LOBOS SET TO HOST ELITE DON KIRBY INVITATIONAL

New Mexico track & field welcomes an elite field of collegiate teams and athletes as it hosts the Don Kirby Invitational this Friday and Saturday at the Albuquerque Convention Center.

With the championship season on the horizon — the Mountain West Championships are coming to Albuquerque in two weeks and the NCAA Championships are in a month — the Lobos are looking to capture strong results in a bid to for postseason position.

Looking to make stride this week are the Lobos' milers, led by Michael Wilson and Ian Crowe-Wright on the men's side and Kieran Casey, Alondra Negrón Texidor and Emily Martin on the women's.

Jonny Glen, Taylor Potter, Linton Taylor, Jared Garcia, Iolo Hughes and Jacob Simonsen will also be running the men's mile, with Alex Buck and Elizabeth Reyes running the women's mile and Natasha Bernal and Johanna Briscoe the women's 3000.

Additionally, the Lobos sprinters will be aiming for strong marks, with Carlos Salcido, Mark Haywood, Isaac Gonzales and Bryan Cutler in the 400-meter dash, Jay Griffin in the 200 and Alejandro Goldston in the 60.

For the women, it will be Shalom Keller and Elisabetta Mackin in the 400, Erynn Caldwell in the 60 and 200 and the duo Larimar Rodriguez and Steffi Jones in the 600.

The middle-distance events will also see action, with Kristian Uldbjerg Hansen and Gavin Sleeter in the men's 800 and Mackenzie Everett, Samantha Dicker and Kaitlin Franklin in the women's 800.

New Mexico's 4x400 meter relays will also look to improve their standings for the conference championships.

In the field events, the Lobo men will compete Tanner Battikha, Miles Brinson and Goldston in the long jump, with Omarei Gregory in the triple jump. Jason Atencio (pole vault) and Brent Dionisio (high jump) will also vie for strong marks in their specialties.

Daniel Lam, Camillo Dünninger and Beau Clifton will also be competing in individual events before taking on the heptathlon at the MW Championships.

The women's field events will consist of Ada'ora Chigbo and Shannon Fritz in the high jump; Sarah McKeever and Fritz in the pole vault; and Allison Mady in the shot put and weight throw. Kyra Mohns will also see action in individual events as she preps for the MW pentathlon.

FIVE DISTANCE STANDOUTS HEADING TO HUSKY CLASSIC

Five of New Mexico's top distance runners are heading to the Husky Classic in Seattle this weekend as they aim to run fast times at one of the top distance meets of the year.

Ednah Kurgat, Weini Kelati, Charlotte Prouse, Kendall Kelly and Sophie Eckel are all looking to capture times that could end the season ranked in the top 16, which would earn them a spot at March's NCAA Championships in College Station, Texas.

Kurgat and Kelati have both all but clinched their spots at the NCAA Championships in the 5,000-meter run after stellar performances in the event at the Boston University Season Opener in December.

Currently, the duo ranks Nos. 2 and 3, respectively, in the NCAA's 5K rankings this season.

But both Kurgat and Kelati are aiming to double up, as they'll look to earn NCAA bids in the 3000 at the Husky Classic.

For Prouse, Kelly and Eckel, their goals are similar, as that trio is striving for berths in the 5000.

Prouse owns a personal record of 16:03.80, which projects near the top-16 cutoff for NCAA qualification. Eckel's clocked in at 16:08.09 for her all-conditions PR, with Kelly owning a 16:26.36 PR.

KERR NAMED NATIONAL, MW ATHLETE OF THE WEEK

New Mexico redshirt sophomore Josh Kerr was named Tuesday, February 6 as NCAA Division I Men's National Athlete of the Week by the U.S. Track & Field and Cross Country Coaches Association and Mountain West Men's Track Athlete of the Week.

Kerr ran a personal-record time of 3:54.72 to win the elite Wanamaker Mile at the 2018 NYRR Millrose Games on Saturday, February 3 at The New Balance Track & Field Center at The Armory in New York City.

Racing against a field that included six Olympians, Kerr showed off his middle-distance acumen on arguably one of the most prominent stages in all of track & field, earning his second career National Athlete of the Week honor.

His time of 3:54.72 makes him the fifth-fastest collegian in the mile run in NCAA history with the sixth-fastest mile time in NCAA history.

After opening the race in the back half of the 12-runner field, Kerr rallied over the final stages of the race, moving from eighth at 800 meters to second at the line. He finished the final 200 meters in 27.69 seconds, the best split by any athlete over the entire race.

He also nearly caught the eventual Wanamaker Mile winner Chris O'Hare at the line, as O'Hare won in 3:54.14.

Nonetheless, Kerr's time of 3:54.72 currently ranks third in the world in 2018, behind Edward Cheserek, who ran a time of 3:53.85 on Saturday in North Carolina, and O'Hare.

However, Kerr is the only athlete in NCAA history to rank top-six in both the mile and its outdoor counterpart, the 1500. Kerr ran a time of 3:35.99 in the 1500 last spring to rank No. 6 in NCAA history.

Additionally, Kerr broke both Miles Batty's Mountain West mile record (3:55.79) and the New Mexico mile record of 3:57.62 set by two-time NCAA champ Lee Emanuel in 2010.

Kerr leads the NCAA in the mile this year by nearly a second, and leads the MW by nearly four seconds. His mile time also ranks fifth all-time by a British athlete.

Over the last calendar year (February 2016-present), Kerr placed in the top two in 16 of 18 track races he's run for UNM (preliminary rounds and finals), with only a pair of pacing runs as his finishes outside of the top two.

Kerr's selection is the New Mexico cross country/track & field program's sixth-ever National Athlete of the Week honor.

Last spring, he earned the award after running his 3:35.99 in the 1500, while Ednah Kurgat claimed two such honors during her undefeated cross country season last fall. Courtney Frerichs, who was selected in May 2016, and Charlotte Arter, who was selected during the 2014 cross country season, have also earned the honor.

KURGAT NAMED TO THE BOWERMAN WOMEN'S MID-INDOOR WATCH LIST

Ednah Kurgat earned a spot on The Bowerman Women's Mid-Indoor Watch List, the U.S. Track & Field and Cross Country Coaches Association (USTFCCCA) announced Wednesday, February 7.

Kurgat opening the season earning votes in the 2018 Preseason Watch List for The Bowerman, the highest individual honor in collegiate track & field.

So far during the 2018 indoor campaign, Kurgat has raced twice, etching her name in the record books both times.

During December, right at the beginning of the indoor season, Kurgat clocking a time of 15 minutes, 19.03 seconds in the 5000-meter run at the Boston University Season Opener.

That mark breaks the previous UNM 5K standard of 15:54.29 set by Natalie Gray in 2011 and the Mountain West standard of 15:21.85 set by Boise State's Allie Ostrander in 2016.

Kurgat now ranks sixth in NCAA history in the 5,000, and sits No. 1 in the MW and No. 2 in the NCAA this season.

Additionally, Kurgat ran the mile at the Lobos' season-opening Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Invitational, finishing in 4:35.29. That time ranks second in New Mexico history and sits sixth in the NCAA this season.

The Bowerman, which debuted in 2009, is presented annually by the USTFCCCA to the most outstanding male and female collegiate track & field athletes in the nation.

Performances during the indoor track & field and outdoor track & field seasons count for the award; performances achieved in cross country are not considered. That means Kurgat's individual NCAA cross country title does not count toward her candidacy for The Bowerman.

Kurgat is the second female New Mexico athlete to appear on any Watch List for The Bowerman, joining Olympian and Bowerman semifinalist Courtney Frerichs in 2016. On the men's side, Josh Kerr was selected men's Mid-Indoor Watch List is released Thursday, February 8.

KERR NAMED TO THE BOWERMAN MEN'S PRESEASON WATCH LIST

New Mexico redshirt sophomore Josh Kerr captured a spot on The Bowerman Men's Mid-Indoor Watch List, the U.S. Track & Field and Cross Country Coaches Association (USTFCCCA) announced Tuesday.

Kerr, a two-time NCAA champion and current NCAA leader in the mile run, is one of 10 men selected to the watch list, In January, he was named to the 2018 Preseason Watch List for The Bowerman, the highest individual honor in collegiate track & field.

"It's the first time in school history we've had someone on the Watch List, and it's a testament to Josh and what he's done and what his marks have been," UNM head coach Joe Franklin said.

So far this season, Kerr, a redshirt sophomore from Edinburgh, Scotland, has posted two sensational performances in the middle distance, building on his outstanding 2017 track campaign, when he won the national titles in both the mile run and the 1,500-meter run.

Kerr's best showing this season came last weekend, as he ran a personal-record time of 3 minutes, 54.72 seconds to place second in the elite Wanamaker Mile at the 2018 NYRR Millrose Games at The New Balance Track & Field Center at The Armory in New York City.

His time makes him the fifth-fastest collegian in the mile run in NCAA history with the sixth-fastest mile time in NCAA history. His time also ranks third in the world in 2018.

Kerr is the only athlete in NCAA history to rank top-six in both the mile and its outdoor counterpart, the 1500. Kerr ran a time of 3:35.99 in the 1500 last spring to rank No. 6 in NCAA history.

Additionally, Kerr broke both Miles Batty's Mountain West mile record (3:55.79) and the New Mexico mile record of 3:57.62 set by two-time NCAA champ Lee Emanuel in 2010.

He leads the NCAA in the mile this year by nearly a second, and leads the MW by nearly four seconds. His mile time also ranks fifth all-time by a British athlete.

Earlier this season at the Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Invitational, Kerr ran a time of 1:48.26 in the 800. That time ranks second in New Mexico history, while also leading the MW and sitting sixth in the NCAA this season.

The Bowerman, which debuted in 2009, is presented annually by the USTFCCCA to the most outstanding male and female collegiate track & field athletes in the nation. Performances during the indoor track & field and outdoor track & field seasons count for the award; performances achieved in cross country are not considered.

SALCIDO THREATENS SECOND SCHOOL RECORD OF 2018

Already the school-record holder in the 200-meter run, Carlos Salcido took aim at the UNM benchmark in the 400 at the New Mexico Classic on February 3.

The redshirt sophomore came close to earning his second record of the season as he ran an altitude-converted time of 46.71. That time is just behind Olympian Jarrin Solomon, who's 46.33 set in 2009 stands as the record.

Nonetheless, Salcido moved to first in the Mountain West and 24th in the NCAA in the event, and is the only athlete in school history to run under 22 seconds in the 200 and 47 seconds in the 400.

SALCIDO NAMED MOUNTAIN WEST MEN'S TRACK ATHLETE OF THE WEEK

Carlos Salcido was named on January 30 as the Mountain West Men's Indoor Track Athlete of the Week for meets contested from January 25-27.

Salcido, a Rock Springs, Wyoming native, ran a time of 21.36 seconds in the men's 200-meter dash to win the event at the New Mexico Team Invitational on Saturday, January 27, at the Albuquerque Convention Center.

His time, which was converted from 21.29 to compensate for altitude, set a new school record in the event, eclipsing two-time MW 60-meter champion Ridge Jones' time of 21.43 set in 2015.

As of February 9, Salcido leads the Mountain West in the 200.

Additionally, Salcido anchored the Lobos' 4x400 meter relay team to second place, scoring a total of 18 points and helping the UNM men to a team win at the New Mexico Team Invitational.

This honor is the first such honor for Salcido, and the first for a New Mexico sprinter since Jones earned it on January 13, 2015.

Overall, Salcido is New Mexico's first MW Athlete of the Week this season.

KURGAT RANKS 2ND IN NEW MEXICO HISTORY IN MILE

New Mexico junior Ednah Kurgat kicked off her track season back before the holidays, running a superb 5000-meter race on December 2 at the Boston University Season Opener.

The Eldoret, Kenya, native broke the New Mexico and Mountain West records with her time of 15:19.03, which also ranks No. 2 in the NCAA for the 2018 season.

With an eye on adding an individual track championship to her growing collection of trophies, Kurgat wanted to continue her preparations for the rest of the season. Her first test of the season was the mile run at the Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Invitational.

And Kurgat definitely got what she need out of the race at the Albuquerque Convention Center, clocking a time of 4:35.29. That time moves her to No. 2 all-time at New Mexico in the event and, at the time, ranked her No. 1 in the NCAA.

Currently, as of February 9, she is ranked No. 6 in the NCAA in the mile.

KERR OPENS SEASON WITH QUICK 800, RANKS 2ND IN UNM HISTORY

Already among the NCAA's elite, New Mexico redshirt sophomore Josh Kerr received a berth to race in the prestigious Wanamaker Mile at the Millrose Games in New York City.

To make sure he was ready to race against a world-class field, the 2017 NCAA champ in the mile run needed to sharpen his racing skills. So, Kerr kicked off his 2018 campaign at the Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Invitational, competing in the 800-meter run.

And, just like Kurgat, Kerr accomplished his pre-race goal, zooming to a stellar time of 1:48.26. That time easily eclipsed his indoor personal record (his all-conditions PR is 1:47.51), and, at the time, moved him to No. 3 in the NCAA this season.

As of February 9, he ranks sixth in the NCAA in the event.

Additionally, Kerr just missed the UNM indoor record of 1:48.13, which has stood since 1977.

KERR-TESSY CALL

Over the last calendar year, Josh Kerr has been virtually unrivaled running on the track for the Lobos, as evidenced by his NCAA titles in the mile run and 1500-meter run.

But his run of success extends beyond just the national championships. Since the start of February 2017, Kerr has been the top finishing collegian in 10 straight finals on the track wearing a UNM singlet, not counting preliminary-round races or races he has rabitted.

The only race during that stretch that he didn't outright win was the Wanamaker Mile at the Millrose Games, where he took second as the top-place collegiate athlete.

During that span of 18 races (prelims and finals), Kerr has finished within the top two 16 times. The only two times he wasn't a top-two finisher in the race were races he paced for teammates.

LOBO WOMEN RANKED 26TH IN USTFCCA RANKINGS

The New Mexico women's track & field team rose two spots to No. 26 in the third regular-season edition of the USTFCCA National Team Computer Rankings that were released Monday, February 5.

After debuting at No. 25 in the preseason rankings — the women's team highest ranking all-time in the USTFCCA's preseason rankings for indoor track & field — the women fell to 28th after the second full week of action in the NCAA, only to rebound in the first rankings of February.

The rankings, which credit the Lobos with 32.94 points, are based on athletes' performances in events from the beginning of the 2018 indoor season (which officially started December 1, 2017) and the 2017 indoor season.

The distance trio of Ednah Kurgat, Weini Kelati and Alice Wright has contributed a majority of the Lobos' points, with all three posting tremendous marks in the 5,000-meter run at the BU Season Opener on December 2.

Kurgat set the UNM and Mountain West records in the 5,000 with a time of 15 minutes, 19.03 seconds, while Kelati finished with a time of 15:37.03 and Wright a time of 15:46.85.

All three broke the previous UNM 5K standard of 15:54.29 set by Natalie Gray in 2011, while Kurgat both set the Mountain West and ranks sixth in the NCAA history.

Kurgat's time contributes 20.53 points to the Lobos' tally of 32.98 points, with Kelati's mark adding 8.95 and Wright's 1.31.

Kurgat also logged a time of 4:35.29 in the mile run at the Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Invitational on January 20, which currently ranks third in the NCAA and adds 2.02 points to the team's total.

Additionally, freshman high jumper Ada'ora Chigbo posted a mark of 5-10 3/4 (1.80m) at the New Mexico Team Invitational, which ranks 17th in the NCAA in 2018 and chipped in 0.13 points.

SALCIDO RUMBLES TO SCHOOL RECORD IN 200-METER DASH

Last outdoor season, Carlos Salcido had a renaissance on the track, running an altitude-converted time of 21.01 in the 200-meter dash at the 2017 Mountain West Championships in Logan, Utah.

Coming into the 2017-18 year, Salcido had designs on translating that into more success, with an eye on the New Mexico school record in the 200, a 21.43 time set by two-time MW 60-meter champ Ridge Jones.

In his season debut at the Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Invitational, Salcido made some strong progress on the record, clocking an indoor personal record of 21.47. That, coupled with the fastest 4x400 meter relay split by a Lobo in a decade, indicated he was close to the record.

And close he was indeed.

HAYWOOD TAKES DOWN NEW MEXICO RECORD IN 600, AGAIN

Last year, on opening weekend of the season, Mark Haywood just missed the New Mexico record in the 600-meter run when he clocked a time of 1:19.31 at the 2017 Cherry & Silver Invitational.

But this season, the senior from Alamogordo, New Mexico, took another crack at Olympian Jarrin Solomon's 10-year-old record of 1:19.18.

At the season-opening Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Invitational, Haywood controlled the pace, of his 600 coming through the first 200 meters in 24.1, just about the same as last year. He continued at the lead, hitting the 400-meter point in 51.4, which was actually slower than last year when he split 50.5 through 400 meters.

But he finished much stronger in 2018, logging a final 200-meter lap of 27.6 (compared to last year's split of 28.8) to finish the three-lap race

Then, a week later at the New Mexico Classic, Haywood again flashed his wheels, running 1:18.10 to set his record. Like at the previous meet, Haywood started well with a 24.0 split to open, coming through 400 meters at 50.5. He kicked well on the bell lap, running 27.6 to close.

ADA'ORA SOARS

In the second collegiate meet of her career, freshman Ada'ora Chigbo showed why she one of the top youth high jumpers in her native England.

The Bristol, England, product soared to a mark of 5-10 3/4 (1.80 meters) in the high jump at the New Mexico Team Invitational, winning the meet and moving to No. 17 in the NCAA so far in 2018.

She just missed the New Mexico record of 5-11 (1.81 meters) set by Margaret Metcalf in 1979, and her all-time PR of 6-0 (1.83 meters) set in 2016.

THE LIFESPAN OF A 4X400 RECORD JUST ISN'T THE SAME ANYMORE...

Twice during the 2017 season — on February 11 at the Don Kirby Invitational and again on February 25 at the Mountain West Championships — the quartet of Cheyne Dorsey, Isaac Gonzales, Carlos Salcido and Mark Haywood soared to the New Mexico record in the 4x400 meter relay.

The quartet's first time was a time of 3:12.10, while its second was a 3:10.78. All told, those performances broke the old 34-year-old UNM record of 3:12.27 set by Mike Servizio, Pete Serna, Jeff Wood and Ibrahim Hussein at Northern Arizona on February 12, 1983.

Turn the calendar to 2018 and the Lobos' 4x400 team was back at it.

To open the 2018 season, three of the runners from last year's record-setting relay (Salcido, Haywood and Gonzales) were back, with freshman Ben Parmoon stepping in to take over the leg of the graduated Dorsey.

And, in their first action of the season, the foursome rocketed to the fourth-best 4x400 time in UNM history, combining to run 3:12.62.

Salcido anchored the team to the tune of a 45.8 split, the fastest relay split in the last decade at UNM.

KERR DOUBLES DOWN IN NCAA TITLES, FIRST SINCE 2008

At the beginning of March 2017, Josh Kerr was a talented runner for New Mexico, but probably wasn't a household name in NCAA track & field.

However, all of that changed on March 11, when Kerr defeated 17-time national champion Edward Cheserek of Oregon in the mile to claim his first NCAA crown at the NCAA Indoor Championships at Gilliam Indoor Track in College Station, Texas.

He followed that up with a tremendous outdoor campaign — including the No. 6 1,500-meter time in NCAA history at 3:35.99 — and an NCAA title in the 1,500-meter run.

Kerr is the first person to sweep the mile and the 1500 at the NCAA Indoor and Outdoor championships since Texas' Leo Manzano in 2008.

Colorado State's Bryan Berryhill was the last Mountain West athlete to accomplish the mile/1500 sweep, doing it in 2001. Berryhill is also the only other athlete in conference history to win the 1500.

MEN'S TRACK POSTS HIGHEST GPA, EARNS USTFCCCA HONOR

The New Mexico track & field team earned a number of academic accolades to on July 27 as the USTFCCCA announced its All-Academic Honors.

Under head coach Joe Franklin, both the men's and women's track & field teams were recognized as All-Academic Teams, a distinction bestowed to teams that register a cumulative team GPA of 3.00 or higher during the academic year.

10 Lobos, five men and five women, were also named All-Academic Individuals by the USTFCCCA.

For the team awards, the New Mexico men set a new program record with a team GPA of 3.53, the best among the 142 teams honored as All-Academic. Last season, the Lobo men held the second-best GPA among the honorees.

The men were also just one of four Mountain West men's teams to be selected, and have maintained at least a 3.2 for 10 straight semesters.

The UNM women, with a team GPA of 3.52, were one of seven schools in the MW to earn the honor. The women rank 23rd out of the 218 Division I institutions that were recognized.

The Lobo women have logged at least a 3.3 GPA for 20 straight semesters.

Individually, the Lobos also produced strong academic results, with 10 student-athletes earning All-Academic honors for their combined efforts in competition and in the classroom.

The individual award is awarded to student-athlete who attain a 3.25 GPA and either finished the regular season indoors ranked in the national top 96 in an individual event (as per the official NCAA proof-of-performance list) or participated in any round of the NCAA Division I Outdoor Championships.

On the men's side, five student-athletes were recognized, including Tanner Battikha and Kristian Ulbjerg Hansen.

For the New Mexico women, CoSIDA Academic All-American Alice Wright met the criteria along with Kieran Casey and Sophie Eckel.
