NATURAL MINERAL WATER
WITH NATURAL CARBON DIOXIDE CONTENT
Minerality 63 mg/l Natural CO<sub>2</sub> 1190 mg/l

In the heart of Central Europe, in the granite massif of the High Tatras, the water of life springs up - CHAMOIS / TATRANSKÁ MINERÁLKA. Nature in every drop.

CHAMOIS

natural mineral water continues to promote traditional glassmaking techniques for a sophisticated, modern and delicate glass product design focused on absolute water quality. Crafted glassware, mouth-blown and hand-painted glasses for a discerning clientele. The CHAMOIS series is built on customer feedback and focused on the basic need for quality water in today's gastronomy. The result is a balance between quality, taste and esthetics.

CHAMOIS

mineral water is a natural spring that rises high in the heart of the central massif of the High Tatras and passes through a long underground path through the granite bedrock, which naturally filters and enriches it with important minerals. Its delicate effervescence and delicious taste are due to the natural carbon dioxide that pushes it to the surface. The location of the spring lies in an pristine and pure environment of a national park.

CHAMOIS encompasses the precious values of the mountains - energy, purity, exclusive taste and subtle charm. It has a pleasant and delicate taste, is low in minerals, and is virtually salt-free. It is one of the purest, clearest and tastiest natural waters in the world. In 2023 it was awarded the GRAND GOLD QUALITY AWARD by Monde Selection.

CHAMOIS respects the most diverse tastes. For more than 330 years, it has thus accompanied all foods and drinks with its unique lightness and freshness and is particularly appreciated for its unmistakable taste and fine carbonation/bubbles.
