THE LOUDEST ARENA IN THE COUNTRY

In a weekly series, "Hoops Across America," the St. Petersburg Times ran a feature on The Pit in its Jan. 1999 edition. Written by Bruce Lowitt, part of the study charted the decibel level at selected collegiate arenas during the 1998-1999 season. The paper's final results, including the Final Four at Tropicana Field in St: Petersburg:

| Arena | Game | Reading |
|---|---|---|
| The Pit | New Mexico vs. Arizona | 118 |
| Cameron Indoor Stadium | Duke vs. North Carolina | 116 |

THE PIT

—— BY THE NUMBERS ——

One of college basketball's most famous and recognizable buildings, University Arena is the home of New Mexico basketball.

The 2013-14 season was the 48th year that University Arena has served as home for Lobo hoops. The first game was played on Dec. 1, 1966, with New Mexico beating Abilene Christian 62-53. A total of 840 games have been played overall. The Lobos have come away the victor in 687 of those – good for a stunning .817 winning percentage.

What is even more impressive about UNM's home court is that almost 13 million fans have flocked into this sunken edifice to see their beloved Lobos play basketball. The exact figure stands at 12,957,127. The Lobos have averaged an astounding 15,425 fans the past 48 years, an amazing 95% of capacity.

The Lobos have finished second in the nation in attendance five times, third on four occasions and fourth six times.

The Pit is built in a 37-foot hole on Albuquerque's southeast mesa. First the roof was constructed, then the hole was dug and the Arena built. That all happened in 1966. The unique Behlen roof (338 by 300 feet) was set up by contractors and then 55,000 cubic yards of earth were removed. About 28,000 yards of concrete were poured in the initial construction, which allowed a seating capacity of 14,831. The cost – an incredibly economical $1.4 million.

The Pit underwent a $60 million renovation that has updated the facility. Modern amenities include 40 club suites, 365 club seats, new end zone video boards and ribbon boards, expanded concourses with additional restrooms and concession stands, new ticket office and Lobo Store, digital signage and interactive kiosks and a UNM Lettermen's Lounge. For the teams, new locker rooms for both men's and women's squads, a state-of-the-art strength and conditioning center, and new training facilities will allow the Lobos to continue their commitment to excellence.

WHAT THEY ARE SAYING

"What a terrific atmosphere for college basketball.  Great building...great history...18,000 screaming fans.
IT'S BIG TIME HOOPS, BABY!"
- Dick Vitale
ESPN

"What a homecoming for all of us at CBS.  The Final Four in 1983 was so special, but even then, we didn't get to experience the real home crowd and spirit of the Lobo fans.  Our return for the Utah game (an 87-71 UNM victory on Feb. 1, 1997) was fantastic; outstanding basketball environment that rivals any in the country."
- Billy Packer - CBS Sports

"I consider the game we played in Albuquerque in 1978 one of the most exciting of my career.  The Pit is the toughest place to play because of the tremendous atomsphere.
Jim Boeheim - Syracuse

"When you go into a place like The Pit there will be challenges different from a regular road game.  The crowd can dictate the tempo and momentum.  The Pit crowd forces you to be patient
Lute Olson - Arizona

MEDIA SPOTLIGHT
THE STORY IN TOWN

Doug Gottlieb of CBS College Sports talks with Alex Kirk after UNM's victory over San Diego State.

Nearly 15,000 fans came out to watch the Lobos and Davidson play on ESPN at midnight as a part of the ESPN 24 Hours of College Basketball Marathon.

As the flagship institution for the state of New Mexico, UNM is always in the spotlight.  Athletics are no exception as Lobo sports are followed passionately throughout the Land of Enchantment.  Most of the state's largest newspapers, television and radio stations, and numerous fan websites are devoted to covering UNM athletics.  Lobo basketball is THE biggest game in New Mexico and the marquee sporting attraction for the nearly 800,000 people in the Albuquerque metro area.

With Craig Neal at the helm, UNM is more popular than ever in terms of broadcasting.  UNM will play every game on television, all either regionally or nationally, including several marquee appearances on ESPN2.

The hiring of Coach Craig "Noodles" Neal was celebrated by the Lobo fan base.  At his press conference, held in the beautiful Club Level of The Pit, hundreds of fans, media, and well-wishers came out for the official announcement.  It was Coach Neal's first public speaking engagement as head coach, and it showcased his passionate style, his honesty, and his love of Albuquerque.

Legendary announcer Tim Brando worked with Dan Bonner for the national telecast from The Pit.  Brando called The Pit the best college basketball arena in the country.

LOCKER ROOM
HOME OF THE LOBOS
With the newly remodeled Pit, the Lobo men's basketball team now calls home a brand new state-of-the-art NBA-Style locker room, giving New Mexico one of the finest locker and training room facilities in the nation. The new area features extra large lockers for all the players, a separate team meeting area with a large-screen television for watching game film, and a full-scale training/medical chamber located in an adjacent room. Drop lighting spotlights the UNM logo in the center of the locker room, another touch that gives the Lobos some of the best in facilities in the nation.

DAVALOS CENTER
PRACTICE FACILITY

The Rudy Davalos Basketball Center was officially dedicated on April 14, 2006, in front of nearly 400 patrons, including former New Mexico Gov. Bill Richardson and numerous athletics administrators and coaches from around the nation.

The $4.2 million facility - funded by Richardson - was named after the Lobos' outgoing athletics director by the University of New Mexico Board of Regents.

The sparkling 26,000-square-foot facility located adjacent to The Pit houses operations for Lobo men's basketball.  It includes practice courts, coaches' offices, a video control room and theater, and a multi-purpose room for special events. The facility was utilized for the NCAA Men's Basketball Tournament Second & Third Rounds hosted by UNM in 2012.

NATALIE WILLIAMS
ACADEMIC ADVISOR

Natalie Williams was named Student Success Manager for New Mexico Men's and Women's Basketball during the 2012-13 academic year. She oversees the academic support services for both programs, which include developing class schedules, assisting with major selection and coordinating tutoring services among other tasks.

Williams came to the University of New Mexico after spending three years as an Academic Advisor and Compliance Assistant at Southeast Missouri State University. At SEMO, she coordinated academic services for the Redhawk men's basketball, women's soccer, volleyball and softball teams.

She began her career in college athletics as a Public Relations Assistant for the Southern Conference in Spartanburg, South Carolina. Williams was the primary conference media contact for a handful of the conference's sports while also assisting with media operations and game management.

Williams earned a B.A. in English and Journalism from Ole Miss in 2005. She also holds a master's degree in Higher Education from Southeast Missouri State. Originally from Ironton, Missouri, Williams resides in Albuquerque.

The Lobo Center for Student-Athlete Success Mission
The Lobo Center for Student-Athlete Success, in conjunction with the University of New Mexico, provides support services for prospective, current, as well as former student-athletes in an effort to increase academic and personal success. Student-athletes are encouraged to develop personal responsibility, intelligent decision making, and leadership skills through the provision of educational experiences both inside and outside of the classroom. The Lobo Center also celebrates the academic and civic achievements by our student-athletes.

Academic Excellence
The goal for each student-athlete is to reach and receive the highest-quality education and a degree.  The responsibility of the academic center is to oversee the educational development and progress toward graduation for all student-athletes.

CRAIG NEAL * HEAD COACH
2ND YEAR AS UNM HEAD COACH
8TH YEAR AT UNM OVERALL
Georgia Tech, 1988
Craig Neal will enter his second season as the head coach of the New Mexico Lobos, and it will be his eighth year overall at the university, after spending six years as New Mexico's Associate Head Coach. Neal was named the 20th head coach of the Lobos on April 2, 2013 and was introduced to a pack house of media members and fans a day later. Neal was the right-hand man of former coach Steve Alford for the past six years at New Mexico, and the previous three years before UNM at the University of Iowa.

In his first year, all Neal did was become the first rookie coach in UNM history to lead the team to the NCAA Tournament in his first year, breaking the record for wins by a rookie head coach with 27, as the Lobos went 27-7. The 27 wins were not only the best by a rookie head coach and the fifth-most in school history.

Neal also became the first UNM rookie head coach to led a team to a conference tournament title as UNM won its third straight Mountain West Tournament. The Lobos are now the only team in league history to win three-straight tournament titles.

CRAIG NEAL NOTES

*Became first UNM head coach to take the Lobos to the NCAA Tournment in his first year as head coach.

*Picked up the nickname "Noodles" when he was at Georgia Tech because of his skinny frame (6-4, 140 lbs.). Dick Vitale mentioned it during a national ESPN telecast, and as Neal says "Once Dickie V got a hold of it, it sort of stuck."

*Spent five seasons as a scout for the Toronto Raptors and three as an assistant coach. He scouted and recommended Toronto draft Tracy McGrady and Vince Carter. All told he spent 16 years in professional basketball, including stints with the Miami Heat, Portland Trailblazers, and Denver Nuggets as a player.

*One of the greatest point guards in Georgia Tech history, he still ranks in the career top 20 at Georgia Tech in assists (3rd, 659), assists per game (5th, 5.2), steals (13th, 127), games played (4th, 127), and minutes played (20th, 3,095).

He was a finalist for a pair of national coaching honors: the Joe B. Hall Award as the nation's top rookie coach, and the Jim Phelan Award for national coach of the year.

The season just adds to Neal's growing collegiate resume' In his now 10 years in college basketball, Neal's teams at UNM and Iowa have averaged 24.5 wins per year with nine seasons of 20 wins or more and nine postseason berths, including six trips to the NCAA Tournament.

UNM was nationally ranked in the preseason for the first time since the 1999 season, and the Lobos finished the season ranked No. 17 in the AP poll and as the first team receiving votes in the Coaches Poll. UNM also went 2-2 against nationally ranked teams in 2013-14, including a 2-1 record against the top-10.

After his first season, Neal was given a two-year extension after the season by Vice President of Athletics Paul Krebs, and is now signed through the 2019-20 season.

At his introductory press conference, Neal stated, "I'm truly honored to be the head coach at the University of New Mexico. Over the past six years my family and I have been overwhelmed by the support we have received in this community. Coach Alford allowed me the opportunity to really make an impact on this program, and I'm excited to continue building on what we started six years ago."

"We are excited that Craig Neal will be our next basketball coach," said Krebs. "We did a tremendous amount of work and research in a very short time. Craig was a major part of a staff that has not only won championships but graduated

The Neal Family: Janet and Craig, with sons Cullen and Dalton

With New Mexico Neal has been a part of four of the five of the winningest teams in school history, as the 2009-10 team won a school record 30 games, the 2012-13 team won 29 games, and the 2011-12 team tied for the third-most wins in school history with 28. WIth him at the helm, UNM won 27 last season.

Iowa posted a 63-35 record while Neal was on staff, including consecutive trips to the NCAA Tournament. The Hawkeyes won 25 games in 2005-06, the second highest total in school history. They also captured the Big Ten Conference tournament title, set a school record with 10 wins over top 25 opponents and ran off a school-record 18-game winning streak in Carver-Hawkeye Arena, winning all 17 home games in 2005-06. Neal was instrumental in Iowa's recruiting efforts. More than one publication ranked the 2006-07 class as one of the top 10 catches in the nation.

Neal served as an assistant coach with the Raptors from 2000-03 and was involved in scouting and player development in 2003-04. With Toronto he served under Lenny Wilkens, the winningest coach in NBA history. He was also a Toronto scout for four seasons before becoming an assistant coach in 2000.

Neal was a scout in North America and Europe for one year before joining the Iowa staff, scouting high school, junior college, college and European players for the NBA Draft and for trade possibilities. He was also involved with development of current roster players, recruiting of free agents and selecting players for summer league and training camps.

As an assistant coach from 2000-03, Neal was involved with practice preparation, advance scouting, and the preparation and implementation of opponent scouting reports. He managed and directed Toronto's player development program, both during the season and the summer. Neal coached Toronto's summer league team for three years and was the lead coach in directing all Raptor college pre-draft workouts. His duties also included assisting with the operations budget, working with advance scouting team and coordinating schedules for Toronto scouts.

Neal was a two-year starter at Georgia Tech in the mid-1980s. He earned all-Atlantic Coast Conference honors as a senior in 1988 when he set the ACC single-season record with 303 assists. Neal's playing career at Tech spanned five seasons, as he was limited to just four games in 1984-85 due to injury. He averaged 7.7 points as a senior. Neal averaged a league-best 9.5 assists per game (11.6 in conference games) that season, which still stands as a single-season record at Georgia Tech. His 659 career assists was a school record at the time and now ranks third best at Tech. Neal's 5.2 career assist average is fourth best at Tech and his 127 career steals is the 11th best total at the school.

Neal was a member of five Yellow Jacket teams that advanced to postseason play, including an NIT appearance in 1984 and NCAA Tournament berths the following four years. Tech advanced to the regional final in 1985 before losing to top-seed Georgetown, and the Sweet Sixteen in 1986. After a first round loss in 1987, Georgia Tech defeated Iowa State in 1988 before falling to Richmond in the second round. Neal earned his bachelor's degree in management from Georgia Tech in 1988.

The native of Washington, Ind., played prep basketball at Washington High School, for his father, Stan. Craig earned all-America recognition and was a member of the Indiana All-Star team following his senior year in 1983. Neal played eight professional seasons in the NBA, CBA and Europe, beginning in Portland where he was a third-round draft pick of the Blazers in 1988. He also played in Miami and Denver student-athletes, raised our academics to record levels, and poured a tremendous amount of energy into our community in the form of service projects. Craig probably had as much freedom with our program in making decisions as any associate head coach in the country, and his time working with Coach Alford has prepared him fully for this task."

Said President Robert Frank, "Coach Neal understands what being a Lobo is all about. He impressed me with his vision, dedication, and passion for leading here."

Known throughout the college basketball landscape as "Noodles", a nickname he received in high school due to his thin stature, Neal had been actively involved in all facets of the program in his six years as associate head coach, from on-the-floor coaching to all of the behind-the-scenes work for a major college basketball program. Neal is considered one of the finest tactical coaches in the nation, as his diverse background in the collegiate and professional ranks afforded him a chance to learn and coach on many stages. Neal is heavily involved in the UNM offensive setup, and he is well respected nationally for his recruiting ability, game strategy, and knowledge of the game.

The Lobos flourished with Neal in the associate head coach role, winning 155 games over those six seasons, the most successful six-year period in school history. Neal, who handled the offense for the Lobos, has helped New Mexico consistently finish at the top of the conference in most offensive statistics.

The Lobos have finished in the top four in scoring offense in each of the past seven seasons, and in top four in both scoring margin and field goal percentage. UNM has also finished in the top four in assists in all six years, and in the top three in assist-turnover ratio as well.

LAMONT SMITH
ASSOCIATE HEAD COACH
2ND YEAR AT NEW MEXICO
San Diego, 1999

Lamont Smith enters his second season with the University of New Mexico as Associate Head Coach. Smith has brought with him plenty of west coast and regional recruiting ties, plus a reputation for developing student-athletes and being one of the hot up-and-coming coaches in the collegiate ranks.

Last season the Lobos became on of the nation's best defensive teams over the final half of the season, allowing just 66.1 points per game. For the third straight year, the Lobos held opponents under 40% shooting, as it shot just .389 from the field. The Lobos also finished the season ranked third in 2-pt defense at 41.1 percent.

New Mexico had a streak of 13 consecutive opponent held under its average to end the regular season, including a streak of six straight opponents held under 60 points, the longest streak in almost 50 years. UNM's scoring defense dropped almost 15 points over the course of the season with Smith handling the defensive calls in his first season with the program.

Smith spent 2012-13 with the University of Washington under Lorenzo Romar, where the Huskies went 18-16 overall and 9-9 in league play, advancing to the NIT, where Washington lost at BYU. Last season was the second time that Smith had coached with Romar, as he got his start in coaching as a graduate assistant at Saint Louis from 1999-2001 when Romar was the coach of the Billikens.

Smith, a native of The Colony, Texas, was a graduate assistant coach at Saint Louis. Smith's duties with the Billikens included coordinating the team's video editing and film exchange, while assisting with team recruiting, scouting and strength and conditioning programs.

Washington was Smith's second Pac-12 stop after spending four seasons (2008-12) at Arizona State. While at Arizona State, the Sun Devils had a pair of 20-win seasons with Smith on the bench and advanced to the NCAA Second Round in 2009. Smith also played a vital role in developing 2009 Pac-10 Player of the Year James Harden.

Prior to joining Herb Sendek's staff at Arizona State, Smith was at Santa Clara from 2007-08 as Kerry Keating's top assistant. He helped recruit one of the top classes in the West Coast Conference during his time with the Broncos. Smith spent 2001-2007 as an assistant on the staff of Randy Bennett at Saint Mary's before joining Santa Clara. Bennett and Smith knew each other from their time on Romar's Saint Louis staff.

Saint Mary's was 2-27 the year before Bennett and Smith arrived, and the Gaels won nine games the first year, 15 the second, 19 in the third and a then-school record 25 in 2004-05. The 2004-05 team made the NCAA Tournament for just the third time in the history of the program while the 2003-04 team set a school record by scoring 2,377 points. In the first four seasons he was at SMC, the Gaels led the WCC in scoring defense.

Smith earned a Bachelor of Arts degree in communications from the University of San Diego in 1998 and was a member of the men's basketball team from 1994-99. He was named the Toreros' Defensive Player of the Year in 1997 and 1999 and served as the team captain from 1997-99. His brother Jacori Greer was a standout defensive end at New Mexico under Bob Davie, and is currently a volunteer assistant coach.

DREW ADAMS
ASSISTANT COACH
4TH YEAR AT NEW MEXICO
Tennessee, 2009

Drew Adams begins his third season as Assistant Coach for the New Mexico Lobos after spending 2011-12 as the Director of Basketball Operations. He came to UNM after one year at the University of Indiana, where he was both operations director and video coordinator. As an assistant coach, Adams handles all forms of on the court coaching in-game and at practices. He also has a major role in pregame scouting and setting up scouting reports.

Adams' attention to detail in terms of scouting opponents, and his growing reputation as a recruiter have made him a valuable member of the Lobo program. When first coming to UNM, Adams handled many of the teams' administrative duties on the road, including all facets of travel, and overseeing academics, working with UNM's academic advising office. Adams also has an active role in UNM's summer camps, and oversaw the office when coaches are out on the road recruiting.

Handling the logistics for a Division I basketball program, Adams was a key reason in UNM setting a school record with 14 wins away from home in 2011-12. Adams' worked closely with the staff in making sure they had all the amenities on the road to allow the Lobos to maintain a high level of success. At Indiana, Adams spent one year as the Coordinator of Basketball Systems before being promoted to the position of Director of Operations/Video Coordinator. In that role Adams had oversight of all video operations as it pertains to practice and game coverage, opponent film exchange, and scouting.

Adams came to IU after serving two years as a student assistant at the University of Tennessee. During his time at UT, the Volunteers reached the NCAA Tournament twice and obtained the first number-one ranking in school history (2007-08). Prior to his time in Knoxville, Adams played one year at Iowa under Steve Alford and Craig Neal.

Adams spent two seasons (2004-2006) at Florida Community College of Jacksonville where he was team captain as a sophomore before transferring to Iowa. He also has coached on the AAU level for the Indiana Elite program. Adams is a 2004 graduate of Bloomington High School South, where he spent three years playing for head coach J.R. Holmes. During his senior season at South, the Panthers won Conference Indiana and he was selected as team captain, was the team's leading scorer and was an all-conference selection. He earned his bachelor's degree in sports management from Tennessee in 2009.

ALAN HUSS
ASSISTANT COACH
1ST YEAR AT NEW MEXICO
CREIGHTON, 2002

Alan Huss joined Craig Neal's staff as an assistant coach at the University of New Mexico in August of 2014. He comes to UNM after spending four seasons at the helm of the prep program at La Lumiere School in La Porte, Ind.

"I've seen Alan as a great possible addition to our staff for some time now," said head coach Craig Neal. "Now is the right time for him, and our program, to add Alan to the Lobo family. He is really going to help us in our recruiting efforts regionally and nationally. I think he's going to bring a lot of experience from being a head coach and building a program into a national power."

While guiding the Lakers, Huss guided La Lumiere to top 20 national rankings after his first season. Huss amassed an impressive 102-19 record during his tenure at La Lumiere School, which was regularly ranked as one of the top high school programs in the nation. Included in that mark is a perfect home record of 62-0 for the Lakers under Huss. He has coached a dozen Division I products at the high school level, including former Lobo Darington Hobson and current Lobo Obij Aget. His 2013-14 Laker team lost to Huntington Prep (W.V.) in the quarterfinals of the DICK'S Sporting Goods High School National Tournament.

2007-10    Culver Military Academy (Ind.) Head Coach
2010-14    La Lumiere HS (Ind.) Head Coach
2014-       University of New Mexico Assistant Coach

Prior to his time at La Lumiere, Huss was the head coach at Culver Military Academy in Culver, Ind. where he set the school record for wins in each of his final two seasons with the Eagles.

Huss was a four-year member of the Creighton University men's basketball team from 1997 to 2001 where he played under head coach Dana Altman and alongside NBA sharpshooter Kyle Korver. During his collegiate career with Blue Jays, Huss was part of three NCAA Tournament appearances and three Missouri Valley Conference championships.

The 6-foot-9-inch Huss was a prep standout at North Kansas City High School. He averaged 26 points and 12 rebounds per game for the Hornets en route to All-Kansas City metro honors as a senior. Following his final season at North Kansas City High, he was selected to the Greater Kansas City Basketball Coaches Association and Missouri-Kansas all-star games.

Huss earned his Bachelor's degree from Creighton in Business Administration in 2002.

CODY HOPKINS
DIRECTOR OF OPERATIONS
1ST YEAR AT NEW MEXICO
NORTHEASTERN STATE, 2006

Head coach Craig Neal appointed Cody Hopkins as Director of Basketball Operations in September of 2014. Hopkins came to Albuquerque after spending one season as an assistant coach at the University of Texas – Pan American.

Hopkins oversees all team travel for the Lobos as well as help manage team academics, student managerial staff and community service projects.

Prior to spending one season as an assistant coach at UT-Pan American, Hopkins spent the 2012-13 season as a member of the North Texas Mean Green basketball staff. He spent three seasons as the Director of Operations at Texas Christian University during the Horned Frogs' final three seasons in the Mountain West Conference.

A native of Dallas, Hopkins returned home to the DFW Metroplex after spending the previous two seasons at Indian Hills Community College. He helped the Warriors post a 30-3 overall record during the 2008-09 campaign, including a top NJCAA ranking at the start of the season. In Hopkins' two seasons with the Warriors, the squad posted a 58-13 overall record.

New Mexico Lobos Basketball 2013-14 Season Review

By Richard Stevens
Senior Writer/GoLobos.com

You are tempted to start a review of New Mexico's 27-win season by saying "the rookie did good," but to call the Lobos' first-year coach, Craig Neal, a rookie is a bit misleading. "I wasn't a new guy coming in," said Neal.

Neal's history with hard court Xs and Os dates back to childhood, high school, college and the NBA. His six-year history with New Mexico made his 18-inch slide into The Pit's hot seat a seemingly seamless transition. Still, Neal was humble enough to know there was a change in responsibilities – and temperature.

"It's a lot different walking down that ramp when you are the guy in charge of the program," said Neal. "I spent a lot of time reaching out to people trying to get better. I don't think that I know all the answers."

Neal knew enough answers in 2013-14 to help push the Lobos to a season of 27 wins. He knew enough to lead the Lobos to their most Mountain West regular-season wins ever (15) and add another Mountain West championship ring to New Mexico's gaudy string of championship bling.

"I thought we had a really, really good season," said Neal. "We won 27 games and a tournament championship and three in a row has never been done before in our conference. I'm really proud of what our kids did."

It was a season that saw Neal's Lobos claim the program's third consecutive Mountain West Tournament Championship, power into the NCAA bracket with 27 wins, and battle an exceptional San Diego State team to the final gun for the MW's regular-season crown.

"I thought 14-4 would win the regular-season (championship) and it didn't," said Neal, semi tongue-in-cheek as his Lobos won 15 games, but SDSU went 16-2. "It didn't happen, but we were right there."

The Lobos run toward the Mountain's automatic NCAA bid was set up by a severe pre-MW testing ground including contests with UAB, Davidson, UMass, Marquette, Kansas, Cincinnati, San Diego and New Mexico State. "It was probably the hardest strength of schedule we've had in a while," said Neal. Colorado State. Only one of those wins came in The Pit.

Sure, the pre-MW schedule was tough, but it also developed a New Mexico team that won seven Mountain West road games and also developed some ornery Lobos. It was a season that saw UNM's "Big Three" of Cameron Bairstow, Alex Kirk and Kendall Williams earn spots on the All-Mountain West Team with Bairstow and Williams placed on the MW's First Team.

Williams leaves UNM as one of the more decorated Lobos ever. He is only the second Lobo to ever score 400 points or more in all four seasons. He also leaves UNM as the Mountain West's career leader in assists.

It was a season that Bairstow made a huge push in his confidence, his game and his scoring to become the most feared forward/post in the conference. Bairstow appeared headed toward Mountain West Player of the Year honors, but was bumped by SDSU's Xavier Thames at the wire.

The 6-foot-9 Lobo – the league's top scorer with a 20.4 average -- later got a taste of sweet revenge by claiming the MW tourney MVP award that went to the best player on the best team during the league's chase for the NCAA automatic bid in Las Vegas' Thomas & Mack Center. Bairstow also is the only Lobo in program history to go from single-digit scoring to double-digit scorings in back-to-back seasons.

"We develop players," said Neal of the Lobo program.

You can't say that the Lobos' success on the court was a surprise in 2013-14 as New Mexico returned four starters from the 2013 MW championship team (also Hugh Greenwood), was the preseason pick to win the 2014 MW title, and was a preseason Top 25 selection.

But Neal still had his challenges. He had to fill in the hole left by Tony Snell's jump into the NBA and he had to develop a productive bench from a handful of youth. He also had to develop chemistry, hunger and a passion for defense because the Lobos were heading into the dog-eat-dog Mountain West with a target on their backs.

Alex Kirk was one of three Lobos from the 2013-14 roster to sign a professional contract.

Craig Neal's 27 wins in his first season as the Lobo head coach were a program record and tied for 12th in NCAA history for most wins by a first-year head coach.

Neal's Lobos needed to be good and they needed to be focused. And they were – 27 times. There were a few hiccups along the way but nothing too drastic and nothing that kept Neal from achieving his personal No. 1 goal of the season: an NCAA berth.

"My main concern since I got the job was to get them back to the (NCAA) tournament," said Neal. "I was able to do that."

The Lobos' run to the 2014 MW Tournament crown went through Fresno State, Boise State and San Diego State. The 64-58 win over SDSU gave UNM a 2-1 mark over an exceptional Aztecs' team that went 31-5 with two losses to Arizona. "I thought our guys played exciting basketball and I thought our team was fun to watch," said Neal.

The season's end was not fun for the Lobos. New Mexico, for the second straight year, was knocked out of the NCAA bracket in the first round – this time 58-53 by the Stanford Cardinal of the Pac-12. It was a tough loss for New Mexico which had leaned heavily on Bairstow, Kirk and Williams for scoring punch during the 2013-14 season.

Bairstow was dynamic in the loss to Stanford leading all scorers with 24 points in his unrelenting attack on the heart of the Stanford defense. But Williams and Kirk had off nights. Williams went 1-of-9 from the field and finished with three points. Kirk went 0-of-2 from the floor and finished with three points. That duo had brought a combined 30-point average into the NCAA bracket.

The Lobos played hard and the defense that Neal massaged to a high level throughout the season held the Cardinal to 39 percent shooting. But the Lobos' offense could not compensate for off nights by its two seniors. "One thing we didn't accomplish was advancing," said Neal.

Obviously, NCAA success is important to a program with UNM's goals. But the season of 2013-14 had dramatic success in the pre-conference, conference and MW tournament stages. The team also showed the road toughness that has been a recent trademark of this program. Neal's Lobos tied a program record with 14 wins away from the warmth of The Pit.

Neal, whose 27 wins is the most ever by a first-year Lobo coach, was named as a finalist for two national coaching awards and was given a two-year extension by UNM. The 27 wins tied Neal for the 12th spot in NCAA history for wins by a first-year Division I coach.

The Lobos also are one of two Division I programs that have won three consecutive conference tournaments.

It's almost inevitable that teams and programs end the season in losses on and off the court. Neal took over the keys to The Pit last year after Steve Alford bolted for UCLA. UNM also lost Tony Snell at the close of the 2013 season. Neal said 6-6 Tim Myles and 6-8 Nick Banyard have been granted their releases from the Lobo program. UNM also loses Williams, Bairstow and Chris Perez, who have reached the end of their collegiate eligibility.

Neal said any talk of him looking at other programs was simple talk. "I want to be here. I love it here," he said. "It's a special place for me. I had fun this season. It was a blast."

THE NIGHT MARVIN SCORED 50

Few ulcers are to be had in 111-88 games, but in the one-sided Lobo victory over Colorado State on March 2, 1978, will always be remembered as a cliff-hanger for one reason - Marvin Johnson.

In only 31 minutes of playing time, "Automatic" Johnson put 18,101 frenzied fans through an emotional ringer with a Western Athletic Conference record 50 points. With the win, the Lobos clinched a tie for the WAC crown, but the enthusiasm for the title paled in comparison to the performance of Johnson.

He hit 21-27 shots from the field and was 8-10 from the free throw line to break the previous conference record of 48 points held jointly by Wyoming's Flynn Robinson (1964) and Utah's Jerry Chambers (1966).

Johnson already held the school record for scoring with 46 points earlier in the season against Kentucky State. His familiar trademark jumper from the corner broke that record and tied the WAC mark. Knowing that only one more had to drop in order for him to own the record, Johnson swished a 20-foot fade-away from outside the key.

"After a 32-point performance in his next game against Wyoming, Sports Illustrated named Johnson its Player of the Week. "Better players will come along," he said after the 50-point game, "but for now, I've got the record."

The New Mexico Lobos' first national ranking came during the 1964-65 season under head coach Bob King. UNM was 19-3 after a 70-66 win over Arizona on Feb. 20, 1965. The ranking was short-lived, however, as the Lobos lost their last five games to finish 19-8. Below is UNM's record as a ranked team. The ranking is either AP, UPI or CNN/USA Today, whichever was the highest at the time of the game:

Broke the 1,000-point barrier at the Mountain West championship game ... only the eighth native New Mexican to record 1,000 points with the Lobos ... owns the freshman record for points in a game with 31 against Cal State Bakersfield ... a two-time All-Mountain West player, and a two-time Mountain West All-Defensive selection.

Becker played on three Lobo teams that produced a combined 53-27 record...the 1968 Lobos won the Western Athletic Conference title and advanced to the NCAA Tournament for the first time in school history...one of the most accurate free throw shooters ever at UNM, making 79.3% (317-400) of his attempts.

The 2002-03 season was the 100th in the history of New Mexico men's basketball.  As part of the 100th Season Celebration, Lobo fans chose a 10-person all-time team, an all-time coach and the top-10 moments in Lobo basketball history.

More than 2,000 fans submitted votes between Nov. 1, 2002, and Jan. 31, 2003.  Ballots were available online at www.golobos.com, in the men's basketball game program and through the Albuquerque Journal.

Head Coach
Bob King (1962-72)
The reason The Pit was built in 1966 and the reason Lobo basketball has its unbelievable following was because of this man...from 1900-62, the Lobos posted a record of 418-485 with zero postseason appearances...since that time, New Mexico has won more than 63 percent of its games and qualified for postseason play 26 times...in the eight years prior to Bob King's arrival, the Lobos never won more than seven games in a season..."Lobomania" was set in motion by King and his early teams that played in Johnson Gym...King's success created the need for a bigger arena, which came to life for the first time on Dec. 1, 1966...26 years later in 1992, the floor was appropriately named Bob King Court for the man who got it all started in New Mexico.

Top 10 Moments in Lobo Basketball History

Feb. 1, 1969:  Petie Gibson beats New Mexico State 68-66 with a 30-footer at the buzzer, prompting arguably the loudest single roar ever heard at The Pit.

Jan. 7, 1978:  Lobos beat UNLV in Vegas 102-98, snapping the Runnin' Rebels' 72-game home winning streak.

Jan. 2, 1988:  The Lobos beat No. 1 Arizona in The Pit, 61-59.

Dec. 16, 1995:  Clayton Shields' 55-footer at the buzzer beats New Mexico State in Las Cruces, 69-68.

March 8, 1996:  Lobos beat Fresno State in triple overtime in a WAC Tournament semifinal game in The Pit.  Many feel it was the greatest game in UNM/Pit history.  It was also the Lobos' 26th win of the season, a school record.

March 9, 1996:  Just one night later, freshman Kenny Thomas scored 30 points and pulled down 17 rebounds to give the Lobos a 64-60 victory over 10th-ranked Utah in the title game of the WAC Tournament in The Pit.

Feb. 1, 1998:  Royce Olney's 25-footer with 4.7 seconds remaining gives the Lobos a 77-74 victory over third-ranked and previously unbeaten Utah.

Jan. 17, 1999:  Lobos beat 7th-ranked Arizona 79-78 at the buzzer, rallying from 15 points down at halftime.  Damion Walker's layup off a John Robinson II assist is the game-winner.

June 1999:  Sports Illustrated ranks The Pit as one of the world's top-20 venues of the 20th century.

Dec. 21, 1999:  Lobos beat No. 3 Arizona in Tucson, snapping U of A's 37-game home win streak, on Roland Hannah's put-back.

Michael Cooper • 1976-78
Although he only spent two years at New Mexico, Michael Cooper proved he was one of the greatest Lobos..."Coop" was a two-time All-WAC selection and All-America honoree in 1978 after leading UNM to a conference title and a 24-4 record...Cooper went on to have a stellar professional playing career with the Los Angeles Lakers...he was also successful as a coach at the professional level with the Los Angeles Sparxx of the WNBA and the Albuquerque Thunderbirds of the National Basketball Development League.

Marvin Johnson • 1976-78
Marvin "Automatic" Johnson still holds the New Mexico single-game scoring record of 50 points set against Colorado State on March 2, 1978...he made 21 of 27 field goals and eight free throws to break Toby Roybal's record of 45 points set in 1956...Johnson led the Lobos in scoring both seasons, and he ranked first in the WAC and 17th in the nation in scoring in 1977-78 when he was first team all-conference selection...a second-round pick of the Chicago Bulls in the 1978 NBA Draft...lived in Albuquerque after attending UNM, serving as a youth basketball clinician.

Ruben Douglas • 2000-03
Douglas rewrote the school and Mountain West Conference record book in his senior season of 2002-03, becoming the first Lobo to lead the nation in scoring at 28 points a game...he set school records by averaging 32.1 ppg in MWC games, plus 26 games with 20 or more points and three games with 40 or more...he became the MWC's single-season and career scoring leader following his senior season.

Luc Longley • 1987-91
The 7-1 Australia native and NBA veteran held UNM career records for rebounds and blocks when he completed his eligibility...Longley was the first Lobo to record a triple-double in a game, and he did it twice: 23 points, 15 rebounds and 10 blocks vs. Hardin-Simmons on Nov. 24, 1989, and 17 points, 14 rebounds and 10 assists against Penn State on March 28, 1990...first team all-WAC in 1990 and '91...7th player taken in the 1991 NBA Draft by Minnesota...the starting center for the Chicago Bulls when the organization won three world titles in the mid-'90s.

Mel Daniels • 1964-67
UNM's first All-American, earning the honor in 1967...All-WAC recognition in 1966 and '67...led UNM in scoring and rebounding all three years and the WAC in scoring his senior year...career averages were 19.9 ppg and 11.1 rpg...the 9th player taken in the 1967 NBA Draft by the Cincinnati Royals, although he became an four-time all-star and twice was named Most Valuable Player in the ABA with the Indiana Pacers...his No. 34 was retired by the Pacers and he worked in the Indiana organization for many years, serving as the club's Director of Player Personnel.

Royce Olney • 1994-98
Lobo fans were probably wondering what head coach Dave Bliss was thinking when he signed this 6-2 guard from tiny Hot Springs High School...four years later everyone knew that the in-state product was one of the grittiest, most determined players to ever wear a Lobo uniform...his 3-pointer to beat third-ranked and undefeated Utah on Feb. 1, 1998, is widely regarded as one of the top moments in school history...his career ended prematurely when he suffered a torn ACL at TCU 25 games into his senior season...the Lobos were 21-4 with him in the lineup in 1997-98, but 3-4 without him...Olney still holds the school record for best 3-point percentage in a season.

Petie Gibson • 1968-71
He's most famous for hitting the game-winning shot to beat New Mexico State on Feb. 1, 1969, but Gibson was arguably the school's best point guard...led UNM and the Western Athletic Conference in assists for three straight seasons and he still holds five school records in that category...had 14 or more assists five times in his Lobo career...he spent more than three decades as a physical education instructor at La Mesa Elementary School in Albquerque.

Charles Smith • 1993-97
Charles "Spider" Smith became New Mexico's career scoring leader on Feb. 3, 1997, against BYU...he finished with 1,993 points, the 11th-best total in WAC history at the time...Smith is just one of four Lobos to lead the team in scoring for three straight seasons, joining Francis Grant (1960-62), Mel Daniels (1965-67) and Ruben Douglas (2001-03)...helped led UNM to three NCAA Tournaments in his career (1994, '96 and '97)...Smith was taken by the Miami Heat in the first round of the 1997 NBA Draft and played professionally throughout the world for many years.

Ira Harge • 1962-64
The first real big man at the University of New Mexico...head coach Bob King snared the future pro from Burlington (Iowa) Junior College prior to the 1962-63 season...first team All-WAC pick in 1963 and '64...career averages were 18.8 points and 11.8 rebounds...top scoring game was 36 points against BYU...best rebounding effort was 22 versus Long Beach State...in 1964, Harge led the Lobos to their first WAC title and to the championship game of the NIT...a second-round draft pick of the NBA's Philadelphia 76ers in 1964...lived in Albuquerque since coming to UNM.

Kenny Thomas • 1995-99
The first player in the history of the Western Athletic Conference to surpass 1,800 points, 1,000 rebounds and 200 blocked shots...All-America honors following his junior season...all-conference selection three times and a member of the all-WAC defensive team his final two seasons...the Lobos enjoyed their best four-year mark in school history with Thomas as a member, compiling a 102-30 record, including 71-3 in The Pit...UNM advanced to the second round of the NCAA Tournament four straight years...Thomas led UNM to the championship game of the WAC Tournament three times and was named MVP in 1996 and '98...a 1st-round pick (22nd selection overall) of the Houston Rockets in 1999...also played for the Philadelphia 76ers and Sacramento Kings.

University Arena has long been recognized as one of the most special places in the nation for college basketball, due to the tremendous support and enthusiasm of Lobo Basketball through the years. The Pit is known, first and foremost, for being THE loudest arena in college basketball, but also for being the domain where the Lobos rarely lose. In addition to providing an enormous home-court advantage for UNM, The Pit has also been the home for some very entertaining basketball games over the years. Some of the obvious classic contests include the 1983 NCAA national championship between Houston and upstart North Carolina State and the 1968 NCAA Tournament when Lew Alcindor and UCLA won a pair of games on their way to the national championship. However, when reconciling the top-10 greatest games in Pit history, only games in which New Mexico was involved were considered. The list was compiled in the summer of 1999 by a blue-ribbon panel of writers and fans who have witnessed great basketball action at University Arena.

Jan. 2, 1988 • New Mexico 61, Arizona 59

Top-ranked and undefeated Arizona came into The Pit for an ESPN late-night matchup to tip-off the New Year and provided the greatest upset in school history. Behind an unconscious Jimmy Rogers, UNM bolted out to a 25-9 lead 10 minutes into the game. The Wildcats, led by All-Americans Sean Elliott and Steve Kerr, who combined for 38 points on the night, clawed back and cut the lead to two, 61-59, with under two minutes remaining. Arizona had a chance to win the game in the final seconds when Elliott was open for a three-pointer, but Hunter Greene blocked the shot, thus securing the upset. Rogers had 15, while Dar-

March 8, 1996 • New Mexico 104, Fresno State 99 (3OT)

In perhaps the most draining game in Pit history, the Lobos outlasted Fresno State in three overtimes in the semifinals of the Western Athletic Conference Tournament. Tied at 74 at the end of regulation, UNM was down by two with under 10 seconds remaining in the first overtime. David Gibson found Kenny Thomas on the blocks, however, and Thomas spun and dunked with six seconds left to send the game into a second overtime. Fresno State scored the first five points of the second OT and led 92-89 with 30 seconds left. As UNM worked to tie the game again, Charles Smith put up a desperation three-pointer with three seconds left and was fouled by the Bulldogs Darnell McCullough. Smith calmly drained all three free throws to knot the game and force the game to continue. Royce Olney and Clayton Shields each hit three-pointers in the first minute of the third overtime, although Fresno State would tie the game at 98-98 two minutes later. Smith had two quick hoops and Gibson hit two clutch free throws to give the Lobos an incredible win. The victory propelled UNM to a then-school record 28 victories in 1995-96.

No. 3
Feb. 1, 1998 • New Mexico 77, Utah 74

Royce Olney buried a legendary 25-foot three-pointer with 4.7 seconds remaining in the game to give the Lobos an improbable victory over highly-touted Utah. The Utes entered the contest as the nation's only remaining undefeated team at 18-0, and ranked third in the nation. Utah dominated throughout the game, leading from the outset and enjoyed as much as a 13-point advantage in the second half. Down 69-60 with 2:27 remaining, the Lobos began their comeback. Clayton Shields knocked down a three to cut the deficit to six, then scored the Lobos next four points to trim the Utah lead to 71-67 with 1:32 remaining. The teams traded baskets and then came the controversial play of the game. While trying to bring the ball upcourt, Utah's Andre Miller collided with Olney in the backcourt and lost the ball. With the Utah bench screaming for a foul, Olney collected the ball, ran to the corner and drilled a three to cut the Ute lead to 73-72. Kenny Thomas hit two free throws to give the Lobos the lead, and after Alex Jensen made one of two charity tosses to tie the game, Olney took the ball across midcourt and pulled up from downtown, nailing the game-winner for the 14th-ranked Lobos.

Jan. 25, 1986 • UTEP 71, New Mexico 70 (OT)

The infamous "Cup Game" in which a fan tossed a wadded up paper cup on to the court cost New Mexico a key victory against its WAC rival. UNM led by one, 70-69, in overtime after Paul Lawson nailed a 19-footer from the side with 14 seconds left. The Miners came down and worked for the final shot when the Lobos' Mike Winters fouled Wayne Campbell with two seconds left. When Campbell missed the front end of his one-and-one, the Lobos rebounded and began to celebrate. However, a fan sitting under the basket had distracted Campbell by throwing a wadded up paper cup at him just before he shot. The referees awarded Campbell another opportunity and he sank both ends of the free throws as well as UNM's chances at a victory. Ironically, the two free throws were Campbell's only points of the game.

No. 5
Dec. 11, 1993 • New Mexico State 112, New Mexico 104 (2OT)

In a dramatic comeback by arch-rival New Mexico State, the Lobos surrendered a nine-point lead in the final 1:20 of regulation and eventually lost in double overtime 112-104. UNM led by 10, 35-25 at halftime on the strength of 15 points by sharpshooter Canonchet Neves. The lead was as many as 15 in the second half before the Aggies outscored UNM 16-7 in the final 1:20 of regulation. The Lobos stormed back to score the first six points of the first overtime and led 91-84 with under a minute remaining in the extra session. However, the Aggies would not give up and drilled three three-pointers in the final 40 seconds to extend the game further. In the second overtime, NMSU was 3-3 from behind the arc and buried the Lobos with a 17-9 run. Keith Johnson scored 26 to lead the Aggies and offset a 34-point performance by UNM's Greg Brown. The 104 points scored by UNM remains the highest losing total in school history.

On October 2, 1992, University of New Mexico President Richard E. Peck announced that the basketball court at University Arena would be named in honor of Bob King, former UNM basketball coach. King coached the UNM men's basketball team to national prominence in the 1960's.

"We wanted to recognize Coach King's contributions to Lobo basketball," Peck said. "UNM's Memorial Committee recommended that we honor Coach King's accomplishments, and the naming of the court has allowed us to do so without diminishing the recognition which has already been paid to his colleagues, including former Director of Athletics Pete McDavid. The Bob King Court and the Pete McDavid Lounge are a tribute to two of the men who are responsible for the success of the facility we fondly call The Pit."

The Bob King Court was dedicated at formal ceremonies on Dec. 1, 1992. King passed away on Dec. 10, 2004, at the age of 81.

Bob King was head coach at New Mexico from 1963-72, compiling a 175-89 record. King's success early in his Lobo career was the primary reason The Pit was constructed in 1966.

ACCOMPLISHMENTS OF BOB KING

AS AN ATHLETE
• All-State basketball player at Gravity (Iowa) High School
• Was a member of the University of Iowa's freshman team and graduated from Iowa in three years

EDUCATION
• Bachelor's degree in Physical Education from University of Iowa in 1947
• Master's degree in Educational Guidance and Psychology from Drake University in 1957

AS A COACH
• 205-75 record in 12 years at Britt and Algona HS in Iowa, and West High in Rockford, Ill.
• Assistant coach at Iowa (1960-62) under Sharm Scheuerman
• Head coach at University of New Mexico (1963-72) where he compiled a 175-89 record and is the second-winningest coach in Lobo history…led UNM to two Western Athletic Conference titles (1964, 1968), to three NIT appearances, including the finals in 1964, and one NCAA Tournament…produced 10 All-WAC performers and three All-Americas in Mel Daniels, Ron Nelson and Willie Long…before King's arrival at UNM, the Lobos had not had a winning season since 1953-54…never had a losing season at UNM…UNM has had just five losing seasons since King arrived...has been called the "Architect of Lobo Basketball."…biggest accomplishment was the building of University Arena, or The Pit, after UNM began winning under his auspices…in King's first three years at UNM, attendance doubled in Johnson Gym, prompting the construction of The Pit in 1965

AS AN ADMINISTRATOR
• Assistant Athletics Director at University of New Mexico (1972-73)
• Athletics Director at Indiana State University (1974-80)…the Sycamores advanced to the NCAA Championship in 1979 with Larry Bird leading the way - lost to Michigan State in the finals…during his tenure, King elevated the Indiana State football program to Division I status, ISU gained admittance to the Missouri Valley Conference, and interest and attendance improved at ISU basketball games

SPECIAL HONORS, CONTRIBUTIONS
• Officer in the Air Force (1943-46)
• Inducted into Albuquerque Sports Hall of Fame (1982)
• Inducted into UNM Athletic Hall of Honor (1987)

TOBY ROYBAL - A TRIBUTE TO #44

by J.D. Kailer
Albuquerque - Jan. 11, 1956

Toby Roybal, a slick 6-foot-2 senior guard from Santa Fe, scored a school-record 45 points tonight to lead the New Mexico Lobos to a stunning 92-79 Skyline Conference basketball win over Montana before 2,500 wild fans at Carlisle Gym. Roybal's record performance followed the 37 points he scored against Wyoming in the 80-71 victory at Laramie four nights earlier. Ironically, Roybal committed his final personal foul with 2:30 remaining. When Coach Bill Stockton walked out on the floor to shake Roybal's hand, the crowd gave the guard a two-minute standing ovation. Roybal's record totals: 13 FGs, 19 of 25 FTs, 45 points, 38 minutes.

Albuquerque - Jan. 12, 1956 - Picking up where he left off 24 hours earlier, Roybal scored 30 points to lead New Mexico to an easy 73-50 win over Montana. The Santa Fe product had scored a record 45 points the previous night. Grizzlies head coach Frosty Cox put two, sometimes three men, on the all-Skyline guard. Roybal answered the challenge by either passing to wide-open teammates or drawing a foul. His 30 points came on seven field goals and 16 of 21 free throws. In a five-day span against Wyoming and Montana, Roybal scored 110 points in three games.

Albuquerque - March 21, 1984 - The late-Toby Roybal was inducted into the Albuquerque Sports Hall of Fame before an overflow crowd at the Hilton Hotel. Not only was the stellar athlete the 23rd H.O.F. inductee, but he was also the first UNM basketball player to have his jersey - No. 44 - retired. Previously, No. 44 had been worn by Lobo standouts Ira Harge, Mel Daniels and Rich Pokorski. UNM athletics director John Bridgers presented the jersey to Roybal's widow, Dixie, at the banquet following the induction. Roybal died in 1962 at the age of 30 - a victim of a fast-spreading cancer.

Roybal was inducted into the University of New Mexico Athletic Hall of Honor in 1995.

THEY REMEMBERED TOBY ROYBAL...
"Toby was ungodly even as a freshman; one of the best to ever play at UNM. A great leaper who could hit on any shot from 5-6 feet. He was quick. It took three guys to contain him. He could have played on any team UNM ever had...'60s, '70s, '80s or '90s." — Larry Tuttle, UNM 1950-52.

"Forty-seven years ago, Toby Roybal was the best home-grown athlete New Mexico has ever produced. Things haven't changed. He is the greatest player in New Mexico's basketball history, long before the three-pointer and bonus free throws." — Jim Hulsman, former Albuquerque High head basketball coach.

"I recruited Toby out of Santa Fe High. He had tremendous physical talents and he improved on them after two years in service. Despite the de-emphasis of sports at UNM in the early-1950s, Toby played a major role in keeping us competitive." — Woody Clements, UNM head basketball coach, 1944-51, 1952-55.

"He was something special. A player's player who could do everything. A starter on any Lobo team...then and now. He played in an era of no shot clock, no three-pointer, no bonus free throw. On a 1 to 10, he's a 10, easily ranking with the likes of Michael Cooper." — Dave Syme, UNM 1955-57.

"Easy-going, could jump like crazy, lead the fast break and dead-eye on shots around the key. He would be in the NBA today with all of their opportunities. He died too soon." — Gene Golden, UNM 1953-55.

"We grew up together in Santa Fe and were recruited by Coach Woody Clements. Toby was a 'natural' at basketball, track, football and baseball. His moves, like floating through the air on a jumper, were his own; no TV to watch and to copy a Michael Jordan. Toby learned from scratch and hours of practice." — Ray Esquibel, UNM 1953-55.

"He's as talented a player as any we have faced since I've been coaching at Utah." — legendary coach Jack Gardner.

GREG BROWN - NAISMITH AWARD WINNER

Remember, you're too small to play basketball, especially NCAA Division I basketball. Bunk. That's essentially what Greg Brown told those people who thought he was not big enough to play a game controlled by giants.

Greg Brown, 5-foot-7 Greg Brown, proved to all the naysayers that there is room for the little man in the game of basketball. Without Brown, New Mexico doesn't come close to winning a WAC title in 1994, the school's first in 16 years.

Praise rang from all over the country as Brown, a 1990 graduate of Albuquerque High School, progressed through his senior year. Four times he scored 30 or more. Brown tossed in 42 -- in 34 minutes -- against Texas-El Paso. He poured in 34 against New Mexico State. However, he saved his biggest games for BYU.

Brown had 35 in the Lobos' win in Albuquerque. In the title-clinching victory at Provo, the next-to-last-game of the season, Brown was awesome. He had 34 with 28 of those coming in the second half and overtime of the 84-82 triumph. Brown scored 20 of the Lobos' final 28 points, including 12 straight at one point. His three free throws -- after drawing a 3-point foul with six seconds left in regulation -- sent the game into overtime.

For all his efforts, Brown was named Western Athletic Conference and District 7 Player of the Year. He garnered honorable mention All-America recognition from the United States Basketball Writers and The Sporting News.

The crowning moment of Brown's collegiate career came when he was honored with the Frances Pomeroy Naismith Award, given to the nation's top senior in college basketball under 6-feet.

Greg Brown led the University of New Mexico to the 1994 Western Athletic Conference regular-season title.

ABOUT THE 1963-64 LOBOS

The 1963-64 Lobos posted a record of 23-6 and finished runner up to Bradley in the NIT. The team boasted regular-season wins over such national powers as Kansas and Purdue. UNM opened the season by winning 11 of its first 12 games. The Lobos posted a 7-3 record in Western Athletic Conference play, tying Arizona State for their first conference title. UNM finished the season tied for 16th in the final UPI poll.

ABOUT THE 1967-68 LOBOS

Picked to finish last in a preseason poll by conference coaches, New Mexico was the surprise of the WAC, if not the country. The Lobos started the season 17-0 to rank fourth in the nation, then won the WAC with an 8-2 record and finished the season 23-5. New Mexico made its first ever NCAA appearance and finished the year ranked sixth by AP and seventh by UPI.

ABOUT THE 1973-74 LOBOS

New Mexico posted a 22-7 overall record and went 10-4 in the Western Athletic Conference, winning the third WAC crown in school history. The Lobos averaged 84.2 points per game and boasted a winning margin of 12.3 points. UNM won its first ever NCAA Tournament game, advancing to the West Regional. The Lobos were ranked 18th in the final UPI poll. On six different occasions, the Lobos scored 100 or more points.

ABOUT THE 1993-94 LOBOS

Picked to finish fifth in the 10-team Western Athletic Conference in the preseason poll, New Mexico was a model of consistency as it captured the school's fifth conference championship and first in 16 years.

UNM was out of first place for only two weeks and was never lower than second in the league standings.  Led by 5-7 point guard Greg Brown -- the WAC Player of the Year -- and a supporting cast overflowing with complementing players, the Lobos clinched the title the old-fashioned way:  They earned it.

In the most unlikely of places -- Provo, Utah on the campus of BYU -- New Mexico staged one of its most miraculous comebacks in school history.  The Lobos trailed by five with 25 seconds left, but managed to force overtime.  UNM was in arrears by four in the extra period, but rallied again for a shocking 84-82 victory, the Lobos' first win in Provo in nine years.

New Mexico finished 23-8 for its eighth consecutive 20-win season. The Lobos advanced to the NCAA Tournament for the third time in four years.  Brown also won the Frances Pomeroy Naismith Award given to the nation's top player under 6-feet while head coach Dave Bliss was recognized as WAC Coach of the Year.

Lewis LaMar cuts down the net, celebrating UNM's 1994 WAC championship.  The Lobos returned home on a Sunday morning and found 4,500 fans waiting in The Pit to help them celebrate.

ABOUT THE 2008-09 LOBOS

Picked to finish fifth in the Mountain West Conference preseason poll, the Lobos won their final five games of the regular season to tie BYU and Utah for the MWC title at 12-4.

Just two years removed from a 4-12 league mark and losing in the MWC Tournament play-in game, New Mexico claimed its first conference crown in 15 years, since winning the 1994 Western Athletic Conference championship.

After a 73-62 loss at BYU on Feb. 17, the Lobos were 7-4 in the MWC and knew they had to run the table to have a shot at the title.

The Lobos blasted San Diego State at home 75-49 in arguably their most complete game of the season. That was followed by a 76-62 home win over TCU.

Trailing at Colorado State by five points with 13 seconds left in regulation, the title chase was in serious jeopardy. However, UNM pulled out a dramatic 81-79 triumph in double overtime.

A roof-raising sellout crowd of 18,018 and senior Tony Danridge's career-high 29 points willed UNM to a 77-71 victory over league leader Utah. It was Dandridge elevating his game four days later, scoring 29 again as the Lobos escaped Laramie with a hard-earned 74-73 decision over Wyoming and a share of the title.

New Mexico's 106th season ended with a tough 70-68 loss at Notre Dame in the second round of the NIT. UNM finished 22-12, its 17th 20-win campaign in the past 26 seasons. Head coach Steve Alford was recognized as MWC Coach of the Year.

Tony Danridge scored 29 points in the final two regular season wins over Utah and Wyoming to lead UNM to its first conference championship in 15 years.

ABOUT THE 2009-10 LOBOS

Picked to finish fifth in the Mountain West Conference preseason poll, the Lobos defied all the experts for the second year in a row. New Mexico won its second straight MWC regular-season title, this time in outright fashion for the first time since 1994.

The quest for the trophy was quite remarkable. After finishing 14-1 in the non-conference season and achieving the school's first national ranking in 11 seasons, UNM promptly started 0-2 in conference play with losses at San Diego State and at home to UNLV. The loss to the Runnin' Rebels ended a 19-game home winning streak.

Then, the improbable happened. The Lobos, with only one senior on the roster, never lost another conference game, streaking to the finish line with a school and MWC-record 14 consecutive wins in league play. That was seven consecutive home victories and seven straight conference road wins, also breaking a school and MWC mark. UNM finished 14-2.

New Mexico took down BYU twice when the Cougars were ranked in the top-13 in the nation. The most dramatic was in the penultimate game of the season at Provo, a venue UNM had not won at in 10 years. The Lobos prevailed 83-81. UNM also beat a nationally-ranked UNLV team 76-66 in Las Vegas.

Junior guard Darington Hobson was named MWC Player of the Year and Newcomer of the Year after averaging 14.9 points, an MWC-high 10.1 rebounds and 4.8 assists a game in MWC contests. He was also named to several All-America teams. Junior point guard Dairese Gary was a first team all-conference selection and a member of the all-MWC Defensive team. Senior Roman Martinez made more clutch plays than could be counted.

Head coach Steve Alford was recognized as MWC Coach of the Year for the second year in a row.

The Lobos finished 30-5, breaking a school standard for wins, and advanced to the NCAA Tournament for the first time since 2005 and won a tournament game for the first time since 1999.

Junior guard Darington Hobson was named MWC Player of the Year and Newcomer of the Year while becoming the first Lobo to lead the team in scoring, rebounding and assists in the same season.

ABOUT THE 2011-12 LOBOS

In a season marked by two Mountain West trophies, championship rings, 28 wins, and an NCAA ride that took a Final Four Louisville team to the end, maybe the best part of New Mexico's 2011-12 season was really the way this gusty Steve Alford team continued to get better.

There were several ways to note the improvement curve these Lobos threw at the Mountain West and one way was turning the kiss-your-sister ending to the MW regular-season race into Lobo dominance at the Mountain West Tournament. The Lobos rolled the UNLV Rebels off their home court and beat San Diego State for the title and the automatic NCAA bid.

And Drew Gordon, the Lobos' 6-foot-9, double-double post, who was snubbed for MW Player of The Year honors, roared to the MW tourney MVP crown.

The Lobos ended the 2011-12 season better than any other MW team in another way, too - in the NCAA Tournament way. The Lobos were the only MW team to post an NCAA tournament win as SDSU and UNLV were knocked out in the first round.

And when the final ESPN/USA Today Coaches Poll was released, there was only one Mountain West team ranked: New Mexico. It was the 10th time in program history that UNM has finished the season ranked in the final coaches' poll, and the second time in the last three seasons. UNM was ranked No. 21 in the final AP Poll released prior to the start of the NCAA Tournament.

Alford's Lobos continued to show grit on the road by posting 14 wins away from The Pit which broke the program's record of 13 set two seasons earlier by Alford's Lobos.

The job Alford did with this Lobo team probably rivals what he did in 2010 when UNM dropped its first two league games and then finished 14-2.

UNM finished 14th nationally in scoring defense (59.3 points per game), rebound margin (+6.3), seventh in field goal percentage defense (.384) and sixth in scoring margin (+13.4). UNM's 28-7 record, an .800 winning percentage, was 14th nationally, and UNM's 16.4 assists per game ranked 10th.

Gordon recorded 19 double-doubles on the season, good for 10th nationally, and his 11.1 rebounds per game were fourth nationally.

The 59.3 points allowed per game mark is the lowest ever in the shot clock era, and the lowest total since allowing 59.2 points in the 1983-84 season. The .384 defensive field goal percentage marked the first time that UNM has held opponents for an entire season under 40% shooting since the 1964-65 season (.367).

ABOUT THE 2012-13 LOBOS

It was another year of multiple championships, with a pair of Mountain West titles for the second straight year to go along with UNM's first in-season tournament win under Steve Alford.

The Lobos scratched and clawed their way to a 29-6 record, the second-most wins in school history. None seemed easy, and all were the product of a scrappy team that won despite shooting just .423 from the field for the season. The Lobos found themselves in the national spotlight and behind the 8-ball on opening night/morning, as UNM was down 10-0 to Davidson in a season-opener that started at midnight as a part of ESPN's 24 Hours of College Hoops Madness. However, UNM pulled off the second-largest second half comeback in school history (coming back from down 16) in what was the first of 12 straight wins to open the season.

Three of those 12 were in the Paradise Jam, where UNM beat nationally-ranked Connecticut in the title game. That UNM was even in the title game was a slight miracle in itself, as the Lobos were down five points with under 15 seconds left, but a Kendall Williams three, a Williams steal and a Tony Snell three with 1.8 seconds left gave the Lobos the win over George Mason.

UNM entered conference play at 13-2, and rolled to a 13-3 conference mark, winning a projected close title race going away. In a game that basically decided the regular season title, Kendall Williams drained a school-record 10 threes and 46 points at Colorado State.

In the conference tournament, UNM swept its way to a second straight tournament win, beating UNLV on its home floor in the finals after a superb tournament performance from MVP Tony Snell.

The Lobos entered the national tournament with a school-record tying 3-seed, and a No. 10 national ranking, but UNM's shooting struggled final caught up to it in a 68-62 loss to Harvard in Salt Lake City in the NCAA Tournament.

However, that result didn't spoil a season which saw Williams earn Conference MVP honors, Alford Coach of the Year, and Snell declaring for the draft and becoming a first-round selection of the Chicago Bulls.

For the second straight year, the Lobos held opponents under 40% shooting from the field, and center Alex Kirk rebounded from a missed season to become one of the nation's best centers with nine double-doubles and earning Mountain West All-Defensive honors and All-Distrcit honors as well. The season also ended with a coaching switch, as long-time Associate Head Coach Craig Neal took the reigns of the program from Alford, putting one of the game's most respected names in charge of one of the most consistent programs over the last six years.

The University of New Mexico has an 8-15 record in 14 NCAA Tournament appearances. Here's a summary of the Lobos' NCAA Tournament showings:

1968 -- New Mexico's first exposure in the NCAA Tournament came under head coach Bob King in 1968. King was named WAC Coach of the Year after capturing the WAC crown with an impressive 23-5 overall record. The Lobos were 7th in the national rankings and also had the advantage of playing on their home floor in the West Regional. UNM lost the first night to Santa Clara, 86-73, as its star center Greg (Stretch) Howard was ineligible to play due to the NCAA rule that did not allow transfers to play in postseason games. In the consolation game, UNM fell to intrastate rival New Mexico State, 68-62, a team it had beaten twice during the regular season. The Aggies had lost the night before to Lew Alcindor-led UCLA, which went on to win the national title.

1974 -- The 1974 WAC championship team finished 22-7 and 18th in the polls. The Lobos traveled to Pocatello, Idaho, and defeated Idaho State, 73-65 in the first round. From there it was on to Tucson for the West Regional where the Lobos lost a heartbreaker to San Francisco in the last 22 seconds, 64-61. UNM redeemed itself the following night by winning the consolation game over Dayton, 66-61. The Flyers had taken UCLA into triple overtime the previous night.

1978 -- A 13-1 conference mark (24-3 overall) earned the Lobos a Western Athletic Conference title and a trip to Tempe, Arizona. UNM's first-round opponent was Cal State Fullerton, which became that year's Cinderella team. Had the Lobos defeated the Titans, they would have returned home to Albuquerque for the West Regional and 18,000 hometown fans. But in one of the biggest upsets of the year, unranked Fullerton dumped 4th-ranked New Mexico 90-85. The Titans advanced to Albuquerque where they upset San Francisco then lost to Final Four participant Arkansas by three points in the regional final.

1991 -- New Mexico made its first appearance in 13 years by receiving an at-large bid with a 20-9 record. Seeded 14th in the East Region, New Mexico faced No. 3 seed Oklahoma State in the first round at College Park, Md. The game was tied at halftime, 26-26, however, the Cowboys' second-half defense was too much for the Lobos in the 67-54 loss. Luc Longley had 16 points and 9 rebounds in his final collegiate game. OSU advanced to the Sweet 16 before falling to Temple.

1993 -- The Lobos received an automatic bid to the tournament by winning the WAC Tournament in Salt Lake City. Entering the tournament with a 23-7 record, UNM was ranked 21st by the Associated Press and received a No. 5 seed. The Lobos drew 12th-seeded George Washington as its first-round opponent in the West Region at Tucson, Ariz. New Mexico was in trouble before the team bus ever got to the McKale Center. Several Lobos, including starters Khari Jaxon and Steve Logan, were afflicted by food poisoning from a meal eaten the night before. That malady and the Colonials' brawn proved to be the difference in the 82-68 defeat. George Washington eventually lost to national runnerup Michigan in the Sweet 16.

1994 -- UNM advanced to the NCAA West Regional in Sacramento, Calif., on the strength of its regular-season WAC title. The 23-6 Lobos were a No. 10 seed and faced the 16-11 Virginia Cavaliers, the No. 7 seed. Five minutes into the second half, New Mexico appeared primed to snap its three-game NCAA Tournamnt victory drought and advance in the tourney for the first time since 1974. Outplaying the stronger Cavaliers, UNM forged a 41-26 lead five minutes into the second half on the strength of freshman Charles Smith. That's when the 3-pointers stopped falling. After making 6 of its first 15, UNM missed its last 10. The Lobos still led 54-49 with 2:46 remaining. However, in the last two minutes UNM turned it over once and missed its last five shots, including three game-tying 3-pointers in the final 12 seconds. The result was a tough 57-54 loss and an early exit. Smith led UNM with 20 points.

1996 -- The Lobos' four-game, 22-year victory drought in the NCAA Tournament came to a resounding halt in the East Regional in Richmond, Va. UNM won the WAC Tournament in Albuquerque and took a gaudy 27-4 record and an AP ranking of No. 23 into the tourney. New Mexico was a No. 7 seed and faced 10th-seeded Kansas State in the first round. UNM trailed early but rallied for a 31-30 halftime lead. It was still close at 43-41 when the Lobo defense took over. K-State was held to just one field goal the final 13:34 of the game as UNM closed with a 26-7 run and a convincing 69-48 victory. Sophomore forward Clayton Shields had 25 points and 10 rebounds. KSU shot just 29% (15-52) from the floor.

The Lobos' were rewarded by playing No. 2 seed and fourth-ranked Georgetown in the second round. New Mexico's magic continued in the first half against the Hoyas as it was a 35-32 ballgame in the Lobos' favor at intermission. Georgetown All-America Allen Iverson, the Hoyas' superior strength and foul trouble to UNM freshman center Kenny Thomas crippled the Lobos' chances in the second half. Iverson scored 19 of his 25 points in the final 20 minutes and Thomas picked up two personals in the first three minutes as the lead slipped away. Georgetown prevailed 73-62 to advance to the Sweet Sixteen. Shields led the Lobos again with 19 points. Due to foul trouble, Thomas was limited to only 37 minutes in the two tournament games. UNM finished with a 28-5 ledger, setting a school-record for victories.

1997 -- The Lobos were sent to the East Region for the second straight year, playing at the Civic Arena in Pittsburgh, Pa. UNM received an at-large berth as a No. 3 seed, the highest for the Lobos since the NCAA began the seeding process in 1979. New Mexico got past No. 14 seed Old Dominion in the first round, 59-55. Kenny Thomas' rebound and two free throws with two seconds remaining sealed the victory. Thomas had 15 points and 8 rebounds while freshman Lamont Long added 14 points and 9 boards.

UNM met No. 6 seed Louisville in the second round and came within a basket of advancing to the Sweet Sixteen for only the second time in school history. Trailing 64-63, the Lobos forced a Louisville turnover with 16 seconds remaining. UNM's set play coming out of the timeout broke down, and point guard David Gibson was forced to take an awkward shot driving to the basket, which missed. It marked the first time in 23 games that UNM led at halftime and lost. It was also the first time in 20 contests that New Mexico fell while holding an opponent to less than 70 points. Thomas, who fouled out with three personals in the second half, his third and fourth in a span of 22 seconds, and his fifth occurring during a Louisville free throw, had just 8 points and 3 rebounds. Senior Charles Smith had 16 points and 7 rebounds in his final game as a Lobo. Long again led UNM in rebounds with 8.

1998 -- The Lobos took a 23-7 record into their fifth NCAA Tournament in the past six seasons. UNM was sent to the South Region in Lexington, Ky., where it was a No. 4 seed, and faced Butler University in the first round.

UNM won 79-62, however, all did not look good early in the second half. Kenny Thomas, who finished with just three points and five rebounds, was on the bench with three fouls. Senior point guard David Gibson had to leave the game with 18:16 left after suffering a concussion and a broken right middle finger on a drive to the basket. The score was tied at 40-40 when the Lobos went on a 12-0 run to salt the game away. Some unlikely heroes stepped up. Senior post Ben Baum scored a season-high 14 points, making all three of his 3-point attempts, and tied a career-high with six rebounds. Freshman guard Tom Starkey, who had played just 35 minutes in nine games before the tournament, scored five points and grabbed a career-high seven rebounds in a career-best 13 minutes. Freshman guard Kevin Henry, normally the 2-guard, was forced to the point in the second half when Gibson went out. Henry responded with 14 points, while setting career-highs for FTs made (9), FT attempts (10) and assists (5). Sophomore Lamont Long led UNM with 22 points.

The Lobos advanced to the second round for the third straight season where they met Syracuse. UNM could never crack the Orangemen's 2-3 zone in the 56-46 setback. New Mexico converted just 14 of 55 shots (25.5%) overall and 6 of 25 from 3-point. Thomas had 12 points and 12 rebounds. Long added 11 points and 11 caroms.

1999 - The Lobos advanced to their fourth straight NCAA Tournament and seventh in the decade of the '90s. That streak was in serious jeopardy earlier in the season. Following a road loss at Hawai'i, the Lobos were 17-6 and had dropped four of five decisions. An upswing ensued, however, as UNM closed the regular season by winning five of its last six. Add an improbable run to the championship game of the WAC Tournament, and UNM locked up its 10th tournament berth.

Advancing as an at-large selection, New Mexico took a 24-8 record in the tournament. Surprisingly, the Lobos were kept in the West Region where they faced Missouri in the first round in Denver. Lamont Long's 8-foot jumper with six seconds left provided the margin in the 61-59 victory. Long paced UNM with 17 points and a season-high 12 rebounds. Senior Kenny Thomas had his finest showing in the NCAA Tournament with 20 points, 10 rebounds and four blocks before fouling out with 1:31 to go. New Mexico joined Cincinnati, Kansas, Kentucky, Purdue, Stanford and Utah as the only schools to win at least one NCAA Tournament game every year since 1996.

UNM fell to eventual national champ Connecticut 78-56, in a second-round matchup. UConn raced to a 17-0 lead and never looked back. The Huskies were ranked third in the polls and came in as the West's No. 1 seed. The Lobos shot a season-low 26.3% (15-57) from the floor and only 19% (4-21) from 3-point. After a stellar performance in the first round, Thomas was held without a field goal for the only time in his 123-game collegiate career. He finished with one point and 11 rebounds. Damion Walker came off the bench to lead the Lobos with 21 points.

2005 - After a six-year absence, New Mexico returned to the NCAA Tournament for the 11th time in school history off a strong run through the Mountain West Conference Tournament. This was also the first appearance in the NCAAs for head coach Ritchie McKay, either as a player, an assistant, or a head coach. Despite posting a 26-7 record, the second most wins in school history, the Lobos were given a No. 12 seed in the Syracuse Regional.

pulled to within 52-47 with 29 seconds left, but they couldn't overcome their dismal start, falling to the Wildcats, 55-47. Danny Granger led New Mexico with 15 points and Mark Walters had 14 - all in the second half.

2010 - UNM returned to the Big Dance for the first time in five seasons after winning its second consecutive Mountain West Conference regular-season title. Despite losing in the semifinals of the MWC Tournament, the Lobos earned a No. 3 seed as an at-large team based on their 29-4 overall record and strong schedule that included a 6-0 mark against top-25 teams.

UNM drew a stubborn Montana team in an East Region first round game at San Jose, Calif. Roman Martínez had 19 points, six rebounds and four assists and the Lobos overcame a shaky start to beat the 14th-seeded Grizzlies 62-57. Darington Hobson added 11 points, 11 rebounds and six assists while playing with a sprained left wrist for the Lobos, who used a 17-0 run after halftime to briefly break open the game after trailing by a point at the break.

Martínez made three 3-pointers, including one with 7:44 to play, and Dairese Gary converted seven free throws over the final 3:36 as New Mexico staved off an upset. The Lobos won despite shooting 41.5% from the floor (22-53), 25% (5-20) from 3-point, 56.5% (13-23) from the FT line and being outrebounded 37-31. UNM, however, did commit just 6 turnovers and held Montana's Anthony Johnson to 6 points on 1-12 FGs. Johnson came into the game averaging almost 20 a game. UNM did hold the Grizzlies to 37% shooting in the 2nd half (10-27) and 29% (4-14) from beyond the arc.

In the second round, Quincy Pondexter scored 18 points, Isaiah Thomas added 15 and 11th-seeded Washington won 82-64. The Lobos simply couldn't keep up with the breakneck offensive pace, falling behind by 23 points midway through the second half.

Dairese Gary matched his career high with 25 points and Darington Hobson had 11 points and nine rebounds for New Mexico. Hobson led the Lobos in points, rebounds and assists, but the junior hurt his left wrist and back on a first-round tumble to the court. He insisted he could play through the pain, but appeared to be favoring the wrist in pregame warmups - and he went 1 of 3 in the first half, failing to score after a 3-pointer in the opening minutes.

Roman Martinez was badly cut over his left eye with 12 minutes left in a collision with a teammate. He returned in a different jersey, finishing with 10 points.

2012 - New Mexico rode a conference regular season and tournament title into the 2012 NCAA Tournament, and the hot streak earned UNM a No. 5 seed into the West Regional, where UNM would face a tough 5-12 matchup with Long Beach State at the Rose Garden in Portland.

In one of the best second round games of the tournament, the Lobos used a closing 16-7 run over the final five minutes to come from behind and pull out a 75-68 win. Down 61-59 at the five-minute mark, Kendall Williams drained a three out of a timeout and right in front of the UNM bench to give UNM a 62-61 lead, one they would not relinquish. Casper Ware had a rare free throw miss on a one-and-one and UNM made Long Beach State pay with a Drew Gordon layup for a three-point lead. UNM would make five free throws in the final 39 seconds to keep the 49ers at bay.

Drew Gordon had another spectacular game with 18 points and 13 rebounds, and Kendall Williams added 16 points for UNM, which went .500 from the field at 25-for-50. Hugh Greenwood had 12 and Demetrius Walker had 11.

In the third round, New Mexico matched-up with No. 4 Louisville, and the Cardinals nipped the Lobos 59-56 to end UNM's season. The Lobos held an 11-6 lead early, but Louisville got a big day from Russ Smith off the bench with 17 points and three steals.

Louisville eventually took a 15-point lead at 44-29 before UNM came storming back. Jamal Fenton scored twice in 11 seconds to ignite the Lobos, who would eventually cut the lead all the way down to two on a three-pointer by Demetrius Walker with 1:43 left. Down six again with under 10 seconds left, Gordon got a rebound and hit a fadeaway three-pointer with 4.3 left to make it 59-56. Louisville then missed a one-and-one, but Gordon could only get off a halfcourt heave, which was off the mark.

Gordon had 21 points and 14 rebounds, coming back after hyperextending his knee in the first half. Kendall Williams added 11 for the Lobos, who went just 5-for-23 from the three-point line.

2013 - New Mexico earned a three-seed, tying for the best in school history, but UNM's season-long shooting struggles finally caught up with it, as the Lobos suffered a defeat to 14th-seeded Harvard in a Second Round West matchup in Salt Lake City.

The Lobos hit just one of their first 11 shots but UNm's defense kept them in the ballgame, not allowing Harvard to get more than a 6-point lead early, but UNM never led in the first half, trailing by four at the break after a late Tony Snell layup.

In the second, UNM bolted out to a quick tie and a two point lead with an opening 6-0 run before Harvard asnwered with a six-point run of its own. The Lobos would take a lead on four seperate occasions, the last at 53-52 with 6:26 left on an Alex Kirk layup. However, everytime the Lobos took a lead, Harvard answered on the ensuing possession. Down one, Laurent Rivard hit one of nine Crimson triples which kickstarted a devastating 11-2 run that effectively won the game for Harvard.

The loss put a damper on a huge effort by UNM's post players Kirk and Cameron Bairstow, who combined for 37 points and 21 rebounds, with Kirk going for 22 and 12, and Bairstow 15 and nine. However the Lobos shot just .375 from the field while Harvard went 22-of-42, .524 from the field, and that spelled the difference in the game.

2014 - New Mexico as the seven-seed earned a date with Stanford, but the Harvard of the West did exact what Harvard did the year before, shoot lights out from three to upset the nationally-ranked Lobos, winning 58-53.

Stanford jumped out to a 20-4 lead in the first 6:22 of the game, and UNM spent the better part of the next 23 minutes trying to draw even, which it did when Cullen Neal hit a driving layup to tie the game at 45 with 10:07 to go. Neal was fouled in the process but couldn't give UNM its first lead since 4-3, and the Lobos went ice cold, ending the game on a 2-for-16 skid.

Right after tying it up, UNM went empty on 11 straight possessions (0-of-8 FGs, 0-2 FTs, two turnovers) until Hugh Greenwood hit his third three of the game to make it 54-50 with 1:06 to go. After UNM forced a turnover, Alex Kirk hit two free throws with 30.6 left to make it 54-52, but Stanford walk-on Robbie Lemons hit two free throws with 22.6 left.

UNM needed a miracle and almost got a chance. Down four with 7.2 left, Hugh Greenwood fouled Chasson Randle, who hit him in the head with an inadvertent elbow. Randle was assessed a technical, and UNM would get two free throws and the ball after Randle's two free throws. Needing him to miss one, he bounced the second one in for a 58-52 lead. Williams hit one of two and then missed a three that ended it.

Lost in the game was Cameron Bairstow's effort as he went for 24 points, the fourth-most by a Lobo in the NCAA Tournament. He was 10-of-18 shooting, scoring 12 in each half. Deshawn Delaney had 10 and Hugh Greenwood nine, but it couldn't make up for a rough go by Kendall Williams and Alex Kirk, who entered the game averaging 30.0 points per game, and scored just six combined, going 1-for-12 between them.

New Mexico has been in the NIT 19 times, including a tournament-record seven straight appearances, between 1984-90. The Lobos' top two showings came in 1964 when they finished second to Bradley and fourth place in 1990. UNM came within an eyelash of advancing to New York in 1988, '89, '92 and 2001, losing in the quarterfinals. New Mexico has an 18-20 overall record.

In 2009, the Lobos defeated Nebraska in the first round before narrowly losing at Notre Dame in the second round.

New Mexico has played 21 NIT games in The Pit and drawn 247,519 fans. That's an average of 11,787 per game.

Charlie Thomas led UNM to the 1988 NIT quarterfinals.

ROBERT J. FRANK   PRESIDENT

Robert G. Frank was selected as the 21st President of the University of New Mexico on January 4, 2012, and took office on June 1. The University of New Mexico is the state's largest institution of higher education and its flagship serving over 36,000 students across five campuses. UNM is home to the UNM Health Sciences Center, consisting of the School of Medicine and Colleges of Nursing and Pharmacy, as well as twelve schools and colleges. UNM is ranked in the top 100 research universities in the United States and Canada.

Robert G. Frank previously served as Provost and Senior Vice President for Academic Affairs at Kent State University since July 2007. Kent State is one of the nation's larger university systems with eight campuses that provide more than 280 academic programs to more than 41,000 undergraduate and graduates students from throughout Ohio and the nation, and from 100 countries. In 2010 and 2011, Times Higher Education named Kent State University as one of the top 200 universities in the world. During his tenure at Kent State, the university established a College of Public Health, increased enrollment and retention, and revised promotion and tenure rules.

Dr. Frank is the former dean of the College of Public Health and Health Professions at the University of Florida, where he also served as a professor in the Department of Clinical and Health Psychology. During his tenure at Florida, the College established the Public Health program and reorganized as what is now recognized as a CEPH-accredited College of Public Health. In 2010, Dr. Frank was recognized through Jackie and Dan Devine's endowment of the Robert G. Frank Professorship for the Dean of the College of Public Health and Health Professions at the University of Florida.

Dr. Frank's first appointment was at the University of Missouri-Columbia School of Medicine, Department of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation, where he established the Division of Clinical Health Psychology and Neuropsychology. He was a Robert Wood Johnson Health Policy Fellow in 1991-92 and worked with Senator Jeff Bingaman (D-New Mexico). After completing the fellowship, Dr. Frank returned to the University of Missouri where, as assistant to the dean for health policy, he continued to work on federal and state health policy. Dr. Frank continued to work with Senator Bingaman and managed Missouri's state health reform effort, the ShowMe Health Reform Initiative. In 2011, Dr. Frank was appointed by the United States Department of Defense to the Defense Health Board, a federal advisory committee to the Secretary of Defense.

Dr. Frank holds a doctorate in clinical psychology from the University of New Mexico. He is a Diplomate in Clinical Psychology from the American Board of Professional Psychology. He is past president of the Division of Rehabilitation Psychology of the American Psychological Association and a Fellow in Rehabilitation Psychology, Clinical Psychology, and Health Psychology. He formerly chaired the Florida Developmental Disabilities Council, the Legislative Committee of the American Congress of Rehabilitation Medicine, and American Psychological Association's Committee on Professional Continuing Education (1997) and its Board of Educational Affairs (2000). Dr. Frank's scholarship focuses on two areas: psychological adjustment to catastrophic injury and health policy.

PAUL KREBS  VICE PRESIDENT - ATHLETICS

Paul Krebs is in his eighth year as the University of New Mexico's 12th director of athletics. He was named to the position on March 13, 2006, and began serving UNM on June 1, 2006. Krebs has been a part of the Presidential Executive Cabinet since the spring of 2007 when he was named Vice-President for Athletics. That has carried over with new President Robert Frank, who replaced David Schmidly on June 1, 2012.

In just eight years, Krebs has installed a diverse strategic plan - with short and long-range goals - that has put the University of New Mexico into position as a major player in the challenging and competitive world of intercollegiate athletics.

Under Krebs, New Mexico programs have been competing for conference championships and national recognition in every sport. The program has continually ranked among the top non-BCS institutions in the Learfield Sports Directors' Cup. Under his leadership, the Lobo athletic program has risen to new heights in several areas:

ACADEMICS / STUDENT WELFARE

UNM's hard-working athletes have reached a GPA of 3.00 or higher for the last 13 consecutive semesters. Lobos have been 3.00 or better for 23 of the past 24 grading periods. The Lobo student-athlete continues to perform in the classroom at a higher rate than the average student.

The Lobos posted 107 graduates during the 2013-14 season. There were 144 UNM student-athletes named MWC Scholar-Athlete recipients, the most of any school in the league. There were 181 Lobos on the Fall and Spring MW All-Academics, leading the conference in that category as well.

This past year saw UNM garner 17 Academic All-District honors and five Academic All-Americans, both numbers school records. The university has now had 23 Academic All-Americans in the last five years, the best stretch in school history. Here are a few more academic highs posted in 2013-14:

-- Men's basketball: Has had a GPA of 2.7 or better in 12 of the last 13 semesters. The team posted a 2.94 team gpa in the spring of 2014, which was an eight-year high.

-- Women's basketball: Continued its streak of posting a 3.00 or better every semester since spring of 2001.

-- Football: Had 16 MW All-Academic selections and five consecutive semesters of a 2.6 team gpa or higher

-- Men's golf: Posted its 14th consecutive semesters of a 3.0 or better.

-- Women's golf: A 3.05 or higher for 26 straight semesters; 3.01 or higher 36 of past 37 terms.

-- Men's skiing: Now has 22 straight semesters of a 3.25 or better.

-- Women's skiing: A 3.28 or higher for 27 straight semesters.

-- Men's soccer: A 3.12 or higher 21 of past 24 semesters with six consecutive semesters of a 3.25 or higher.

-- Women's soccer: Has posted 35 consecutive semesters of 3.1 or better.

-- Swimming/diving: A 3.28 or higher for 17 consecutive semesters.

-- Women's tennis: Has had a 3.05 GPA or higher for 46 straight semesters.

-- Men's track: 3.0 team gpa or higher in nine of the last ten semesters.

-- Women's track: Has posted 3.25 GPA or higher for 21 straight semesters.

-- Volleyball: Has had a 3.0 gpa or higher in 23 of their last 24 semesters.

• UNM's Student Development staff has nearly doubled in size, including the addition of a learning specialist, a clinical psychologist and a department nutritionist.

• In the spring of 2009, all academic services for UNM student-athletes moved into the Student Support and Services Center conveniently located close to the athletics department offices and facilities.

• Created the Lobo Leadership Institute, a career-enhancing program that links influential speakers with UNM student-athletes.

• All 21 of UNM's athletic programs achieved the NCAA's 925 APR threshold for five consecutive years and counting.

FACILITIES

• The key component is titled the Master Plan, a project that has architects and Lobo staffers working tirelessly to design and eventually overhaul facilities on UNM's South Campus...the end result will be an interactive Lobo "neighborhood" that benefits student-athletes, coaches and fans...it's an ambitious project with a price tag approaching $100 million.

• In time for the 2014-15 academic year, the department opened a brand new Olympic sports athletic performance center.

• The McKinnon Family Tennis Center was completed and held its grand opening on July 31, 2014. The new facility features six courts, seating, and an electronic scoreboard. It is adjacent to the newly renovated Lobo Baseball and Softball fields and acts as a welcoming center into an athletic plaza connecting the facilities.

• Completed a $60 million renovation to The Pit, which added new seats, club seats, a suite level, and a graphics program that showcases the history of UNM athletics. The Pit after the renovations hosted the 2011 NCAA Women's Basketball Tournament First and Second Rounds, and will host the 2012 NCAA Men's Basketball Tournament Second and Third Rounds.

• Under his watch, practically every program has received a major facility upgrade, including $7 million indoor practice facility located south of University Stadium, major enhancements at the Lobo softball field and soccer/track and field complex including a new surface, renovations to the End Zone Club at University Stadium, the reinvigoration of Lobo Field including new dugouts, stands and playing surface, and the McKinnon Tennis Center will begin taking shape soon.

PERSONNEL

Krebs has also hired new coaches for baseball (Ray Birmingham), cross country/track and field (Joe Franklin), football (Bob Davie), men's basketball (Craig Neal) women's basketball (Yvonne Sanchez), women's golf (Jill Trujillo), skiing (Fredrik Landstedt), softball (Erica Beach), women's tennis (Erica Perkins Jasper) and volleyball (Jeff Nelson).

COMPETITION / PERFORMANCE / ATTENDANCE (2006-14)

• UNM ranked 51st in the nation in the final Learfield Sports Directors' Cup for 2013-14, fifth amongst all non-BCS schools... the Lobos received points from men's and women's cross country, men's indoor and outdoor track, skiing, men's soccer, men's golf and baseball in 2012-13. Under Krebs, UNM consistently is ranked among the highest finishers among non-BSC schools, and consistently ahead of many BSC institutions. In 2011-12, the Lobos recorded a 41st place finish, the highest finish in school history.

• The Lobos had a record fall season in 2011 with five teams achieving postseason status, including a first-time appearance in women's soccer. Overall UNM has had 50 teams qualify for postseason action in the last three years.

• The Lobos have won 28 conference championships in the last three years, and in 2013-14, UNM had 12 individual conference champions, nine conference Coach of the Year honors, and 27 All-Americans. UNM also had an individual NCAA National Champion in skiing.

• UNM led the Mountain West with 12 Conference Athletes of the Year.

• Back-to-back bowl games for Lobo football (2006-07).

• UNM finished in the top 25 in NCAA attendance in men's soccer, women's soccer, volleyball, men's basketball, and women's basketball in 2013-14.

FUND-RAISING / REVENUE GENERATION

• Signed an eight-year deal with Learfield Sports, significantly increasing the school's marketing revenue from corporate sponsorships and broadcast rights

• Signed a six-year contract with Nike as the sole provider/outfitter for UNM athletics teams, nearly four times the previous agreement

• The Lobo Club - UNM's fundraising arm for athletics scholarships - set records in 2007-08, 2008-09, and 2010-11 for total members and contributions.

Krebs began his professional career in collegiate athletics as the Assistant Ticket Director at the University of Oklahoma in 1981. He was promoted to Ticket Director in 1983. He worked at Ohio State from 1986-99 where he rose to Associate Athletic Director. He left Ohio State in 1999 to become the Athletic Director at Bowling Green.

A native of Canfield, Ohio, Krebs earned a bachelor's degree in Business from Bowling Green in 1978 and a master's degree in Athletic Administration from Ohio State in 1981.

Nationally, Krebs is currently a member of the NACDA Executive Committee and he is a board member of the I-A Athletic Directors Assocation. He also serves as the liaison to the MWC football coaches. Krebs' wife, Marjori, is an assistant professor in the UNM College of Education. She received her Ed.D. degree in Leadership Studies from Bowling Green in December of 2006.

He and his wife Marjori have two children, a daughter, Taylor who graduated from the University of Oklahoma, and a son, Jacob, who is a junior at Oklahoma.

COVERAGE

PRINT

Albuquerque's one daily newspaper is the Albuquerque Journal.  Geoff Grammer is entering his third year as the Lobo basketball beat writer for The Journal.

Geoff previously worked in Santa Fe for the New Mexican, where he covered UNM's 30-5 season and run to the round of 23 in the NCAA Tournament.

The Albuquerque Journal is the state's largest paper.  The Lobos are also covered by the UNM student newspaper, The Daily Lobo, The Santa Fe New Mexican, and other papers throughout the state along with several internet based news sites, including The Lobo Lair, the Red Menace, and SB Nation.

RADIO

Ever New Mexico basketball game can be heard over the Lobo Radio Network anchored by 50,000-watt flagship station 770 KKOB-AM in Albuquerque.

Robert Portnoy is in his second year of handling the play-by-play while former Lobo player Hunter Greene is in his first season as the color commentator.

For the third straight season, all UNM home games and the game at New Mexico State will be broadcast in Spanish by Univision with Carlos Fourzan and Miguel Gomez.

TELEVISION

30 regular season games, and one exhibition game, will be carried on television, with all having a form of nationa distribution.

Games will be broadcast this season by ESPN2, ESPNU, ESPN3, CBS Sports Network, and ROOT Sports.  ESPN games will be available on the WatchESPN app, and online at ESPN3.com.  Additionally, ROOT broadcasts will be available online outside the ROOT footprint.

When you add in every game of the Mountain West Tournament on either CBS Sports Network or CBS, Lobo fans should have no problem watching all the great Lobo action all year long.

CREDENTIALS

All credentials must be requested from Matt Ensor in the Media Relations office at least 24 hours prior to tipoff. Since space is limited, media accommodations are on a priority basis: daily newspapers, originating radio and television stations, national, weekly or monthly publications, electronic media outlets, and local and regional television crews. All credential requests should be submitted to the New Mexico Athletics Media Relations office from an official business email address for approval. Unless other arrangements have been made - the credential will be left at Media Will Call at the southwest corner of The Pit.

NBA SCOUTING TICKETS

NBA scouts must purchase tickets for University of New Mexico basketball games, although scouts will receive a parking credential and press row accommodations. Contact the UNM Athletics Media Relations office at (541) 513-6627 or email to mensor@unm.edu to make payment arrangements.

PARKING

Media parking is located in the Baseball East Lot, which is off University Drive and just beyond the right field fence of Lobo Field. All media members must have a pass to park there.

MEDIA ENTRANCE

The media entrance is located at the southwest corner of the arena at the Mid Ramp.

MEDIA SEATING LOCATION

The working press, radio and television are located on both sides of The Pit. Seating diagrams will be posted throughout the Mid Ramp area of The Pit. Media can file from courtside or in the media work room.

PHOTOGRAPHERS

All photographers must shoot from the end of the court on the right side of each basket.

INTERNET SITES

Only accredited Internet sites will be granted game credentials or access to UNM coaches and student-athletes. All inquiries must be made to Matt Ensor or by calling (541) 513-6627. Accreditation will be determined on a case-by-case basis.

TELEPHONE LINES

Media wishing to install telephone lines should contact UNM Telecommunications at (505) 277-1111 or Jodi Melin at jmelin@unm.edu. Please use Matt Ensor as the contact. The address for The Pit is 1111 University SE, Albuquerque, NM 87106. Two ISDN lines and one IFB dial-up telephone lines for visiting radio networks have been installed by Learfield Sports.

The ISDN numbers are (505) 842-8639-1111 and 505-842-8669-1111. The phone numbers are (505) 842-0552 and (505) 842-0152. For more information contact Matt Brown at (573) 556-1268.

MEDIA SERVICES

Pregame packets including notes, statistics, media guides and programs will be available in the media room. Final books (including play-by-play, shot chart, first half and final boxscore) postgame notes and quotes will be made available immediately after the game. Games during the week (M-F) will have a meal, while weekend games will have snacks. Beverages are available in the media room.

INTERVIEW POLICY

All interviews with coaches and student-athletes must be coordinated through the UNM athletics media relations office. For in-depth interviews, please call athletics media relations at (505) 410-4844 at least 48 hours in advance. New Mexico student-athletes will not be available for any media activities the day of a game.

Cell and home phone numbers for student-athletes will not be provided. Student-athletes have been instructed not to accept calls from media without prior notice from athletics media relations staff.

By telephone: For a telephone interview with a UNM student-athlete contact Matt Ensor at least 24 hours in advance. You will be put you in touch with the appropriate person or have the requested person return your call at the earliest convenience.

In person: A media member who wishes to come to campus to interview a student-athlete should contact Matt Ensor at least 24 hours in advance. For feature-type requests, we will attempt to schedule interviews during the middle of the day (around class schedules). Coaches and student-athletes are available before and after practice when practices are open.

PRACTICE POLICY

The New Mexico men's basketball practices will be open to the media on selected days throughout the season. Media will be notified of the schedule well in advance. Please note that all schedules are subject to change.

Note to television and print photographers: When practices are open, print and electronic photographers are allowed to shoot the first 25 minutes of practice. Photographers are not allowed on the court and must shoot from beyond the second row off the floor of the arena.

POSTGAME POLICY

The New Mexico locker room is closed to the media at home and on the road. At home, head coach Craig Neal will address the media briefly, followed by requested Lobo players.

COACHES CONFERENCE CALL

There will not be a sponsored conference call from the Mountain West this season..

UNM ON THE WEB

The address for UNM Athletics is www.GoLobos.com. All notes will be posted immediately and will be available in Adobe PDF format. To be able to view PDFs go to www.adobe.com and download Acrobat reader. There is a link directly on the Lobos' website for this download.

LIVE STATS

The University of New Mexico is proud to utilize the StatBroadcast system for Live Stats. Media members in the arena for home games can log onto lobos.statbroadcast.com from any laptop of tablet. From a mobile phone, media members can log into www.lobostats.com, download the app and have instant access to stats on your mobile device..

MEDIA

The University of New Mexico men's basketball team gets extensive media coverage on a daily basis from the Albuquerque Journal, Daily Lobo, numerous radio outlets, including flagship station 770 KKOB-AM, and three network television stations covering the beat.

LOBOS ON THE RADIO

Every New Mexico game is broadcast over the 18-station Lobo Radio Network, spearheaded by flagship 770 KKOB-AM, at 50,000 watts one of the largest stations in America in terms of geographical penetration. Fans outside of KKOB's listening audience can also receive the games over the Internet at www.GoLobos.com, and this year, the audio stream will be free.

In addition to 770 KKOB, the Lobos can also be heard state-wide on the Lobo Radio Network. The Lobo Radio Network currently consists of 18 stations in New Mexico, including:
