The source of good sauces

Since 1949, Tai Hua Food Industries Pte Ltd has grown from a small cottage industry player to become one of the most sought-after soy sauce producers in Singapore and in over 30 countries.

Tai Hua also produces and packs a diverse range of braising sauces and ready-to-cook sauces targeted at creating convenience for cooks

Business with a mission

As one of the leading brands of soy sauce, Tai Hua's dream and mission is a big one: to produce the finest sauce products that will find its way to every market with a Chinese or Asian community. To achieve this, Tai Hua brew its soy sauce from premium natural ingredients using improved facilities and technologically advanced methodology with proper monitoring and controls.

Bringing out the best in food

Top-quality soy sauce can be immediately distinguished by how well it complements the dishes and enhances their natural flavours. You can recognize Tai Hua's quality products in most Singapore homes, food companies and catered operations because of its purity, superiority and flavor. The sauces are also specially manufactured for private labels.

Bringing passion to the plate

Through its stringent quality control and passion for excellence, Tai Hua has created the best taste using tradition fermentation and the latest technology. As one of Asia's Top 500 brands, it has not only been awarded "Healthier Choice" status in some of their products, it has also won accolades for brand building and packaging, like Asian Star Packaging Awards, Singapore Promising Brand Award and Heritage brand Awards.

Commitment to the quality and standards

Tai Hua prides itself in its long and rich heritage as a four-generation-old family business, faithfully serving consistent quality products to its customers. Committed to meet stringent quality and hygiene requirements, it has attained HACCP, ISO9001, ISO22000 and FSSC22000 certificates.
