Recruitment of National/International Consultant for Capacity Building of Curriculum Developers at National Institute of Education (NIE) and Consultation for Maldives National Curriculum Revision for Foundation and Key Stage1.

Invitation to submit Proposals - Announcement

The National Institute of Education (NIE) under the Ministry of Education, Maldives is the designated authority of the Government of the Republic of Maldives to design and revise the National Curriculum.

NIE has started rolling a new curriculum in 2015, however, recent findings from a series of consultations on the implementation of the new national curriculum shows gaps between the intended curriculum and what was practiced in schools. NIE, therefore, in light of these consultations wishes to review the curriculum in phases and the current consultancy is for phase 1 which focuses on Foundation and Key Stage 1 of the National Curriculum.

This consultancy will have two components:

Component 1: Capacity development of NIE

The objective of this component is to build the institutional capacity of NIE in:-

1. Curriculum design, development and monitoring of the curriculum.
2. Development of Instructional materials for the Maldives national curriculum
3. Embedding key competencies in teaching learning materials
4. Creating awareness in developing content and integrating 21st century skills into teaching and learning materials.
5. Assessment of acquisition of competencies and knowledge
6. Knowledge and skills on imparting the pedagogical shift envisaged in the curriculum to teachers.

Capacity built through this will contribute to effective implementation of the National Curriculum in Foundation and Key Stage 1.

Component 2: Review of Foundation and Key stage 1 of the National Curriculum

Objective of component 2

- To review the syllabuses, instructional materials for teachers (Teacher guides) and text books for Foundation stage and Key stage 1 to address the gaps and issues highlighted above, affecting the implementation of these key stages.

Key tasks to be undertaken in the review.

1. In collaboration with the National Institute of Education, School of Curriculum, review the syllabi and teaching and learning materials within and across the Key Learning Areas (Foundation stage and Key stage 1) to identify strengths and weakness in terms of
 - Balance of content, knowledge and skills
 - Consistency in inclusion of content (Topics, Big ideas or concepts)
 - Content coverage
 - Depth and breadth of content
 - Opportunities for deep learning and integration
 - Opportunities for adaptation/differentiation
 - Embedding of key competencies and 21st century skills
 - Adequate inclusion of literacy and numeracy skills
 - Language consistency
2. Produce a detailed report on the findings of the review, including a set of clear recommendations, and a detailed plan on how to bring the required revision.
 - a. Present the preliminary findings, recommendations and the plan to the senior management of the NIE for Validation.
 - b. Finalize the report with input from the NIE.

Present the final report to the NIE with all the presentations
