"بَشِّرْتُهُمْ بِأَنَّهُمْ مُّكَفَّرُونَ - وَمَا هُمْ بِكُفَّارٍ"

“The first time I saw him, he was wearing a tattered jacket and a torn shirt. He had a look of exhaustion and despair on his face. I asked him if he wanted to come to my house for a meal. He said yes, so I invited him in. He stayed for a few hours, eating and talking. We exchanged stories about our lives. He told me about his past experiences of abuse and how it had affected him. I listened attentively, offering words of comfort and support. After we finished eating, I offered him a place to stay for the night. He accepted my offer, and we spent the night together. The next day, I took him to a local shelter and helped him find a permanent home. Since then, I have continued to support him, providing him with food, clothing, and shelter whenever he needs it. He has become a dear friend to me, and I am grateful for the opportunity to help him in any way I can.”
