

About Us

We are dedicated to the processing and export of Andean grains, legumes, Chia seeds and nuts to cover the international market demands. Focused on national and international standards by making innocuous, safe and legal products. Committed on taking care of environment and social communities with a process of continuous improvement.

Our Mission

To Satisfy the demanding international market with high quality and nutritional values agro-industrial products and create strategic alliances with the communities, to improve their living standard, generating employment.

Our Values

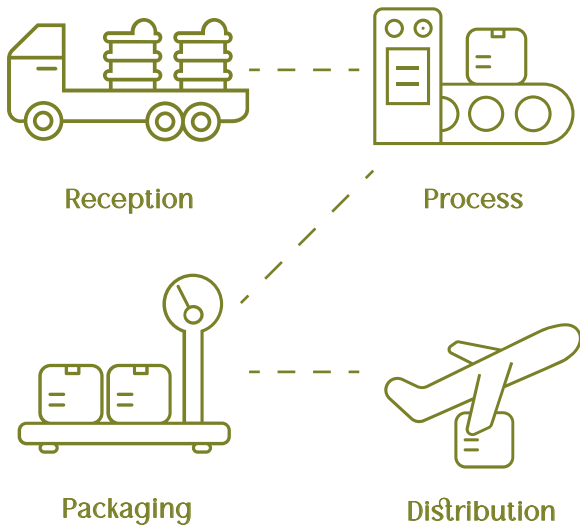

Commitment - Innovation - Transparency
Customer Orientation - Responsibility

Our Process

We rigorously monitor all processes within the chain, from the acquisition of raw materials and the process in our fully certified plant, to the final destination.

A close-up photograph of a person's hands holding a dark, textured bowl filled with small, light-colored grains, likely quinoa. The person is wearing a blue shirt. The background is a blurred green field. The text is overlaid in the center of the bowl.

Our priority is to provide our customers with a wide variety of products with controlled schemes and quality.
