HEAD COACH STEVE OWENS • THIRD SEASON

The 13th head coach in Rutgers baseball history, Steve Owens is in his third year leading the Scarlet Knights after being hired on June 26, 2019. An 11-time conference coach of the year who has mentored 22 All-Americans and 54 professional players, Owens owns 28 winning seasons as a head coach. The New York native is among the top 15 active Division I coaches in wins (941) and winning percentage (.646) with 20 30-win seasons, five 40-win seasons and 13 NCAA Tournament appearances.

In building Rutgers with an emphasis on toughness, commitment and development, Owens has already elevated the program to its best placement in the Big Ten standings with progress made across the board despite dealing with unforeseen challenges amidst the coronavirus pandemic. In a spring 2020 vote of 90 head coaches from around the nation, Owens was selected as the most underrated head coach in college baseball in a Baseball America poll.

Owens, who has been a collegiate head coach since 1992 with 1,459 games under his belt entering 2022, has picked up 71 victories in postseason play. In addition, Owens has mentored 11 Freshman All-America picks, 36 All-Region nods and four Academic All-Americans as a head coach.

RUTGERS

Playing a 44-game schedule all within the Big Ten in 2021 amidst a pandemic, the Scarlet Knights earned their best placement (eighth) and winning percentage (.477) in Big Ten play since joining the conference. That included winning six series, a 7-5 mark against NCAA Regional qualifiers and at least one victory over each team in the league. In addition, RU led the conference in road wins (13) after the program previously went 11-47 combined the prior five seasons in the Big Ten.

The campaign was highlighted by a five-game winning streak over ranked Michigan and Nebraska, all on the road. Rutgers was the only team in the Big Ten to win a series over league champion Nebraska. Through 24 games, a standard Big Ten season, RU set Big Ten team season records in wins (12), runs (141), homers (35), total bases (356), slugging percentage (.430), on-base percentage (.353), strikeouts recorded (196), least walks allowed (72), batting average against (.254) and saves (7).

Lasko (11) and Chris Brito (10), an All-Big Ten Third Team selection, were the first Rutgers teammates to reach double-digit homers in a season since 2010. Overall, the Scarlet Knights clubbed 48 long balls to rank sixth-most in a season in program history. The offense also put up 15 runs in a game three times, including a team Big Ten record 16 at Minnesota. On the mound, the staff combined for three shutouts, with two on the road. The 14 saves picked up ranked third in the school record book, while the 328 strikeouts placed 10th and 150 walks were eighth-least. Harry Rutkowski accelerated into the Rutgers top-10 in career innings pitched, starts and strikeouts, as Ben Wereski led the Big Ten with a 0.99 WHIP, only 1.3 walks allowed per nine innings and ranked second with a 5.09:1 strikeout-to-walk ratio. Rutkowski (Toronto Blue Jays), Wereski (Lincoln Saltdogs) and Brent Teller (Lancaster Barnstormers) all went from the weekend rotation to professional baseball.

Academically, four student-athletes merited Big Ten Distinguished Scholar status and 12 earned Academic All-Big Ten. The baseball program was also recognized within the athletic department as the men's team with the most improved GPA.

Owens completed his first season as the Scarlet Knights' skipper in 2020, a campaign cut short by a pandemic. RU went toe-to-toe with No. 3 Miami on Opening Day, a 2-1 ballgame, before sweeping North Florida on the road during the second weekend. It was the first three-game sweep for the program in February since 2012, as the offense added 15 in the home-opening win over Wagner to make it 52 runs over a four-game stretch, a best since 2010.

BRYANT

Owens took over the Bryant program for the 2011 season and earned 327 wins at the helm, an average of 36.3 victories per year, the most victories among Northeast teams during that span. The Bulldogs went 192-59 (.765) in NEC play with eight-straight regular-season crowns and three tournament titles, being the No. 1 seed all seven trips to the NEC tournament.

The program, which became eligible for NCAA postseason competition in 2013 after its transition to Division I in 2009, made a splash with an upset over Arkansas at the 2013 Manhattan (Kan.) Regional. That season was sparked by a 19-game winning streak, the longest in the nation. The team returned to the NCAA Tournament the following season with an appearance at the 2014 Baton Rouge (La.) Regional. In 2016, Bryant won a school-record 47 games, emerged in the national rankings as high as No. 15, had the highest winning percentage in the nation (.797) and became the first NEC school to earn a No. 2 seed at the NCAA Tournament with a trip to the Charlottesville (Va.) Regional. Owens earned five NEC Coach of the Year awards (2012, '13, '14, '16, '19) and claimed ABCA Northeast Region Coach of the Year honors in 2013 and 2014. Additionally, 64 players garnered all-conference honors and 13 collected All-America honors in his nine seasons piloting the Rhode Island school.

LE MOYNE

Prior to coming to Bryant, Owens spent 11 seasons (2000-10) as the head coach at Le Moyne College in Syracuse, N.Y. He led the Dolphins to 11-straight winning seasons and three NCAA tournament berths. He guided Le Moyne to back-to-back NCAA Regionals at Arkansas (2003) and North Carolina State (2004), and then took the Dolphins to the Texas A&M Regional in 2007. Over his tenure, Owens was named the MAAC Coach of the Year twice, (2004, '06) and was also bestowed the ABCA/Diamond Northeast Region Coach of the Year in 2003. He finished his Dolphins career with an impressive 342-217 record, as the program amassed 32 All-MAAC selections.

CORTLAND STATE

A native of Sauquoit, New York, Owens started his head coaching career at Division III Cortland State. Over eight seasons (1992-99) in the dugout, Owens led the Red Dragons to six 30-win seasons, seven NCAA regional tournaments and four trips to the Division III College World Series. He guided the 1997 and 1998 teams to third-place finishes at the national tournament, finishing a game short of a shot at a national championship. Owens went 245-82-1 in his eight seasons with Cortland State and was named the New York Regional Coach of the Year and the State University of New York Athletic Conference (SUNYAC) Coach of the Year four times each.

PLAYING EXPERIENCE

Owens is a 1987 graduate of St. Lawrence University, where he earned a Bachelor of Science in sport and leisure studies. Playing baseball and football at St. Lawrence, he was named a two-time MVP in baseball playing at both third base and shortstop. He finished his career with a .349 batting average, including .454 as a senior, and stole 73 bases in 80 attempts. In football, he led the team in rushing his junior and senior seasons, scoring 18 career touchdowns, and was named offensive MVP as well as Outstanding Senior Athlete. He has been inducted into the St. Lawrence Athletic Hall of Fame (Fall 2010), the Cortland State Hall of Fame (Fall 2017) and the Greater Utica Hall of Fame (June 2019). Drafted by the Chicago Cubs as a third baseman, Owens spent two seasons with the organization, including stints in Geneva (New York-Penn League champions) and with the Charleston (WVa.) Cubs in the South Atlantic League. Following his playing days, Owens began his coaching career as a graduate assistant in football and baseball at Ithaca College, where he received a Master of Science degree in 1991.
