M11 - M15: Big Ten Championship (Chicago, Ill.)

Rutgers (10-10, 2-5) at Penn State (12-7, 0-6)

Jan. 24, 2015 • 12 noon • Bryce Jordan Center • University Park, PA

TV: Saturday afternoon's game will be televised live nationally on ESPNU with Clay Matvick calling the action and Sean Harrington providing the analysis.

Radio: The contest will be broadcast live on the Rutgers IMG Sports Network, WOR 710 AM in New York and WCTC 1450 AM in New Brunswick. Chris Carlin will serve as play-by-play announcer and Dick Lloyd will provide commentary. WRSU (88.7 FM) will also broadcast the game.

Rutgers will be working to sweep the regular season series with Penn State, when it travels to University Park for a 12 noon tip-off at the Bryce Jordan Center on Saturday. The Scarlet Knights will seek a return to the win column after a trio of hard-fought, single-digit losses to league foes. The Nittany Lions will be seeking their first Big Ten win after six defeats, including five straight by single digits. RU is presently No. 83 in the ESPN Daily RPI with its strength of schedule rated 14th nationally, while PSU is No. 97 with its schedule tabbed 149.

The game will mark the 68th meeting on the collegiate hardwood between RU and PSU, with the Nittany Lions holding a 37-30 advantage in victories. RU is 8-24 all-time at PSU, but has won the last three meetings, including a 76-71 NIT decision on March 14, 2006. Quincy Douby shot 11-of-19 and 8-of-14 from behind the arc to score 32 points in that contest. The Scarlet Knights and Nittany Lions were both members of the Atlantic 10 Conference from 1976-79 and from 1982-1991. Rutgers head coach Eddie Jordan was 2-0 versus the Nittany Lions as a player "On the Banks," competing in an 81-63 road win as a freshman and an 89-72 home win as a senior. As an assistant coach at Rutgers (1984-85, 1988-92), the Scarlet Knights were 7-3 with Jordan on staff and won the 1989 A-10 title against PSU, 70-66, at the RAC under Bob Wenzel.

Earlier this season on Jan. 3, RU earned its initial Big Ten win with in a 50-46 win over Penn State at the RAC. Kadeem Jack had a double-double with 12 points and 11 rebounds, as Rutgers limited the visitors to just 29 percent (15-of-52) shooting.

Despite double-digit scoring efforts from Myles Mack and Jack, Rutgers dropped a 54-50 home decision to Michigan on Tuesday night. Mack led all scorers with 15 points, while also securing a team-high eight rebounds. Jack contributed 13 points and six boards. RU led by as many as six points in the contest that featured six ties and 12 lead changes.

Penn State, under the direction of fourth-year head coach Pat Chambers, suffered a 66-60 loss at Michigan State on Wednesday evening despite 27 points from senior guard D.J. Newbill, who ranks fourth nationally in scoring (21.9). The Spartans won the battle on the boards, 39-26, established a 32-16 advantage in points in the paint. The Nittany Lions tied a school record with 12 non-conference wins.

- Rutgers was 23-of-25 at the free throw line (92.0 percent) versus Manhattan. It marked the most free throws in a game for RU since it deposited 24-of-30 in a 72-68 win over USF in last season's AAC Championship. - The 44 points scored by Fairleigh Dickinson were the lowest scoring output allowed by Rutgers since holding Pittsburgh to 39 points in a 62-39 win on Jan. 11, 2012.

RUTGERS MEN'S BASKETBALL ANNOUNCES RECRUITING CLASS

Head coach Eddie Jordan announced that shooting guard Justin Goode, forward Kejuan Johnson and point guard Corey Sanders have signed National Letters of Intent to attend Rutgers University and compete in men's basketball.

"We are very excited to welcome these three young men into our basketball family," said Jordan. "They each possess a special skill set that will help us build a winning program. Competing in the Big Ten is very challenging. It's essential to have players that not only have the ability to compete at a high level, but the drive and enthusiasm to attack the process. We believe Corey, Kejuan and Justin have these important qualities."

Goode (6-2, 185) was a post-graduate student at Hargrave Military Academy who enrolled at Rutgers mid-year for the spring semester and first practiced with the team on Jan. 6. He will redshirt the season. He is considered a skilled three-point shooter who can stretch defenses with his shooting ability. During his senior campaign at Lord Botetourt High School in Virginia, Goode averaged 19.9 points-per-game and was named VHSCA Group 3A Player of the Year. Goode shot 91.6 percent from the charity stripe and dished out 4.2 assists-per-contest to help Botetourt to a semifinal appearance in the 3A Virginia playoffs.

Sanders (6-1, 170), is a four-star recruit and the 74th-rated overall player in the class of 2015, according to Rivals.com. ESPN.com also has him slated as a four-star recruit (86th overall) and the seventh-best point guard in the country, while 247Sports has him as the 67th best player in the nation. Sanders is considered an electric point guard possessing elite speed and handle on the court. Also ranked as the 15th point guard and 91st overall player in the country according to Scout.com, Sanders averaged 16.8 points, four assists and four steals per game during his junior season at Kathleen High School in Bradenton, Fla.

Johnson (6-6, 215), is currently a senior at Hargrave Military Academy in Chatham, Va. The 50th overall forward in the class of 2015 according to ESPN.com, Johnson is slated as a three-star recruit by ESPN, Rivals.com and 247Sports.com. Johnson, who can play both guard and small forward, can attack the basket effectively and is a dangerous coast-to-coast player, according to ESPN's analysis. Johnson averaged 18.1 points and 6.5 rebounds-per-game during his junior season at Hapeville Charter in Atlanta, Ga.

At the MSG Holiday Festival (Dec. 14), the ECAC presented a Coaching Excellence Award to former Rutgers Head Coach Tom Young, while John "Jack" Powers (Manhattan College/NIT Executive Director) and Donald "Dee" Rowe (Connecticut) will receive Lifetime Achievement Awards. Young is the winningest coach in Rutgers men's basketball history (.671), and presided over the greatest era in team history. His squads won 239 games from 1973-1985, losing just 117. In 1975-76, he reached the pinnacle of his career, guiding the Scarlet Knights to a perfect 26-0 regular season, and a 31-0 start with a trip to the Final Four. Young was named 1975-76 UPI National Coach of the Year and would go on to lead Rutgers to four NCAA Tournament appearances and five NIT's.

29 seasons of coaching experience
14 career post-season appearances as a coach, including two NBA Finals appearances and three NCAA bids
17 NBA All-Stars coached during his career

Eddie Jordan, who helped the Scarlet Knights to the 1976 Final Four, was named the 18th head coach in the history of the Rutgers men's basketball program on April 23, 2013. He returned to "The Banks" with an NBA Championship ring and now leads RU into the Big Ten Conference with 29 seasons of coaching experience, including nine at the collegiate level and 19 in the NBA.

In Jordan's first season at the helm, the Scarlet Knights were picked 10th in the American Athletic Conference preseason coaches poll and finished seventh in the league standings. The three position differential between projected and actual finish tied for the best in the league with Cincinnati (4th/t-1st) and SMU (6th/t-3rd). Fifteen of Rutgers' games were played against opponents that earned post-season invites as the team compiled a 12-21 (5-13) record. RU defeated USF in the opening round of the AAC Championship, its third win over the Bulls during the season. It marked the first time the Scarlet Knights had defeated a foe three times in a season since 1988-89, when it completed the trifecta versus St. Bonaventure when Jordan was an assistant under Bob Wenzel.

Kadeem Jack and Myles Mack earned All-MET honors in 2013-14 under Jordan's tutelage. Rutgers players also earned seven conference honors during the course of the season. In conference games, RU led the league in defensive rebounding percentage (.681) and ranked third in the AAC in free throw percentage, shooting .707 percent. It marked RU's best team mark at the charity stripe since shooting .719 percent in 2008-09.

RU's all-time leader in both assists (585) and steals (220), "Fast Eddie" scored 1,632 career points and earned honorable mention All-American honors as a senior in 1977. He later returned as an assistant under coaches Tom Young (1984-85) and Bob Wenzel (1988-92). In his nine seasons with the Scarlet Knights before returning as head coach, RU earned eight postseason berths, including four NCAA Championship bids.

Jordan served as an assistant with the Los Angeles Lakers in 2012-13 under head coach Mike D'Antoni, returning to the club for which he earned a championship as a player in 1982. He helped the Lakers to its eighth-straight playoff appearance, working with notable players such as Kobe Bryant, Dwight Howard, Paul Gasol and Steve Nash. Jordan transitioned back to the NBA after serving as a freshman coach at his alma mater, Archbishop Carroll High School in Washington, D.C., while also working as head coach of the D.C. Assault 17U AAU team.

Jordan has served as an NBA head coach for three different teams over nine seasons. He compiled a career regular season mark of 257-343 (.428) and a playoff record of 8-18 (.308) over nine seasons with Sacramento (1996-98), Washington (2003-09) and Philadelphia (2009-10). Among the players to earn All-Star recognition under his head coaching leadership are Mitch Richmond, Caron Butler, Gilbert Arenas, Antawn Jamison and Allen Iverson.

Born (Jan. 29, 1955) and raised in Washington, D.C., Jordan served as head coach of his hometown Wizards from the 2003-04 season through the first 11 games of 2008-09. After inheriting a Wizards team that posted a losing record in five-straight seasons, Jordan was able to guide the 2004-05 Wizards to their highest win total in 25 years in just his second season, while giving Washington its first playoff berth since 1997 and advancing past the first round for the first time since 1982. Jordan's Wizards made four-straight playoff appearances from 2004-05 through 2007-08. Prior to his arrival, Washington made the playoffs just once over a 16-year span. The Wizards ranked sixth in the league in scoring in 2004-05, third in 2005-06 and fourth in 2006-07.

Before his time with the Wizards, Jordan served as the lead assistant coach on Byron Scott's staff in New Jersey from 2000-03, helping the Nets to the NBA Finals in back-to-back years in 2002 and 2003. Among the players Jordan worked with in the Garden State were Jason Kidd, Richard Jefferson, Stephon Marbury, Kenyon Martin and Dikembe Mutombo. Prior to his work with the Nets, Jordan was an assistant coach with Sacramento for five seasons beginning in 1992, before being named head coach of the Kings for the final 15 games of the 1996-97 campaign. He would spend his first full season as an NBA head coach with the Kings for the 1997-98 season, his last year with the club.

NBA Career: Cleveland Cavaliers (1977), New Jersey Nets (1977-80), Los Angeles Lakers (1980-83), Portland Trailblazers (1984), Los Angeles Lakers (1984).

PERSONAL INFORMATION

Birth Date:	January 29, 1955 in Washington, D.C.
High School:	Archbishop Carroll (Washington, D.C.)
College:	Rutgers University
Wife:	Charrisse
Children:	Eddie II, Jackson, Justin, Paul and Skylar

After retiring from the NBA in 1984, Jordan began his coaching career as a volunteer assistant at Rutgers. He followed Young to Old Dominion before landing an assistant coaching position under Jim O'Brien at Boston College, where he served from 1986-88. He later returned to Rutgers as an assistant coach under Wenzel. The Scarlet Knights made NCAA appearances in 1989 and 1991 and earned NIT berths in 1990 and 1992.

Originally selected by Cleveland in the second round of the 1977 NBA Draft (33rd overall), Jordan averaged 8.1 points, 3.8 assists, 1.9 rebounds and 1.82 steals in seven seasons with the Cavaliers, Nets, Lakers and Portland Trail Blazers. While with the Nets, Jordan led the league in total steals in 1978-79 and was second in 1979-80. He played in 420 NBA games and scored 3,414 career points.

Inducted into Rutgers Athletics Hall of Fame in 1980 and the Hall of Distinguished Alumni in 2004, Jordan was the point guard and catalyst of the great Rutgers teams of the mid-1970's. He was the on-court general for the 1975-76 Scarlet Knights, who fashioned a perfect 26-0 regular season mark and wound up with a 31-2 record. He was named the 1976 NCAA Tournament East Regional MVP.

Jordan and his wife Charrisse have two children, son Jackson and daughter Skylar. Jordan also has three sons: Justin, Eddie II and Paul. Eddie II was a three-year (2000-01, 2003) varsity football letterwinner at Rutgers under head coach Greg Schiano, playing tight end and linebacker. Charrisse Jordan was appointed President of "Behind the Bench," a non-profit organization developed by the National Basketball Wives Association, which raises funds and awareness for charities that benefit women and children.

WHAT THEY'RE SAYING ABOUT EDDIE JORDAN

David Stern, Rutgers graduate and former NBA Commissioner: "Eddie is a great choice to lead Rutgers during this important transition for the program. His knowledge and passion for the game, coupled with his extraordinary ability to teach, will serve the university well as he returns to his basketball roots at RU."

Dick Vitale, College basketball analyst and former Rutgers assistant coach: "Eddie Jordan is a grand slam of a hire. He brings a special passion and pride to the position. His love for Rutgers will be felt by everyone associated with the Scarlet Knights. His NBA contacts and experience will be a major help on the recruiting trail."

Jason Kidd, 10-time NBA All-Star point guard current head coach of the Milwaukee Bucks: "Rutgers picked the right coach in Eddie Jordan. He's the perfect basketball mind and person to turn that program around."

Kenyon Martin, All-Star and 13-year NBA veteran forward: "I have the utmost respect for Eddie, as a basketball coach, player and a man. He is very deserving of this job and I have all the confidence in the world that he will be successful."

Jeff Van Gundy, NBA analyst and former Rutgers assistant coach: "Eddie is the right hire at the right time for Rutgers University. His combination of basketball knowledge, his ability to relate to all sorts [of people] and his humble demeanor will allow him to unite Rutgers behind its basketball team. [Rutgers] will be proud of the product he puts on the floor."

Tom Young, Rutgers Athletics Hall of Fame Head Coach (1973-85): "This is the best thing that has happened to Rutgers since [Jordan] took them to the Final Four. Eddie will succeed at Rutgers because he is a good guy and he understands the game of basketball. From day one, Eddie was respected as a point guard and could communicate well with his teammates. That has helped him in the coaching profession. Some people worry that because he has been a NBA coach for so long, that he won't be able to get into the collegiate scene. That is the furthest thing from the truth. He will not have any problems adjusting to the X's and O's of college basketball."

Bob Wenzel, College basketball analyst and former Rutgers head coach (1988-97): "I'm thrilled that Rutgers made a great choice in Eddie Jordan. It's a home run. He's one of the most endearing people to ever play at Rutgers. In our time together, he was a great assistant. He has a wealth of basketball knowledge with all of his NBA experience."

Hollis Copeland, Former teammate and Rutgers All-American: "I think very highly of Eddie. He's been a head coach of three NBA teams, as well as an NBA assistant coach, college coach and AAU coach. He's in a position to completely change the complexion of the Rutgers basketball program. It's a marriage made in heaven. When you look at that [1976] Final Four team, we were a family. We haven't changed since then and we still stay in touch to share our views. That's the attitude he will bring. The same attitude we had way back when. He's a man of high moral fiber. There's a difference between players just respecting you because you're the coach and liking you. I think players will like him, and that's important in a program like Rutgers."

Phil Sellers, Former teammate and Rutgers First Team All-American: "I can't express how much this means. Rutgers has a guy who understands what it means to have respect for others. Eddie knows how to approach people. He's been fortunate to be around some great coaches in his career. Having been his roommate for a couple of years [at Rutgers], to see how far Eddie has come is a great feeling. He's a hard worker. Anybody who has been associated with Eddie knows that. When he gets his teeth into something, he focuses in. Hard work brings success, so he can only be successful."

Pete Carrill, Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame Head Coach: "Eddie Jordan is the best around, anywhere to turn Rutgers into what it could be."
