyone in the country to beat them. A lot of credit to them to come out, do what they did and finish chances. I thought our team played very well. We made it hard for them to find that first goal. Credit to them to put away the opportunities but we can walk off the field with our heads held high because of our effort."

The Gamecocks held top-ranked Stanford to their third-lowest scoring output of the season, and freshman goalkeeper Sabrina D'Angelo cemented her reputation as one of the top young Canadian goalkeepers with a stellar effort between the pipes with six saves. The loss ends Carolina's run in the tournament, and third consecutive season in the NCAA Second Round, as the Gamecock senior class will leave Columbia as the winningest class in program history with a four-year mark of 61-24-10.

Stanford improved its home-unbeaten streak to 48 matches and won their 19th-consecutive match with goals by Mariah Nogueira and Taylor McCann.

The teams went into the half with Stanford holding a 1-0 lead courtesy of a goal headed home by Mariah Nogueira at 33:46 on a Teresa Noyola free kick. Stanford earned the set piece after a handball called on the Gamecocks on the right flank in front of the corner flag.

The match kicked off at 10:26 p.m. (ET) after the first match between Boston College and California went to a penalty kick shootout. As the teams lined up for the opening kick, a heavy rainstorm hit Cagan Stadium on a chilly 51-degree night in Palo Alto.

Both teams had good looks in the opening 10 minutes as Kayla Grimsley and Danielle Au led a 2v3 in the eighth minute that was picked up by the Stanford goalkeeper, and Stanford's Kendall Romine had a blast from midfield in the ninth minute that clanged off the crossbar.

Stanford had a scare in the 26th minute when All-American Lindsay Taylor collided with D'Angelo on a challenge off a free kick that saw Taylor lay on the ground for one minute to collect herself. Four minutes later, Nogueira hit a header from range but couldn't get it past a diving D'Angelo. She eventually scored three minutes later and almost doubled it in the 36th with a replica of the scoring play, but Andie Romness saved it off the line.

The opening 20 minutes of the second half saw a near even effort by the Gamecocks against the Cardinal with the rain no longer falling. Grimsley earned her first 1v1 chance in the 54th but was fouled after beating her defender to set up a free kick. Christa Neary was able to get the Gamecock look on the set piece, but her shot was blocked by a defender's back to keep the Gamecocks away from frame.

Teresa Noyola gave Stanford its first chance to double its lead in the 65th when she found herself alone from 12 yards in front of the goal, but D'Angelo came up with the point-blank save to keep the All-American off the board. Stanford would eventually get the goal two minutes later when Taylor McCann sent one curling into the upper corner of the net.

Nov. 15, 2013, NCAA First Round

vs. Furman

Columbia, S.C., Attendance: 1,466

The University of South Carolina women's soccer team (17-3-2) earned a 5-0 victory over Furman (17-4-2) in the first round of the 2013 NCAA Tournament on Friday night at Stone Stadium. Redshirt-junior midfielder Taylor Leach scored the game winner in the 15th minute and junior goalkeeper Sabrina D'Angelo secured the 12th shutout of the season for Carolina in the victory. South Carolina's 11-0 record at Stone Stadium this season is currently the best home record in school history.

South Carolina advances to the second round of the NCAA Tournament for the fourth time overall, having advanced through the opening round in the 2009, 2010 and 2011 seasons previously. The win improves the Gamecocks' record in NCAA Tournament play to 5-5-1 overall, including a 4-1 record in games played at Stone Stadium, with all four of those wins coming as shutouts.

Freshman midfielder Chelsea Drennan collected two assists on the night, moving her into second all-time in the Carolina record book for assists in a season with 12. She also holds the record for single-season game-winning assists with six in 2013. Senior forward Danielle Au also collected two assists in the match, and she is now tied for seventh in the record book in career assists with 13.

Furman's India Robinson sent a hard shot wide of frame in the fifth minute, but D'Angelo was there to hold the ball from crossing the endline. The teams traded possession through the midfield until the Gamecocks marked the scoreboard in the 15th minute on Leach's eventual game winner.

Drennan stepped to the corner flag and sent a long cross to the far post from the right side, which senior midfielder Gabrielle Gilbert flicked to Leach, who headed towards goal. The ball deflected off a Furman defender before finding the back of the net for the early Gamecock lead.

Furman would threaten in the 17th minute when forward Jamie Alexander hit the crossbar with a strong attempt, but Carolina added to its lead just two minutes later.

Sophomore forward Raina Johnson scored her team-leading 10th goal of the year to push the Carolina lead to 2-0 in the 19th minute. D'Angelo collected her second-career assist with a long ball out of the defensive third, which Au continued forward into the path of Johnson. Battling a Furman defender, Johnson found the ball near ground level and hit a one-time volley past the Paladin goalkeeper for the score.

South Carolina once again added to its lead less than 10 minutes later. On another corner from Drennan, freshman forward Daija Griffin and senior midfielder Liz Sinclair connected for assists before sophomore forward Coryn Bajema found the back of the net with a header to the far post past Hull.

Furman struggled to find a rhythm after the early goals, and the Gamecocks continued to hold the majority of possession.

Bajema found the back of the net again for her third goal of the season in the 34th minute. Drennan collected her second helper of the match, finding Bajema on the left side of the 18-yard box. The striker located Hull and sent a well-placed shot low to the far post for a 4-0 Gamecock lead.

Sophomore midfielder Stevie Parker nearly gave the Gamecocks another goal in the 44th minute on a strike that hit the crossbar, but the score held at 4-0 entering the halftime break.

South Carolina threatened early in the second half on an attempt from Au. The senior striker found an open slot 10 yards from frame, looking for the near post, but the Paladin goalkeeper forced the ball over the endline for the Gamecock corner kick.

Au collected her second assist of the night and her fourth of the season on Carolina's fifth tally of the match in the 62nd minute. Au found Sophie Groff in front of frame, and the freshman forward's attempt hit the near side goal post before crossing the goal line for the final Gamecock score of the match.

South Carolina dominated the remainder of the match and D'Angelo collected her SEC leading 12th shutout of the season.

Nov. 22, 2013, NCAA Second Round

vs. Stanford

Los Angeles, Calif., Attendance: 500

A battle from the beginning between No. 14 South Carolina (17-4-2) and No. 17 Stanford (15-5-1) in the second round of the NCAA Tournament ended as Taylor Uhl netted the game's only goal less than two minutes into overtime to give the Cardinal the 1-0 win on a chilly night at Drake Stadium.

A quick play down the right flank, Stanford got a cross in before it was knocked back out. Midfielder Chioma Ubogagu corralled the ball at the top of the 18-yard box where she tapped it forward to Uhl who one-timed a soft shot past Gamecock keeper Sabrina D'Angelo inside the left post.

A stalemate throughout, neither team could find a way to break down the others defense.

Stanford had the first attempt of the game on a free kick from just outside the box in the fifth minute. After Courtney Verloo's first attempt was whistled back, her second attempt curled away from the left post.

Five minutes later, the Gamecocks earned the first corner of the night. A collision in the box occurred as the ball was in the air between Stanford keeper Jane Campbell and Gamecock defender Taylor Leach and the ball was knocked away. Midfielder Stevi Parker pounced on the loose ball, but her shot was over the crossbar.

In the 12th minute, Uhl hit a low shot from close range that crossed the face of goal, but it missed wide of the left post.

With the Cardinal keeping the ball in the Gamecocks half for much of the first 20 minutes, the Gamecocks began to settle in after bringing on several subs over the ensuing 10 minutes.

After a dangerous attacking run up the middle from forward Daija Griffin, the ball was poked away by a Stanford defender. Forward Coryn Bajema was got the loose ball and hit a shot from range, but the attempt landed in the hands of Campbell.

After 45 minutes of play, Stanford held a 4-2 advantage in shots, while both sides only produced one shot on goal.

The Gamecocks came quick out of the break as midfielder Gabrielle Gilbert lined up a one-timed shot from outside the box that was just over the bar early in the half.

In the 78th minute, Stanford's Natalie Griffen had the best chance in regulation as she got on the end of a bouncing ball and ripped a shot across the face of goal that caromed off the crossbar. That came just after D'Angelo came up big for her side on a shot from Ubogagu that was destined for the back of the net. The junior went to her left and was able to punch away the attempt before it tucked under the crossbar.

The Cardinal put the Gamecocks under heavy pressure late in the regulation, but the defense was able to withstand it and force overtime.

In a defensive match-up, Stanford managed to outshoot South Carolina 9-6, while holding a 4-1 advantage in shots on goal.

Nov. 14, 2014, NCAA First Round

vs. Clemson

Columbia, S.C., Attendance: 1,344

South Carolina senior goalkeeper Sabrina D'Angelo delivered two saves in a nail-biting round of PKs to propel the No.3 seeded Gamecocks (13-5-4) past Clemson (13-3-3) and into the second round of the NCAA Tournament. A defensive struggle yielded a 0-0 tie after 110 minutes of play, and South Carolina rose to the challenge in the shootout.

After the Gamecocks put the first shot on the board in the sixth minute off the foot of junior Raina Johnson, the teams settled into a quite first half with few offensive opportunities.

In the 38th minute, Clemson drove down the left side to the endline and played the ball back to Abby Jones. Jones crossed into the box and Salma Anastasio headed it on frame for the first shot on goal of the night for either team. D'Angelo wrapped up the save to stay scoreless.

With just two minutes in the half, the Tigers earned a corner kick. Gabby Byorth served it in and senior Christa Neary cleared it for South Carolina to keep zeroes on the scoreboard after 45 minutes of play.

The second half and both overtime periods were a defensive struggle with neither team able to generate dangerous chances. The Gamecocks had the best opportunity when Savannah McCaskill brought the ball up the left side and tried to drop it off for Sophie Groff coming up the middle, but Clemson's keeper came out to interrupt the action.

In the shootout, the lower right corner was the target of choice early with both teams sending their first two shots in that direction. Claire Wagner stepped up to take the Tigers' third attempt, and D'Angelo dove to her left to make the save. Lindsey Lane took the next shot for the Gamecocks and delivered to go-ahead strike. Clemson's Jenna Watson beat D'Angelo to level the shootout at 3-3, but Bay Daniel beat Kailen Sheridan to put the Gamecocks back on top with one round of kicks remaining. D'Angelo made the Gamecocks' final kick unnecessary by stopping Gabby Byorth to advance the Gamecocks after taking the penalty kicks 4-3.

Nov. 21, 2014, NCAA Second Round
vs. Seattle
Chapel Hill, N.C., Attendance: 1,132

For the second Friday in a row, No. 18 South Carolina went to penalty kicks in an NCAA Tournament match after 110 minutes of scoreless play. This time, the No. 3 seeded Gamecocks (13-5-5) claimed the shootout, 2-1, over Seattle (15-4-3) to advance to the NCAA Round of 16 for the second time in school history. With senior All-American keeper Sabrina D'Angelo out of the net due to injury, freshman Abbey Crider stepped in to earn her first career shutout and to make two crucial saves in penalty kicks.

Nine minutes into the match, Seattle's leading scorer Stephanie Verdoia posted the day's first shot on goal, but Crider confidently collected her first save of the day.

Midway through the first half, the Gamecocks started to gain some momentum in the attack and nearly opened the scoring in the 27th minute with a pair of shots on frame. Christa Neary and Sophie Groff worked to set Raina Johnson up, but Seattle netminder Brianna Smallidge gobbled up the shot. Seconds later after a takeaway at midfield, Chelsea Drennan took off and drew the Redhawk keeper off her line. Smallidge extended to deflect and keep the match scoreless.

With just 10 minutes remaining before the half, Verdoia dribbled for nearly 30 yards and squared up towards goal, but the shot went just inches wide of the left post. The teams went to the locker room scoreless.

South Carolina saw one of their best chances of the match on a corner kick from the left side in the 65th minute. Drennan served it into the box and connected with Taylor Leach. The shot was just off target though, going wide of the right post.

The Gamecocks earned yet another corner kick with under 10 minutes to go in regulation. Somehow, the Redhawks deflected a header flying straight for the net. On the rebound shot, Kiana Kraft collected a team save on the goal line.

Five minutes later, South Carolina was threatening again. Groff had a shot blocked, but Johnson corralled the rebound inside of the penalty area. She had a look at an open goal, but chipped it high of the bar.

On a corner kick with less than a minute left, the referee stopped the clock to issue yellow cards to both Leach and Seattle's Isabelle Butterfeld. The caution was Leach's second of the day, leaving the Gamecocks to finish the match down a player.

Seconds into the second overtime period, Seattle nearly ended everything. Verdoia made another long run and unleashed a shot from range, but Crider dove to her right to make the save, and nine minutes later, the teams went to penalty kicks.

The Gamecocks stayed with the same penalty kick order as last week's shootout against Clemson, but the story was not the same. Down 0-1 after the first two rounds, Crider made a diving save to her right and Lindsey Lane converted to level the contest. Kraft clanked her opportunity off the left post and Smallidge saved Bay Daniel's shot to keep the score 1-all after four rounds.

Crider made a spectacular save to her right on Stephanie Spiekerman's chance and put the game on Drennan's foot. The Gamecocks clinched last week's PKs before Drennan had the opportunity to shoot. This week she calmly stepped up to the spot and powered a kick low and left to advance South Carolina to the Round of 16.

Nov. 23, 2014, NCAA Round of 16
at North Carolina
Chapel Hill, N.C., Attendance: 800

Junior Raina Johnson's goal in the 23rd minute and a stellar team defensive effort propelled No. 18 South Carolina past No. 6 North Carolina, 1-0, and into the NCAA Quarterfinals for the first time in program history on Sunday afternoon at Fetzer Field. After advancing on penalty kicks in the previous two contests, the Gamecocks (14-5-5) took down the Tar Heels (14-4-2) in regulation and collected their third shutout in as many games in the NCAA Tournament.

Just seconds into the match, South Carolina nearly punched in their first goal of the tournament. Sophomore Sophie Groff found Johnson in the box, and the Gamecock tried to power it past Tar Heel keeper Bryane Haeberlin. Haeberlin was in position for the save though.

In the 23rd minute, South Carolina did find the back of the net for the first time of this year's NCAA Tournament and for the first time in 366 minutes of play. Johnson's shot from 20 yards out hit the right post, and Haeberlin appeared to have the shot wrapped up. The ball dribbled past her and in for the 1-0 lead.

The Tar Heels registered their first shot on goal of the match with four minutes to play before the break. Amanda Rooney sent one in from outside the penalty area on the right side and tried to one-bounce the equalizer. The shot did not faze freshman Abbey Crider, who collected her first save of the afternoon.

In the 56th minute, North Carolina's Summer Green went down to the end line, made a turn and tried to hit the far corner, but she couldn't bend her shot in, and the Gamecocks kept their 1-0 advantage.

Needing a score to keep the season alive, North Carolina bumped up the pressure and unleashed five of its six second-half shots off in the final 15 minutes of play.

With just over 11 minutes to go, Greene fired a cross into box that senior Andie Romness deflected out of bounds. On the ensuing corner kick, the serve from Green found Paige Nielsen, but Crider corralled it to save the shutout.

In the final two minutes, South Carolina faced a battery of North Carolina shots. The Gamecock defense deflected the first two, but Joanna Boyles settled a rebound and nearly leveled the match with just 37 seconds to go. Boyles spun a shot in that Crider stopped with her chest to preserve the shutout and advance the Gamecocks.

Nov. 28, 2014, NCAA Quarterfinal
at Florida State
Tallahassee, Fla., Attendance: 1,758

In the program's first NCAA quarterfinal, No. 18 South Carolina (14-6-5) saw its NCAA Tournament run come to an end with a 5-0 loss to No. 2 Florida State (22-1-1) on Friday at the Seminole Soccer Complex

From the opening kick, the Seminoles applied pressure and allowed the Gamecocks very little possession past midfield. After 15 minutes of play, the Seminoles recorded the first shot of the afternoon off the foot of Michaela Hahn. A Gamecock defender was in position to block the shot though.

Twelve minutes later, Dagny Brynjarsdottir put a header on frame after receiving a ball from Megan Campbell. With the shot on target to sneak under the crossbar, freshman Abbey Crider skied and tipped the chance over to stave off another good Seminole opportunity.

In the 32nd minute, the Florida State pressure finally yielded a goal. After a pair of blocked shots inside the penalty area from Brynjarsdottir and Kristin Grubka, Berglind Thorvaldsdottir one-timed a rebound of Grubka's shot inside the right post for a 1-0 lead.

Looking to equalize, the Gamecocks moved the ball into their attacking third and were awarded a free kick after a Seminoles foul. Senior Andie Romness hit freshman Savannah McCaskill in the box with the serve, but the header went wide of the target.

Florida State doubled its lead with just over two minutes remaining in the half. Isabella Schmid and Hahn set up Jamia Fields who was loose on the right side. Fields sent a long blast across the goal and inside the left post to give the Seminoles a 2-0 lead at the half.

In a span of seven minutes, the Seminoles put the match out of reach. Fields added her second goal of the day in the 55th minute from 25-yards out to make the score 3-0. Then, within 93 seconds, Cheyna Williams scored twice. The first came on a point-blank look in front of the goal thanks to a cross from Brynjarsdottir. The second was a close-range header set up by Brynjarsdottir and Carson Pickett on a free kick to push the score to 5-0 with under 30 minutes to play.

vs. UNCW

Columbia, S.C., Attendance: 704

Making its ninth NCAA Tournament appearance, the South Carolina women's soccer team suffered a 2-0 first round loss to UNCW on Friday night at Stone Stadium. The Gamecocks ended their season at 12-5-1 on the year. Overall with UNCW now 15-6-1 on the year.

The Seahawks opened the scoring in the 12th minute after the Gamecocks were caught on the counterattack. Forward Maddie McCormick set up the scoring chance, as she threaded a pass from the midfield to midfielder Katrina Guillou, who collected the ball before slipping it past South Carolina goalkeeper Caroline Kelly from eight yards out.

The Gamecocks produced multiple scoring opportunities in the first half, starting in the 32nd minute when a free kick from forward Savannah McCaskill nearly produced the equalizer. Her ball on the set piece sailed into a dangerous spot in the box where it was punched away from UNC-Wilmington goalkeeper Carolyn Huddy. The ensuing corner kick was handled by the Seahawk defense and the danger was cleared.

McCaskill saw another chance to even the match at the end of the half when a through ball from junior Bay Daniel found the forward in stride at the top of the attacking third. She raced into the box and put a shot on that was turned away by the foot of Huddy.

UNCW pushed the lead to 2-0 in the 85th minute following its eighth corner kick of the match. The ball from the corner found Guillou at the top of the box, and the midfielder fired a shot that deflected off the hands of Kelly and fell to Lauren Nalevaiko directly in front of the box. Nalevaiko used her head to send the ball into the back of the net for her first goal of the season.

Kelly finished with three saves for a South Carolina team that finished the match with a 12-11 shot advantage. Each team recorded eight shots in the second half, while the Seahawks attempted eight corners compared to four for South Carolina.

Nov. 11, 2016, NCAA First Round vs. Alabama State Columbia, S.C., Attendance: 939

Paced by two goals from senior forward Sophie Groff and tallies from five other Gamecocks, No. 1 seed South Carolina claimed a dominant 7-0 victory over Alabama State (11-10-1) in the opening round of the 2016 NCAA Tournament Friday night at Stone Stadium. The victory marked the 200th win at Carolina for Shelley Smith.

Senior midfielder Chelsea Drennan and junior forward Savannah McCaskill both totaled three assists for the Gamecocks, who boasted a 29-1 shot advantage. The two also netted goals, as they joined Groff, seniors Daija Griffin and Claire Studebaker and freshman Elexa Bahr on the score sheet. Carolina attempted all 10 of the contest's corner kicks and held the Hornets to zero attempts on target.

McCaskill opened the scoring in the ninth minute following a pair of nice passes in the attacking third. Groff found Drennan near the box, and the midfielder sent in a low cross from the right side that led to a tap-in goal for McCaskill. McCaskill returned the favor four minutes later, slipping a great pass to Groff that set the senior up with a close-range goal from inside the box.

Carolina's advantage grew to three in the 17th minute after another great pass from McCaskill, this one Griffin. McCaskill made it three assists in the half, finding Drennan to make it 4-0. The Gamecocks tacked on two more goals towards the end of the first period, with Bahr and Studebaker both netting their first scores of the season. Groff's productive night was capped off with a goal in the 54th minute, marking her first multi-goal of the season.

Freshman Mikayla Krzeczkowski and redshirt freshman Hunter Peifer split time in net, with each keeper playing 45 minutes. Neither Gamecock needed to record a save, and Krzeczkowski moved to 16-1-1 on the year with the victory.

Nov. 17, 2016, NCAA Second Round
vs. Colorado
Columbia, S.C., Attendance: 1,384

Senior striker Sophie Groff converted a penalty kick in the 74th minute to lift No. 1 seed South Carolina women's soccer to a 1-0 win over 20th-ranked Colorado in the second round of the NCAA Tournament Thursday night at Stone Stadium. The victory gave the No. 3 ranked Gamecocks (20-1-1) their most wins in a season ever and advanced them to the NCAA Tournament third round for the third time in school history. Colorado ends its 2016 campaign at 15-6-1 following the loss.

Groff's game-winner came after she was taken down in the box trying to collect a cross from senior forward Daija Griffin from the right side. Colorado goalkeeper Jalen Tompkins charged into Groff and knocked her down to set up the ensuing attempt from 12 yards out. Groff, who opened the NCAA Tournament with a multi-goal match last Friday, saw Tompkins dive right and calmly slipped the ball into the left side of the net. The goal marked her second successful penalty kick of the season.

Carolina, which put six shots on frame Thursday, nearly opened the scoring on two separate occasions in the first half. In the 17th minute, senior midfielder Chelsea Drennan's corner kick located senior center back Paige Bendell deep inside the box. Bendell drilled a header towards net that deflected off Groff before being cleared off the line by a Colorado defender. The Gamecocks almost broke through in the 35th minute when Griffin rifled a shot from the left side of the box that was knocked away by Tompkins. The deflection created a dangerous loose ball, and Tompkins was able to punch it away again before a charging Groff could tap it in.

The Gamecocks' bid for a goal fell just short again in the 50th minute when junior forward Savannah McCaskill raced to the ball and sent a diving cross into the box. Her delivery found Drennan, who one-timed a shot that missed just left. Less than 10 minutes after Groff's goal, McCaskill nearly doubled the advantage after sending a header wide left following a Carolina corner kick.

Colorado's best chance of the night came in the 55th minute when Buffalo forward Emily Bruder evaded the defense and found herself one-on-one with Gamecock goalkeeper Mikayla Krzeczkowski. Krzeczkowski charged off her line and used her leg to turn the shot away before Carolina center back Kaleigh Kurtz cleared the danger.

The Gamecocks finished the match with a 15-9 shot advantage and attempted five corner kicks. Colorado put five attempts on target and totaled four corner kicks throughout the contest. Krzeczkowski tallied five saves to earn her 10th shutout of the year and improve to 17-1-1 in 2016.

Nov. 19, 2016, NCAA Round of 16
vs. BYU
Columbia, S.C., Attendance: 1,645

Senior midfielder Chelsea Drennan's penalty kick in the 69th minute propelled No. 1 seed South Carolina women's soccer to a 1-0 victory over fourth-seeded BYU in the third round of the NCAA Tournament Saturday night at Stone Stadium. With the win, the third-ranked Gamecocks (21-1-1) advanced to the Elite Eight for the second time in the last three years after notching their fifth victory over a ranked opponent this season. Fourth-ranked BYU ended its season at 18-3-1 following the loss.

Carolina was awarded a penalty kick after junior midfielder Savannah McCaskill found some space and charged into the left side of the box, where she was immediately taken down by a BYU defender. Drennan lined up for the spot kick, and fired a shot into the right side past BYU goalkeeper Hannah Clark to put the Gamecocks in control with just over 20 minutes to play.

The Gamecocks withstood BYU's bid for an equalizer down the stretch, starting in the 82nd minute when the Cougars were awarded a free kick near midfield. The ball in from the set piece floated dangerously into the box, but Carolina freshman goalkeeper Mikayla Krzeczkowski alertly came off her line to grab it before BYU's Nadia Gomes was able to attempt a header. In the final minute, Krzeczkowski again denied a scoring chance from Gomes, snatching the ball at the near post to prevent a shot from the Cougar forward.

Krzeczkowski finished the match with three saves for the Gamecocks, who put nine attempts on target. BYU outshot Carolina 14-13 for the match, and the Cougars totaled eight stops, including three team saves. Both teams accumulated double-digit fouls in Saturday's top-five battle, and BYU sported a 5-2 advantage in corner kicks.

After BYU maintained much of the possession early, Carolina began to see chances down the stretch of the first half and put three headers on frame that were cleared off the line. In the 24th minute, McCaskill's free kick from midfield found senior Paige Bendell, whose header was blocked at the goal line. Bendell came inches away from putting Carolina on the board four minutes later when her back-to-back headers called for teams saves following a Gamecock corner kick.

In the 38th minute, a defensive miscue left Carolina senior forward Claire Studebaker with an empty net opportunity. Her shot sailed towards net before a BYU defender again denied a goal to keep the match scoreless. The Gamecocks put seven shots on frame in the first half and limited the Cougars to one attempt on target in the opening 45 minutes.

Following Drennan's tally off the penalty kick, senior striker Sophie Groff nearly doubled the advantage when she saw Clark again come off her line. Her shot sent the ball dipping towards the top of the net, but Clark was able to recover to make a leaping save and knock the ball out of bounds.

Clark collected five saves in the match, while Krzeczkowski improved to 18-1-1 on the year and earned her 11th shutout of 2016. Saturday marked the first meeting between the Gamecocks and Cougars, and the result snapped BYU's seven-match winning streak.

Nov. 25, 2016, NCAA Quarterfinal
vs. North Carolina
Columbia, S.C., Attendance: 2,507

No. 1 seed South Carolina women's soccer saw its historic season end in the NCAA Elite Eight after falling to second-seed North Carolina 1-0 Friday night at Stone Stadium. With the loss, the third-ranked Gamecocks finished the year at 21-2-1.

After the Tar Heels opened the scoring in the 22nd minute, South Carolina had a tremendous chance at an equalizer in the early stages of the second half when it was awarded a penalty kick. Gamecock junior forward Savannah McCaskill set up the opportunity when she collected a long pass and raced into the right side of the box, where she was taken down. South Carolina senior striker Sophie Groff lined up for the kick and rifled a shot that was turned away by UNC goalkeeper Lindsey Harris near the left post.

North Carolina's first-half tally came on a give-and-go play by forward Madison Schultz and midfielder Annie Kingman. Schultz slipped it to Kingman, who passed it right back to set the striker up near the top left corner of the box. Schultz collected the pass and chipped an arching shot into the top right corner of the net past the outstretched arms of Gamecock freshman goalkeeper Mikayla Krzeczkowski.

The Gamecocks saw several scoring chances early in the match, starting in the ninth minute when a ball in from midfield found Chelsea Drennan. The senior flicked a header towards a streaking McCaskill near the top of the box, but a UNC defender was there to cut off the pass. In the 15th minute, South Carolina was inches away from breaking through following a corner kick from Drennan. Her service connected with McCaskill, who put a blistering header on target that was cleared off the line by a defender at the last second. Senior center back Kaleigh Kurtz alertly attempted to put home the rebound, but Harris was able to recover and make the save.

Kurtz again nearly put the Gamecocks on the board the 41st minute when she tried her luck from distance near the left side of the box. The Greer, S.C., native fired a dipping attempt that sailed by Harris before dinging off the crossbar. South Carolina boasted a 9-8 shot advantage in the opening 45 minutes.

The Gamecocks' final quality bid for an equalizer came in the 63rd minute after another corner from Drennan. Her ball in found senior defender Paige Bendell, whose header fell to McCaskill deep inside the box. McCaskill one-timed a header that missed just wide right, and the ball went out for a goal kick.

Krzeczkowski totaled six saves on the night, including a huge stop in the 76th minute to keep the Gamecocks within one. A deflection in the attacking third left Schultz with a breakaway opportunity, and Krzeczkowski alertly came off her line and threw her body in front of the shot to stifle the scoring chance.

South Carolina outshot the Tar Heels 16-14 for the match and put nine attempts on frame. The Tar Heels held a slight 6-5 advantage in corner kicks and put seven shots on target.

Nov. 10, 2017, NCAA First Round vs. Alabama State Columbia, S.C., Attendance: 1,555

Top-seeded South Carolina posted a dominant 3-0 victory over Alabama State in the opening round of the NCAA Tournament at Stone Stadium. The Gamecocks received goals from freshmen Ryan Gareis and Bianca Galassini and sophomore Elexa Bahr.

Carolina outshot the Lady Hornets 31-2 and attempted each of the game's 13 corner kicks after spending the majority of the match in their attacking third.

Gareis opened the scoring in the third minute after deflecting the ball into the net with her thigh following a shot from the top of the box by sophomore defender Grace Fisk to put the Gamecocks ahead 1-0 in the early going.

Carolina pushed its advantage to 2-0 in the 22nd minute when Galassini scored from close range following Bahr's cross from the right side.

The Gamecocks continued to press for more in the second half and registered a set piece goal from Bahr in the 50th minute off a corner kick from senior midfielder Lindsey Lane.

Sophomore Mikayla Krzeczkowski and freshman Lexi McMullen both saw time in net for the Gamecocks, who didn't allow a shot on goal in the match. Guyot registered nine saves and Alabama State finished the night with 11 fouls compared to just five for Carolina.

With the win, the Gamecocks improved to 2-0-0 all-time against the Lady Hornets. Carolina moved past Alabama State 7-0 in the first round of the 2016 NCAA Tournament at Stone Stadium.

Nov. 17, 2017, NCAA Second Round
vs. Wisconsin
Columbia, S.C., Attendance: 1,584

Freshman forward Luciana Zullo tallied a goal in the 39th minute to lift top-seeded South Carolina women's soccer to a 1-0 victory over Wisconsin in the second round of the NCAA Tournament Friday night at Stone Stadium. The Gamecocks punched the program's fourth ticket to the NCAA Sweet 16 and improved to 17-2-1 on the year with the win over the Badgers.

Friday's contest featured a defensive battle for much of the match, as the two teams combined for just 15 shots. The Gamecocks put four of their eight attempts on frame, while the Badgers finished with seven shots on the night.

Zullo, who attempted both of Carolina's two shots in the first half, notched the decisive goal after collecting a pass near the right side. The Flemington, N.J., native raced towards the center of the box and used her quickness to create some space before firing the ball inside the right post on a shot from 18 yards out. The goal marked the fifth tally of the season for the first-year attacker.

Carolina pressed for more in the second half and created several scoring chances midway through the period. A great through ball resulted in a chance for Gamecock senior striker Savannah McCaskill in the 61st minute. The Chapin, S.C., native gathered the pass and charged towards the heart of the box, where Wisconsin goalkeeper Caitlyn Clem rushed off her line to quickly block the attempt from McCaskill. Four minutes later, McCaskill saw another opportunity after a foul from Clem handed Carolina a free kick from 15 yards out. McCaskill took aim at net and ripped a shot that deflected out of bounds after hitting off a Badger defender.

The Gamecocks remained relentless, and freshman defender Sarah Eskew nearly made it 2-0 in the 66th minute when she one-timed a shot off a cross that sent the ball wide right. McCaskill attempted another short free kick four minutes later, rifling a shot that hit off the left post.

Carolina's defense stood tall Friday against a Wisconsin squad that spent considerable time in its attacking third. The Gamecock backline limited the Badgers to just two attempts on target, while sophomore goalkeeper Mikayla Krzeczkowski stifled several chances throughout the contest. The second-year keeper came off her line in the 10th minute to knock away a dangerous cross from the right side, and she broke up two scoring chances in the 59th minute after the Badgers were awarded a corner kick.

McCaskill and Zullo each totaled two attempts on frame in the win, while Wisconsin forward Dani Rhodes accounted for both of her team's shots on goal. Friday marked the first meeting between the two schools, who combined for nine corner kicks in the match.

Nov. 19, 2017, NCAA Round of 16
vs. Santa Clara
Columbia, S.C., Attendance: 1,267

Senior striker Savannah McCaskill scored on a header in the fourth minute to push South Carolina women's soccer past Santa Clara 1-0 in the third round of the NCAA Tournament Sunday afternoon at Stone Stadium. The Gamecocks (18-2-1) punched their ticket to the NCAA Quarterfinals for the second-straight year with the win over the Broncos.

Carolina, which has reached the quarterfinal round in three of the last four years, will now battle Florida this week for a spot in the 2017 Women's College Cup. The date and time of the All-SEC affair will be determined later.

The early tally from McCaskill was all the Gamecocks needed, as Carolina produced another clinical display on the defensive end. Santa Clara attempted three shots for the game and finished the afternoon with one attempt on frame. The Gamecocks withstood six corner kicks by the Broncos en route to their third-straight clean sheet in the NCAA Tournament.

McCaskill registered the decisive goal on a scoring play that began with a cross from the right side by sophomore defender Tatum Milazzo. Milazzo's pass located Meaghan Carrigan at the far post, and the senior forward headed a shot that hit off the crossbar. The ensuing deflection fell to McCaskill, who one-timed a shot into the back of the net with her head.

With the goal, McCaskill set a new program record with 17 career game-winning tallies. The score pulled her even with fellow striker Elexa Bahr for the most goals (8) among Gamecocks this season.

Carolina pushed for another score midway through the first half when Lauren Chang tried her luck from distance in the 32nd minute. The senior midfielder found a pocket of space and fired a shot from 22 yards out that required a diving save by Santa Clara goalkeeper Melissa Lowder at the right post. Bahr, who led the Gamecocks with three shots Sunday, saw a scoring opportunity in the 52nd minute when a loose ball fell to her near the right side of the box. The sophomore attacker alertly one-timed a shot that sent the ball wide right.

Krzeczkowski held firm command of her box despite having to make just one save on the afternoon. She came off her line to knock away the ball on multiple Santa Clara corner kick attempts, including back-to-back set pieces from the Broncos in the 28th minute. The Buford, Ga., native stifled another scoring chance with less than 10 minutes to play when she again left the net to come up and secure the ball in the box following a free kick by Santa Clara.

Sunday's contest featured a physical battle, as both teams combined for 26 fouls. The Broncos committed 12 of their 15 fouls in the second half and registered just two shots over the final 45 minutes of the match. This weekend marked the first meeting between Carolina and Santa Clara.

Nov. 24, 2017, NCAA Quarterfinal
vs. Florida
Columbia, S.C., Attendance: 2,652

Top-seeded South Carolina women's soccer punched its first ticket to the College Cup after topping Florida 2-0 in the NCAA Quarterfinals Friday night at Stone Stadium. Sophomore defender Grace Fisk and senior midfielder Lindsey Lane tallied goals to spark the Gamecocks in the All-SEC affair.

Friday's victory marked a breakthrough win for a Carolina team that made its third NCAA Elite Eight appearance in the last four years. The Gamecock defense stood tall and refused to concede a goal against the Gators, who boasted a 13-7 shot advantage in the match.

Carolina will now face No. 1 seeded Stanford in the NCAA Semifinals on Fri., Dec. 1, in Orlando, Fla. The Cardinal posted a 4-0 victory over second-seeded Penn State Friday.

Carolina opened the scoring early for the second-straight match, finding the back of the net in the 13th minute off a corner kick. Lane's service into the box found Fisk at the far post, and the center back used her head to drive the ball into the ground before it slipped inside the post. The tally marked the first shot attempt of the match for Carolina and gave the Bromley, London, native her second goal of the season.

Lane provided the insurance goal in the 77th minute on a brilliant strike from outside the box. Gamecock midfielder Breukelen Woodard set up the scoring play when she collected a pass from fellow freshman Luciana Zullo and slipped the ball to Lane. The senior captain took one dribble before rifling a shot into the heart of the net past the outstretched arms of Florida goalkeeper Kaylan Marckese.

The Gators pressed for an equalizer out of the break and controlled possession throughout the opening stages of the second half. Carolina's back line hung tough and blocked a pair of shots in the 48th minute before Gamecock sophomore goalkeeper Mikayla Krzeczkowski delivered a save moments later. Krzeczkowski and the Carolina defense remained busy in the second period against a Florida team that attempted seven corner kicks over the final 45 minutes of the game. The Gators saw their best chance of the night in the 73rd minute when midfielder Gabby Seiler found some space near the left side and ripped a well-hit shot on target. Krzeczkowski was in perfect position to make the save, and she knocked the shot away at the top left corner of the net to preserve Carolina's lead.

The Gamecocks generated two quality scoring chances in the second half, starting in 52nd minute when senior midfielder Dominique Babbitt found freshman attacker Ryan Gareis on the counterattack. Gareis collected the pass and raced into the box before firing a shot that missed wide left. Thirteen minutes later, Zullo intercepted a pass and alertly fed McCaskill at the top of the attacking third. The senior standout charged towards the goal and hit a shot that sent the ball over the crossbar.

Carolina needed just two shots on frame to produce their pair of tallies Friday, while the Gators put four of their 13 shots on target. Florida finished with a 9-6 advantage in corner kicks, and both teams committed five fouls on the night. Krzeczkowski totaled four saves en route to her 14th shutout of the season.

With the win over the 16th-ranked Gators, the Gamecocks notched their sixth victory against a top-25 opponent this season. Carolina improved to 5-2 in its last seven matches against Florida.

Dec. 1, 2017, Women's College Cup
vs. Stanford
Orlando, Fla., Attendance: 2,762

South Carolina saw its historic NCAA Tournament run end Friday when it fell to No. 1 ranked Stanford 2-0 in the Women's College Cup Semifinals at Orlando City Stadium. The Gamecocks ended their 2017 campaign with a mark of 19-3-1 following the loss.

The Cardinal tallied a pair of first-half goals and controlled a majority of the possession throughout Friday's contest. Stanford ended the match with a 17-5 shot advantage and put seven attempts on frame. Carolina totaled one shot on target to go with one corner kick.

Stanford struck first in the 10th minute when Jordan DiBiasi knocked home a goal far post with a diving header on the game's first corner kick. Sophomore goalkeeper Mikayla Krzeczkowski could do nothing on the perfectly placed ball.

The Cardinal struck pay dirt again in the 26th minute on another goal by DiBiasi. She one-touched a great pass from 12-yards out that deflected into the back net after hitting off senior Lindsey Lane. Stanford kept the Gamecock offensive attack in check for most of the first half, allowing just three shots and one shot on goal over the first 45 minutes.

The Gamecocks generated a high-quality chance in the eighth minute when freshman Ryan Gareis used her speed to break loose in transition down the sideline. She launched a gorgeous cross that located senior transfer Meaghan Carrigan. Carrigan struck a one-time attempt, but she was unable to get enough juice on it to get by Stanford keeper Alison Jahansouz.

Stanford played keep away from Carolina in the second half, controlling possession and limiting opportunities against a Gamecock squad that attempted just two shots in the in the final 45 minutes. Carolina's best chance came early out of halftime, when talented freshman Lauren Chang shook loose from the defense and unloaded a shot from 30 yards out that was blocked away by a Cardinal defender.

Friday marked Carolina's third meeting all-time with Stanford. All three matches have come in the NCAA Tournament, with the Cardinal winning each contest.

vs. UNCG

Columbia, S.C., Attendance: 642

No. 18 South Carolina women's soccer (14-5-1, 6-3-1 SEC) defeated UNC Greensboro (15-5-1, 7-2-0 SoCon) 3-1 in the opening round of the 2018 NCAA Tournament at Stone Stadium on Friday night.

Lauren Chang scored the gamewinner in the second half to help the Gamecocks advance to the NCAA round of 32 for the third-straight season. The gamewinner is the third of the season for Chang and her eighth overall.

Junior Elexa Bahr netted the opening goal for South Carolina, her third of the season, at 31:47. Streaking on the right side of the box, Bahr was able to beat her defender and send a shot off her left foot that eventually found the bottom left corner of the goal.

UNC Greensboro answered just a few minutes later at 39:39. Heida Vidarsdottir's goal is just the second the Gamecocks have given up in the first half all season.

In the second half, South Carolina came out on a mission to get the lead back. Freshman Jyllissa Harris sent a perfectly placed pass into the box where Chang found the ball with her head, sending it to the right side of the box.

South Carolina added an insurance goal at 60:59 when Harris found the back of the net for the fourth time this season after receiving a pass from senior Simone Wark that she headed into the back of the net. Harris' three points makes her one of just 11 in South Carolina women's soccer history to score and assist on a goal in the same match in the NCAA Tournament.

Penn State will be South Carolina's next opponent after the Nittany Lions defeated Bowling Green in the opening round of the NCAA Tournament. The match will be played on Fri., Nov. 16, with the time and location to be determined.

vs. Penn State
Morgantown, W.Va., Attendance: 100

No. 18 South Carolina women's soccer (14-6-1, 6-3-1 SEC) was defeated by Penn State (17-5-1, 9-2-0 Big Ten) 1-0 in the round of 32 of the 2018 NCAA Tournament.

Penn State's goal came at 30:40 and held through the final 60 minutes to send the Nittany Lions to the NCAA third round match against either West Virginia or Wake Forest.

South Carolina goalkeeper Mikayla Krzeczkowski made a career-high 10 saves in the loss. She faced a total of 24 shots, with 11 on goal.

The Gamecocks were able to register the first two shots on goal within the first 15 minutes of the match, both coming from Luciana Zullo. The sophomore finished with a team high three shots.

As a team, South Carolina registered five shots, with Selma Sol Magnusdottir and Grace Fisk registering one shot each.

South Carolina's 14 wins in 2018 marks the third-straight season with at least that many victories. The Gamecocks round of 32 appearance is also their third-straight.

The Gamecocks will graduate just one senior, Simone Wark. Wark played in a total of 60 matches for South Carolina, scoring six goals and adding six assists, including four during the 2018 campaign.

Nov. 16, 2019, NCAA First Round vs. Samford Columbia, S.C., Attendance: 648

No. 5 South Carolina (17-1-3, 7-0-3 SEC) defeated Samford (10-4-5, 7-1-1 SoCon) 3-0 in the opening round of the NCAA Tournament on Saturday night. Samantha Chang, Luciana Zullo and Riley Tanner all contributed goals helping Carolina advance to the second round for the fourth straight year.

Samantha Chang's goal is the first gamewinner of her career and her second this season. The SEC All-Freshman performer was assisted by Tanner in the 40th minute. The goal was setup by Tanner who used nifty footwork before slotting a pass to Samantha Chang who finished it with a blast from point blank range.

With the halftime lead the Gamecocks looked to add insurance in the second half and it came just nine minutes into the second half in the 54th. Zullo squared herself up and blasted home her team-leading sixth goal of the season to put Carolina on top 2-0.

With the win in sight, the Gamecocks left no doubt with Tanner's goal in the 81st. Tanner hammered the goal from right in front of the net after a spectacular setup from Lauren Chang. The multi-point match for Tanner is the first of her career.

The defense was once again the strength of the Gamecocks all night. Allowing just three shots the entire 90 minutes, Mikayla Krzeczkowski earned her 48th career shutout to move into a tie for the third-most shutouts in NCAA women's soccer history.

Nov. 22, 2019, NCAA Second Round
vs. Notre Dame
Columbia, S.C., Attendance: 1,301

No. 5 South Carolina advanced to the third round of the NCAA Tournament for the fifth time in school history with a 1-0 win over Notre Dame on Friday night. Sophomore Riley Tanner's goal was the difference in the win for the Gamecocks, who beat Notre Dame for the second time this season.

Tanner's goal came on a great give-and-go sequence with senior Elexa Bahr. Tanner was patient with her touch and slotted her left-footed shot on the nearside post.

The goal for Tanner is the second of her 2019 NCAA Tournament and puts her at a team-leading five points in Carolina's two tournament matches. The five points has already jumped her into a tie for the fifth-most points by a Gamecock in the NCAA Tournament.

In front of another ruckus crowd of 1,308, the Gamecocks defense lived up to the billing. Allowing just five shots and only two on target for senior goalkeeper Mikayla Krzeczkowski to keep out of the net. The senior goalkeeper came up big in the 81st minute with a save off a Notre Dame corner kick that was headed toward goal. Krzeczkowski kept her composure and came up with the ball, keeping the Irish off the board.

The 15th clean sheet for Krzeczkowski ties her with Carolina legend Mollie Patton for the most in a single season. The shutout is also the 49th of her illustrious career in Columbia, putting her all alone with the third most in NCAA women's soccer history.

With the win Carolina moves to 16-11-3 all-time in the NCAA Tournament and is the lone SEC squad remaining in the 2019 NCAA Tournament.

Nov. 24, 2019, NCAA Third Round
vs. Kansas
Columbia, S.C., Attendance: 1,023

For the third time in four seasons No. 5 South Carolina is headed to the NCAA quarterfinals with its 2-0 win over Kansas on Sunday afternoon.

Propelled by goals from Grace Fisk and Riley Tanner, the Gamecocks will host the winner of West Virginia and Washington State in the NCAA quarterfinals. A date and time have not been officially announced.

Fisk's goal came in the 62nd minute after Luciana Zullo drew a Kansas foul outside the box. Junior Lauren Chang sent a looping ball into the box that found a streaking Fisk who sent the ball from the far post to the right side of the goal and off that post and in. The goal for Fisk is the first for her this season and the sixth of her career.

Just 13 minutes later it was Tanner again who went to work for the Gamecocks. She shed two Jayhawk defenders before barreling into the box and slotting the ball down the line and off the right post. The goal was her third in as many matches, making her just the second Gamecock since 2013 (Savannah McCaskill) to accomplish that.

On the defensive end the Gamecocks extended their shutout streak to 652 minutes, a streak that has included seven consecutive clean sheets. The streak is the longest by the Gamecocks since 2009 when the team had a streak span 715 minutes. The shutout also marks 50 for Mikayla Krzeczkowski in her career, an achievement that her and only two other players in NCAA women's soccer history have done.

The win keeps the Gamecocks' 2019 record at Stone Stadium unblemished with a 9-0-2 record and gives Carolina its 13th win over a ranked opponent at home in the past four seasons and moves the Gamecocks to 23-19-6 all-time against ranked opponents at Stone Stadium.

No. 5 South Carolina women's soccer (19-2-3, 7-0-3 SEC) dropped its NCAA quarterfinal match in 1-0 overtime match against Washington State (16-6-1, 5-5-1 Pac 12) at home on Friday night.

It's the third time in four seasons the Gamecocks have finished in at least the NCAA quarterfinals. South Carolina will graduate five seniors in Grace Fisk, Mikayla Krzeczkowski, Elexa Bahr, Tatumn Milazzo and Rebecca Koch.

Washington State netted the gamewinner in the 96th minute, giving the Pac 12 its third team in the 2019 College Cup. Mykiaa Minniss scored the goal, her first of the season, on a corner kick taken by Hanna Goff. The Cougars trip to the College Cup is their first in program history.

The loss for South Carolina wasn't for a lack of opportunities. The Gamecocks finished equal with the Cougars in shots with 15 but just two of South Carolina's were on frame.

The Gamecocks finish with just eight goals against, the 0.33 goals against average on the season is the best in program history and the 19 wins is the third time in four years that they've reached that impressive total.

April 28, 2021, NCAA First Round vs. Montana Wilson, N.C., Attendance: 176

No. 18 South Carolina (11-4-0, 6-2-0 SEC) defeated Montana (9-2-0, 7-1-0 Big Sky) 1-0 in the opening round of the NCAA Tournament on Wednesday night. Freshman forward Corinna Zullo scored the gamewinner while fellow freshman Taylor Fox earned the shutout to help Carolina advance to the second round for the fifth-straight year.

Zullo's goal is her fifth of the season and her third game-winning goal of her rookie campaign. The Flemington, N.J. native, was assisted by senior Ryan Gareis in the 56th minute. The goal was setup by Gareis flanking down the left side of the field before sending the ball into the box where Zullo headed it home.

It was a scoreless halftime score after 45 minutes of action with Carolina controlling much of the action with a shot advantage of 10-1. The quality of the shots only continued to get better as the match went on, with the Gamecocks finishing with 16 shots and 10 of them on target.

With the help of her strong defense in front of her, Fox was forced to make just two saves during the match while facing a total of four shots. The shutout for the Gamecocks is the sixth of the season and the second for Fox this season.

No. 18 South Carolina women's soccer (11-5-0, 6-2-0 SEC) dropped its NCAA Second Round match 1-0 against Georgetown (12-0-1, 7-0-1 Big East) in Wilson, N.C., on Saturday night.

The Hoyas struck in the final minute of regulation, slotting a ball in transition past freshman goalkeeper Taylor Fox. Jenna Menta was credited with the goal for Georgetown and it keeps the Big East squad undefeated and into the NCAA Tournament Third Round to take on No. 4 seed TCU.

Despite only three total shots credited to the Gamecocks' on Saturday night, the team did have the same amount of shots on goal (2) as the Hoyas. Georgetown out shot Carolina 8-3, but the deciding factor was the Gamecocks missed penalty kick opportunity in the second half that was saved by Georgetown's Lauren Gallagher. The loss moves Carolina to 4-5-1 all time in the second round of the NCAA Tournament.

at North Carolina

Chapel Hill, N.C., Attendance: 2,390

Luciana Zullo's goal in the 81st minute gave the South Carolina women's soccer team a 1-0 victory over second-seeded North Carolina in the first round of the NCAA Tournament Saturday afternoon (Nov. 13). The Gamecocks are now 12-6-1 on the season and advance to the NCAA second round for the sixth consecutive season.

It was a quiet first half as both sides settled in defensively early. Each side accounted for four total shots with UNC holding a 2-1 shot on goal advantage. The Gamecock's best opportunity came in the 16th minute when Catherine Barry put one off her left foot from inside the 6-yard box that was saved by the UNC goalkeeper. Gamecock goalie Heather Hinz accounted for two of her three saves in the first half as she earned her fifth shutout of the season.

After a scoreless first half, the two sides began the second half with more defensive pressure. The Gamecocks were able to earn an early opportunity when Remi Swartz put a shot on target in the 52nd minute.

South Carolina's defense came up big on multiple occasion, one of the biggest coming in the 69th minute when Swartz and Claire Griffiths blocked two UNC shots from inside the 6-yard box.

The Gamecocks broke through the Tar Heel defense in the 81st minute. Ryan Gareis came up the left sideline on a give-and-go with Lauren Chang. After Chang received the ball back, she quickly found Zullo unmarked at the top of the 18-yard box. Zullo settled the ball and with a quick left-footed strike, found the wide-open right side of the net. The goal was Zullo's second of the season and her ninth career game-winning goal. The assist was Chang's ninth of the season.

UNC had a pair of shots in the final minute, but neither was on goal as the Gamecocks won in Chapel Hill for the third straight time. It's the first time UNC has been eliminated in the opening round of the NCAA Tournament in its 40-year history.

For the game, UNC held an 11-9 shot advantage, while each side finished with three shots on goal.

Nov. 19, 2021, NCAA Second Round
vs. Hofstra
Los Angeles, Calif., Attendance: 273

The South Carolina women's soccer team advanced to the NCAA Tournament Sweet Sixteen, as the Gamecocks defeated Hofstra 3-0 Friday afternoon (Nov. 19). The win improves Carolina to 13-6-1 on the season. The Gamecocks now face Penn State Sunday, November 21 at noon PT/ 3 p.m. ET.

Samantha Chang had a career day, as she contributed to two of the three goals, being credited with a goal and an assist.

The Gamecock defense held the Hofstra offense scoreless, after they entered the match the 21st ranked offense in the country. The South Carolina offense was also rolling as the three goals were the most allowed by the Hofstra defense, which came into the contest second in the nation in shutouts and third in goals against average.

After an early shot on goal in the second minute by Hofstra, the Gamecock defense was able to hold the Pride without a shot on goal through the rest of the first half.

South Carolina put home the only goal it would need in the 22nd minute. A free kick by Lauren Chang found its way into the box. Catherine Barry put her head on it and Samantha Chang finished it off from close range. It was Sam Chang's second goal of the season, Lauren Chang's 10th assist, and Barry's third.

Holding the lead at halftime, Hofstra came out attacking as they attempted nine shots in the first 20 minutes of the second half. The Gamecock defense held strong as goalkeeper Heather Hinz recorded three saves during that stretch.

In the 77th minute, Barry looked to score on a breakaway, but Hofstra's Krista Gostinello grabbed her jersey and pulled her down, receiving a yellow card in the process. The foul fueled Barry as she promptly scored her eighth goal of the season, crossing up her defender inside the box off a pass from Sam Chang.

The Gamecocks cemented the victory in the 87th minute. Jyllissa Harris played a long ball down the middle of the field and found Ryan Gareis on a breakaway. Gareis out-ran her defender to the ball and beat the Hofstra keeper with a shot just under the crossbar. The goal was Gareis' fourth of the season.

Hinz earned her sixth shutout of the season as she finished with a career-high six saves.

Los Angeles, Calif., Attendance: 219

On to the Elite Eight! The South Carolina women's soccer team took down Penn State 2-0 Sunday afternoon (Nov. 21), as the Gamecocks advance to the NCAA Quarterfinals for the fifth time in program history. They will travel to BYU for a match on either November 26 or 27 at a time to be determined.

Penn State pushed the attack early, putting a shot on goal in the second minute that goalkeeper Heather Hinz was able to make a leaping save on. From there, the Gamecock defense held the Nittany Lions to just one shot on goal the rest of the first half. South Carolina's lone shot on goal in the first half came in the 36th minute off the foot of Ranya Senhaji.

The Gamecocks wasted no time starting the second half. Off a corner kick in the 49th minute, Lauren Chang slipped as she put the ball in play, but was able to find Jyllissa Harris in the box. Harris' header hit the crossbar and then the chest of Samantha Chang who flicked the ball home past the Penn State keeper. The goal was Chang's third of the season and second in as many games.

Less than seven minutes later, Zullo cemented the victory as she scored on a goal reminiscent of her game-winner against North Carolina in the first round. Ryan Gareis went wide left and found Zullo open at the top of the 18-yard box. Zullo took a touch and slotted the ball just inside the right post for her third goal of the season.

The Gamecock defense held strong for the final 35 minutes, coming up with key defensive stops, including a spectacular leaping save by Hinz in the 74th minute.

For the match, Penn State out-shot the Gamecocks 14-11, but both teams tallied five shots on goal.

Nov. 27, 2021, NCAA Quarterfinal at BYU Provo, Utah, Attendance: 4,131

South Carolina women's soccer's postseason run came to an end in the Elite Eight Saturday night (Nov. 27), as the Gamecocks fell to 13th ranked BYU 4-1. The squad ends their season 14-7-1 after advancing to the Elite Eight for the fifth time in the last eight seasons.

The Gamecocks had won three matches on the road in the NCAA Tournament, all of which came over teams receiving votes in the United Soccer Coaches Poll, including second-seeded North Carolina. They were the only team in either the Elite Eight to win three games on the road or at neutral sites.

The Gamecock offense went on the attack quickly, opening the match with a pair of shots and three corner kicks less than two minutes in. The Cougars responded by scoring on their first offensive possession of the match, netting a goal off a breakaway in the 3rd minute. BYU added a second goal in the 15th minute on a cross into the box.

Just before halftime, the Gamecocks got on the scoreboard when Corinna Zullo scored her fifth goal of the season. Camryn Dixson played a short pass to Claire Griffiths on the far-right side. Griffiths played the ball into the back post where it found Zullo for a wide-open shot at the goal. It was the third assist of the season for both Griffiths and Dixon.

The Gamecocks looked to have the momentum on their side going into the second half, but BYU was able to score 1:06 into the new half. The South Carolina offense was unable to keep its momentum in the second half, as they were out-shot 15-1. The Cougars added to their lead in the 61st minute to make the final score.

Heather Hinz finished with a career-high 11 saves on the night, the most since Mikayla Krzeczkowski had 10 against Penn State on Nov. 16, 2018. BYU held a 26-5 shot advantage on the night.

It marked the final game for a Gamecock senior class that has made the Elite Eight in three of their five seasons, including the program's first College Cup appearance in 2017.

Those seniors include fifth-year players Lauren Chang, Sarah Eskew, Ryan Gareis, Remi Swartz, and Luciana Zullo, and seniors Claire Griffiths and Sutton Jones.

This season marked the ninth consecutive 12-win season for the Gamecocks and the ninth straight NCAA Tournament appearance. It was the 17th winning campaign in 21 years under Shelley Smith.

vs Wake Forest

Columbia, S.C., Attendance: 1,670

The three-seeded South Carolina women's soccer team (14-3-5) emerged victorious in a rainy battle against the Wake Forest Demon Deacons (9-6-4) on Saturday, punching their ticket to round two of the NCAA Women's Soccer tournament with a 2-0 win.

Fans that braved the rain saw no shots from either side until the first came from Wake Forest's Hannah Johnson in the 11th minute, coming off wide. The Deacons' Emily Morris followed suit three minutes later but couldn't connect.

The Gamecocks then took over, with a shot coming from Corinna Zullo in the 15th minute. South Carolina then set up for a corner kick in the 18th minute, where Jyllissa Harris made the serve arching the ball perfectly into the top left corner of the net to put the Gamecocks up 1-0 early on. The goal was her second of the season and 16th of her career as a defender.

Three more attempts would be made before the half, but the Gamecocks held on to their one goal advantage as the first 45 expired.

The Deacons were the first to give themselves a chance in the second half, with Alex Wood making the shot but coming up empty handed. The Gamecocks rallied together to give South Carolina even more opportunities, until a shot off the crossbar from Abby Hugo allowed Cat Barry to capitalize on her position in the box and send it in past Wake Forest keeper Kaitlyn Parks and put her team up 2-0. The goal was Barry's eighth of the season, and 22nd of her career.

Wake Forest attempted four more shots throughout the remainder of the game, but could not find a way back. South Carolina ended the night with a 10-9 shot advantage (four on goal), and took two corners. Senior keeper Heather Hinz tallied one save.

Nov. 18, 2022, NCAA Second Round
vs. Harvard
Durham, N.C., Attendance: 273

The No. 13 and third-seeded South Carolina women's soccer team (15-3-5) defeated the sixth-seeded Harvard Crimson (12-2-3) 3-2 on Friday night to advance to the Sweet Sixteen of the NCAA Tournament.

The Gamecocks got on the board in swift fashion, with Harvard tallying an own goal in just the second minute of play as the ball rolled in past the Crimson keeper Anna Karpenko.

Harvard put up the first actual shot of the game a long 10 minutes later and was a heart-stopper for Gamecock fans but it bounced off the top woodwork where South Carolina recovered it.

Harvard would go on to make two more attempts, until redshirt-senior Samantha Chang intercepted the ball and sprinted up the middle, passing it up to junior Catherine Barry where she was able to capitalize in the box and send it to the back of the net to put South Carolina up 2-0 in the 22nd minute. The goal was Barry's ninth of the season, and her 23rd overall, moving her to tie the No. 6 spot overall in the USC record books for career goals.

Barry put up two more shots over the next 20 minutes, and in the 41st, the Gamecocks set up for the first corner kick of the game. 5th year senior Jyllissa Harris sent it in from the far-right corner, and Barry headed the ball in past a Harvard defender to give South Carolina its 3-0 lead heading into the half. Barry's second goal of the game marked the 10th of the season and her 24th overall, once again moving her up in the record books to the No. 5 spot.

Harvard's offense went to work in the second half, putting up seven shots to their four in the first, and took a total of five corners. In the 81st minute, Harvard made an effort towards the goal, but a Carolina defender wasn't able to get out of the way fast enough, resulting in an own goal – the second of the game.

Seven minutes later, the Crimson took a corner and Jordan Di Verniero was able to get it past a line of Gamecocks to put themselves within one, 3-2. South Carolina was able to hold on throughout the remaining two minutes of play, advancing themselves to the third round.

South Carolina finished the game with eight shots and three corners, and senior keeper Heather Hinz recorded two saves.

Nov. 20, 2022, NCAA Round of 16
at Duke
Durham, N.C., Attendance: 756

South Carolina women's soccer (15-4-5) ended its NCAA Tournament run Sunday night, falling to second-seeded Duke (15-4-3) 2-1.

The Blue Devils gave themselves the first opportunity in the game, putting up a shot in the second minute of play but senior keeper Heather Hinz nabbed an incredible save to keep Duke at bay.

A little under 10 minutes later, Duke was able to capitalize on a scramble in front of the net, and Michelle Cooper knocked it in the far-right side with assists from Kat Rader and Delaney Graham.

The Gamecocks set themselves up for a corner kick in the 16th minute, and junior Catherine Barry attempted a shot from inside the box but was met by a block from the Blue Devils. Duke put up 10 shots in the first half, with South Carolina tallying one.

Both teams put up the effort in the last 45, and redshirt senior Samantha Chang gave the Gamecocks two chances but couldn't connect. In the 88th minute, sophomore Payton Patrick denied Duke their clean sheet, putting in a goal with an assist from Riane Coman to bring things within one.

The Gamecocks would get close to tying things in the last minute, but remained at a 2-1 disadvantage to end the game. Hinz recorded an impressive eight saves on the night, tying her season high.

The Gamecocks had an incredible year, tallying their 18th winning season under head coach Shelley Smith, with the year being the 10th consecutive with 12+ wins. South Carolina's appearance in the NCAA Tournament was its 10th straight, and the seventh season having advanced to the Sweet 16.

On Nov. 6, the Gamecocks captured their third SEC Tournament Title with a 1-0 win over Alabama, also capturing the SEC East championship. The team tallied 14 shutouts on the year, and outscored its opponents 38-14.

Junior Catherine Barry moved to the No. 5 spot in the USC record books for career goals at 24. Barry additionally ended the regular season at the No. 1 spot for total shots in the SEC (74).

5th year senior Jyllissa Harris cemented her name in the NCAA Women's Soccer books, creating the new No. 1 all-time career minutes record at 9,395 minutes. Harris also moved to No. 1 in the Gamecocks' records for career starts and games played at 105 and 107, respectively.

vs James Madison

COLUMBIA, S.C. – Two goals from junior midfielder Lily Render helped boost the No. 16 South Carolina women's soccer team (12-2-6) to a 2-0 victory over James Madison (9-5-8) in the first round of the NCAA tournament Friday, Nov. 10 at Stone Stadium.

Offense came early and often for Carolina as the Gamecocks generated six shots in the first 22 minutes of action. In the 24th minute, senior forward Corinna Zullo served a ball into the box to Render who found the back of the net putting Carolina up 1-0. The duo wasted little time as six minutes later in the 30th, Zullo served another ball into the box and Render scored her second goal of the night making it 2-0. Carolina outshot the Dukes 8-1 in the first half, and 4-0 in shots-on-goal.

The Gamecocks generated 11 more shots in the second half, seven of them being on target. The back line remained locked in for the final 45 blocking several shots in the JMU attacking zone. Graduate midfielder Hollyn Torres contributed key minutes winning multiple possession battles in both halves along the midfield line.

Fifth-year keeper Heather Hinz had an outstanding game making a pair of saves on the night including a one-on-one matchup against JMU forward London Lewis. The Carolina back line along with Hinz secured the team's 13th shutout of the season.

STANFORD, CA – The South Carolina women's soccer team finished out its 2023 campaign in Stanford Friday night, falling to the No. 3 Cardinal 3-0 in the second round of the NCAA tournament. The Gamecocks finished the year 12-3-6.

Stanford got on the board 17 minutes into the first half, with Andrea Kitahata finding an inch worth of space in a scuffle in front of the net. Fifth-year keeper Heather Hinz was quick to respond to another offensive attack from the Cardinal just a few minutes later, making an epic one-handed leaping save to get the ball over the crossbar. Hinz would make two more saves in the first half, bringing her total to four within the first 45 minutes of play.

The Gamecocks started out the second half with more chances, but South Carolina was unable to connect, and Stanford put up two more goals in the 62nd and 66th minute to stretch their lead to three.

South Carolina finished with three shots on the night, and Hinz tied her season-high of nine saves.

Located in the heart of the South Carolina campus is the home field of the Gamecocks, Eugene E. Stone III Stadium, also known as "The Graveyard". South Carolina owns a 89-12-10 record at home since 2013.

The stadium, which debuted in 1996, was made possible by the $1 million gift given by the late Eugene E. Stone III. Stone, who passed away in 1997, was a Carolina graduate and Chairman of Stone Manufacturing Co. Inc., the parent company of UMBRO International.

Stone Stadium's west side houses permanent stands that hold 4,000 fans. Total capacity reaches 5,700 with east side seating. It is equipped with a 70' by 8' press box with a camera deck on top. A state-of-the-art scoreboard was added to the facility before the start of the 2008 season, providing video capabilities in addition to fan-friendly features. A state-of-the-art drainage system was added in 2009.

The facility includes two team rooms, an officials' dressing room, a concession stand for the fans, restrooms for both men and women on each side of the stadium and a brand new indoor soccer complex. Also nicknamed "The Graveyard" because of its close proximity to the House of Peace cemetery, the area has proven to be a "graveyard" for opponents over the years. The Gamecocks have posted an 196-61-20 overall record in their 27 seasons at Stone Stadium. South Carolina led Division I in regular-season home attendance during its 2016 campaign.
