Production Management Capability

Queenly Packaging developed a set of mature production information management systems (MES), including manufacturing data management, planning and scheduling management, production scheduling management, inventory management, quality management, human resources management, work center/equipment management, tooling management, procurement management, cost management, project management, production process control, data analysis, etc. These modules are designed to create a solid, reliable, comprehensive, and feasible manufacturing collaborative management platform for our company.

Product Traceability

Relying on the MES system and Barcode scanning inventory system, every piece of material throughout the manufacturing process can be tracked from end to end. Once abnormalities are found in the inspection process, they can be isolated in time to prevent wrong products from flowing into the end market.
