About Ramax

Ramax is a multinational company, based in Brazil, China, Lebanon, and the United States. The company was born from a partnership between experienced professionals with the objective of providing all the necessary solutions to connect smaller packers from Brazil to the world. We specialize in the animal protein segment; selling beef, poultry, pork and lamb.

We are present in Europe, United States, Middle East, Hong Kong, China, and Africa.

Expertise

We know the Brazilian and South America Market really well, and we partner with packers accredited to export to different countries around the World. In addition, Ramax has its own Feedlot raising cattle, so Ramax can be part of the supply chain from the farm to the importer.

Financial Strength

Ramax uses its financial strength to trade finance selected suppliers and customers. In addition, Ramax has attractive lines of credit, allowing the company to have a competitive advantage over the competition.

Our values

Ramax works with solutions that value professional ethics, transparency, mutual trust, planned operations, responsible and efficient logistics, clear communication and availability of service. Our company has knowledgeable professionals with extensive experience in the market, always keeping up to date with the latest world technologies and international market trends.

Our partners:

In addition to these renowned slaughterhouses, we work with several other partners and companies, ranging from spot purchases to fixed volume contracts. When negotiating with Ramax, the international client will be negotiating directly with the plant, with less bureaucracy and 100% transparency throughout the process.

We shorten the distance between the World and suppliers in Brazil, South America and North America. Learn more about some of the products we export.
