LOBOS RETURN TO ACTION AT NEW MEXICO CLASSIC

New Mexico track & field is looking to pick up some experience and improvement at the New Mexico Classic this Friday and Saturday as it hosts a strong field at the Albuquerque Convention Center.

Coming off some strong performances last week at the team-scored New Mexico Team Invitational, the Lobos are starting to prepare for the upcoming championship season as they take on their third of four straight home meets.

This week, most of the team will be in action as they aim for season bests and continued improvement.

For the men, Carlos Salcido, the reigning MW Men's Track Athlete of the Week, will be in action as he races in the 400-meter dash. He'll be joined by Mark Haywood, Ben Parmoon, Isaac Gonzales and Bryan Cutler as they look to hone their skills for the coming meets.

Additionally, a number of the men's distance standouts will be in action, including Michael Wilson, Kristian Uldbjerg Hansen, Jacob Simonsen, Jonny Glen, Iolo Hughes, Jared Garcia and Chris Graham.

That group, which will be without team ace Josh Kerr as he competes in the Millrose Games in New York, will be leaned on heavily during the championship season.

The field events will also get a chance to post improvement. Both Brent Dionisio (high jump) and Jason Atencio (high jump) did just that last week. The men's contingent of jumpers — which includes Tanner Battikha, Alejandro Goldston, Omarei Gregory and Miles Brinson — will also have chances for big jumps.

The Lobos' combined event athletes will also continue preparing for the heptathlon at the MW Championships as Daniel Lam, Beau Clifton and Camillo Dünninger will all compete in various individual events.

On the women's side, the goals are much the same. The women's distance runners will be led by Kieran Casey and Alondra Negron Texidor, but Emily Martin, Mackenzie Everett, Kaitlin Franklin, Johanna Briscoe, Samantha Dicker, Elizabeth Reyes and Alex Buck will all get the opportunity to gain some experience.

The sprints will also look for some improvement, with Shalom Keller, Elisabetta Mackin, Mariah Gordon, Tia Harper and Erynn Caldwell competing in different sprint events.

Rounding out New Mexico's entries are the field events, with Shannon Fritz (pole vault/high jump), Sarah McKeever (pole vault), Allison Mady (shot put/weight throw), Ada'ora Chigbo (long jump/shot put) and Anastasia Daliege (long jump).

KERR HEADS TO MILLROSE GAMES FOR WANAMAKER MILE

New Mexico redshirt sophomore Josh Kerr is set to race among the world's elite as he competes in the Wanamaker Mile at the NYRR Millrose Games at The New Balance Track & Field Center at The Armory in New York City.

The reigning NCAA champion in the mile run, Kerr is one of two collegians entered in the Wanamaker Mile, arguably one of the most prominent races in track & field that has taken place every year since 1926.

Kerr will run the race live on NBC at 3:50 p.m. MT on Saturday.

With an eye on defending his national title in the mile, Kerr, a redshirt sophomore from Edinburgh, Scotland, will look for a fast time on Saturday as he vies with a stacked field.

Kerr has run an altitude-converted time of 3:58.04 in the mile, and he would need a similar performance to qualify for the 2018 NCAA Indoor Championships in March.

His competition at the Millrose Games has the potential to produce such a mark, with a number of professional athletes converging on The Armory.

Among the men competing in the race are four-time Olympian and three-time Wanamaker Mile runner-up Nick Willis, 2017 US 1500-meter champion Robby Andrews, 2016 Olympian Ben Blankenship, 2016 British 1500-meter champion Charlie Grice and two-time European championships bronze medalist Chris O'Hare.

The only other collegian entered in the race is Ole Miss's Robert Domanic, who has run 3:55.71 in the mile and helped the Rebels to an NCAA title in the distance medley relay last winter.

SALCIDO NAMED MOUNTAIN WEST MEN'S TRACK ATHLETE OF THE WEEK

Carlos Salcido was named on January 30 as the Mountain West Men's Indoor Track Athlete of the Week for meets contested from January 25-27.

Salcido, a Rock Springs, Wyoming native, ran a time of 21.36 seconds in the men's 200-meter dash to win the event at the New Mexico Team Invitational on Saturday, January 27, at the Albuquerque Convention Center.

His time, which was converted from 21.29 to compensate for altitude, set a new school record in the event, eclipsing two-time MW 60-meter champion Ridge Jones' time of 21.43 set in 2015.

As of February 1, Salcido leads the Mountain West and ranks 53rd in the NCAA in the 200.

Additionally, Salcido anchored the Lobos' 4x400 meter relay team to second place, scoring a total of 18 points and helping the UNM men to a team win at the New Mexico Team Invitational.

This honor is the first such honor for Salcido, and the first for a New Mexico sprinter since Jones earned it on January 13, 2015.

Overall, Salcido is New Mexico's first MW Athlete of the Week this season and the team's first since Calli Thackery claimed the honor on February 21, 2017. Josh Kerr (January 24, 2017) was the last male athlete to earn the award.

KURGAT RANKS 3RD IN NCAA, 2ND IN UNM HISTORY IN MILE RUN

New Mexico junior Ednah Kurgat kicked off her track season back before the holidays, running a superb 5000-meter race on December 2 at the Boston University Season Opener.

The Eldoret, Kenya, native broke the New Mexico and Mountain West records with her time of 15:19.03, which also ranks No. 2 in the NCAA for the 2018 season.

With a date with the 3000 at the prestigious Millrose Games on tap for February 3, Kurgat wanted to continue her preparations for the rest of the season, looking toward the mile run at the Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Invitational as the answer.

And Kurgat definitely got what she need out of the race at the Albuquerque Convention Center, clocking a time of 4:35.29. That time moves her to No. 2 all-time at New Mexico in the event and, at the time, ranked her No. 1 in the NCAA. Currently, at the beginning of February, she was ranked No. 3 in the NCAA in the mile.

KERR OPENS SEASON WITH QUICK 800, RANKS 2ND IN UNM HISTORY

Ednah Kurgat wasn't the only Lobo to earn an invitation to the Millrose Games, as New Mexico sophomore Josh Kerr received a berth to race in the Wanamaker Mile at the Millrose Games in New York City.

To make sure he was ready to race against a world-class field, the 2017 NCAA champ in the mile run needed to sharpen his racing skills. So, Kerr kicked off his 2018 campaign at the Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Invitational, competing in the 800-meter run.

And, just like Kurgat, Kerr accomplished his pre-race goal, zooming to a stellar time of 1:48.26. That time easily eclipsed his indoor personal record (his all-conditions PR is 1:47.51), and moved him to No. 3 in the NCAA this season.

Additionally, Kerr just missed the UNM indoor record of 1:48.13, which has stood since 1977.

KURGAT'S RUN AT THE TOP

As noted previously, Ednah Kurgat has posted some superb times so far this indoor season, running the sixth-fastest 5000-meter time in NCAA history at the BU Season Opener in December and the second-fastest mile time in New Mexico history at the Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Invitational in January.

Her times, 15:19.03 in the 5K and 4:35.29 in the mile, both rank in the top three of each respective events. As of February 1, Kurgat is No. 2 in the NCAA in the 5000 and No. 3 in the NCAA in the mile.

Very few female athletes in Division I track & field can make the claim of multiple top-three rankings. In fact, Kurgat is just one of four such athletes in 2018.

The others are Missouri's Karissa Schweizer (first in the mile and 5000) and the Georgia duo of Lynna Irby (first in the 200 and 400) and Kenturah Orji (first in the triple jump, third in the long jump).

KERR-TESY CALL

Over the last calendar year, Josh Kerr has been virtually unrivaled running on the track for the Lobos, as evidenced by his NCAA titles in the mile run and 1500-meter run.

But his run of success extends beyond just the national championships. Since the start of February 2017, Kerr has won nine straight

LOBO WOMEN RANKED 28TH IN USTFCCCA RANKINGS

The New Mexico women's track & field team fell to No. 28 in the second regular-season edition of the USTFCCCA National Team Computer Rankings that were released Monday, January 29.

After debuting at No. 25 in the preseason rankings — the women's team highest ranking all-time in the USTFCCCA's preseason rankings for indoor track & field — the women fell to 28th after the second full week of action in the NCAA.

The rankings, which credit the Lobos with 32.98 points, are based on athletes' performances in events from the beginning of the 2018 indoor season (which officially started December 1, 2017) and the 2017 indoor season.

The distance trio of Ednah Kurgat, Weini Kelati and Alice Wright has contributed a majority of the Lobos' points, with all three posting tremendous marks in the 5,000-meter run at the BU Season Opener on December 2.

Kurgat set the UNM and Mountain West records in the 5,000 with a time of 15 minutes, 19.03 seconds, while Kelati finished with a time of 15:37.03 and Wright a time of 15:46.85.

All three broke the previous UNM 5K standard of 15:54.29 set by Natalie Gray in 2011, while Kurgat both set the Mountain West and ranks sixth in the NCAA history.

Kurgat's time contributes 20.53 points to the Lobos' tally of 32.98 points, with Kelati's mark adding 8.95 and Wright's 1.31.

Kurgat also logged a time of 4:35.29 in the mile run at the Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Invitational on January 20, which currently ranks third in the NCAA and adds 2.04 points to the team's total.

Additionally, freshman high jumper Ada'ora Chigbo posted a mark of 5-10 3/4 (1.80m) at the New Mexico Team Invitational, which ranks 13th in the NCAA in 2018 and chipped in 0.15 points.

SALCIDO RUMBLES TO SCHOOL RECORD IN 200-METER DASH

Last outdoor season, Carlos Salcido had a renaissance on the track, running an altitude-converted time of 21.01 in the 200-meter dash at the 2017 Mountain West Championships in Logan, Utah.

Coming into the 2017-18 year, Salcido had designs on translating that into more success, with an eye on the New Mexico school record in the 200, a 21.43 time set by two-time MW 60-meter champ Ridge Jones.

In his season debut at the Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Invitational, Salcido made some strong progress on the record, clocking an indoor personal record of 21.47. That, coupled with the fastest 4x400 meter relay split by a Lobo in a decade, indicated he was close to the record.

And close he was indeed.

HAYWOOD TAKES DOWN NEW MEXICO RECORD IN 600, AGAIN

Last year, on opening weekend of the season, Mark Haywood just missed the New Mexico record in the 600-meter run when he clocked a time of 1:19.31 at the 2017 Cherry & Silver Invitational.

But this season, the senior from Alamogordo, New Mexico, took another crack at Olympian Jarrin Solomon's 10-year-old record of 1:19.18.

At the season-opening Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Invitational, Haywood controlled the pace, of his 600 coming through the first 200 meters in 24.1, just about the same as last year. He continued at the lead, hitting the 400-meter point in 51.4, which was actually slower than last year when he split 50.5 through 400 meters.

But he finished much stronger in 2018, logging a final 200-meter lap of 27.6 (compared to last year's split of 28.8) to finish the three-lap race in 1:19.02.

Then, a week later at the New Mexico Classic, Haywood again flashed his wheels, running 1:18.10 to set his record. Like at the previous meet, Haywood started well with a 24.0 split to open, coming through 400 meters at 50.5. He kicked well on the bell lap, running 27.6 to close.

ADA'ORA SOARS

In the second collegiate meet of her career, freshman Ada'ora Chigbo showed why she one of the top youth high jumpers in her native England.

The Bristol, England, product soared to a mark of 5-10 3/4 (1.80 meters) in the high jump at the New Mexico Team Invitational, winning the meet and moving to No. 13 in the NCAA so far in 2018.

She just missed the New Mexico record of 5-11 (1.81 meters) set by Margaret Metcalf in 1979, and her all-time PR of 6-0 (1.83 meters) set in 2016.

Dorsey, Isaac Gonzales, Carlos Salcido and Mark Haywood soared to the New Mexico record in the 4x400 meter relay.

The quartet's first time was a time of 3:12.10, while its second was a 3:10.78. All told, those performances broke the old 34-year-old UNM record of 3:12.27 set by Mike Servizio, Pete Serna, Jeff Wood and Ibrahim Hussein at Northern Arizona on February 12, 1983.

Turn the calendar to 2018 and the Lobos' 4x400 team was back at it.

To open the 2018 season, three of the runners from last year's record-setting relay (Salcido, Haywood and Gonzales) were back, with freshman Ben Parmoon stepping in to take over the leg of the graduated Dorsey.

And, in their first action of the season, the foursome rocketed to the fourth-best 4x400 time in UNM history, combining to run 3:12.62.

Salcido anchored the team to the tune of a 45.8 split, the fastest relay split in the last decade at UNM.

KERR NAMED TO THE BOWERMAN MEN'S PRESEASON WATCH LIST

New Mexico redshirt sophomore Josh Kerr earned a spot on The Bowerman Men's Preseason Watch List, the USTFCCCA announced Tuesday, January 9.

Kerr, a two-time NCAA champion, is one of 10 men selected to the watch list. The Edinburgh, Scotland, native was a semifinalist for The Bowerman, the highest individual honor in collegiate track & field, in 2017.

During his outstanding 2017 track campaign, Kerr won a pair of national titles for New Mexico, sweeping both the mile run and the 1,500-meter run at the NCAA Indoor and Outdoor championships.

At the NCAA Indoor Championships last March at Gilliam Indoor Track in College Station, Texas, Kerr defeated 17-time national champion Edward Cheserek of Oregon in the mile to claim his first NCAA crown.

Last June, at the NCAA Outdoor Championships at Hayward Field in Eugene, Oregon, Kerr seized his second national title, holding off the field to win the 1,500.

He is just the 11th athlete in NCAA history — and the first since 2008 — to accomplish the indoor/outdoor sweep.

Kerr also ran the sixth-fastest 1,500-meter time in NCAA history at the Bryan Clay Invitational in April 2017, clocking in at 3:35.99. His time sits just .69 seconds off Sydney Maree's 36-year-old NCAA record in the 1,500 and also doubles as the New Mexico and Mountain West records in the event.

Kerr also met the qualifying standard for the 2017 IAAF World Championships in London, and subsequently qualified to the World Championships in July.

On top of that, he earned wins in the mile and the distance medley relay at the MW Indoor Championships in February and the 800 and 1,500 at the MW Outdoor Championships in May.

Along with his selection as a semifinalist for The Bowerman, Kerr was also named Mountain West Male Athlete of the Year and MW Men's Outdoor Track & Field Student-Athlete of the Year last year.

The Bowerman, which debuted in 2009, is presented annually by the USTFCCCA to the most outstanding male and female collegiate track & field athletes in the nation. Performances during the indoor track & field and outdoor track & field seasons count for the award; performances achieved in cross country are not considered.

The other nine Preseason Watch List member for the men's Bowerman are Nathan Allen (Auburn), KeAndre Bates (Florida), Cameron Burrell (Houston), Isaiah Harris (Penn State), Grant Holloway (Florida), Justyn Knight (Syracuse), John Kyriazis (Texas A&M), Kemar Mowatt (Arkansas) and Chris Nilsen (South Dakota).

Kerr is the first Lobo to appear on the Preseason Watch List. On Monday, teammate Ednah Kurgat was receiving votes on The Bowerman Women's Preseason Watch List.

KERR DOUBLES DOWN IN NCAA TITLES, FIRST SINCE 2008

At the beginning of March 2017, Josh Kerr was a talented runner for New Mexico, but probably wasn't a household name in NCAA track & field.

However, all of that changed on March 11, when Kerr defeated 17-time national champion Edward Cheserek of Oregon in the mile to claim his first NCAA crown at the NCAA Indoor Championships at Gilliam Indoor Track in College Station, Texas.

He followed that up with a tremendous outdoor campaign — including the No. 6 1,500-meter time in NCAA history at 3:35.99 — and an NCAA title in the 1,500-meter run.

Kerr is the first person to sweep the mile and the 1500 at the NCAA Indoor and Outdoor championships since Texas' Leo Manzano in 2008.

Colorado State's Bryan Berryhill was the last Mountain West athlete to accomplish the mile/1500 sweep, doing it in 2001. Berryhill is also the only other athlete in conference history to win the 1500.

MEN'S TRACK POSTS HIGHEST GPA, EARNS USTFCCCA HONOR

The New Mexico track & field team earned a number of academic accolades to on July 27 as the USTFCCCA announced its All-Academic Honors.

Under head coach Joe Franklin, both the men's and women's track & field teams were recognized as All-Academic Teams, a distinction bestowed to teams that register a cumulative team GPA of 3.00 or higher during the academic year.

10 Lobos, five men and five women, were also named All-Academic Individuals by the USTFCCA.

For the team awards, the New Mexico men set a new program record with a team GPA of 3.53, the best among the 142 teams honored as All-Academic. Last season, the Lobo men held the second-best GPA among the honorees.

The men were also just one of four Mountain West men's teams to be selected, and have maintained at least a 3.2 for 10 straight semesters.

The UNM women, with a team GPA of 3.52, were one of seven schools in the MW to earn the honor. The women rank 23rd out of the 218 Division I institutions that were recognized.

The Lobo women have logged at least a 3.3 GPA for 20 straight semesters.

Individually, the Lobos also produced strong academic results, with 10 student-athletes earning All-Academic honors for their combined efforts in competition and in the classroom.

The individual award is awarded to student-athlete who attain a 3.25 GPA and either finished the regular season indoors ranked in the national top 96 in an individual event (as per the official NCAA proof-of-performance list) or participated in any round of the NCAA Division I Outdoor Championships.

On the men's side, five student-athletes were recognized, including Tanner Battikha and Kristian Uldbjerg Hansen.

For the New Mexico women, CoSIDA Academic All-American Alice Wright met the criteria along with Kieran Casey and Sophie Eckel.
