Baldo, who redshirted last season due to injury, captured her first Big Ten accolade after a solid showing against then-No. 20 DePaul on the road on Sept. 6. The Glenview, Ill., native helped the Huskers to a 3-1 victory over the Blue Demons, scoring the game-winning goal off of a corner kick from Sydney Miramontez in the 73rd minute. Baldo's goal marked her second of the season, with her first coming against Central Michigan on Aug. 28.

Baldo shared the weekly award with Minnesota's April Bockin, and is the first Nebraska player to earn freshman-of-the-week honors since Jaycie Johnson in 2013.

Primetime Performers Honor Roll for Division I, announced by the site for the week of Aug. 24.

Odermann claimed her place on the performance list after a stellar season debut victory versus then-No. 23 Kansas at home on Aug. 21. The Gretna, Neb., native tallied a single-game career-best five points against the Jayhawks, scoring two of Nebraska's three goals and adding an assist in NU's 3-0 win. The match marked Odermann's first multiple-goal game of her career, becoming the first defender in program history to score multiple goals in a single game since Anna Caniglia produced three goals and an assist for seven points on Oct. 23, 2009 against Kansas.

Odermann is one of 15 players represented on the CS360 honor roll across all Division I for the opening week of eligibility, featuring games played during the weekend of Aug. 21-23. Criteria for the weekly list includes players' noteworthy game performance, leadership and overall team contribution. Odermann is the first Nebraska player to appear on the list since Jaycie Johnson was named CS360 National Freshman of the Week on Oct. 29, 2013.

Nebraska will also be shown on BTN at Illinois on Sunday, Oct. 18 at 2 p.m.
