EXCELLING ON POMMEL HORSE AND PARALLEL BARS

Penn State has turned what was once one of its weakest events into its best events as it currently ranks second in the nation on the pommel horse. A season ago, the Nittany Lions struggled on the pommel horse but after bringing in a few all-star freshman and improving the routines of its veterans, the Blue and White holds the second spot in the nation. Penn State is averaging a 69.150 and is right on the heels of its season-best from 2016. Last year the Nittany Lion's season-high 70.450 came at the NCAA Championships and this season the Blue and White has already posted a 70.300 in the event. Furthermore, Penn State has yet to give up an individual victory on the pommel horse with Colin Coates winning the event at the West Point Open, Favian Valdez earning the victory against Army and Stephen Nedoroscik taking home the most recent win at Springfield.

Penn State also sits in second in the nation on the parallel bars with a season-high 70.700 on the apparatus. The Blue and White have had one victory in the event with freshman Sam Zakutney taking the title at Springfield, while Dominic DiFulvio placed first in the team portion of the West Point Open heading into the individual event finals. The Nittany Lions have also seen four second-place finishes on the parallel bars with Franz Card placing second at the West Point Open and Leroy Clarke, Jr. and Wyatt Tyndall tying for second against Army. Finally, Clarke placed second overall on the parallel bars at Springfield for the Blue and White.

DiFULVIO POISED FOR STANDOUT SENIOR SEASON

Senior captain Dominic DiFulvio has started the 2017 stronger than any other season for the Nittany Lions, picking up at least one title in each of the first three meets. The Marietta, N.Y. native has been unbeatable on the still rings, capturing the win in all three meets, while notching both the vault and all-around title in Penn State's first home dual against Army and winning the floor exercise and vault at Springfield College.

NEDOROSCIK FINDS CONFIDENCE GOING HOME

After carrying first-year jitters the first two meets of the season, freshman Stephen Nedoroscik found confidence heading back to his home state of Massachusetts for a dual at Springfield College. The Worcester, Massachusetts native grabbed his first collegiate title on the pommel horse, registering a 14.500.

ZAKUTNEY NABS BIG TEN FRESHMAN OF THE WEEK HONORS

Freshman Sam Zakutney earned Big Ten Freshman of the Week honors, marking the first of his career and the third-straight week a Nittany Lion has garnered the award as Favian Valdez won it the first two weeks of the season. Zakutney found his groove at Springfield recording three victories for the Blue and White. Zakutney earned his first titles of his collegiate career, grabbing three wins at Springfield College. The freshman all-arounder started with a fourth-place finish on the pommel horse with a career-high 13.800 and notched his second career-high of the day with a 13.500 on the floor exercise and a fourth-place finish. The Ottawa, Ontario native secured his first podium finish with a third-place spot on the vault with a career-best 14.250 before sweeping the final two rotations of the day with a first-place finish on the parallel bars and a win on the high bar. Finally, Zakutney secured his first all-around title donning the Blue and White with an 82.650. Overall, Zakutney set five career-highs and earned three titles for the Nittany Lions at Springfield.
