LAST TIME OUT

The Lobos executed a furious comeback to take the lead and maintain it into the final two seconds on Saturday, but ultimately fell to Utah State 68-66 after a called turnover and an ensuing Aggie 3-pointer with 1.8 seconds left on the clock.

The final turnover was committed on a backcourt call. The Mountain West later issued a statement confirming that the play was not a backcourt violation.

Official MW statement:

"After postgame video review, the Mountain West has determined the whistle for the backcourt violation in the final minute of the Utah State at New Mexico men's basketball game was incorrect. Inasmuch as the situation involved a judgement call, it was not reviewable via the instant replay monitor in accordance with NCAA Playing Rule 11-1.4. The matter will be addressed via the Conference's internal officiating evaluation procedures."

The Lobos outscored the Aggies in the second half 39-32.

LOBOS AFTER DARK

UNM's loss to UNLV on Jan. 8 marked the first of five games this season that UNM will take on an opponent at 9 p.m. MT - some 9 p.m. (PT) times will actually be at 10 p.m. in Albuquerque. In addition, the Lobo schedule features four 8 p.m. (MT) games including Saturday's matchup at Fresno State.

ON TO THE PROS

Lobo basketball has a history of giving a great foundation for players to make it in the pros. Lobo junior Karim Ezeddine recently informed coach Paul Weir of his decision to leave the program immediately and pursue professional basketball opportunities overseas. He will withdraw from classes this semester and intends to sign a contract as soon as possible.

MATHIS 11TH IN THE NATION

Lobo senior Anthony Mathis is currently 11th in the nation in 3-point field goals per game (3.65) and 17th in total 3-point field goals made (73).

He is also ranked 23rd in the nation in 3-point field goal percentage (44.5).

MOUNTAIN WEST PLAYER OF THE WEEK

For his efforts against then-ranked No. 5/6 Nevada on Jan. 5 and against Air Force on Jan. 2, senior Anthony Mathis earned his first Mountain West Player of the Week honor. Mathis averaged 22.0 points per game going 12-for-31 (.387) from the field including 8-for-23 (.348) from behind the arc. He also went 12-for-14 from the free throw line.

WELL-ROUNDED VANCE

Redshirt-sophomore Vance Jackson leads the Lobos with the most double-doubles (4) and the most 10+ rebounding games of the season (4). He has scored in double figures in the last 11 straight games and has collected 13 assists in the last five games.

IT'S RAINING THREES

The Lobos are averaging 9.6 3-pointers per game and have racked up 10 or more in 12-of-20 games this season. Conversely, the Lobos have allowed opponents to shoot 10 threes or more just four times this season.

DUNK TRACKER

Redshirt-junior Carlton Bragg leads the Lobos in dunks on the season with eight, including six in Mountain West play. In fact, in last Tuesday's contest at UNLV, Bragg posted not one, not two, but three second-half dunks.

BRAGG IS BACK

Redshirt-junior Carlton Bragg finally earned his debut as a Lobo on Sunday, Dec. 16 after a year and a half off the court. Bragg posted 16 points on 7-for-12 from the floor and tallied seven rebounds in his debut against Central Arkansas. He followed it up with a six-point, seven-rebound performance against North Texas to go along with three steals.

To date, he has accumulated 89 rebounds and 136 points in 12 games and has started the last 10.

HITTING HIS STRIDE

After a year and a half off the court, redshirt-junior Carlton Bragg seems to be hitting his stride. He has scored in double figures in his last four games while posting a new career-high 18 points on Saturday against Utah State.

STEALING LOBOS - 1ST IN THE MW

The Lobos currently lead the Mountain West on the season in steals per game with 7.2. UNM is led in the category by redshirt-sophomore Vance Jackson (21) and senior Dane Kuiper (21), followed by senior Anthony Mathis (20).

20-POINT FEVER

Senior Anthony Mathis has exploded this season with six 20+ point games so far. Prior to his senior season, he had accumulated just three 20+ point games in his career.

He has also led the Lobos in scoring in nearly half of UNM's games so far this season (9).

MATHIS COUNTDOWN TO 1,000

Senior Anthony Mathis has accumulated 830 points in his career. With 170 points to go to reach the 1,000-point mark, it may seem premature to begin the countdown but consider this: Mathis has already netted 311 points this season and tallied 433 last season after essentially sitting the bench his first two as a Lobo (86 points total).

Mathis has scored in double figures in 16-of-20 games this season including six 20+ point games. With an average of 15.6 points per game and at least 11 games left this season he could make it before his career at UNM ends.

SMALL MARGIN GAMES

The Lobos are 1-3 in games decided by 1-4 points this season, including Saturday's narrow two-point loss to Utah State. In fact, the two-point final marked the closest final-score margin of the season, win or loss.

29TH IN ATTENDANCE

The Lobos are currently ranked 29th in the country in average attendance. Approximately 11,181 fans fill Dreamstyle Arena - The Pit to watch their Lobos per game so far this season. The Lobos also lead the conference in attendance this season:

ABOUT THE 2018-19 LOBOS

The 2018-19 Lobos have just four returning letterwinners from the 2017-18 squad, including leading-scorer Anthony Mathis (12.7 ppg) who finished fourth in the nation in 3-point percentage and broke the UNM record for most 3-point field goals in a conference season (66) as a junior. The squad also adds nine newcomers and returns a pair of sitting transfers to the team that finished third in Mountain West regular-season play last season.

In addition to Mathis, UNM's returners include senior Dane Kuiper, who is the lone returning starter, and sophomores Makuach Maluach and Vladimir Pinchuk. Maluach finished his inaugural season averaging 9.6 points per game and ranks fourth all-time on the Lobo freshman single-season scoring list.

BY THE NUMBERS

Here is what is returning and missing for the 2018-19 Lobos.

Stat	Returning	Lost	% Returning
Points	1,075	1,720	38%
Rebounds	345	728	32%
Assists	124	415	23%
Blocks	31	65	32%
Steals	72	179	29%
3-Pointers	167	200	46%
Free Throws	194	356	35%

REMEMBERING LAST SEASON

The 2017-18 Lobos were picked to finish ninth in league play, but shocked everyone when they pulled off a third-place finish in regular-season play, earned the MW Tournament bye and took on San Diego State in the Championship game, falling by just seven points.

The Lobos also ranked 15th out of 351 NCAA Division I teams in turnover percentage last season.

RECORDS ARE MEANT TO BE BROKEN

En route to their first appearance in the league championship since 2014, the Lobos broke the program records for 3-pointers in a season (367), most 3-point field goals attempted (979) and highest free throw percentage (77.7%). For reference, the previous records were 301, 782 and 75.7%, respectively.

As a team, the Lobos also broke the record for most points in a game (147 vs Northern New Mexico), most points in a conference game (119 at Wyoming) and most points in a conference season (1,507). Old records for the above: 136, 113 and 1,373, respectively.

STELLAR SCHEDULE

The Lobos are taking on a field of top-notch teams this season including five squads that advanced to the 2018 NCAA Tournament. Last season's Big Dance squads include New Mexico State, Iona, Penn, San Diego State and Nevada. With UNM facing NMSU, SDSU and Nevada twice apiece, that makes for eight games against NCAA post-season opponents, not to mention a matchup with last season's CBI tourney winner, North Texas.

UNDER THE RADAR

This offseason, the Lobos were ranked by the NCAA's Andy Katz as one of five "under the radar" teams to watch this season.

SHARP SHOOTER

Senior Anthony Mathis blew expectations out of the water last season after more than fiftuple his career point production as a junior - that's right, in two seasons at UNM, Mathis scored just 86 points in 228 minutes, and multiplied that total by five in his junior season. In 2017-18, Mathis took the term "breakout" to a whole new level, dropping 433 points in 760 minutes on the floor. His shot from 3-point range couldn't be stopped as he finished the season with a program-record 66 3-pointers in conference play. He also fired from behind the arc at a clip of 47.3%, ranking fourth in the nation among other NCAA DI players.

THE STUDENT BECOMES THE MASTER

After posting a breakout inaugural season of his own last year, sophomore Makuach Maluach is expected to be a high-profile returner for the Lobos this year. He's been ranked on several preseason lists and even made the cover of Lindy's Sports Magazine in August. Most recently, the soft-spoken sophomore was ranked 19th on the Mountain West Wire's Top 25.

CONSISTENCY IS OVERRATED

Last season, the Lobos debuted the most starting lineups in NCAA Division I with 21. Coach Weir made it clear in his first season that starting lineups would be determined by the numbers of deflections a player accumulated in the previous game, hence the sky-high number of lineup combos.

MW PRESEASON NEWCOMER OF THE YEAR

Redshirt-sophomore Vance Jackson was named 2018 Mountain West Preseason Newcomer of the Year following the league's media poll in October. Jackson transferred from UCONN where he shot 40.9 percent from the field, 39.7 from behind the arc as a freshman in 2016-17. He reached double figures in 13 games and led the team twice in scoring in his inaugural collegiate season.

WE'RE NOT IN KANSAS ANYMORE ...

The Lobos return a pair of transfers that sat out last year and also welcome five more, including the highly-anticipated Carlton Bragg (Kansas/ASU transfer) who is currently eligible for conference play. Joining Bragg will be Juco transfers Corey Manigault, Keith McGee and Karim Ezzeddine who are all set to play at the start of the season.

Redshirt-sophomore Vance Jackson (UCONN) will finally get his chance to don the Cherry and Silver this season and was named 2018 MW Newcomer of the Year. Jackson's fellow bench-warmer last season, Ohio State transfer JaQuan Lyle, suffered an Achilles injury during practice in September and is expected to miss the 2018-19 season. Two more transfers of note include Towson's Zane Martin, who will be sitting out in 2018-19 due to NCAA transfer rules, and redshirt-freshman Clay Patterson. A native of Rio Rancho, N.M., Patterson transferred back home from NCAA DII Fort Lewis. He is eligible to compete in 2018-19.

BRINGING PEOPLE TOGETHER

The Lobo squad is as varied as it gets when it comes to hometown pride. Each player on the team is from not only a different town, but a different state or country entirely! With the late addition of walk-on Clay Patterson, the only exception is a pair of native New Mexicans. States and countries represented include: Pennsylvania, Maryland, California, New York, Florida, Australia, Indiana, Alaska, Germany, Georgia, France, Oregon, New Mexico and Ohio.

THERE'S NO PLACE LIKE HOME

The famous home of Lobo basketball enters its second year under the name "Dreamstyle Arena - The Pit" as part of an exciting renaming of both of UNM's largest-capacity athletic venues.

This July, "The Pit" was tabbed #17 on the top-30 list of best arena atmospheres in college hoops by the NCAA.

"The Pit" has also been consistently recognized nationally as one of the nation's top basketball venues. Sports Illustrated has ranked it as one of the top 20 sporting venues, of any sport, in the world for the 20th century. The Pit is truly a special place, and it has created an unparalleled environment for the New Mexico men's basketball program. Since the Mountain West conference began in 1999-2000, New Mexico has ranked in the top two in home attendance among MW teams in every year except one, including 12 seasons as the top-ranked MW team in overall attendance.

WHAT'S THAT SOUND?

The new name for The Pit instated in 2017 is not the only change to come for Dreamstyle

Arena in the Paul Weir era. This season, after popular fan demand, the sound system in the historic arena has been updated to feature an entirely new fan experience for the 2018-19 season!

MORE NOTES ON COACH WEIR

- Weir’s 28-6 record as a first-year head coach in 2016-17 at NMSU tied for the 10th-most wins by a Division I head coach in NCAA history
- His 28 wins in 2016-17 were the most in Division I for first-year head coaches
- Among those 28 wins was an NMSU school record 20-game winning streak that was at the time the longest in the nation
- Has three master’s degrees in health and human performance, sports psychology and business administration. Currently working on his doctorate
- Played at York University and became starting point-guard for the Lions as a freshman
- Weir arrived at NM State in 2007 after two seasons as the director of basketball operations at Iowa, where he served under former Lobo head coach Steve Alford

WHAT THEY ARE SAYING ABOUT PAUL WEIR

“New Mexico got a guy in Paul Weir that has paid his dues, and immediately showed he can get things done as the head coach. This hire makes sense because Weir knows the landscape and the expectations at UNM. He’s a guy who can coach, recruit and connect with players. That’s rare these days.” - Jeff Goodman, ESPN

“Paul Weir handled the transition from assistant coach to head coach about as smoothly as it can be handled -- winning 28 games in his first year after being promoted at New Mexico State. It was similar to what Brad Stevens did immediately after being promoted at Butler. So the Lobos have hired an accomplished coach with a great reputation.” - Gary Parrish, CBS Sports

JAN. 26, 2019 - NEW MEXICO 66, UTAH STATE 68 - Albuquerque, N.M.

Lobos Edged in Final Seconds by Utah State

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. --- The University of New Mexico men's basketball team executed a furious comeback to take the lead and maintain it into the final two seconds on Saturday afternoon, but ultimately fell to Utah State 68-66 after a called turnover and an ensuing Aggie 3-pointer with 1.8 seconds left on the clock.

"It's disappointing for us to fight back like that in the second half and come so close to a win," head coach Paul Weir said. "Unfortunately, often one play does mean a lot for us. Sometimes we need calls that might be 50/50 to go our way."

The Lobos (9-11, 3-5 MW) trailed the Aggies (15-5, 5-2 MW) by as much as 10, 50-40, at the 12:51 mark in the second half but reduced the deficit to just one with a 9-0 run over 3:44 to make it 50-49 with 9:07 left. The run was sparked by a layup from senior Anthony Mathis followed by another from sophomore Makuach Maluach and then a dagger of a three from Mathis to make it a three-point game, 50-47.

Mathis finished with 16 points on the night, all of which were in the second half.

With the crowd on its feet and the energy in The Pit nearly palpable, redshirt-junior Carlton Bragg, who led the Lobos with a career-high 18 points, hit a pair of free throws to make it a one-point game, 50-49 and then, after an Aggie jumper, hit a jumper of his own to keep it at one, 52-51.

Utah State standout and leading scorer Sam Merrill hit another jump shot to put the Aggies back ahead by three before Mathis responded just nine seconds later with a three of his own to tie the score at 54-54 with 7:55 left.

A three from redshirt-sophomore Vance Jackson tied it up again at the 6:32 mark, 59-59 and the Aggies got ahead by two before Mathis hit an exciting, fast-break three, his fourth of the night, to give the Lobos their first lead since the first 15 seconds of the game, 62-61 UNM with 5:33 left.

Utah State responded with a triple of its own and the teams tied the game once more at the four-minute mark when Mathis made yet another layup, 64-64. The Lobos increased the lead to two, 66-64 on a Jackson jumper with 2:56 to go.

A Utah State free throw with 1:25 on the clock made it a one-point game, 66-65 Lobos, and a jump ball was forced with 37 seconds left in favor of UNM.

Mathis took the ball out and brought it to half court in pressure, looking to hold on to the one-point advantage. He approached half court, looked and passed ahead to Jackson in attempt to get out of trouble, but the referees called backcourt to the dismay of Lobo fans, causing the potential game-winning possession to turnover to the Aggies with 31 seconds left.

The Aggies ran out the clock and sophomore Abel Porter hit just his eighth 3-pointer of the season with 1.8 seconds left to put Utah State back up by two.

Both coaches called timeouts and Mathis made a last-ditch effort from half court to hit another gamewinner, but the shot bounced off of the backboard for the 68-66 final.

A post-game statement from the Mountain West Conference:

MOUNTAIN WEST STATEMENT REGARDING MEN'S BASKETBALL OFFICIATING CALL IN UTAH STATE AT NEW MEXICO CONTEST

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. – After postgame video review, the Mountain West has determined the whistle for a backcourt violation in the final minute of the Utah State at New Mexico men's basketball game was incorrect. Inasmuch as the situation involved a judgment call, it was not reviewable via the instant replay monitor in accordance with NCAA Playing Rule 11-1.4. The matter will be addressed via the Conference's internal officiating evaluation procedures.

The Lobos had four players score in double figures including Bragg with 18, followed by Mathis with 16, Jackson (13) and Maluach (12). Jackson also led the Lobos in rebounds with seven followed by Bragg who posted six.

UNM shot just 27.6 percent from the floor in the first half, but in the second fired at a clip of 50 percent including 45.5 percent from 3-point range. The Lobos' totals for the night were 39.0 percent from the field compared to 49.1 percent for the Aggies and 33.3 percent from behind the arc compared to 50 percent for Utah State.

The Lobos turned the ball over just 11 times while forcing 13 and the UNM bench outscored Utah State's 32-8. The Aggies led for 32:23 of the contest while UNM was in front for 4:59.

UNM has its first bye this week and returns to action on Saturday, Feb. 2 at Fresno State on ESPNU.

LAST TIME THEY MET ...

MARCH 3, 2018 - NEW MEXICO 95, FRESNO STATE 86 (OT) - Albuquerque, N.M.

Lobos Lock in Third with OT Senior Night Win

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. --- The University of New Mexico men's basketball team sent its seniors off in style on Saturday night in Dreamstyle Arena - The Pit with a thrilling 95-86 overtime victory over Fresno State to clinch the third seed in the 2018 Mountain West Championships. The Lobos, now 17-14, 12-6 in the league, were picked to finish ninth this season and end conference play on a five-win streak.

Following the close matchup, which saw five players score in double figures, seniors Joe Furstinger, Sam Logwood and Antino Jackson were honored.

"The three seniors are terrific young men, I'm really happy for them, particularly the guys who have been here and maybe have been through a lot the past few years," head coach Paul Weir said. "To finish with a good conference season like this maybe makes up for some things that weren't great in the past, and then Antino came in and had a really good year for us too.

"I'm glad to enjoy those festivities, but right now it's on to the tournament and we'll start on that tomorrow morning."

Leading by five at the half, 39-34, the Lobos got out to as much as a 14-point lead with 14:53 left in the second half, and again at the 14:12 mark. Fresno State followed with a 10-0 run to cut the Lobo lead to just four, 54-50. The Lobos responded however, embarking on a 12-4 run capped by a pair of 3-pointers from junior Anthony Mathis within 12 seconds.

Mathis connected at 8:54 to put the Lobos up nine before junior Troy Simons promptly snatched a steal on the inbound play and passed to Mathis for another three at 8:42 that got the crowd fired up, 66-54 Lobos.

UNM held at least a five-point advantage for the next eight minutes but, with 47 seconds on the clock, Fresno State's Sam Bittner stole the ball and passed it to Jahmel Taylor, who finished with a team-best 23 points on the night, who scored a layup to cut the Lobo lead to three, 81-78.

The Lobos called a timeout, followed by a UNM turnover and, with 17 seconds left, Taylor hit a three to tie it 81-81. Jackson attempted to take the win with three seconds left but missed from 3-point range and the Lobos got the offensive rebound to maintain possession with 1.8 seconds left on the clock.

Coach Weir called another timeout to draft a play that led Mathis to attempt a jumper, but the shot didn't fall and the teams went into extra minutes.

After allowing their lead to slip away in the waning minutes of the second half, the Lobos didn't make the same mistake twice. UNM allowed the Bulldogs to score just five points in five minutes of overtime, all free throws, while the Lobos scored 14. UNM's 14 points in overtime started and ended with a pair of Simons free throws as he went 6-for-6 from the stripe in the extra frame, as well as a layup from Furstinger, a 3-pointer and a free throw from Jackson and another pair of free throws from junior Chris McNeal.

With just 21 seconds left on the clock and the Lobos ahead by nine, Coach Weir substituted out Logwood and he followed by subbing out Furstinger with 11 seconds left. As he did so, the crowd of 13,069 erupted for its tenured seniors.

"I don't even know what to say. The fans, they are unreal and unbelievable. It's a great opportunity for anyone that hears (these fans)," Jackson said. "This place is really home. They made me feel like I'm really at home in just a small amount of time, but I feel like I've been here for four years ... This is a very special city, and I'm very happy to be a part of it."

The five Lobos to score in double figures on the night include Mathis, who registered 23 points for his 18th straight game scoring in double figures. He went a perfect 5-for-5 from behind the arc, 2-for-2 from the charity stripe and 8-for-9 from the field.

Mathis was followed by Jackson who netted 16 points and collected four assists and one steal and Simons who also scored 16 points while nabbing two steals and going 8-for-8 from the free throw line. Logwood added 12 points, five rebounds and three steals while Furstinger nearly notched his seventh double-double of the season with 11 points and nine rebounds.

UNM outshot Fresno State 53.7-49.1 percent on the night and 50.0-41.2 percent from 3-point range. The Lobos also shot 87.1 percent from the free throw line compared to 81.1 percent for Fresno State.

The Lobos outrebounded the Bulldogs, marking just the 10th time all season that UNM has outrebounded its opponent, the fifth time in conference play.

UNM claims the third seed in the 2018 Mountain West Tournament and will play the winner of the No. 6 (Wyoming) and No. 11 (San José State) seeds on Thursday, March 8 at 9:30 p.m. MT in Las Vegas, Nev.

OPPONENT'S LAST TIME OUT

JAN. 30, 2019 · FRESNO STATE 75, WYOMING 62 · Laramie, Wyo.

'Dogs earn MW-best 4th road victory with 75-62 win at Wyoming

LARAMIE, Wyo. --- The Fresno State men's basketball team used a sharp-shooting second-half surge to defeat the Wyoming Cowboys 75-62 on Wednesday evening at Arena-Auditorium.

Fresno State (15-5, 6-2 Mountain West) now has a Mountain West-best four conference road victories and remains in a tie for second place in the MW standings through the first month of league play. The Bulldogs have now won in four of its last five trips to Laramie.

Fresno State junior guard New Williams scored a career-high 24 points on a career-best six 3-pointers, while Nate Grimes added 16 points for the Bulldogs.

Wyoming (5-16, 1-7 MW) was led by Justin James, who had a team-high 21 points with 12 rebounds.

Fresno State will return home to face New Mexico on Saturday at 7 p.m. PT.

How it happened: The teams played to a 33-33 tie at halftime and it stayed tight until the Bulldogs pulled away with a 14-0 run.

With Fresno State leading 54-53 with under eight minutes left to play, the Bulldogs shot their way to a double-digit lead behind four 3-pointers (two by Williams, one by Blackwell and a straightway make by Grimes) and a baseline jumper by Grimes during the key 14-0 surge over a span of 3:36.

The Bulldogs dug in down the stretch to put away the Cowboys.

In the second half, Fresno State shot 50 percent from the field (14-for-28 FGA) and only committed four turnovers.

For the game, Fresno State outscored Wyoming 22-14 in points off turnovers with the Bulldogs forcing the Cowboys to commit 17 turnovers on 11 Fresno State steals.

Quotes:

Justin Hutson, Fresno State head coach

On the Bulldogs' execution against Wyoming's 2-3 zone...

"They're in a zone, so somebody is going to have to make some shots and New stepped up. New, Noah (Blackwell) and Nate (Grimes) stepped up and put that ball in the basket. Aguir and D.T. got into the middle of that zone and kicked it out. It was a good team effort that way. We took care of the ball, didn't make as many mistakes and then some guys hit some big shots. Noah and New hit some big shots, and Nate Grimes, too. We're trying to become more consistent. That's the fight with us."

New Williams, Fresno State junior guard

On scoring a career-high 24 points...

"It feels good. I work on my shot so much. I work so hard to do whatever I can to help my team. Colorado State, it wasn't falling, so I tried to make sure I made up for it at the defensive end. But this game, I just came out the same way I do every night, and it felt good, I got some extra shots up. We've been here just to refocus, lock back in on my shot, on the fundamentals of my shot."

Noah Blackwell, Fresno State redshirt junior guard

On his team's performance...

"I'm proud of my team and how we came up here and we got this 'W,' how we came out in the second half and played a lot better. You know, 'shooters shoot.' That's what Coach Hut says. We have shooters on our team and you just have to believe in your shot and it's probably going to go in. New, that's what he does. He's a knock-down shooter. There were some that were contested and there were some that were wide open, and we know he's going to knock those shots down."

Player Notes:

New Williams – 24 points, 3 rebounds, 9-for-12 FGA, including 6-for-8 3FGA

Team Notes:

WELCOME TO THE PIT, A MILE HIGH AND LOUDER THAN...

WHAT THEY ARE SAYING ABOUT THE PIT

"What a terrific atmosphere for college basketball. Great building... Great history... 18,000 screaming fans. It's big time college hoops, baby!"
- Dick Vitale, ESPN

"I consider the game we played in Albuquerque in 1978 one of the most exciting of my career. The Pit is the toughest place to play because of their tremendous atmosphere."
-Jim Boeheim, Syracuse head coach

"When you go into a place like The Pit, there will be challenge different from a regular road game. The crowd can dictate the tempo and momentum. The Pit crowd forces you to be patient."
-Lute Olsen, former Arizona head coach

"A mile high but 37 feet underground, the Pit in Albuquerque has been the site of many mind-blowing college basketball games, including North Carolina State's upset of Houston in '83 and just about any New Mexico home game. The noise created by fans, which has been measured at 125 decibels -- the pain threshold for the human ear is 130 -- is a palpable force."
-Sports Illustrated

- Voted one of "The Top Five Loudest, Most Intimidating Places to Play" by NCAA.com
- Ranked in the top 20 sporting venues of the 20th century by Sports Illustrated
- USA Today ranked The Pit in its "Ten Great Places to Get Pumped for NCAA Action"
- According to Fox Sports, it's one of the top ten "old school" college basketball arenas in the country

THE GREATEST GAME EVER PLAYED

The Pit was the site of one of the greatest college basketball games ever played. It hosted the 1983 national championship game that saw the NC State Wolfpack upset Hakeem Olajuwon, Clyde Drexler and the Houston Cougars. Coach Jimmy Valvano and the Wolfpack downed the Cougars on a last second put back by Lorenzo Charles. The iconic shot of the late Valvano running onto the court looking for a hug is one of the lasting images in college basketball history.

- Built in 1966 ($1.4 million)
- Capacity of 15,411 (previously 18,018)
- $60 million renovation was completed in 2010
- New floor installed before the 2017-18 season
- Seating includes 40 suites and a club area
- Officially named Dreamstyle Arena in 2017 after a $10 million agreement for naming rights by the local New Mexico business. It is still referred to as The Pit, its officially-recognized nickname. As part of the exciting Dreamstyle changes, University Stadium, UNM's football stadium, officially became Dreamstyle Arena on the same date.
- Less than 30 of 345 NCAA Division I basketball programs play in a college-only arena named after a business or organization founded or headquartered in its home state.
- The Lobos have averaged an astounding 15,410 fans the past 49 years, an amazing 95% of capacity
- The Pit has ranked in the top 25 in attendance nationally nearly every season since the 1966-67 season with 35 seasons in the top ten in the NCAA in attendance
- Led the Mountain West in attendance in 10 of the conference's 15 years of existence
- The floor is named Bob King Court in honor of the former head coach who led the Lobos from 1963 to 1972.

2018-19 BOX SCORES AND RECAPS

Game 1 - New Mexico 87, CSUN 84 Nov. 6, 2018 | The Matadome

Lobos Win Opener on Mathis 3-Point Buzzer-Beater

NORTHRIDGE, Calif. --- Senior Anthony Mathis of The University of New Mexico men's basketball team hit a buzzer-beating three to lift the Lobos over the CSUN Matadors on Tuesday night, officially opening the 2018-19 season with an exciting 87-84 victory. Four Lobos scored in double figures on the night that saw UNM's new squad shoot 50.9 percent from the floor and 42.3 percent from 3-point range.

The Lobos (1-0) and the Matadors (0-1) battled throughout 40 minutes with 13 lead changes and six ties.

Despite a shaky start full of first-game-of-the-season-nerves, UNM outshot CSUN in every category including from the floor (51.9 - 45.8 percent) from behind the arc (42.3 - 35.0 percent) and from the free throw line (75.9 - 52.4 percent).

In his first game as a Lobo, junior Corey Manigault led the squad on the night with 16 points going 4-for-6 from the floor and 8-for-9 from the charity stripe. Senior Dane Kuiper and sophomore Makuach Maluach followed with 15 points apiece. Kuiper went 5-for-5 from behind the arc, 5-for-8 from the floor and Maluach was 5-for-9 from the floor with a three and four free throws.

Mathis was the fourth player to score in double figures, registering 12 points with a 4-for-7 performance from 3-point range.

CSUN freshman Lamine Diane led all players on the night with 34 points going 15-for-28 from the field. Diane scored 30 and 23 points in CSUN's exhibition matchups.

"Ball control was clearly an issue for us tonight," head coach Paul Weir said. "Our size was almost a problem tonight (because CSUN was so quick), but you've got to tip your cap to CSUN, they played their hearts out. Diane is a tremendous player, puts a lot of pressure on defenses, particularly on the glass, and they were able to go out and show that tonight."

The Lobos opened Tuesday night's contest with a 2:54 drought before sophomore Vladimir Pinchuk registered UNM's first points on a pair of free throws with 17:06 on the clock to make it 6-2 CSUN. A minute later, Manigault shot a pair of free throws to make it 6-4 but the Lobos did not score from the floor until 5:08 into the game when Kuiper hit a jumper to make it 8-6 Matadors.

Kuiper's jumper was followed by a three-pointer just 32 seconds later to spark a Lobo 10-0 run over 2:57, putting UNM on top 16-10.

Both teams continued to respond and with CSUN leading by one at the conclusion of the half, a foul was called at the buzzer that sent Maluach to the line. He hit the shot and tied it 42-42 heading into the locker room.

Over the first half, UNM was out-rebounded 21-15.

Once again it was Kuiper in the second half to give the Lobo offense life as he came out of the locker room with the first six points for UNM on a pair of three split by a jumper by Diane, 48-44.

The fifth tie of the game occurred at the 4:07 mark when redshirt-sophomore Vance Jackson hit a free throw to tie it up 77-77. The Lobos built a four-point lead, 84-80 before a layup by CSUN's Cameron Gottfried made it 84-82 with just 30 seconds left on the clock.

The Lobos attempted to keep the ball and run down the clock but a UNM turnover allowed the Matadors to have one more possession that ended in another jumper by Diane to make it 84-84 with 6.1 seconds left.

The Lobos gained possession with the clock winding down and took about 4.5 seconds to cross half-court. Mathis looked up, saw the clock and took a long three from the right wing and sunk it for the win, 87-84.

On the night, CSUN dominated in the paint, 44-24 and registered 25 points off of turnovers compared to 22 for UNM. CSUN also tallied 13 second-chance points to just four for the Lobos and 12 on the fast break.

The Lobos are set to return to action on Saturday, Nov. 10 when they take on Northern New Mexico in exhibition competition as part of the second-annual New Mexico Classic tournament hosted by UNM.

Game 2 - New Mexico 90, Iona 83 Nov. 13, 2018 | Dreamstyle Arena - The Pit

Lobos Open 2-0 With 90-83 Win over Iona

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. --- Two Lobos racked up double-doubles on Tuesday night as The University of New Mexico men's basketball team earned a 90-83 win over the visiting Iona Gaels to start the 2018-19 season 2-0. Junior Corey Manigault and redshirt-sophomore Vance Jackson led the Lobos with 20 and 18 points, respectively while collecting 10 and 12 boards apiece.

The victory marks the 16th straight season in which the Lobos came away with the win in their home opener.

After a slow start offensively, seniors Anthony Mathis and Dane Kuiper closed the game, combining for the thrilling final 10 points, including a pair of fast-break layups, to keep the Lobos on top throughout the final three minutes.

"The depth that we have, the way we spread our minutes and the style that we play allowed us to break away at the end and get a big win," head coach Paul Weir said. "It was a good basketball team that we beat, and we have come a long way in the last 12 months. We have not arrived and we have a lot of work to do the next few days in order to continue to get better, but just to get a win against a good basketball team early in the year shows our progression as a program."

The Lobos held the lead for 24:35 of the game that had nine lead changes and five ties. On the night, UNM outshot Iona from the floor 50.9 - 40.0 percent and 40.0 - 34.6 percent from behind the arc. Five Lobos scored in double figures including Manigault (20), Jackson (18), Mathis (14), redshirt-sophomore Keith McGee (13) and sophomore Vladimir Pinchuk (10).

Pinchuk's 10 points went along with seven rebounds, one steal, three assists and two blocks in a new career-high 30 minutes.

With just 7:05 left in the game and the Lobos down by one, 75-74, Manigault poked the ball out of the hands of Iona's Isaiah Still, raced to the other end of the court unguarded and slammed a crowd-pleasing dunk to put the Lobos back on top for the final time, 73-72.

When the Gaels reduced the Lobo lead back to one, 75-74, sophomore Makuach Maluach sunk a dagger of a three at 5:28 that put the Lobos back up by four, 78-74. Iona was able to take a five-point lead to just two, 80-78, at the 2:59 mark on a Still three before Mathis nailed his fourth 3-pointer of the night to put the Lobos back up by five, 83-78, and spark a Lobo offensive surge through the final minutes.

The Gaels would get no closer than three to Kuiper drilled his lone three of the night - a big one - with 1:52 left, 86-80, followed by a pair of fast-break layups from Mathis and Kuiper to keep the crowd of over 10,000 fans roaring through the end.

The Lobos forced 15 turnovers and posted five blocks, including two from Pinchuk. UNM also collected 19 assists to just 15 for Iona.

UNM went down by as much as five points in the back-and-forth first half that featured a 10-0 Iona run at the 13:43 mark. UNM battled back and responded with a 11-0 run with just 5:30 left in the first half to head into the locker room tied 39-39.

The Lobos came out of the halftime break with the first six points to take a commanding 45-39 lead before Iona whittled it back down to one with 16:20 on the clock.

Overall the teams finished relatively even in points off of turnovers (15-14 UNM), points in the paint (28 apiece), second-chance points (13-12 UNM), fast-break points (31-29 Iona) and bench points (29-20 UNM).

The Lobos return to action on Saturday, November 17 when they take on in-state rival New Mexico State for a 4 p.m. clash in Dreamstyle Arena - The Pit. The game will be the Lobos' Nike TV contest featuring the highly-anticipated turquoise uniforms and will be televised on AT&T SportsNet.

Game 3 - New Mexico 94, NM State 98 Nov. 17, 2018 | Dreamstyle Arena - The Pit

Late Comeback Falls Short, Three score 20+ Points

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. --- After falling behind by as much as 19 points with just 9:08 left to play, The University of New Mexico men's basketball team put on an impressive show in a comeback attempt that saw the Lobos rack up a 13-0 second-half run in front of over 14,000 fans inside Dreamstyle Arena - The Pit. The run fell short however, as NM State eventually suffered a four-point loss, 98-94, to the Aggies in the Rio Grande Rivalry matchup.

A trio of Lobos racked up 20 points or more including redshirt-sophomore Vance Jackson (27), senior Anthony Mathis (22) and junior Corey Manigault (20). The game marks Manigault's second straight in which he has netted 20 points. The fourth Lobo to score in double figures was senior Dane Kuiper, who posted 10.

Jackson added a team-high six rebounds to his 27 points and drew nine fouls on the night. He was also one of six Lobos to accumulate four or more fouls.

The Lobos outshot NMSU in every category including 59.6 - 56.6 percent from the field, 55.0 - 52.2 percent from behind the arc and 70.0 - 66.7 percent from the foul line, but the Aggies' redshirt-junior AJ Harris went an unstopable 9-for-11 from the field, 6-for-6 from 3-point range and 7-for-10 from the free throw line to total 31 points, leading NMSU to victory. NMSU also knocked in 26 free throws compared to 21 for UNM, accounting for the four-point differential.

"First, thank you so much to all of the fans that came out today," head coach Paul Weir said in a press conference. "It was an exceptional sign of how far I think we've grown and where our program is hopefully headed. Unfortunately, the result is not what we wanted. It's incredibly disappointing, and inevitably that falls on me."

The teams remained within three points over the first five minutes until the Lobos began to pull ahead on a Mathis three and a jumper by sophomore Vladimir Pinchuk, making the score 13-5 for an eight-point lead, the most for UNM of the day.

The Aggies closed the gap and claimed a one-point advantage, 14-13, with 9:46 left in the first half and extended it to six at the break, 44-38. It was the first time the Lobos have been down at the half so far this season as UNM has tied its opponents heading into the break in both of its first two regular-season games.

Mathis cut the six-point deficit to three within the first 12 seconds of the second half (44-41) to set the tone, but NMSU took off on a 16-3 run over the ensuing 4:34 to get back out to a commanding 16-point lead, 60-44.

It was then that Manigault took the game into his own hands, scoring the next 10 points for the Lobos on three field goals and four free throws. Manigault scored eight points in 56 seconds including a 5-0 run to reduce the deficit to 11, 49-60, before he was substituted at the 13:02 mark with NMSU leading by 13, 65-52.

Manigault was off the floor for 1:42 during which the Lobos endured a scoring drought and allowed the Aggies to pull back ahead by 19. Manigault returned and hit a jumper at the 10:36 mark to cut it back to 17 as UNM continued to battle.

With the Aggies up by 19 for the third time in the contest, the Lobos erupted for a 16-5 run over 3:15 to cut the score back to single digits, 80-72, with 5:12 on the clock. After suffering another barrage of Aggie points, UNM cut another 14-point deficit down to eight over 1:15 on a pair of freebies by Mathis and Jackson as well as a pair of Mathis free throws with 1:10 left, 92-84.

The score was 96-89 with just 34 seconds left on the clock and the game looked over until Jackson hit a huge three to make it a four-point game followed by a Weir timeout.

Mathis notched a layup out of the timeout to make it a two-point game with seven seconds left but with little time left on the clock, the Lobos were forced to play the foul game, allowing for a pair of free throws from NMSU for the 98-94 final.

The Lobos caught 14 turnovers, committing 15, and collected eight steals to six for NMSU. The Aggies capitalized on turnovers for 23 points compared to 18 for UNM while the Lobos outscored NMSU 32-30 in the paint.

UNM has a week to recuperate before returning to action on Saturday, Nov. 24 when hosts UTEP at 5:30 p.m. on the Mountain West Network.

Game 4 - New Mexico 84, UTEP 78
Nov. 24, 2018 | Dreamstyle Arena - The Pit
Lobos Move to 3-1 with 84-78 Win Over UTEP

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. --- Over 11,000 Lobo fans got another close one to watch on Saturday night as The University of New Mexico men's basketball team pulled off an 84-78 victory over the visiting UTEP Miners inside Dreamstyle Arena - The Pit. Senior Anthony Mathis led UNM with 18 points while racking up four 3-pointers for the fourth straight game.

Mathis entered the matchup ranked 15th in the nation in 3-pointers per game at 4.0. The game also marked the fourth straight in which the Lobos (3-1) have had at least four players score in double figures. Mathis led the pack and was followed by sophomore Makuach Maluach (13), redshirt-sophomore Vance Jackson (12) and sophomore Vladimir Pinchuk (10).

"Great game on a lot of levels. Obviously to get over the disappointment of our last home game, but to get a crowd like that today, meant a lot," head coach Paul Weir said. "It meant a lot to me personally and it meant a lot to our guys. Quite honestly, I prefaced them all week that we might have lost some fans with what we did last weekend. To have our fans respond like that, it's just a blessing to be a Lobo."

Weir registered his 50th career win with Saturday night's victory over UTEP, his 22nd as a Lobo.

UNM held the Miners (2-3) to just seven points over the first 7:04 but offensively started just as slow. The Lobos failed to register a single point until a Jackson three at the 12:23 mark, meaning UNM fans stood for 7:37 in anticipation of a Lobo point.

"I'd be lying if I said I loved where we are at, but we're winning and this was a game a year ago that quite frankly we would have lost. So, there is growth in that regard and hopefully we'll be able to grow here as the season progresses," Weir said.

For the fourth straight game, Jackson led UNM in rebounds with five, tied with Pinchuk, while Jackson and freshman Drue Drinnon each posted four assists. Drinnon's team-high four assists came in just 11 minutes on the court. Last game he racked up a team-best four assists in 14.

Following Jackson's first Lobo bucket, UNM went scoreless for another 3:11 while UTEP got to its biggest lead of the game, 11 points (14-3), with 9:27 left in the first half. The teams went back-and-forth but the Lobos entered the locker room down five after a Drinnon layup with 36 seconds left, 34-29.

At the end of the first frame, the best shooting team in the Mountain West (54.1 percent) was shooting just 23.3 percent from the field (7-30), but still firing 42.9 percent from behind the arc (3-7). The first half also saw both teams combine for 25 fouls including a trio of technicals (one was a double).

UNM opened the second half on a 9-5 scoring advantage capped by Maluach's third 3-pointer of the night to cut the UTEP lead to two, 40-38, at the 16:36 mark. The Miners again extended their lead to seven before the Lobos cut it back to two and ultimately took the lead.

Down by four, 53-49, with 12:36 left to play, Mathis drilled back-to-back threes within 21 seconds, his first and second of the game, to close the UTEP lead to one, 53-52, and then take the lead 55-53. The teams would tie it twice before the end of 40 minutes, but the Lobos did not trail again.

Mathis' three was part of a 14-4 run that ended with a Jackson free throw and a four-point Lobo advantage, 57-53. During the 4:05 span, UNM went 4-for-5 from the floor including a momentum-turning dunk by redshirt-sophomore Keith McGee. Pinchuk collected a steal at the other end of the floor, tossed it to Drinnon who drove toward the basket but at the last second, passed to McGee who went up for two (47-49 UTEP).

The teams tied the score at 57-57 and again at 59-59 before the Lobos began to pull away with a 7-0 run that was capped by another Mathis three to make it 67-60 at the 6:28 mark. Mathis scored just two points in the first half and finished with 16 in the second.

UTEP got it as close as two with 2:03 left, 74-72 Lobos, but a three from senior Dane Kuiper stretched UNM's lead back to five, 77-72. With 43 seconds left on the clock, UTEP cut it back to three, 79-76, but Mathis' fourth three of the night with 20 seconds left proved to be a dagger for the Lobos, 82-76 UNM. UTEP's Nigel Hawkins made a layup at the other end with 13 seconds left but a Miner foul sent Mathis to the line for two more and the 84-78 final.

On the night, UNM finished shooting 44.8 percent from the floor, marking the first time this season that the Lobos have shot under 50 percent. Maluach shot 4-for-9 from the floor, 3-for-4 from behind the arc while Mathis was 5-for-7 overall, 4-for-4 from 3-point range and 4-for-5 from the free throw line.

The Lobos once again debuted a new starting lineup consisting of a pair of freshmen, a pair of sophomores and one senior leader in Mathis. The lineup marked the first official starts for freshmen Drue Drinnon and Jordan Arroyo. Arroyo started in UNM's exhibition contest against Northern New Mexico, but this was his first that will count in the books. Pinchuk remains the only consistent starter for the Lobos as the only player to have started all four games this season.

After four straight home contests, the Lobos are set to hit the road next Saturday with the Missouri Valley/Mountain West Challenge game at Bradley on Dec. 1. At Saturday's game in Ili-nois, Lobo assistant coach Jerome Robinson will be inducted to his alma mater's Hall of Fame.

Game 5 - New Mexico 85, Bradley 75
Dec. 1, 2018 | Carver Arena
Mathis Nets Seven Threes to Lead UNM Past Bradley

PEORIA, Ill. --- The University of New Mexico men's basketball team earned an 85-75 victory over Bradley University on the road on Saturday night. Senior Anthony Mathis, who averaged 4.0 3-pointers per game prior to Saturday, scored seven on the night en route to 23 points to lead the Lobos.

With the victory, UNM improves to 4-1 while Bradley slips to 6-3.

Saturday's game also marked the finale of the 2018 Mountain West / Missouri Valley Challenge. Prior to the game, the Mountain West was down 5-4, but the Lobo victory made it 5-5 and marked the third consecutive season that the challenge resulted in a tie.

Also of note on the night, Lobo assistant coach and Bradley alum Jerome Robinson was officially inducted into the Braves' Hall of Fame for his outstanding accomplishments during his time at Bradley.

Mathis led UNM with his 23 points, 18 of which came on six 3-pointers in the first half, to finish just two points short of his career high (25). He was followed by junior Corey Manigault who scored 18 and fellow senior Dane Kuiper who tallied 15. Manigault registered the only double-double on the floor for the night with 18 points and 11 rebounds. He went 4-for-9 from the floor and 10-for-11 from the free throw line. Kuiper was 6-for-10 from the floor, 2-for-5 from behind the arc and 1-for-1 from the stripe.

Much like the first few games of the season, the Lobos started out slow on Saturday and even got behind by as much as 11 points before roaring back to take the lead and claim the victory.

"You have to tip your cap to Bradley, I thought the first five or so minutes of the game was terrific and I thought the last 8-10 minutes was a very good basketball team working to get back," head coach Paul Weir said. "Fortunately that 20-25 minutes or so in the middle, we were really able to establish our style of play and do it in such a way that it overcame that last 15 minutes that we still have to improve upon."

Bradley entered the contest on an 11-0 run over the first 2:34 on a starting lineup that consisted of a trio of freshmen, Tavian Percy, Drue Drinnon and Jordan Arroyo, along with Kuiper and sophomore Makuach Maluach. A jumper from sophomore Vladimir Pinchuk, who until Saturday night was UNM's lone consistent starter, at the 16:44 mark started the scoring for UNM.

The Lobos were quick to get back in it, however, taking a 10-point Brave lead (14-4) down to two (16-14) within 2:56 on a 10-2 run. The run included a pair of threes from Mathis.

A three from Bradley's Nate Kennel at the 8:28 mark put the Braves up by four, 22-18, but a Mathis 3-pointer just 38 seconds later brought the Lobos within one, 22-21.

Mathis followed with another less than a minute later to give the Lobos their first lead of the game, 24-22. Bradley's Dwayne Lautier-Ogunleye made a jumper to tie it at 24-24 before Mathis followed with yet another from behind the arc, his fifth of the game to take a three-point lead that the Lobos never again relinquished.

UNM extended the first-half lead to eight with 2:46 left on a jumper and a dunk by Manigault before Bradley whittled it back to four, 36-32.

The Lobo seniors closed the first half in style as Dane Kuiper dunked with 46 seconds left and Mathis hit his sixth three of the night with nine seconds on the clock for a nine-point lead at the half, 41-32.

UNM held onto a double-digit advantage for most of the second half en route to the 85-75 victory. It was Kuiper and Manigault that led the Lobos in the second frame. Kuiper scored 11 points including a pair of 3-pointers while Manigault scored twice from the floor and added eight free throws for 12 second-half points.

The Lobos turned Bradley over 15 times, including - in a two-minute span during UNM's first-half run.

For just the second time this season, UNM outrebounded its opponent, 40-33. The Lobos also outperformed their opponent in every category: UNM was 43.3 percent (26-60) from the field, 37.5 percent (12-32) from 3-point range and 87.5 percent (21-24) from the free throw line.

UNM held Bradley to 43.1 percent from the floor (25-58), 35 percent from three (35 percent) and Bradley shot 62.1 percent from the free throw line.

Bradley outscored the Lobos in the paint 32-24 and off of turnovers 17-15, but UNM held the advantage in second-half points, 16-11, and in points off of the bench, 60-11. Mathis' 23 points ranks him tied for 13th in program history with most points off the bench.

Both the Braves and the Lobos had three players score in double figures. Mathis led all players on the night but the other 20-point scorer on the floor was Bradley's Darrell Brown, who posted 20 on 7-for-15 from the field and 3-for-6 from behind the arc. Lautier-Ogunleye followed with 16 and standout Elijah Childs was held to 13.

The Lobos return to action on Tuesday, Dec. 4 when they take on New Mexico State in Las Cruces. Tipoff is set for 7 p.m.

Lobos Fall to Saint Mary's in BHOFF Classic

LOS ANGELES, Calif. --- The University of New Mexico men's basketball team dropped a 25-point contest to Saint Mary's (CA) on Friday night, 80-65, at the STAPLES Center in Los Angeles, Calif. in the 2018 Basketball Hall of Fame Classic. The Lobos were led by redshirt-sophomore Vance Jackson who scored 12 points and tallied eight rebounds.

"These last two games have been exposing to us in a lot of ways that we're not where we want to be," head coach Paul Weir said. "(Right now) we're 4-3, we've won some games that I was really really happy about, we've lost two games by incredibly wide margins, and we just have to keep pushing forward from here.

"Hopefully the reps that we're getting these guys, just like the reps for the guys last year, will allow us to grow as the season unfolds and make us a really good team as the season unfolds."

Just two Lobos scored in double figures on the night including Jackson and sophomore Makuach Maluach (10), followed by sophomore Vladimir Pinchuk (9). Saint Mary's (6-4) was led by a trio of double-digit scorers including Jordan Ford who went 10-for-15 from the floor en route to 28 points. Hunter was followed by Malik Fits (15) and Tommy Kuhse (10).

The Lobos (4-3) were outshot 34.8 - 60.0 percent from the floor and 15.4 - 33.3 percent from 3-point range. Seniors Anthony Mathis and Dane Kuiper combined for 0-11 behind the arc, contributing to UNM's season-low four 3-pointers on the night. Friday night's game marks the first time this season the Lobos have failed to reach 10 or more threes.

Like the last couple of matchups, UNM got out to a slow start, getting behind by 15 points in the first 6:35 by a score of 19-4. Saint Mary's eventually pushed the lead to 17 with 7:41 left in the first but the Lobos went on an 8-2 run that included four points by Pinchuk and layups from Maluach and redshirt-sophomore Keith McGee to make it an 11-point game, 35-24.

The Gaels hit a free throw but freshman Drue Drinnon followed with a three at the 3:02 mark to cut the Saint Mary's lead back to single digits, 36-27. The comeback was short lived however, as the Gaels once again increased their lead and finished the half on top by 14, 43-29.

At halftime, UNM was shooting 38.7 percent from the floor and 20.0 percent from 3-point range compared to 53.8 and 20.0 percent for the Gaels. Mathis and Kuiper went scoreless throughout the first half including an 0-for-4 mark from behind the arc for Mathis. Kuiper registered three fouls early and saw action in just 15 minutes on the night.

The Lobos looked to capitalize on some carryover momentum from near the end of the first half, but Saint Mary's quickly dispelled that hope. The Gaels exploded for a 13-0 run, forcing Coach Weir to call a timeout, and converted it to a 17-1 run to make it a 30-point game, 60-30, just four minutes into the half.

It was then that Mathis registered his first (and only) points of the game on back-to-back jumpers. The Gaels held a 25+ lead for the remainder of the game.

UNM turned the ball over just 10 times on the night and turned over Saint Mary's 15 times. Ten turnovers marks the least of any game so far this season for the Lobos while the next lowest of the season was 11 against NM State on Tuesday night - two of UNM's largest losses.

The Lobos were missing junior Corey Manigault on Friday night, sitting out due to a pregame incident that occurred Tuesday night. Manigault averages 12.8 points per game.

UNM returns to action on Tuesday night (December 11) at home against Colorado. Tipoff is scheduled for 7 p.m. on ESPN2.

Dec. 11, 2018 | Dreamstyle Arena - The Pit

Lobos Edged by Colorado in Last-Minute Thriller

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. --- The University of New Mexico men's basketball team trailed by just one point with seven seconds left on the clock against Pac-12 opponent Colorado on Tuesday night in Dreamstyle Arena - The Pit, but the Buffaloes closed the game with a pair of free throws to win it 78-75. Tuesday's game was featured on ESPN2 and played in front of nearly 11,000 fans.

UNM, which led for over 32 minutes on the night, was once again led by senior Anthony Mathis who registered his third 20-point game of the season with 23 before fouling out in the final seconds. He was followed offensively by senior Dane Kuiper (11) and redshirt-sophomore Vance Jackson (10).

Mathis was back in full force Tuesday night going 4-for-4 from deep and 4-for-5 from the floor in the first frame. He finished 7-for-10 from 3-point range on the night matching his career high.

The Lobos (4-4) jumped out to an early lead on the Buffaloes (8-1), getting ahead by as much as 17 points with 7:07 left in the first before Colorado began to close the gap. UNM led by nine at the half after CU's Deleon Brown hit a long three at the buzzer to cut a 12-point Lobo lead down to single digits.

In the first half, the Lobos embarked on an 11-0 run and fired at a clip of 45.7 percent from the floor while holding the Buffaloes to 36.4 percent. From 3-point range, UNM shot 41.7 percent in the first half compared to 27.3 for the Buifs. The Lobos were explosive in the first half, racking up 43 points while causing 12 turnovers for 25 points at head coach Paul Weir's targeted break-neck speed. The Lobo energy faded in the second half however, as UNM forced just one more turnover through the final 20 minutes.

"We had 10 deflections in the second half and forced one turnover. We got out to an early lead which is unusual for us. Early leads don't mean anything," Weir said. "The first half was a good 20 minutes, they might have been 20 of our better minutes of basketball on the season but when you have 10 deflections in a half you're never going to win a game.

"Our energy dropped as if we didn't know how to play with a lead and we missed some 50/50 balls that could have gotten us a few more (deflections). Hopefully we will be able to fix this going forward."

In the second half, UNM built a 14-point lead at the 15:54 mark with a 7-0 run that included layups from freshman Drue Drinnon and junior Karim Ezzeddine, as well as a three for Mathis to make it 52-38 Lobos.

Colorado whittled UNM's lead down to four over the ensuing 4:58 to make it a 52-48 game with 10:56 left. The game remained a single-digit game.

The Buffaloes continued the comeback and made it a one-point game with 8:53 left before Mathis and Jackson hit threes on a 6-2 Lobo run to push the Lobo lead back to five. Colorado responded with the next five to tie the game at 64-64 on a pair of free throws by CU's Namon Wright. The Buffaloes added two more points on a layup from McKinley Wright to take the lead, 66-64, with 4:33 left. Colorado never relinquished the advantage.

Colorado extended its lead to six for its largest lead of the game with 1:35 left but the Lobos cut it back to one, 76-75, with seven seconds left on another pair of back-to-back threes from Mathis and Jackson along with a jumper from sophomore Vladimir Pinchuk.

With the clock winding down, Mathis committed his fifth foul to stop the clock with five seconds left. The Lobos attempted to overtake a narrow one-point deficit, but CU's Lucas Siwert hit both free throws to make it a three-point game.

The Lobos fired off one last shot, a long, contested three by Jackson at the buzzer, but it didn't fall and Colorado escaped with the 78-75 win.

On the night, UNM shot 41.4 percent from the floor compared to 41.9 percent for Colorado while the Lobos outshot the Buffaloes from 3-point range 40.0 - 26.3 percent. For the seventh game out of eight this season, UNM racked up at least 10 3-pointers (10-25). UNM was outrebounded 51-38 and capitalized on turnovers for 25 points compared to 13 for Colorado.

The Lobos are set to return to action on Sunday, Dec. 16 when they host Central Arkansas at 2 p.m. The game marks the first that highly-anticipated transfer Carlton Bragg will be eligible to compete.

Dec. 18, 2018 | Dreamstyle Arena - The Pit

Mathis Scores 20, Lobos Fall to (RV) North Texas

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. --- The University of New Mexico men's basketball team dropped a nine-point contest to (RV) North Texas on Tuesday night, 74-65, inside Dreamstyle Arena - The Pit. Senior Anthony Mathis led the Lobos in scoring for the fourth time this season with 20 points, also marking the fourth time this season he has scored 20 or more.

The Mean Green (11-1) is currently receiving votes in the Top 25 USA Today Poll and jumped out to an early lead over the Lobos (5-5), putting UNM at a nine-point disadvantage within the first six minutes. UNM made its first five points off of free throws, but failed to score from the floor until sophomore Makuach Maluach hit a three at the 12:53 mark to make it 12-8 UNT.

Mathis went 4-for-8 from the floor, 1-for-5 from three and went a perfect 11-for-11 from the foul line for a new career-high. Tuesday night marks his fourth game this season shooting perfect from the stripe.

Redshirt-sophomore Keith McGehee finished second on the squad with 11 points including a 3-for-5 showing from behind the arc. At the half, he was 3-for-3 in just 12:11 on the court. He was one of three Lobos to score in double figures including redshirt-sophomore Vance Jackson who posted 10 on 4-for-6 from the floor and 2-for-4 from 3-point range.

Defensively, UNM was outrebounded 31-29, led by redshirt-junior Carlton Bragg with seven in his second game of the season. He was followed by junior Corey Manigault (6) and Jackson (5). Bragg also collected three steals on the night en route to UNM's season-high nine.

"I thought for parts of the game we did really well. Unfortunately, offensively we couldn't get going in the first half, and we couldn't get any momentum behind us," head coach Paul Weir said. "The turnovers really hurt us and gave them a lot of break opportunities... (With) a team of that caliber, it's hard to overcome."

After North Texas built the early lead, the Lobos surged back to close a nine-point deficit in just 1:13 in the middle of the first half. Mathis was fouled on a three and hit all three from the stripe to make it 17-11 before McGehee hit a fast-break three to close it to three points, 17-14.

A Mathis steal led to yet another three from Jackson to tie it 17-17, capping the 9-0 run. North Texas responded with a 10-0 run over 2:51 however, reclaiming the lead 27-17 with 5:41 left in the half. UNM went on a 10-2 run to close it back to a two-point game, 29-27, before UNT took off for a six-point differential at the half, 35-29.

UNM was held shooting at just 28.6 percent from the floor in the first frame but fired 41.7 percent from three and 92.3 percent from the free throw line. North Texas shot 46.7 from the floor in the first half but just 30.0 percent behind the arc and 57.1 percent from the stripe.

In the second half, the Lobo defense held UNT without a bucket for nearly three minutes before allowing the Mean Green to increase a five-point lead to 12 at the 15:37 mark (42-30). The Lobos would get no closer than four of the rest of the way as North Texas posted its largest lead of 13 with 5:41 left on the clock.

While UNM posted its second-lowest point total on the season in the contest (65), North Texas's defensive unit entered Tuesday's game allowing just 58.7 points per game. UNM finished shooting 36.4 percent from the floor, 30.4 percent from three and 83.9 percent from the free throw line.

UNM was outrebounded in the paint 44-18 and in second-chance points 16-9. The Lobos forced 17 turnovers but committed 21.

New Mexico returns to action on Saturday night as it faces 2018 NCAA Tournament team Penn, continuing the competitive holiday home stand at Dreamstyle Arena - The Pit at 2 p.m.

Lobo Comeback Not Enough, Penn Prevails 75-65

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. --- After going down by as many as 15 points early in the first half, The University of New Mexico men's basketball team tied it up, took the lead and threatened Penn until the final minutes on Saturday afternoon in Dreamstyle Arena - The Pit, but the Quakers ultimately broke a 61-61 tie with six minutes left to win it 75-65.

The Lobos were outshot 47.5 percent to 39.3 percent from the floor while finishing a season-low 43.5 percent (10-23) from the free-throw line. Despite its offensive struggles on Saturday, UNM debuted a new zone defense that helped even out points in the paint as Penn outscored the Lobos down low just 38-30.

"(The zone) was great in the first half, at almost double the success rate of our man (defense), but early in the second half they were scoring against our man (defense)," head coach Paul Weir said. "We probably stayed in the zone a little too long, and I thought Penn got into a little bit of a rhythm there towards the end of the second half."

"I really believe in this team... We have enough. We did some things today that hinted at what I need to work on to piece the team together further."

For the fifth time this season, UNM had four Lobos score in double figures led by senior Anthony Mathis, redshirt-junior Carlton Bragg, and redshirt-sophomore Keith McGehee, who each posted 13 points. Redshirt-sophomore Vance Jackson scored 10 and finished two rounds short of a double-double with eight rebounds.

Jackson and Manigault led in rebounds with eight apiece followed by Bragg who collected seven for his third-straight game. The Lobos and the Quakers each emerged with 41 rebounds on the night while UNM posted 13 offensive boards to just nine for Penn.

Penn jumped out to an early 10-point lead (12-2) in the first 6:18 and extended the lead to 15 points at the 12:24 mark (19-4) for the largest Quaker lead of the game.

The Lobos responded with a 20-5 run over 6:43 to tie the game at 24-24 with 5:41 left in the half. The run included 10-straight points by Mathis on a pair of free throws, a pair of threes and a jumper to make it a seven-point game 21-14.

The run continued with a pair of free throws by Manigault, a Jackson 3-pointer, a Mathis fast-break three and was capped by a layup from sophomore Vladimir Pinchuk, assisted by Jackson.

The Quakers went up by two on a jump shot by the game's second-leading scorer Michael Wang (19 points) before a three from Jackson gave the Lobos their first lead of the game, 27-26 with 5:28 to go in the half.

The teams went back and forth throughout the remainder of the half and the Quakers reclaimed the lead and extended it to six points before Jackson made it a four-point game with 47 seconds left for the 42-38 halftime score.

UNM came out of the break with a fast-break layup from Bragg to make it a two-point game, 42-40 Penn, and UNM kept the Quaker offense in check, allowing just a six-point advantage through the first 4:26.

Penn made it an eight-point game at the 14:37 mark before UNM embarked on another comeback run, going 9-0 to take a one-point lead on back-to-back threes from McGehee and freshman Druce Drinnon at the 11:06 mark.

UNM went down by three with 10:08 left but powered back for another one-point advantage on a Bragg layup, 57-56, for the Lobos' last lead of the game.

The squads tied twice more at 59-59 and 61-61 before the Lobo steam ran out and Penn closed on a 14-4 run for the 10-point win.

"Our coaches are putting us in the right position to be successful," Mathis said. "We need to get a little bit more disciplined and we need to get better at finishing out games. That will come with experience and we'll learn how to finish some basketball games."

The Lobos are set to return to action on Sunday, Dec. 30 as they travel to Hobbs, N.M. to take on the University of the Southwest at Ralph Tasker Arena. Tipoff is scheduled for 2 p.m.

Lobos Take Down Southwest in Historic Hobbs Game

HOBBS, N.M. --- The University of New Mexico men's basketball team used a 31-point halftime lead to earn an eventual 103-47 victory over the University of the Southwest on Sunday afternoon in Hobbs at the historic Ralph Tasker Arena. The victory marks the first regular-season game of 2018-19 that the Lobos have amassed 100 points.

With the win, the Lobos improve to 6-6 on the season while USW falls to 3-9.

UNM was led by senior Anthony Mathis who dropped a game-high 18 points on six 3-pointers, followed by redshirt-sophomore Vance Jackson who tallied 16 that included three 3-pointers and a 6-for-10 mark from the field.

Mathis and Jackson were two of four Lobos to score in double figures including redshirt-junior Carlton Bragg (12) and freshman Tavian Percy (10). Percy's 10 points and six rebounds marked career highs in a career-most 22 minutes on the floor.

All 12 players that suited up on Sunday entered the contest, including all four freshmen. Freshman Druce Drinnon tallied a career-high 12 assists with no turnovers to go along with seven points. Twelve assists in a single game is just one short of cracking the top 10 for most assists in a single game in program history. Classmate Jordan Arroyo netted a career-best six points. Redshirt-freshman and transfer Clay Patterson also saw the court marking his first appearance of the season.

The contest in Hobbs was an exciting one for Lobo fans as the night was full of history - along with a plethora of dunks, alley oops and even a behind-the-back pass down low from Drinnon to Arroyo. The Lobos rebounded from the Dec. 22 game against Penn in which they shot just 43.5 percent from the free throw line and demonstrated their proficiency from the stripe at a more-regular 77.8 percent (14-18).

On the defensive end, junior Karim Ezzeddine racked up a game-high 10 rebounds, nearly grabbed a double-double with eight points. UNM came down with the most boards of the season at 55.

"The reason we created this game was to merge our two basketball communities... there's a lot of similarities," head coach Paul Weir said. "I'm hoping this can be the start of a lot of good things, not only basketball-wise but community-wise, enrollment-wise... just good feelings between these two basketball communities."

"We've been making some schematic changes and this became a really good game for us to go out and continue to practice things that are new to us and almost give us an exhibition game kind of like it would be in the beginning of the season."

The Lobos got out to a swift start, jumping out to a 10-point lead in just the first three minutes (12-2). The Mustangs netted their first four points of the game off of free throws but it wasn't until the 12:53 mark that they registered their first field goal on a jumper in the paint by Chamar Morgan.

UNM made it a 20-point game on the first of two straight Dane Kuiper free throws at the 6:15 mark (33-13) and nearly made it a 30-point game on back-to-back threes from Mathis fueled by a Percy steal, 42-13 at the 4:34 mark.

A Drinnon three with 2:12 left in the first half finally put the Lobos ahead by 30 en route to a 31-point advantage at the break, 50-19.

Sunday's game marks the first time the Lobos have scored 50 points in the first half since scoring 58 at Colorado State on Feb. 28, 2018. USW put up just 19 points in the first half, marking the first time since Dec. 27, 2017 that UNM has limited an opponent to 20 points or less in the first frame.

The Lobos continued the offensive dominance in the second half and went on a game-best 21-point run from the 14:02 mark to the 7:16 mark (86-31). The run lasted 21 points and the USW scoring drought lasted 6:46.

The Mustangs never overcame the 50+ point deficit and UNM finished with a final score of 103-47, allowing the final jumper by USW with just 37 seconds left on the clock.

On the day, the Lobos shot 48.1 percent from the floor, 36.1 percent from three, while Southwest shot at a rate of 30.4 percent from the floor and 36.4 from 3-point range.

UNM returns to action on Wednesday, Jan. 2 when it kicks off conference play on the road at Air Force at 7 p.m. MT.

Game 13 - New Mexico 65, Air Force 58
Jan. 1, 2019 | Clune Arena

Lobos Open MW Play 1-0, Top Air Force 65-58

USAF ACADEMY, COLO. --- The University of New Mexico men's basketball team extended its Mountain West opener win streak to eight on Wednesday night with a 65-58 victory over Air Force on the road. After being held scoreless throughout the first half, senior Anthony Mathis led the Lobos with 17 second-half points.

With the win, UNM improves to 7-6, 1-0 MW, while Air Force slips to 5-8, 0-1 MW.

The Lobos had four players register double figures on the night including Mathis, who scored 13 straight points, redshirt-sophomore Vance Jackson (14), sophomore Makuach Maluach (12) and senior Dane Kuiper (10). Redshirt-junior Carlton Bragg finished with a season-high nine rebounds while Maluach was second on the squad with seven.

Air Force junior Lavelle Scottie led the Falcons with 20 points.

In a strong defensive showing, the Lobos and the Falcons kept it close at the onset, tying the game three times over the first 10:34, the final time at just 15-15 with 9:26 left in the first half. During that stretch, the Falcons got out to a five-point lead, 13-8, on a 9-0 run that included a trio of jumpers from Lavelle.

Kuiper tied it up with a jumper at 15 apiece before a Falcon layup gave the home team a one-point advantage. Kuiper followed it up with a three to put UNM back up by one, a lead the Lobos would not relinquish. Kuiper went right back at it on the other end of the floor with a steal and a couple of quick passes up the court which allowed junior Corey Manigault a slam dunk for a three-point lead.

The Lobos continued on an 11-0 run to extend the lead to nine with 6:20 left. UNM got out in front by as many as 11 points during the remainder of the half but went into the locker room on top by nine, 29-38.

At the break, the Lobos were outshooting Air Force 46.7 - 35.3 percent from the floor and 35.3 - 16.7 percent from behind the arc. Jackson led UNM with 13 points in the first half, followed by Maluach who posted 10, each with a pair of threes.

The Lobos added 27 points in the second half, 17 of which were from Mathis who exploded in the second frame. The senior went 3-for-7 from behind the arc and 5-for-10 from the floor. The nationally-ranked free-throw shooter also went a perfect 4-for-4 from the stripe. Bragg racked up six of his rebounds in the second half while collecting a pair of blocks.

After getting ahead by 13 points with 13:20 left to play, UNM's lead was overcome by another Air Force run as they cut the Lobos' lead to just four with 5:47 left and then to three with 1:05 left on the clock (61-58).

A foul by Air Force's Ryan Swan with 23 seconds left forced Mathis to take a pair of clutch free throws, increasing the Lobo lead to five, 63-58. Mathis then turned Air Force's Sid Tomes over with 12 seconds left on the wing and held on for the foul. He netted two more points from the stripe to clinch the 65-58 victory.

The Lobos turned the ball over 19 times while holding 14. Air Force held an advantage in points in the paint (38-18), points off of turnovers (20-14) and fast-break points (8-2).

On the night, UNM outshot the Falcons 43.4 - 38.1 percent while holding Air Force to just 13.3 percent from behind the arc (2-for-15) and shooting 34.6 from 3-point range (9-for-26).

The Lobos are back in action on Saturday when they host No. 5/6 Nevada at Dreamstyle Arena - The Pit at 6 p.m. on ESPNU.

Lobos Rout Undefeated No. 5/6 Nevada, 85-58

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. --- The University of New Mexico men's basketball team handed No. 5/6 Nevada its first loss of the season on Saturday evening at home in Dreamstyle Arena - The Pit. The 27-point win breaks the UNM record for largest victory margin over a top-10 ranked team, surpassing the previous record of 20 points set on Jan. 29, 1974 against No. 8 New Mexico State (88-68).

The game also marks the first time the Lobos topped a ranked team since Jan. 3, 2015 when UNM claimed a 66-53 win over No. 24 Colorado State in Albuquerque and snaps Nevada's four-game win streak in the series.

"This was about players. These guys played their butts off and bought into what I'm selling," head coach Paul Weir said. "I am happy for them. I am happy that they get to enjoy this moment."

The Lobos (8-6, 2-0 MW) were powered by a career-high 27 points from senior Anthony Mathis and a near triple-double for redshirt-sophomore Vance Jackson who tallied 18 points, 10 rebounds and seven assists. Jackson was one of two Lobos to register double-figures on the boards including redshirt-junior Carlton Bragg who racked up 12 rebounds and nine points along with a pair of blocks.

Nevada (14-1, 1-1 MW) entered the contest as one of just four undefeated teams in NCAA DI and allowed just 66.1 points per game of opponents so far this season. Nevada also entered the game averaging just 5.7 turnovers per game and the Lobos turned them over 14 times while committing just nine, tying the season low.

The Lobos held Wolf Pack leading scorer, Preseason MW Player of the Year and Preseason All-American Caleb Martin to just eight points on the night (2-for-14).

Sporting brand new, gold, "We Are New Mexico" jerseys, the Lobos got out to a strong start defensively and did not let up. Nevada scored its first basket 1:23 into the contest but did not score again until the 16:29 mark to make the score 3-2 just 3:31 into the game.

The Lobos then embarked on a 20-6 run over 7:52 to take a 13-point lead, 22-9, over the historically-comeback-proficient Wolf Pack. Nevada cut it back to single digits at 24-16, but UNM pushed the lead back to 15 on four points by senior Dane Kuiper, a layup by sophomore Vladimir Pinchuk and a three from Mathis, 33-18 with 2:27 left.

The teams went back and forth for the rest of the half and with UNM up 15 (38-23), Nevada's Jazz Johnson hit a three at the buzzer to make it a 12-point Lobo advantage at the break.

UNM fired at a clip of 45.9 percent from the field in the first half and 30.8 percent from 3-point range while holding Nevada to 37.9 from the field, 30.0 percent from behind the arc.

The second half kicked off much like the first in a strong defensive showing by both squads as the first bucket was a Wolf Pack alley-oop at the 18:27 mark. Nevada scored three straight points to cut UNM's lead back to single digits (38-29, 17:57) but a Jackson jumper outside the paint, a pair of Nevada's Jordan Caroline free throws and a pair of Mathis free throws put UNM back up by 11, 42-31, and UNM did not again relinquish the double-digit lead.

The teams kept the game within 16 points until sophomore Makuach Maluach hit a three at the 7:48 mark to make it a 19-point game, 64-45. The basket marked the beginning of a 10-3 run that included another pair of threes from Maluach and Jackson, 74-48, 5:40 left.

UNM continued to pile on the points building almost a 30-point lead with 2:35 remaining on a Mathis three, and again at 1:44 on a Mathis free throw, 85-56.

Nevada's Cody Martin hit one last fast-break layup for the 85-58 final with 1:36 left on the clock.

On the night, UNM outshot the Wolf Pack 45.6 percent to 33.3 percent. The Lobos also scored 20 points off of Nevada turnovers compared to just five points for the Wolf Pack.

The Lobos are set to return to action on Tuesday, Jan. 8, when they host UNLV at 9 p.m. on ESPNZ.

Lobos Fall to UNLV in Final Minutes Tuesday

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. --- Following a historic victory over top-10 ranked Nevada on Saturday, The University of New Mexico men's basketball team was outscored in the final minutes by UNLV on Tuesday night, tallying its first conference loss of the season, 80-69. The Lobos are now 2-1 in Mountain West play.

The Lobos (8-7, 2-1 MW) led for 19:40 in the contest that saw 17 lead changes. The Runnin' Rebels (9-6, 3-0 MW) led for 15:57 including the final 9:04. UNM led by as much as nine in the first half with a seven-point advantage at the break before UNLV outscored the Lobos by 18 in the second half for the eventual 11-point victory.

"I thought UNLV played terrific tonight and unfortunately, we did not play anywhere near the level that we need to play to win a game like this against a good team," head coach Paul Weir said.

"I thought the pace was good, but their pressure bothered us, particularly on the perimeter. We unfortunately couldn't get anything consistent at the defensive end to get through an off night."

New Mexico was led by four players scoring in double figures including redshirt-sophomore Vance Jackson (14), junior Corey Manigault (13), redshirt-junior Carlton Bragg (12) and sophomore Makuach Maluach (12) marking the eighth time this season that UNM has had four or more Lobos score in double figures.

Bragg led the team on the glass with a team-high seven rebounds while Manigault added five boards and three steals.

Lobo leading scorer Anthony Mathis was held to just nine points including 2-for-10 from behind the arc, but he racked up four assists and pulled down three boards.

UNLV was led by senior and leading scorer Kris Clyburn who managed 25 points against the Lobo zone defense. He went 8-for-13 from the floor including 2-for-2 from three and 7-for-7 from the free throw line.

The Lobos came out with a fast start, winning the tip and racing down the court where Maluach drained a three just 16 seconds into the matchup. UNLV did not match it until a minute later, at the 18:45 mark and the teams were off.

At the 9:47 mark, the teams tied it up for the sixth time at 23 apiece and UNLV got out to a three-point advantage on a fast-break layup by Bryce Hamilton and a free throw by Joel Ntambwe. It was then that Bragg went off, scoring eight straight points on a trio of low hook shots and a pair of free throws for an 8-0 Lobo run to put UNM back on top by five, 31-26 with 6:13 left in the half. He finished the first half with eight points in just four minutes due to early foul trouble.

The Lobos got ahead by as much as nine with 56 seconds left on the clock with an 8-2 run to make it 42-33 before a pair of UNLV free throws made it a seven-point halftime score, 42-35 Lobos.

The Lobos outshot UNLV 56.7 percent to 42.9 percent from the floor in the first half, but finished getting outshot 50.0 percent to 41.8 including 46.2 - 22.2 from 3-point range. The last time the Lobos shot less than 30 percent from behind the arc was on Dec. 7 against Saint Mary's in the STAPLES Center.

Bragg came out of the break with a fast layup to push the UNM lead back to nine before UNLV embarked on an 8-0 run to make it a one point game with 17:20 left, 44-43.

The teams tied the score three more times until UNLV started to take command of the game, using a 7-2 run to get up by five with 8:39 left, 64-59.

Manigault scored four points as the teams went back and forth and a pair of Maluach free throws made it a one point game with 5:11 left 66-65 UNLV.

Over the next 2:36, the teams combined for just seven points and the Runnin' Rebels took off. UNLV was sparked by a three from Clyburn with 56 seconds left to make it a seven-point game and hit four straight free throws for an 11-point lead. Mathis hit one last layup before two more free throws for UNLV clinched the 11-point victory.

The Lobos are headed on the road for a pair of conference matchups at Colorado State on Saturday and at San Diego State on Tuesday.

Game 16 - New Mexico 76, Colorado State 91

Jan. 12, 2019 | Moby Arena

Jackson Posts Double-Double; Lobos Fall at CSU

FORT COLLINS, Colo. — Despite having four players score in double figures and redshirt-sophomore Vance Jackson register his third double-double of the season, The University of New Mexico men's basketball team fell to Colorado State by a score of 91-76 on Saturday afternoon on the road.

With the loss, the Lobos fall to 8-8, 2-2 MW, while CSU improves to 7-10, 2-2 MW.

Jackson led the Lobos with 18 points, 12 rebounds and four steals, followed by senior Anthony Mathis who, after scoring just five points in the first half (2-for-2, 1-for-1 from three), racked up 11 in the second half en route to 16 points.

The other two Lobos to hit double figures included sophomore Makuach Maluach who went 3-for-7 from three, and senior Dane Kuiper, who netted all 10 of his points in the first half going 4-for-7 from the floor, 2-for-5 from behind the arc to open the contest. He shot just once more in the second 20 minutes.

Colorado State had five players score in double figures, led by redshirt-junior Hyron Edwards who racked up a season-high 20 points in a season-most 28 minutes. The last time UNM allowed five scorers in double figures was on Nov. 24 against UTEP.

Both teams were on point from the floor throughout the game as neither fired below 40 percent for the entirety of the contest. The Lobos shot 47.3 percent on the day and entered Saturday's game 6-2 when scoring between 40.0 and 49.9 percent (2-1 in MW play). The Lobos also went 12-for-29 from behind the arc for 41.4 percent.

Despite the lofty Lobo numbers, Colorado State ultimately outshot UNM at 56.1 percent from the field and 46.7 percent from the lobos.

Turnovers again proved to be a problem for the Lobos as New Mexico turned the ball over 17 times to just nine for the Rams. Colorado State capitalized on UNM's miscues as it converted the 17 Lobo turnovers into 24 points in the eventual 15-point loss. The Rams also dominated in the paint, outscoring UNM 44-22 in the key.

"I thought they came out of the gate making a lot of really good shots," head coach Paul Weir said. "Toward the end of the first half and through most of the second half, I thought our defense was pretty good, unfortunately when you turn the ball over like that against a team with that kind of speed, you're not even giving yourselves a chance. Just to allow 24 points off of turnovers is hard for any defense."

The refs were quick to the whistle to kick off Saturday afternoon's matchup as Jackson registered his first point off of a free throw just 11 seconds into the game to put the Lobos on top 1-0. Three straight CSU 3-pointers however over a one-minute span quickly put the Rams up by eight at the 17:37 mark, 9-1.

A layup from Mathis and a successful and-1 for redshirt-sophomore Keith McGee cut the deficit back to three, 9-6, but the Rams pushed their lead to nine on a layup by their season's leading scorer Nico Carvacho. Mathis followed by hitting his first three of the night to cut it back to a six-point game, 19-13 with 13:36 left in play in the half.

The teams battled back and forth but Maluach hit a three at the 12:33 mark to make it a four-point game, 22-18, but CSU followed with a 12-5 run over the next 4:57 to get out to an 11-point advantage.

The Rams increased it to 13 before Kuiper and Jackson hit back-to-back threes within 26 seconds to make it a seven-point game, 42-35 with 1:20 left.

Despite an and-one from redshirt-junior Carlton Bragg with 21 seconds left, the Rams pushed the lead back to double figures, 48-38, at the half.

The Lobos cut the CSU lead back to single digits just twice more after the break, the last time at the 12:17 mark of the second half on a jumper by junior Corey Manigault, 57-49 Rams, before Colorado state went on a 7-0 run to make it a 16-point game, 65-49, and put the game out of reach. The Lobos would get no closer than 13, which came on the next play on a three from Jackson, 65-52.

Over the final 1:38, UNM cut a 25-point deficit down to 15 on a furious comeback rally attempt with threes from Mathis, Jackson and Maluach, along with a free throw from sophomore Vladimir Pinchuk, but it wasn't enough to overcome the Ram lead.

The Lobos were outscored by the Rams by a 10-point margin in the first half and a five-point margin in the second. On the day, the teams finished evenly matched on the glass, 31-30 in favor of the Rams. UNM shot 63.2 percent from the free-throw line (12-19) compared to 80.0 percent for CSU.

Other standouts on the day include McGee, who finished with eight points and a team-high five assists, along with Bragg who scored five points, registered six rebounds and posted one block.

The Lobos are set to return to action on Tuesday, Jan. 15 at San Diego State at 9 p.m. MT.

Game 17 - New Mexico 77, San Diego State 97

Jan. 15, 2019 | Viejas Arena

Mathis Scores 21, Defense Unravels in Final Half

SAN DIEGO, Calif. — After trailing by just five points at halftime, The University of New Mexico men's basketball team fell by a final score of 97-77 to defending Mountain West Champion San Diego State on the road on Tuesday night. Senior Anthony Mathis registered his sixth 20+ point game of the season and went 6-for-10 from behind the arc.

The loss marks the third straight for the Lobos (8-9, 2-3 MW) after topping then No. 5 New Mexico in exciting fashion in The Pit on Jan. 5. The win improves the Aztec record to 10-7, 2-2 in conference play.

Mathis went an outstanding 4-for-4 from behind the arc in the first half, along with a free throw, for a total of 13 early points. He finished the night 6-for-10 from 3-point range and went 3-for-4 from the line.

Mathis led four Lobos to score in double figures including redshirt-sophomore Vance Jackson, 16 points and a team-high six rebounds, as well as redshirt-junior Carlton Bragg (12 points), and senior Dane Kuiper (11 points). While starting sophomore Makuach Maluach did not continue his double-digit scoring streak, finishing with no points, he did lead the Lobos in assists with five.

UNM shot 42.9 percent from the floor, 40.6 percent from 3-point range including 13 made threes, but SDSU fired at a clip of 55.1 percent from the floor, 43.5 percent from behind the arc. Heading into Tuesday night's game, the Lobos were 6-3 when shooting over 40 percent from the floor. While 40 percent is usually enough for the Lobos to win, New Mexico has allowed the last three straight opponents to shoot 50 percent or better.

The Lobos got out to another slow start on Tuesday as the Aztecs jumped out to a 10-point lead, 17-7 at the 15:08 mark. After SDSU increased the lead to 11 at the 13:10 mark, the Lobos embarked on an exciting 11-2 run that included back-to-back threes from Mathis, the second allowed by a steal from Ezzeddine on the Aztec side of the court. The run also included a pair of free throws and a three from redshirt-sophomore Keith McGee, 21-19 SDSU with 11:20 left.

The Aztecs made it 23-19 before another Mathis three, his third in less than three minutes, made it a one-point game, 23-22, with 10:14 left to play in the first half.

The Lobos tied it up twice in the first half, the first at the 5:02 mark at 30-30 on a free throw by sophomore Vladimir Pinchuk to cap a 5-0 run, and the second at the 4:16 mark on a pair of free throws by Bragg (32-32).

With just 55 seconds left to play in the half, Bragg cut yet another SDSU four-point lead to two, 41-39 on a jumper before SDSU's Aguek Arop stole the ball under the Lobo basket with four seconds left. Arop sprinted toward half court, looked up at the clock as it dwindled, and fired a hail-Mary shot from the free throw line. The 3/4-court shot went in at the buzzer and the Aztecs were up at the half by five, 44-39.

"I thought the last play of the first half probably the first four minutes of the second half were the difference in the game," head coach Paul Weir said. "We were controlling the ball and they weren't making threes. Unfortunately in the beginning of the second half, we turned it over three times in the first four minutes and they started making threes."

The second half quickly got out of control as Bragg registered a layup to make it a three-point game out of the break, 44-41, but then SDSU's Devin Watson hit a pair of threes within 31 seconds to begin to squelch the Lobo momentum.

The Aztecs got out to a 10-point lead on another three from Watson with 16:58 left and Kuiper responded to cut the game back to single digits - twice - with a pair of back-to-back threes. His 3-pointer at the 14:47 mark to cut the game to eight points (57-49) was the last time the Lobos would keep the game within single digits.

SDSU responded by rattling off seven straight points and continued to pile them on for the eventual 20-point victory. SDSU got out by as many as 26 points with its little as 3:47 on the clock, but UNM's Jackson, Mathis, McGee and freshman Drue Drinnon put up a layup, a pair of threes and four free throws to get the game closer before time expired.

The Lobos turned the ball over 17 times on the night, compared to just 13 for SDSU. The Aztecs outscored UNM in the paint, 50-16, off of turnovers, 27-21 and in second-chance points, 18-10.

UNM is set to return to action on Saturday, Jan. 19 at home against Wyoming. Tipoff is scheduled for 4 p.m. MT and the game will be broadcast on ESPN3.

Game 18 - New Mexico 8

Game 19 - New Mexico 58, UNLV 74
Jan. 22, 2019 | Thomas & Mack Center

First Half Too Much, Lobos Fall at UNLV

LAS VEGAS, Nev. --- Despite being outscored by just four points in the second half, the first-half deficit was too much on Tuesday night as The University of New Mexico men's basketball team ultimately fell to UNLV by a final score of 74-58.

The loss comes after the Lobos claimed a 30-point victory over Wyoming on Saturday afternoon and marks the second time this season that the Runnin' Rebels have topped UNM immediately after a big win. The first was after UNM topped nationally-ranked Nevada by 27 points on Jan. 5.

With the loss, the Lobos slip to 9-10, 3-4 MW, while UNLV improves to 11-7, 5-1 in conference play.

Redshirt-sophomore Vance Jackson led the Lobos in scoring for the fourth time this season with 16 points while adding eight rebounds, three steals and an assist. Redshirt-sophomore Keith McGee and redshirt-junior Carlton Bragg each posted 12 points while Bragg registered his first double-double of the season adding 12 rebounds. Bragg also posted a trio of dunks.

Senior Anthony Mathis was held to just eight points on the night. The last time Mathis was held to single digits was on Jan. 8 against UNLV. The two games mark the only two in the last 12 games that the senior standout has been held below 10 points.

On the night, UNM was outshot 43.9 percent (25-58) to 35.5 percent (22-62) from the field and 56.0 percent (14-25) to 26.1 percent (6-23) from 3-point range. The Lobos did, however, outrebound the Runnin' Rebels 42-41. Prior to Tuesday night's game, UNM boasted a record of 6-0 when outrebounding its opponent.

The Lobo defense started the contest on fire, allowing just five points through the first 8:30 while getting out to a six-point lead, 11-5.

At the 8:59 mark, a three from UNLV's Nick Blair put the home team up by two, 16-14 before a layup from Jackson gave the teams the first tie at 16-16. The squads tied again at 17 and 18 before UNLV took off on a 9-0 run on three straight 3-pointers, including two by Noah Robotham, to make it 27-18 Runnin' Rebels with 5:44 on the clock.

UNLV increased the run to 19-4 to take its largest lead of the first half, 15 points, at 37:22 with 1:26 left. Both teams registered a layup before McGee made a buzzer-beating three to make it a 12-point game at the break, 39-27.

Just 16 seconds into the second half, UNLV's Kris Clyburn hit a three to re-energize the Runnin' Rebel offense. Clyburn, who hit 25 points in the Lobos' last meeting with the Runnin' Rebels, was held to 14 points.

Trailing by 15 with 18:18 left, the Lobos went on a 7-0 run that included a pair of Bragg dunks and a Mathis three to cut the deficit to eight and get the Lobo fans going.

The teams kept it close over the next minute until a 5-0 UNLV run put the difference back to double figures at 13, 51-38 with 12:48 to play.

UNM cut it back to single digits just once more at the 9:35 mark on a Jackson three, 54-45, but Clyburn responded with a three of his own to make it a 12-point game and the Runnin' Rebels never looked back.

McGee finished the second half like he did the first, with a three in the final seconds, for the 74-58 final.

Fifty-eight points marks the least the Lobos have scored this season against any opponent. On the night, UNLV converted UNM's 14 turnovers into 23 points while the Lobos scored just two off of 11. UNM led in second-chance points (18-11), and in the paint (24-22) while the Runnin' Rebel bench outscored the Lobos' 31-22.

UNM led for 11:18 of the contest while UNLV led for 27:18.

The Lobos are set to return to action at home on Saturday as they host Utah State at 2 p.m. inside Dreamstyle Arena - The Pit.

Lobos Edged in Final Seconds by Utah State

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. --- The University of New Mexico men's basketball team executed a furious comeback to take the lead and maintain it into the final two seconds on Saturday afternoon, but ultimately fell to Utah State 68-66 after a called turnover and an ensuing Aggie 3-pointer with 1.8 seconds left on the clock.

"It's disappointing for us to fight back like that in the second half and come so close to a win," head coach Paul Weir said. "Unfortunately, often one play does mean a lot for us. Sometimes we need calls that might be 50/50 to go our way."

The Lobos (9-11, 3-5 MW) trailed the Aggies (15-5, 5-2 MW) by as much as 10, 50-40, at the 12:51 mark in the second half but reduced the deficit to just one with a 9-0 run over 3:44 to make it 50-49 with 9:07 left. The run was sparked by a layup from senior Anthony Mathis followed by another from sophomore Makuach Maluach and then a dagger of a three from Mathis to make it a three-point game, 50-47.

Mathis finished with 16 points on the night, all of which were in the second half.

With the crowd on its feet and the energy in The Pit nearly palpable, redshirt-junior Carlton Bragg, who led the Lobos with a career-high 18 points, hit a pair of free throws to make it a one-point game, 50-49 and then, after an Aggie jumper, hit a jumper of his own to keep it at one, 52-51.

Utah State standout and leading scorer Sam Merrill hit another jump shot to put the Aggies back ahead by three before Mathis responded just nine seconds later with a three of his own to tie the score at 54-54 with 7:55 left.

A three from redshirt-sophomore Vance Jackson tied it up again at the 6:32 mark, 59-59, and the Aggies got ahead by two before Mathis hit an exciting, fast-break three, his fourth of the night, to give the Lobos their first lead since the first 15 seconds of the game, 62-61 UNM with 5:33 left.

Utah State responded with a triple of its own and the teams tied the game once more at the four-minute mark when Mathis made yet another layup, 64-64. The Lobos increased the lead to two, 66-64 on a Jackson jumper with 2:56 to go.

A Utah State free throw with 1:25 on the clock made it a one-point game, 66-65 Lobos, and a jump ball was forced with 37 seconds left in favor of UNM.

Mathis took the ball out and brought it to half court in pressure, looking to hold on to the one-point advantage. He approached half court, looked and passed ahead to Jackson in attempt to get out of trouble, but the referees called backcourt to the dismay of Lobo fans, causing the potential game-winning possession to turnover to the Aggies with 31 seconds left.

The Aggies ran out the clock and sophomore Abel Porter hit just his eighth 3-pointer of the season with 1.8 seconds left to put Utah State back up by two.

Both coaches called timeouts and Mathis made a last-ditch effort from half court to hit another gamewinner, but the shot bounced off of the backboard for the 68-66 final.

The Lobos had four players score in double figures including Bragg with 18, followed by Mathis with 16, Jackson (13) and Maluach (12). Jackson also led the Lobos in rebounds with seven followed by Bragg who posted six.

UNM shot just 27.6 percent from the floor in the first half, but in the second fired at a clip of 50 percent including 45.5 percent from 3-point range. The Lobos' totals for the night were 39.0 percent from the field compared to 49.1 percent for the Aggies and 33.3 percent from behind the arc compared to 50 percent for Utah State.

The Lobos turned the ball over just 11 times while forcing 13 and the UNM bench outscored Utah State's 32-8. The Aggies led for 32:23 of the contest while UNM was in front for 4:59.

UNM has its first bye this week and returns to action on Saturday, Feb. 2 at Fresno State on ESPNU.
